BITTER RIOT FLARES

Muslims Battle Police On Coast; 1 Killed, 15 Hurt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Members of the Muslim black supremacy cult battled police Saturday in a brief but bitter riot that left one cultist dead and at least 15 persons injured.

Eight of the injured were patrolmen. Six cultists were shot, one reported in critical condition. Several other cultist were injured but did not require hospitalization, police said.

Fifteen rioters, including six hospitalized, were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

BREAK UP MELEE

It took 75 police about 15 minutes to break up the post-midnight melee outside the Muslim's Los Angeles headquarters at 5606 South Broadway.

The dead Muslim was identified as Ronald T. Stokes, 28, of Los Angeles.

Policeman Frank Tomlinson, 23, was shot in the arm but was reported in good condition. It wasn't clear who shot Tomlinson or Stokes, police said.

Two other officers also were hospitalized—one felled when hit over the head with a five-gallon water bottle, the other kicked about the head while lying on the ground. Both were said to be in good condition.

Police gave this account: A patrolman stopped to question several men outside the Muslim headquarters. One man was selling clothing from his car.

One of the men broke away after shouting at officers: "We didn't do anything. You're only doing this to us because we're Muslims."

An officer fired a warning shot into the air in an effort to halt the man, and Muslims started streaming from the temple, named Muhammad's Mosque No. 27.

Police radioed for help and patrol cars sped to the scene. After the scuffle and gun shots, ambulance attendants took the injured to the hospital.

The nationwide Muslim sect is secret, professing antiwhite, anti-integration and anti-Christian beliefs. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which favors integration, has denounced it.

Holly Ridge Boy Carried To Death By Swift Waters

RAYVILLE (Special) — Rain-swollen Big Creek, north of Holly Ridge, claimed the life of 11-year-old Ralph Vernon Powell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Powell Sr., Holly Ridge, Saturday about 1:45 p.m.

The youth, a sixth-grader at Holly Ridge School is reported to have attempted to cross swift flowing Big Creek to get a boat on the other side.

The youth was the grandson of a Monroe resident, Mrs. Nettie Wynn of 1606 N. McGuire Ave.

SWEPT UNDER

According to officials, the Powell youth was accompanied by two unidentified companions younger than himself. When the urcrent swept him under, the youth's campanions ran for aid.

The American Legion Unit of Monroe was called to the scene where they found the current had carried the youth's body the distance of approximately three city blocks below the spot where he had first entered Big Creek. A Legion spokesman said the water where the youth drowned was between four and six feet deep.

Funeral services will be held at Holly Ridge Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Monday. Burial will be in Rayville Masonic Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Rayville.

In addition to his parents and maternal grandmother, the Powell youth is survived by one brother, Mark Powell, Holly Ridge; one sister, Janis Powell, Holly Ridge; and a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Arender, Holly Ridge.

FOR PARISH SCHOOLS

Operation Tax Election Slated

Qualified voters in Ouachita Parish will ballot May 5 on the renewal of a 5 mill operation and maintenance tax for the Parish School System.

W. W. Ward, parish school superintendent, termed the election "vitally important to the future of our schools and also to the educational services for our children."

"If the voters don't renew the tax, then we will have no alternative but to shorten our school-year," Ward pointed out yesterday. "this is how vital it is to our school system."

NEED FUNDS

"Without this tax, we would not have enough funds to operate the schools on the regular nine-month basis," he declared.

The election involves the entire parish with the exception of the City of Monroe. Eligible to vote are residents, outside Monroe, who are property owners and are registered voters.

The operation and maintenance tax comes up for renewal every five years. It last was renewed in 1957.

Ward emphasized that the election "is for the renewal of a tax which we have had for about 30 years. And it is a renewal without an increase."

"We have had this same 5 mill tax for at least 30 years," he said.

Ward explained that the operation and maintenance tax provides the school system with between $275,000 and $300,000 annually, based on total assessment which is approximately $60 to $65 million.

"As necessary as this tax is, it doesn't amount to one month's payroll in the school system," he pointed out. "Our payroll, alone, runs $360,000 each month.

However, he explained that money from this tax is used to pay all utilities along with cer-

College Head At Ruston To Retire Soon

Board Accepts Ropp's Decision With Reluctance

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Board of Education accepted with regret Saturday the June 30 retirement of President R. L. Ropp of Louisiana Tech and voted to continue President Joel L. Fletcher of the University of Southwestern Louisiana in his post another year.

Ropp, president of Tech for 13 years, had requested retirement.

Fletcher, president since 1941 and a veteran of more than 40 years at USL, had requested another year in service.

URGED TO STAY

Both became 65 this year. State law requires retirement at 65 unless the employer extends employment on a year-to-year basis. Retirement is mandatory at 68.

Board president William J. Dodd said his colleagues unanimously had voted to urge Ropp to remain another year, but he asked retirement.

Before joining Tech, Ropp was with Northwestern State University 26 years.

Ropp said he appreciated the board's vote of confidence, but "since my retirement at an early date is inevitable, I feel that it is to the best interest of the college to retire this year and permit a younger man to take my place." He also said he had not had a vacation in 13 years.

Later, three members of the 11-member education board announced they would not seek re-election when their term expires.

They were Mrs. Eleanore Meade of Gramercy, George T. Madison of Bastrop and Isom J. Guillory of Ville Platte.

Mrs. Meade, board member some 35 years, thanked everyone for longtime cooperation.

Guillory said he would be 72 next month and was stepping aside because of his health and hearing.

The board voted that when educational personnel from now on submit requests for retirement or term extensions, they must do so by Jan. 1 each year.

The board approved applications for 10 more children to attend the Ninth Ward Elementary School in New Orleans, a white cooperative, with the state providing $993 for grants in aid.

Assurances Of Results Sought First

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan agreed Saturday that they are ready to consider holding East-West summit conferences if assured of useful results. But they said conditions are not ripe for summit diplomacy now.

British and U.S. informants said following day-long talks at the White House that the two leaders generally agreed there should be East-West diplomatic contacts at many levels including, when productive, the summit.

IN AGREEMENT

They specifically agreed that U.S.-Soviet discussions on the possibility of a German settlement could be continued.

Informants said this decision was reached after Kennedy gave Macmillan a report on conversations held here during the past two weeks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kennedy and Macmillan felt their summit policy agreement was in line with views expressed by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in a Moscow interview about 10 days ago. Khrushchev told American publisher Gardner Cowles that he thought advance preparations should be made to give prospect of successful results from a summit conference.

Kennedy and Macmillan were reported to be thinking of the possibility of more than one summit conference if conditions were suitable. However, informants declined to say that what they had in mind was a series of top level meetings, although the report opened that possibility.

BY FEDERAL JUDGES

Georgia Election System Is Voided

ATLANTA (AP) — The century-old vote system permitting rural domination of Georgia politics was thrown out Saturday by a federal court.

A three-judge tribunal granted a temporary injunction restraining use of the country unit method of vote counting in Democratic primaries, the only real elections in the state since Civil War days. The decision was unanimous.

The ruling was the first in a federal court test of voting rights since the U.S. Supreme Court held in a case from Tennessee that federal court action could be brought to challenge legislative apportionment.

REVISED IN VAIN

Georgia's county unit system was tied to apportionment until Friday when a $200,000 emergency session of the state Legislature revised the county unit law of 1917, liberalizing it slightly in favor of city voters.

The Tennessee case hardly had time to dry on the docket before the suit was filed against the Georgia system pictured by its backers as a way of halting political machines at county lines.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver called the special session of the General Assembly in an effort to save a voting method he had pledged to protect as a bulwark against what state officeholders call big city

Spy Trial Is Set For American

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—American businessman Harold N. Borger will go before West Germany's highest court next week on charges of giving U.S. military secrets to the Communists.

Officials of the Federal Supreme Court announced Saturday that the trial of the New Yorker will begin Thursday.

Borger, 42, a former Air Force captain, will be the first U.S. citizen to be tried by the court on espionage charges.

As an American civilian, not attached to U.S. forces stationed in West Germany, he can only be tried in this country by a German court.

The federal prosecutor's office said Borger is accused of "maintaining treasonable relations with an Eastern intelligence service," a general charge commonly used in most espionage cases before the court.

Under West German law, non-Germans living in the Federal Republic can be charged with treason, just as Germans, if they are suspected of giving security information to agents of hostile countries.

U.S. Plans Series Of A-Blasts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A series of high altitude nuclear shots may be set off in the next few days at Johnston Island, 800 miles southwest of Honolulu.

So far joint task force 8 has fired two atmospheric shots since the current U. S. testing series began last Wednesday. Both blasts were triggered near British-controlled Christmas Island, 1,500 miles from Hawaii.

But Johnston Island, a small coral atoll, is due to become operational on Monday under plans previously announced by the Atomic Energy Commission. Shots fired there might be seen from Hawaii, a situation which has not been true with the two devices exploded near Christmas Island.

Johnston Island is going to be the site of nuclear blasts set off at extremely high altitudes. In addition, a nuclear-tipped polaris missile may be fired there in the first real test of this submarine-borne deterrent.

In keeping with its policy of releasing a minimum amount of information about the tests, the AEC has given out no schedule of forthcoming shots.

But the pace of the first two indicates that they will be frequent. Friday's shot was set off almost precisely 48 hours after the initial explosion in the series.

President Kennedy has directed that the tests be carried out as rapidly as possible. They probably will be completed sometime in June.

BY STATE LEGISLATURE

Voter Test Law May Be Revised

BATON ROUGE (UPI) — The Louisiana Legislature will be asked next month to replace the state's literacy test for voters with a multiple choice quiz on government.

One of Gov. Jimmie Davis' top advisors, Frank Voelker Jr., said Saturday the administration would support bills at a legislative session starting next month to change the state's present requirement for voters to read and interpret sections of the State and U. S. Constitutions.

The new quiz will ask six specific questions about state and national governments, Voelker said. Four possible answers for each question will be listed, and applicants will be asked to check the right one.

QUESTIONS SIMPLE

Voelker is chairman of the Louisiana State Sovereignty Commission, which drafted the legislation.

"We plan to ask questions of a simple nature," he said. "Our only purpose is to make sure persons who qualify will understand what voting is all about."

Voelker said he felt the test would guarantee this better than automatic qualification for persons with a sixth-grade education. "A teacher might promote her dumbest pupil beyond the sixth grade level, just to get rid of him. It's happened before."

The sovereignty commission has denounced a bill sponsored by the Kennedy Administration to allow all persons with a sixth-grade education to vote as "another attempt on the part of the federal government to impose its thinking on that of the states."

Voelker said the U. S. Consti-

Fire Burns 14 Homes; 20 Injured

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A forest and brush fire whipped by gusty winds swept into residential outskirts of this city of 18,000 Saturday and destroyed an estimated 14 homes.

Approximately 20 persons were injured.

Hundreds of others fled their homes and a public school was opened to shelter them.

The State Conservation Department said Saturday night the fire apparently had been brought under control.

The fire burned about 1,000 acres of timber and brush before moving into the suburban area on the northwest edge of the city.

The Northway, a four-lane expressway also known as Interstate Rt. 87, was closed in the Glens Falls area when the flames jumped sections of the road.

All electric power was cut off.

More than 1,000 person from a 30-mile radius fought the fire.

Glens Falls Hospital said four or five fire victims had been admitted. Another 10 to 15 were treated in the hospital's emergency room and others were treated at the scene.

A radio newsman said he counted 10 homes destroyed on one road and saw abandoned automobiles reduced to wreckage.

Aid Grants To Critics Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders said Saturday they will oppose any move to cut foreign aid grants to punish neutral nations critical of U.S. policies and nuclear testing.

A proposal by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that Congress reshape the foreign aid program to give the bulk of aid to "those nations which share our view of the world crisis" was rejected by the assistant Democratic leader, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and the Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Keating told the Senate earlier in the week that the reaction to reluctant American resumption of nuclear atmospheric testing would indicate "who our friends really are in the world." He said those who "parrot Khrushchev's line" should be dealt with accordingly.

Humphrey said that while he deprecates the actions of some neutrals criticizing U.S. policies and programs, he doesn't believe foreign aid should be granted on the basis of "whether we are pleased with the attitude these countries take."

"We should judge foreign aid on the basis of whether it will promote economic progress in the world and thus serve our national interests," he said.

Humphrey said that, as a matter of fact, the protests against resumption of nuclear testing had been more muted than the administration had expected.

Solon Slates Bills On 'Race Violence

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Rep. Mike John Jr. of Monroe will sponsor bills in the 1962 session of the Legislature calling for a severe crackdown on persons or organizations responsible for "racial violence" in Louisiana.

John, who plans to sponsor a staggering number of bills when the Legislature convenes on May 14, disclosed some of his plans Friday, pointing out that one of his major bills calls for the following:

1. Persons or firms, partnerships, corporations and associations who engage in activities that tend to cause racial conflicts or violence must register with the Secretary of State.

2. Enforcement of the act with penalities.

John's legislation would provide that associations found guilty of causing racial trouble can be charged with committing a misdemeanor with a maximum of a $10,000 fine.

In addition, he proposes that any foreign corporation or association found guilty of this can be prohibited of doing business in Louisiana. A man found guilty of creating racial trouble could be imprisoned without hard labor for not more than one year or fined not more than $1,000, or both fined and imprisoned, or he could be imprisoned at hard labor for not less than one year nor more than 10 years.

John also proposes to prohibit a person guilty of this from ever holding any office or appointment of honor and restricted from serv-

WINNSBORO MAN

Soldier's Absence Puzzles Authorities

WINNSBORO (Special)—A Winnsboro man is missing under mysterious circumstances, it was learned Saturday.

Authorities in Winnsboro, Muskogee, Okla., and Monroe furnished these details:

Joseph J. Poye Jr., 22, a serviceman, has been missing since April 9, when he drove from Camp Gordon, Ga., in his 1959 convertible.

Since that time, a caller identifying himself as Poye called the Ruston State Bank and Trust Co. at Ruston and asked that the balance of his account, except for $64.57 on an outstanding check, be wired to him at Mobile, Ala.

The money was wired after a letter of confirmation was asked, and someone in Mobile signed for the sum of $901.83. Confirmation is still unreceived.

Later, on April 20, one of two men apprehended in connection with a bank robbery at Weber Falls, Okla., had in his possession Poye's personal effects, including his drivers' license and other identification papers. He was also in possession of Poye's auto.

He was identified as Willie Joe King, presumably who left Camp Gordon with Poye. The other man was identified as Johnny Dee Rooser.

Investigators suspect that the person who called for the money from Mobile was not Poye.

Poye graduated from Winnsboro High School, where he was a basketball standout, and graduated from Louisiana Tech last year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Poye Sr., who now reside in Many, where the elder Poye is employed on a construction job.

The whereabouts of the younger Poye is still a mystery, and authorities are seeking information that would clear up the situation.

"We plan to ask questions of a simple nature," he said. "Our only purpose is to make sure persons who qualify will understand what voting is all about."

Voelker said he felt the test would guarantee this better than automatic qualification for persons with a sixth-grade education. "A teacher might promote her dumbest pupil beyond the sixth grade level, just to get rid of him. It's happened before."

The sovereignty commission has denounced a bill sponsored by the Kennedy Administration to allow all persons with a sixth-grade education to vote as "another attempt on the part of the federal government to impose its thinking on that of the states."

Voelker said the U. S. Consti-

Fire Burns 14 Homes; 20 Injured

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A forest and brush fire whipped by gusty winds swept into residential outskirts of this city of 18,000 Saturday and destroyed an estimated 14 homes.

Approximately 20 persons were injured.

Hundreds of others fled their homes and a public school was opened to shelter them.

The State Conservation Department said Saturday night the fire apparently had been brought under control.

The fire burned about 1,000 acres of timber and brush before moving into the suburban area on the northwest edge of the city.

The Northway, a four-lane expressway also known as Interstate Rt. 87, was closed in the Glens Falls area when the flames jumped sections of the road.

All electric power was cut off.

More than 1,000 persons from a 30-mile radius fought the fire.

Glens Falls Hospital said four or five fire victims had been admitted. Another 10 to 15 were treated in the hospital's emergency room and others were treated at the scene.

A radio newsman said he counted 10 homes destroyed on one road and saw abandoned automobiles reduced to wreckage.

CALLS FOR CRACKDOWN

Solon Slates Bills On 'Race Violence

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of articles on legislation to be sponsored by area lawmakers in the 1962 session of the Louisiana Legislature.

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Rep. Mike John Jr. of Monroe will sponsor bills in the 1962 session of the Legislature calling for a severe crackdown on persons or organizations responsible for "racial violence" in Louisiana.

John, who plans to sponsor a staggering number of bills when the Legislature convenes on May 14, disclosed some of his plans Friday, pointing out that one of his major bills calls for the following:

1. Persons or firms, partnerships, corporations and associations who engage in activities that tend to cause racial conflicts or violence must register with the Secretary of State.

2. Enforcement of the act with penalities.

John's legislation would provide that associations found guilty of causing racial trouble can be charged with committing a misdemeanor with a maximum of a $10,000 fine.

In addition, he proposes that any foreign corporation or association found guilty of this can be prohibited of doing business in Louisiana. A man found guilty of creating racial trouble could be imprisoned without hard labor for not more than one year or fined not more than $1,000, or both fined and imprisoned, or he could be imprisoned at hard labor for not less than one year nor more than 10 years.

John also proposes to prohibit a person guilty of this from ever holding any office or appointment of honor and restricted from serv-

College Head At Ruston To Retire Soon

Board Accepts Ropp's Decision With Reluctance

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Board of Education accepted with regret Saturday the June 30 retirement of President R. L. Ropp of Louisiana Tech and voted to continue President Joel L. Fletcher of the University of Southwestern Louisiana in his post another year.

Ropp, president of Tech for 13 years, had requested retirement.

Fletcher, president since 1941 and a veteran of more than 40 years at USL, had requested another year in service.

URGED TO STAY

Both became 65 this year. State law requires retirement at 65 unless the employer extends employment on a year-to-year basis. Retirement is mandatory at 68.

Board president William J. Dodd said his colleagues unanimously had voted to urge Ropp to remain another year, but he asked retirement.

Before joining Tech, Ropp was with Northwestern State University 26 years.

Ropp said he appreciated the board's vote of confidence, but "since my retirement at an early date is inevitable, I feel that it is to the best interest of the college to retire this year and permit a younger man to take my place." He also said he had not had a vacation in 13 years.

Later, three members of the 11-member education board announced they would not seek re-election when their term expires.

They were Mrs. Eleanore Meade of Gramercy, George T. Madison of Bastrop and Isom J. Guillory of Ville Platte.

Mrs. Meade, board member some 35 years, thanked everyone for longtime cooperation.

Guillory said he would be 72 next month and was stepping aside because of his health and hearing.

The board voted that when educational personnel from now on submit requests for retirement or term extensions, they must do so by Jan. 1 each year.

The board approved applications for 10 more children to attend the Ninth Ward Elementary School in New Orleans, a white cooperative, with the state providing $993 for grants in aid.

Ouachita Senior Chosen Queen Of Auto Show

Blonde Linda Cooper, 17, was named queen Saturday night of the 1962 auto show at Eastgate Shopping Center.

The Ouachita Parish High School senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cooper, 804 South 6th St., is Student Council secretary and a member of the band.

Miss Cooper and her court will reign over the show, which will continue today featuring displays of new cars and trucks from 1 —6 p.m.

First runnerup in Saturday's festivities was Mary Frances Elias, 16, a junior at St. Matthew's High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Elias of 505 Erin Ave. Ouachita High student Pam Jones was named second runnerup in the 13-contestant field.

Forecast Says Warm Today

The weatherman hints that some of the recent showers may be passing away — at least briefly. Monroe residents can look for more of the same warm temperatures with no showers predicted.

Today's forecast calls for partly cloudy and warm through tonight. Southerly winds will blow at about a 5 to 15 mile - per - hour clip. Today's high was predicted to reach 84 degrees with a low of 64 tonight.

Yesterday's high was 86, about two degrees above today's predicted high. The temperature yesterday dipped to a low 65 degrees.

BY FEDERAL JUDGES

Georgia Election System Is Voided

ATLANTA (AP) — The century-old vote system permitting rural domination of Georgia politics was thrown out Saturday by a federal court.

A three-judge tribunal granted a temporary injunction restraining use of the country unit method of vote counting in Democratic primaries, the only real elections in the state since Civil War days. The decision was unanimous.

The ruling was the first in a federal court test of voting rights since the U.S. Supreme Court held in a case from Tennessee that federal court action could be brought to challenge legislative apportionment.

REVISED IN VAIN

Georgia's county unit system was tied to apportionment until Friday when a $200,000 emergency session ot fhe state Legislature revised the county unit law of 1917, liberalizing it slightly in favor of city voters.

The Tennessee case hardly had time to dry on the docket before the suit was filed against the Georgia system pictured by its backers as a way of halting political machines at county lines.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver called the special session of the General Assembly in an effort to save a voting method he had pledged to protect as a bulwark against what state officeholders call big city

Spy Trial Is Set For American

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—American businessman Harold N. Borger will go before West Germany's highest court next week on charges of giving U.S. military secrets to the Communists.

Officials of the Federal Supreme Court announced Saturday that the trial of the New Yorker will begin Thursday.

Borger, 42, a former Air Force captain, will be the first U.S. citizen to be tried by the court on espionage charges.

As an American civilian, not attached to U.S. forces stationed in West Germany, he can only be tried in this country by a German court.

The federal prosecutor's office said Borger is accused of "maintaining treasonable relations with an Eastern intelligence service," a general charge commonly used in most espionage cases before the court.

Under West German law, non-Germans living in the Federal Republic can be charged with treason, just as Germans, if they are suspected of giving security information to agents of hostile countries.

WINNSBORO MAN

Soldier's Absence Puzzles Authorities

WINNSBORO (Special)—A Winnsboro man is missing under mysterious circumstances, it was learned Saturday.

Authorities in Winnsboro, Muskogee, Okla., and Monroe furnished these details:

Joseph J. Poye Jr., 22, a serviceman, has been missing since April 9, when he drove from Camp Gordon, Ga., in his 1959 convertible.

Since that time, a caller identifying himself as Poye called the Ruston State Bank and Trust Co. at Ruston and asked that the balance of his account, except for $64.57 on an outstanding check, be wired to him at Mobile, Ala.

The money was wired after a letter of confirmation was asked, and someone in Mobile signed for the sum of $901.83. Confirmation is still unreceived.

Later, on April 20, one of two men apprehended in connection with a bank robbery at Weber Falls, Okla., had in his possession Poye's personal effects, including his drivers' license and other identification papers. He was also in possession of Poye's auto.

He was identified as Willie Joe King, presumably who left Camp Gordon with Poye. The other man was identified as Johnny Dee Rooser.

Investigators suspect that the person who called for the money from Mobile was not Poye.

Poye graduated from Winnsboro High School, where he was a basketball standout, and graduated from Louisiana Tech last year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Poye Sr., who now reside in Many, where the elder Poye is employed on a construction job.

The whereabouts of the younger Poye is still a mystery, and authorities are seeking information that would clear up the situation.

U.S. Plans Series Of A-Blasts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A series of high altitude nuclear shots may be set off in the next few days at Johnston Island, 800 miles southwest of Honolulu.

So far joint task force 8 has fired two atmospheric shots since the current U. S. testing series began last Wednesday. Both blasts were triggered near British-controlled Christmas Island, 1,500 miles from Hawaii.

But Johnston Island, a small coral atoll, is due to become operational on Monday under plans previously announced by the Atomic Energy Commission. Shots fired there might be seen from Hawaii, a situation which has not been true with the two devices exploded near Christmas Island.

Johnston Island is going to be the site of nuclear blasts set off at extremely high altitudes. In addition, a nuclear-tipped polaris missile may be fired there in the first real test of this submarine-borne deterrent.

In keeping with its policy of releasing a minimum amount of information about the tests, the AEC has given out no schedule of forthcoming shots.

But the pace of the first two indicates that they will be frequent. Friday's shot was set off almost precisely 48 hours after the initial explosion in the series.

President Kennedy has directed that the tests be carried out as rapidly as possible. They probably will be completed sometime in June.

tution clearly gave the states the right to regulate voting. The Kennedy bill is "a transgression on the rights of states equally as serious, if not more so, than any similar attempt to date," he said.

Questions on the new Louisiana voter test will range from a give-away type, like "How many senators are elected in each state?" and "who was the first President of the United States?" to more difficult ones, like "How many states must ratify an amendment to the Constitution?"

One of the give-away questions will be on each set, and applicants must answer only two more in order to qualify, Voelker said.

The initial set of questions prepared by the sovereignty commission was taken from a publication of the Justice Department, which has conducted several investigations on complaints of discrimination by Louisiana voter registrars.

Ward pointed out that the fund also helps finance special classes in the parish.

"In Ouachita Parish, we have certain special education which includes some eight or 10 classes for mentally retarded children, and also one class for children with hearing defects," he explained. "The fund also helps with the maintenance of the cerebral palsy school."

"We are overstaffed some 15 or 20 teachers in the parish," he continued. "And this fund also helps pay the salaries of these teachers, since we do not receive any funds from the state for these teachers during their first year."

Emphasizing the need for all available funds, Ward explained that the parish schools presently have an enrollment "in excess of 15,000" with an increase of approximately 5,000 expected during the next five years.

"For instance, we anticipate an enrollment of approximately 16,477 for the 1962-63 school year, increasing to 17,267 in 1963-64, 18,095 in 1964-65, 18,963 in 1965-66, and 19,873 in 1966-67," he pointed out.

By comparison, Ward said that enrollment 10 years ago — during the 1951-52 school year —was approximately 10,000. The teaching staff has also increased from 370 during 1951-52 to 607 during the current schoolyear.

The act aslo applies to "barratry" — or the offense of stirring up litigation, which means instigating or attempting to instigate a person to institute a law suit.

Penalties for "barratry" are similiar to those on persons and associations found guilty of creating racial trouble or violence.

John said, "I think these acts are the answer to our problems."

He also has plans to sponsor legislation providing for a code of ethics for state employes, which would carry with it a constitutional amendment to be approved by the people.

Other John proposals call for:

1. Creation of a Louisiana Crime Investigating Commission.

2. A control on advertising of fall-out shelters to meet the minimum requirements of the U.S. Office of Civil Defense.

3. Creation of an air pollution control board within the Department of Health to safeguard the air resources of the state by controlling or abating air pollution.

4. Recognizing the Southwide Association of Municipal Officials.

John also will sponsor a bill to create a real estate investment trust act, which he said would encourage small investors to pool their resources in real estate investment trusts and stimulate the economy.

He explained that this act was drafted after a year's study by a composite committee composed of members of several organizations. He served on the committee.

The bill, according to John, has the support of the Louisiana Mortgage Bankers Assn., Louisiana Bar Assn., Louisiana Home Builders Assn., Louisiana Bankers Assn., Louisiana Realtors Assn., and Louisiana Title Association.

Neville School Band Wins Top Honor In State

Neville High School's 85-member band won the highest possible honor at the State Band Fesitval in Baton Rouge Saturday.

The honor came preceeding the school's annual spring concert which is scheduled for May 3 in the Neville Auditorium.

The Tiger Band took a first division rating, the highest possible rating, according to band officials.

Herbert Gathright, director, pointed out last night that the band was judged in three fields: concert playing, sight reading and student conducting.

A Neville senior, John Harvey Nelson, acted as student conductor during the event.

The three selections played by the band were grade six, the most difficult type to play, and included, "Rakoczy March," by Berlioz; "Oberon," by Wever, and "Rienzi," by Wagner.

Gathright pointed out that a first division rating on the district level must be achieved before a band is eligible to participate in the state festival. Neville is in district number one.

Accompanying the band members on the over-night trip were: director of the Northeast Louisiana State College Band, Joe Barry Mullins and his wife; Bob Reddy, Monroe City School Emenentary Band Director and his wife; Gathright and his wife; and Mrs. Byron Bayne, band nurse.

Under the workings of the unit formula, the late Eugene Talmadge was elected governor in 1946 although his opponent, James Carmichael, received the most popular votes.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook announced that the granting of the interlocutory injunction against use of the unit system in the Sept. 12 Democratic primary will be appealed at once to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The opinion enjoined Democratic party officials from holding any primary election under the Neill Primary Act which was amended only Friday by a special legislative session in an effort to meet approval of the court.

The court said the unit method could not be used, either by statute or party rule where the allocation of units violates standards of allocation set in the opinion of the court.

The opinion said a county unit system for use in a party primary is invidiously discriminatory if any unit has less than its share to the nearest whole number proportionate to population, or to the whole of the vote in a recent party gubernatorial primary, or to the vote for electors of the party in the most recent presidential election.

No discrimination is deemed to be invidious under such system, the court said, if the disparity against any county is not in excess of the disparity that exists as against any state in the most recent electoral college allocation, or under the equal proportions formula for representation of the states in the Congress of the United States, and provided provision is made for allocations to be adjudicated to accord with changes in the basis at least once each 10 years.

The Democratic primary will nominate candidates for governor, a U.S. senator and state house offices. The court said it had given consideration to delaying the injunction until the next regular session of the legislature in January "but having recognized the constitutional right of plaintiff, we cannot fail to protect it."

The opinion included an 18-page review of the history of the unit vote method. The court said it had no doubt that the 14th Amendment's equal protection clause applied.

Under the old unit system, each of 159 counties had at least two unit votes for each member it had in the House of Representatives. The eight largest had six units, the next 30 received four and the other 121 two.

ing as a juror.

The act aslo applies to "barratry" — or the offense of stirring up litigation, which means instigating or attempting to instigate a person to institute a law suit.

Penalties for "barratry" are similiar to those on persons and associations found guilty of creating racial trouble or violence.

John said, "I think these acts are the answer to our problems."

He also has plans to sponsor legislation providing for a code of ethics for state employes, which would carry with it a constitutional amendment to be approved by the people.

Other John proposals call for:

1. Creation of a Louisiana Crime Investigating Commission.

2. A control on advertising of fall-out shelters to meet the minimum requirements of the U.S. Office of Civil Defense.

3. Creation of an air pollution control board within the Department of Health to safeguard the air resources of the state by controlling or abating air pollution.

4. Recognizing the Southwide Association of Municipal Officials.

John also will sponsor a bill to create a real estate investment trust act, which he said would encourage small investors to pool their resources in real estate investment trusts and stimulate the economy.

He explained that this act was drafted after a year's study by a composite committee composed of members of several organizations. He served on the committee.

The bill, according to John, has the support of the Louisiana Mortgage Bankers Assn., Louisiana Bar Assn., Louisiana Home Builders Assn., Louisiana Bankers Assn., Louisiana Realtors Assn., and Louisiana Title Association.

ernment chiefs met for about two hours Saturday morning. They had lunch together at the White House and spent another two hours in conference Saturday afternoon.

They decided to continue their talks Sunday, and a joint statement once scheduled for issuance late Saturday was delayed until sometime Sunday afternoon.

Official word from the morning session was that the two leaders had discussed a wide range of issues, including Berlin and disarmament.

In the course of their discussions, they ranged over Berlin problems, disarmament, summit prospects and policy, the European Common Market, Laos, and nuclear weapons testing.

co-op now has 494 students. It has been allocated $112,421 by the state for grants in aid.

The board authorized Supt. Shelby Jackson to submit to the legislature a survey on need of commuter junior colleges for Negroes. The legislature had requested the report. Research was conducted b a staff appointed by Jackson.

Education officials said some areas involved were in northeastern and southwestern Louisiana, and in the Natchitoches and the Morgan City-Thibodaux areas.

The board also:

Authorized president George T. Walker of Northeast Louisiana State College, and Charles Perilloux, education department supervisor of college plants, to continue working on a land purchase project.

D. W. Brister Dies; Funeral Slated Monday

Daniel W. Brister, 75-year-old retired carpenter, died early Saturday morning at his residence at 210 Montgomery St., in West Monroe. He had been ill for approximately five months.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Trinity Baptist Church in West Monroe with the pastor, the Rev. James White, officiating. The Rev. Filer Seale will assist in the services.

Burial will be in the Twin City Memorial Gardens Cemetery in West Monroe under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe. The body will be placed in state at the church one hour prior to the services.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. D. W. Brister, West Monroe; four daughters, Miss Ann Brister and Mrs. George Shaver, both of West Monroe, Mrs. Raymond Brown, Hilldale, Mich., and Mrs. Alfred Hance, Jacksonville, Fla.; four sons, J. D. Brister, both of West Monroe, and Laney Brister, Winnfield; two sisters, Miss Lizzie Brister, West Monroe, and Mrs. Cornellies Collins, Bentley, La.; and 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Neville School Band Wins Top Honor In State

Neville High School's 85-member band won the highest possible honor at the State Band Fesitval in Baton Rouge Saturday.

The honor came preceeding the school's annual spring concert which is scheduled for May 3 in the Neville Auditorium.

The Tiger Band took a first division rating, the highest possible rating, according to band officials.

Herbert Gathright, director, pointed out last night that the band was judged in three fields: concert playing, sight reading and student conducting.

A Neville senior, John Harvey Nelson, acted as student conductor during the event.

The three selections played by the band were grade six, the most difficult type to play, and included, "Rakoczy March," by Berlioz; "Oberon," by Wever, and "Rienzi," by Wagner.

Gathright pointed out that a first division rating on the district level must be achieved before a band is eligible to participate in the state festival. Neville is in district number one.

Accompanying the band members on the over-night trip were: director of the Northeast Louisiana State College Band, Joe Barry Mullins and his wife; Bob Reddy, Monroe City School Emenentary Band Director and his wife; Gathright and his wife; and Mrs. Byron Bayne, band nurse.

Army Claims Legal Authority For Dismissal Of Major Roberts

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army claimed full legal authority Saturday for its action in dismissing Maj. Arch E. Roberts from active military duty because of his unauthorized speech before the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Roberts has demanded a court martial. But an Army spokesman disputed his assertion that his more than 18 years of active service prevent his being cashiered without his consent.

The spokesman further said that Roberts' release from duty was technically an administrative rather than a disciplinary action, and that no court martial or formal appeal procedures apply in his case.

Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. late Friday dismissed Roberts from active duty on the grounds that he made "improper statements" and "violated traditional standards of conduct for an officer" in his April 19 appearnace before the DAR. Roberts at one time served as an aide to former Gen. Edwin C. Walker.

After the Army had refused to approve a speech he had prepared for the occasion, Roberts appeared before the DAR on an impromptu basis. He accused Los Angeles mayor Sam Yorty of having a "Communist background" and also said Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams had "leftist leanings."

At Ft. Lee, Va., where he has been restricted since his suspension following the speech, Roberts refused to accept the Army's action as final. He appealed to Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., to intervene in his behalf.

A vital question for the 47-year-old Roberts was the fact that an officer on active duty may retire on a pension equal to one-half his base pay as soon as he completes 20 years of service, whereas an officer in the reserve status to which he is being returned cannot get a pension until he is 60 years old.

Thus, if he remained on active duty, Roberts would be entitled to a pension of $320 a month at age 48 or 49. Unless he can get additional active duty at a later date, the Army action would deprive him of this pension for more than 10 years.

The legal question is equally complex. An officer with 18 years of service cannot be removed from "active status" without his consent. But since Roberts retains his commission and reserve status, the Army contends this prohibition does not apply.

Asked whether Roberts will be given a hearing of any kind, the Army replied:

"The Secretary of the Army's action was preced by an official inquiry by the Army Inspector General. Major Roberts was afforded an opportunity to make a statement on his own behalf. Major Roberts did make a statement which was considered by the Secretary of the Army."

If he is unable to make his objections stick, Roberts will receive "adjustment pay"—the military equivalent of severance pay — amounting to $5,670. Until his release, effective May 7, he is drawing pay and allowances totaling $797.50 a month.

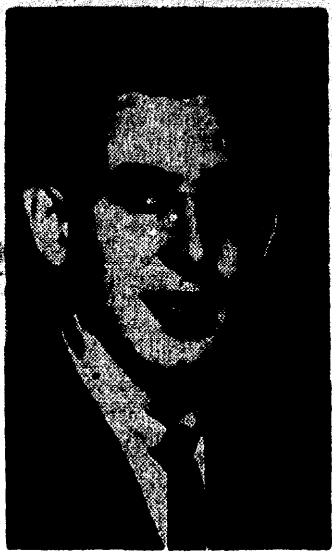
Police Question Slaying Suspect

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI)—Police questioned a suspect Saturday in the car slaying of 20-year-old Duncan Patterson of nearby Haughton, La.

A crazed driver repeatedly ran his automobile over Patterson's body Friday night following a knife fight. The slaying occurred in front of a Shreveport tavern.

The driver tried to run over an unidentified man who attempted to pull Patterson's battered body from the path of the car.

The Caddo Parish Coroner's office said Patterson did not die from the knife wounds, but from injuries inflicted by the automobile.



SAM PASTERNACK

Pasternack Selected For Science Meet

Sam (Bo) Pasternack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Weldman, 2107 Essex St., Monroe, has been selected one of fourteen high school science students to represent the United States at the Fourth International Youth Science Fortnight, July 19 through August 4, in London, England.

Announcement of the selections, including ten boys and girls, was made yesterday by Robert H. Carleton, executive secretary of the National Science Teachers Association in Washington, D. C.

Pasternack, a senior at Neville High School, won the position with the youth group from several hundred students throughout the nation. He was originally recommended by Dr. Walter Lapp, who taught advanced chemistry and physics at Neville High School two years ago under a grant by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

The selection of the 14 finalist was made from a group of 56 semi - finalists, who had undergone screening by educators, scientists and members of the National Science Teachers Association. More than 400 students from 16 different countries will take part in the London Internationl Youth Science Fortnight.

The youths will be housed at London University and will participate in a program arranged by the British Association for Advancement of Science. This program will include lectures by eminent scientists, brain - trust panels, discussion groups, visits to laboratories, museum and British industries, and an array of social activities. The affair is organized and conducted by Worldfriends' Organization and under the patronage of the Duke of Edinburgh.

The participation in the London youth science congress is one of several Future Scientists of America programs conducted by the NSTA. Supporting grands for the meeting have been provided by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, National Science Foundation and the Scholastic Book Services, Inc., publishers of the NSTA Vistas of Science.

Following the London meeting, the U. S. students, along with their adult leaders, Dr. and Mrs. Millard Harmon of Newton, Mass. will make a three - week science study tour by chartered bus through the Netherlands, West Germany, Switzerland and France.

The group will convene in Washington, D. C., July 13, where the students will stay for four days, then leave New York on July 18, traveling to London by jetliner. They will return August 21 from Paris.

During Pasternack's career at Neville he has copped many of the top honors, including selection as the most outstanding student at the National Science Foundation Institute for high school students at Louisiana State University last summer, president of the Science Club, treasurer of the Key Club, board member of the Americanism club, voted senior boy most likely to succeed and in Who's Who section of the Monroyan, yearbook. He represented the school at the annual Pelican Boys State and won certificate of merit from the American Chemical Society and honorable mention from the Science Achievement Awards for students of the National Science Teachers.

He also has served as president of the Temple B'Nai Israel Youth Group.

Pasternack plans to enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology in September, where he will study physics.

Church Assists Boyd's Family

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louis Boyd family, the first to be sent north by the New Orleans White Citizens Council's "freedom ride north," will be guests Sunday at services and a dinner at St. Philip's Baptist Church on Staten Island.

Boyd, his wife and eight children, will be given the dinner which is sponsored by the church congregation to raise money for household furnishings for the family.

Boyd, who could not find work as a longshoreman in New Orleans, was given a $100 a week job as a handyman recently by a Jersey City, N. J., firm.

Rev. William A. Epps, pastor of St. Philip's, said the invitation was extended to the Boyds because "America needs less cross-burning and more cross-bearing."

BY U.S. CHAMBER

Wage Or Price Curbs Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Policy makers of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce declared Saturday their opposition to any direct or indirect wage or price controls except in time of war or grave threat of war.

The statement was one of a score of resolutions drafted by the chamber's policy committee for approval of some 4,000 delegates to the organization's 50th annual meeting, starting here Monday.

President Kennedy will greet the delegates and guests at the opening session in Constitution Hall.

It will be his first speech to any business group since he quashed the steel industry's bid for a price increase. Many businessmen have criticized his mobilization of government power in that clash as an undue interference with free markets.

But Kennedy is expected to deliver a new appeal for cooperation between business and government in curbing inflation, fostering economic growth and enlarging foreign trade.

Although former President Dwight D. Eisenhower regularly greeted the chamber delegates throughout his two terms in office, Kennedy did not appear last year. He did address the National Association of Manufacturers and other business groups, however.

The proposed resolution against economic controls was not prompted by the power struggle between steel and government but by the potentially explosive Berlin situation.

The chamber's policy committee, headed by the president-elect of the organization, H. Ladd Plumley of Worcester, Mass., decided that the chamber's position should be spelled out in detail for presentation to congress before another East-West crisis brings on demands for economic safeguards.

The proposed resolution says presidential authority to invoke wage, pride or rent controls should derive from Congress, and the enabling law should expire within two years of its enactment unless renewed by Congress.

Any freeze action, it states, should be applied simultaneously to wages, prices and rents.

"All wage, price and rent controls should be reviewed promptly and simultaneously upon the termination of the conditions that initiated their imposition," it adds.

The resolution is expected to get prompt approval at the chamber's final policy meeting Wednesday afternoon, as is another resolution that opposes collective bargaining by federal employes.

A recent presidential order recognized the right of employes' unions to bargain and sign agreements with federal agencies on grievances, promotions and other matters, not including pay. The order does not alter the historic ban on strikes against the government.

Another resolution opposes the government's expanding role in the training and re-training of workers displaced by technological changes and with the problems of jobless youth.

Titov To Arrive In U.S. Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Maj. Gherman Titov, the Soviet cosmonaut, will arrive at Idlewild Airport here Sunday, the Soviet delegation to the United Nations announced Saturday.

Titov, who orbited the earth 17 times, is coming to the United States to attend an international meeting on space research in Washington.

He is scheduled to arrive from Moscow at 5:40 p.m. on an IL18, a Soviet plane. He will be accompanied by his wife, Tamara.

The Soviet spokesman said Titov would go to the Soviet Union mission headquarters.

Actress Loses Bid To Wed

ROME (AP)—Oscar-winning actress Sophia Loren and film producer Carlo Ponti have lost another round in their long fight to be legally married in Italy, the land of no divorce. They now face prosecution on bigamy charges.

A Rome Catholic Church tribunal has for a second time confirmed the validity of Ponti's first marriage in 1946 to Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has sought annulment of the marriage. Two children were born of the union, Guendalina, now 15, and Massimo, now 12.

That marriage went on the rocks in 1955, after Ponti had already begun guiding the glamorous Miss Loren on the path to world film stardom. Two years later, Ponti, now 46, and Miss Loren, now 27, were married by a Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, proxy ceremony. The producer had previously obtained a Mexican divorce, which is not recognized in Italy.

Earlier this year, on Jan. 17, Italian State Prosecutor Guido Guasco, assistant state attorney for Rome, disclosed he had formally requested that Ponti and Miss Loren be tried for bigamy.

The trial has not been pressed because Ponti and Miss Loren have been seeking annulment of their Mexican marriage. Miss Loren said a year ago they were seeking the annulment because of the legal difficulties that the proxy marriage caused them in Italy.

The situation is one that has brought tears to Miss Loren's lovely eyes—most recently when she won the Oscar as the best actress of 1961.

No Italian official was willing to attend the Rome Oscar presentation ceremony that was planned, and it then was cancelled. Joseph Levine, American distributor of "Two Women," the film for which Miss Loren won the Oscar, gave her and a few close friends a brief glimpse of the statuette and then took it back to the United States "for the inscription," he said.

Ialian Entertainment Minister Alberto Folchi was originally to have presented it, but he suddenly developed an indisposition. So did other officials.

Italy's under secretary of the interior, Egidio Ariosto, who Friday sharply criticized Elizabeth Taylor's recent conduct in Italy, said, when asked of the Oscar award ceremony:

"What could we do? After all there is a law on marriage in Italy."

The day after the cancelled ceremony Miss Loren tearfully left Rome for her Swiss chalet. Ponti had already gone to New York.

At Rome's railway station, Miss Loren said:

"It's not that I expected a state reception type of ceremony. After all, I am a simple girl. But still I had hoped to be honored, not so much as an actress but as an Italian receiving such a high international prize."

An appeal could still be made to the highest Catholic Church Tribunal—the Sacred Rota. But for this much time would be required. New documents would be needed, other than those upon which two negative decisions have been delivered.

Lafayette Gets New Hospital

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — A new 200-bed hospital, costing more than $4 million, will be built to replace the present Lafayette Memorial Sanitarium.

The Hill-Burton Foundation has given $2 million to finance part of the hospital's cost. The remainder will be raised through local contributions.

Construction is expected to start in six to eight months with occupancy scheduled early in 1964.

FATHER EXCOMMUNICATED

Bride Has Lonely Walk Down Aisle At Wedding

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pretty Suzanne Marie Ricau took a long, lonely walk down a Roman Catholic church aisle Saturday to become an April bride after leaving her excommunicated father at the church door.

Jackson G. Ricau, a top officer in the pro-segregation South Louisiana Citizens Council, said church officials would not let him accompany his daughter to the altar railing. He later entered the church to witness the ceremony.

Ricau was one of three Catholics excommunicated by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans on April 16. The others were Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., and political leader Leander H. Perez Sr. The excommunication edict said they ignored the archbishop's "fatherly counsel" by defying his order to desegregate parochial schools next fall.

Ricau and his blonde, 20-year-old daughter—the eldest of eight children—drove to St. Francis Xavier Church in suburban Metairie and he took her up the steps. He kissed her on the cheek and she then entered the slate gray building—alone.

After his daughter walked down the aisle and met her bridegroom, Donald A. Boudreaux, at the altar railing, Ricau entered the church and slipped into a first row pew beside his wife.

"Suzanne wanted it this way," the slim, greying Ricau said. "We talked it over and she told me that if I could not take her down the aisle to her groom, she would walk alone.

"Then, too, I don't want to appear hostile to the church. I consider myself a good Catholic. I've never been officially informed of the excommunication except through the newspapers.

"And after all, what goes on inside a church is the church's business. I'm not going to contest that at all. If they don't want me in there, then I shouldn't be in there."

By "in there," he meant as a participant in the wedding ceremony.

The refusal to let him accompany his daughter, Ricau said in a typed statement, "clearly reveals how far the hierarchy will go to supress a Catholic who is telling the truth about racial integration.

"The excommunication edict," the statement continued "was obviously an act of desperation. It was, in my opinion, a spiritual bayonet designed to silence organized resistance to forced integration and to throw fear of further threats into the flock.

BY U.S. CHAMBER

Wage Or Price Curbs Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Policy makers of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce declared Saturday their opposition to any direct or indirect wage or price controls except in time of war or grave threat of war.

The statement was one of a score of resolutions drafted by the chamber's policy committee for approval of some 4,000 delegates to the organization's 50th annual meeting, starting here Monday.

President Kennedy will greet the delegates and guests at the opening session in Constitution Hall.

It will be his first speech to any business group since he quashed the steel industry's bid for a price increase. Many businessmen have criticized his mobilization of government power in that clash as an undue interference with free markets.

But Kennedy is expected to deliver a new appeal for cooperation between business and government in curbing inflation, fostering economic growth and enlarging foreign trade.

Although former President Dwight D. Eisenhower regularly greeted the chamber delegates throughout his two terms in office, Kennedy did not appear last year. He did address the National Association of Manufacturers and other business groups, however.

The proposed resolution against economic controls was not prompted by the power struggle between steel and government but by the potentially explosive Berlin situation.

The chamber's policy committee, headed by the president-elect of the organization, H. Ladd Plumley of Worcester, Mass., decided that the chamber's position should be spelled out in detail for presentation to congress before another East-West crisis brings on demands for economic safeguards.

The proposed resolution says presidential authority to invoke wage, pride or rent controls should derive from Congress, and the enabling law should expire within two years of its enactment unless renewed by Congress.

Any freeze action, it states, should be applied simultaneously to wages, prices and rents.

"All wage, price and rent controls should be reviewed promptly and simultaneously upon the termination of the conditions that initiated their imposition," it adds.

The resolution is expected to get prompt approval at the chamber's final policy meeting Wednesday afternoon, as is another resolution that opposes collective bargaining by federal employes.

A recent presidential order recognized the right of employes' unions to bargain and sign agreements with federal agencies on grievances, promotions and other matters, not including pay. The order does not alter the historic ban on strikes against the government.

Another resolution opposes the government's expanding role in the training and re-training of workers displaced by technological changes and with the problems of jobless youth.

Titov To Arrive In U.S. Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Maj. Gherman Titov, the Soviet cosmonaut, will arrive at Idlewild Airport here Sunday, the Soviet delegation to the United Nations announced Saturday.

Titov, who orbited the earth 17 times, is coming to the United States to attend an international meeting on space research in Washington.

He is scheduled to arrive from Moscow at 5:40 p.m. on an IL18, a Soviet plane. He will be accompanied by his wife, Tamara.

The Soviet spokesman said Titov would go to the Soviet Union mission headquarters.

Actress Loses Bid To Wed

ROME (AP)—Oscar-winning actress Sophia Loren and film producer Carlo Ponti have lost another round in their long fight to be legally married in Italy, the land of no divorce. They now face prosecution on bigamy charges.

A Rome Catholic Church tribunal has for a second time confirmed the validity of Ponti's first marriage in 1946 to Giuliana Fiastra, an Italian attorney who has sought annulment of the marriage. Two children were born of the union, Guendalina, now 15, and Massimo, now 12.

That marriage went on the rocks in 1955, after Ponti had already begun guiding the glamorous Miss Loren on the path to world film stardom. Two years later, Ponti, now 46, and Miss Loren, now 27, were married by a Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, proxy ceremony. The producer had previously obtained a Mexican divorce, which is not recognized in Italy.

Earlier this year, on Jan. 17, Italian State Prosecutor Guido Guasco, assistant state attorney for Rome, disclosed he had formally requested that Ponti and Miss Loren be tried for bigamy.

The trial has not been pressed because Ponti and Miss Loren have been seeking annulment of their Mexican marriage. Miss Loren said a year ago they were seeking the annulment because of the legal difficulties that the proxy marriage caused them in Italy.

The situation is one that has brought tears to Miss Loren's lovely eyes—most recently when she won the Oscar as the best actress of 1961.

No Italian official was willing to attend the Rome Oscar presentation ceremony that was planned, and it then was cancelled. Joseph Levine, American distributor of "Two Women," the film for which Miss Loren won the Oscar, gave her and a few close friends a brief glimpse of the statuette and then took it back to the United States "for the inscription," he said.

Ialian Entertainment Minister Alberto Folchi was originally to have presented it, but he suddenly developed an indisposition. So did other officials.

Italy's under secretary of the interior, Egidio Ariosto, who Friday sharply criticized Elizabeth Taylor's recent conduct in Italy, said, when asked of the Oscar award ceremony:

"What could we do? After all there is a law on marriage in Italy."

The day after the cancelled ceremony Miss Loren tearfully left Rome for her Swiss chalet. Ponti had already gone to New York.

At Rome's railway station, Miss Loren said:

"It's not that I expected a state reception type of ceremony. After all, I am a simple girl. But still I had hoped to be honored, not so much as an actress but as an Italian receiving such a high international prize."

An appeal could still be made to the highest Catholic Church Tribunal—the Sacred Rota. But for this much time would be required. New documents would be needed, other than those upon which two negative decisions have been delivered.

Four Persons Are Injured In Accidents

Four persons suffered minor injuries in two separate accidents Saturday in West Monroe.

Two girls — Annice Sharp, 17, of Box 113, Highway 80, West Monroe, and Judy Roberts, 16, of 408 Woodrow St., West Monroe — suffered lacerations in an accident that occurred at 1 a.m. Saturday on Cypress Street near its intersection with Warren Drive.

Fourteen - year - old Larey Myers of 1203 Alvin St., West Monroe, and Gary R. Sanders, 11, of 1422 Willis St., West Monroe, were both taken to the hospital by Kilpatrick ambulance at 12:45 p.m. Saturday after they were involved in an accident on Crosley Street at its intersection with North Third Street.

The two girls were passengers in a car driven by Ernest LaRue, Jr., 19, of Zawolle, La., who was driving east on Cypress Street when the accident occurred. He told West Monroe police that he was traveling approximately 35 miles per hour when the car began pulling to the right and he could not steer it.

The vehicle ran into the ditch and hit a culvert, causing extensive damage to the front end. There were seven others in the car besides the two girls and LaRue, but none of them was injured. The girls were treated at St. Francis hospital for their injuries.

The Myers youth was traveling south on North Third Street on his motor scooter with Sanders riding as a passenger. He ran a stop sign, and was involved in a collision with a car driven by Charlotte Frantom, 17, of 614 North Fifth St., West Monroe, officers said.

Miss Frantom was driving east on Crosley Street when the accident occurred. The motor scooter struck the left rear of her vehicle.

The boys suffered bruises and cuts and were treated at the hospital. No charges were filed in either accident.

DR. JOHN W. MELTON

Church Meet To Hear Dr. John Melton

Dr. John W. Melton, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Baton Rouge, will address the May fellowship luncheon of the United Church Women of Monroe and West Monroe at 12 noon Friday in the Crystal Ballroom of the Virginia Hotel.

Dr. Melton, past president of the Baton Rouge Rotary Club, will speak on "One Family Under God."

A spokesman for the group defined May Fellowship Day as the day when United Church Women throughout the world emphasize fellowship, promote greater unity and understanding and have a special program related to some aspect of Christian Social Relations.

United Church Women are composed of nineteen churches in Monroe and West Monroe.

Dr. Melton, father of four children, received his D. D. degree from the Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., in 1934.

A member of the Board of World Missions, Presbyterian Church, he served as Chaplain in the United States Navy 1943-45.

Dr. Melton has toured mission stations in many countries including Mexico, Brazil, Japan, Korea, Taiwan, France, Switzerland and parts of Africa.

During the luncheon, there will be a nursery for children in the First Methodist Church in Monroe.

CIRCUIT BENCH

Judge To Speak During Law Day

Judge George W. Hardy, Jr., member of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, will be the principal speaker in Ouachita and Morehouse Parishes for the local observance of Law Day Tuesday. The event is sponsored by the Fourth Judicial District Bar Association.

During the local observance, which will actually be held both Monday and Tuesday, Judge Hardy, a veteran of 19 years on the Court of Appeals, will speak at six high schools and Northeast Louisiana State College.

Also slated in Monroe and Bastrop for the occasion will be William Barnsdale, Russian and Far Eastern expert with the U. S. Department of State. Barnsdale replaces Thurner B. Shelton, special assistant to the director of Soviet and Eastern Europe Exchange Staff, Bureau of European Affairs, who had originally been scheduled to participate.

Friday the bar association was notified Shelton would be unable to attend, but Barnsdale was available and would arrive Sunday.

Robert H. Easterling, chairman of the Law Day observance, said Judge Hardy will be interviewed Sunday over KNOE-TV at 12:45 p.m.

The schedule for Monday includes an address to the students of Bastrop High School at 8:30 a.m., Sterlington High School, 10:30 a.m. and Calhoun High School at 2 p.m.

Tuesday at 8:25 a.m. he is due to address the West Monroe High School students; Ouachita Parish High School at 9:25 a.m.; Northeast Louisiana State College at 10:30 a.m. and Neville High School at 1:10 p.m.

Social functions are also being planned during the two days of activities.

A native of Corsicanna, Texas. Judge Hardy moved to Shreveport in 1907, where he has lived since that time.

He received his education in the public schools of Shreveport, then attended the Virginia Military Institute and was graduated in June of 1920 with a degree of Bachelor of Arts. He studied law at Louisiana State University until 1922 when he was admitted to practive and became 'associated with his father under the firm name of Hardy & Hardy. From 1932 to 34 he served as Major of the City of Shreveport, then returned to private law practice.

During World War I he served with the U. S. Army and in December, 1918, was discharged from the Field Artillery Officers School.

He was appointed judge of the Second Circuit Court of Appeal January of 1943 and has been reelected since that time. Since 1951 he has been the presiding judge of the court.

Hospital Bids Due May 31 To Concordia Jury

VIDALIA (Special) — Bids on the proposed million dollar Concordia Parish Hill-Burton Hospital will be received 2 p.m. May 31 at a meeting of the Concordia Parish Police Jury.

Final plans for the new hospital have been approved by members of the parish police jury and specifications are on file in the office of C. Scott Yerger and Associates in Alexandria, according to S. L. Winston Jr., president of the police jury.

Winston aaid that a period of ten days would be allowed for getting construction underway, following the awarding of the contract and that 450 working days for the completion of the hospital were specified.

The hospital site is north of Ferriday on the Ferriday-Clayton Highway. The ten-acre tract was given for the hospital by the Panola Land and Developement Company of Natchez, Miss., by the late Andrew B. Learned, Natchez industrialist and his niece, Mrs. Louise Metcalfe Williams.

The grounds of the hospital will be beautified by the Ferriday Garden Club, following the completion of construction.

Hospital Will Be Dedicated

RUSTON (Special) —Lincoln Parish will dedicate Lincoln General Hospital, a $1,500,000 facility, at ceremonies Sunday at 2 p.m.

Dedication ceremonies will be followed by an open house for the public from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. through the new 73 - bed hospital.

It will open for patient care on Tuesday, May 1. The hospital built by an $8,00,000 bond issue and Hill-Burton funds.

Guest speaker at the grand opening and dedication program will be Charles Cage, executive director of the Louisiana Hospital Association.

CIRCUIT BENCH

Judge To Speak During Law Day

Judge George W. Hardy, Jr., member of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, will be the principal speaker in Ouachita and Morehouse Parishes for the local observance of Law Day Tuesday. The event is sponsored by the Fourth Judicial District Bar Association.

During the local observance, which will actually be held both Monday and Tuesday, Judge Hardy, a veteran of 19 years on the Court of Appeals, will speak at six high schools and Northeast Louisiana State College.

Also slated in Monroe and Bastrop for the occasion will be William Barnsdale, Russian and Far Eastern expert with the U. S. Department of State. Barnsdale replaces Thurner B. Shelton, special assistant to the director of Soviet and Eastern Europe Exchange Staff, Bureau of European Affairs, who had originally been scheduled to participate.

Friday the bar association was notified Shelton would be unable to attend, but Barnsdale was available and would arrive Sunday.

Robert H. Easterling, chairman of the Law Day observance, said Judge Hardy will be interviewed Sunday over KNOE-TV at 12:45 p.m.

The schedule for Monday includes an address to the students of Bastrop High School at 8:30 a.m., Sterlington High School, 10:30 a.m. and Calhoun High School at 2 p.m.

Tuesday at 8:25 a.m. he is due to address the West Monroe High School students; Ouachita Parish High School at 9:25 a.m.; Northeast Louisiana State College at 10:30 a.m. and Neville High School at 1:10 p.m.

Social functions are also being planned during the two days of activities.

A native of Corsicanna, Texas. Judge Hardy moved to Shreveport in 1907, where he has lived since that time.

He received his education in the public schools of Shreveport, then attended the Virginia Military Institute and was graduated in June of 1920 with a degree of Bachelor of Arts. He studied law at Louisiana State University until 1922 when he was admitted to practive and became associated with his father under the firm name of Hardy & Hardy. From 1932 to 34 he served as Major of the City of Shreveport, then returned to private law practice.

During World War I he served with the U. S. Army and in December, 1918, was discharged from the Field Artillery Officers School.

He was appointed judge of the Second Circuit Court of Appeal January of 1943 and has been reelected since that time. Since 1951 he has been the presiding judge of the court.

Key Argentina Ministry Post Filled By Guido

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido, working through the weekend in efforts to form a new government, filled another key ministry post Saturday but was still six men short of a full cabinet to help rule Argentina.

Guido announced the appointment of Jorge Walker Perkins as interior minister. Perkins, a former deputy, is a leader of the anti-Frondizi People's Radical Party.

Friday an outspoken for of Peronists, 48-year-old Alvaro Alsogaray, was named economy minister. Alsogaray held the same job for two years under deposed President Arturo Frondizi.

Hospital Bids Due May 31 To Concordia Jury

VIDALIA (Special) — Bids on the proposed million dollar Concordia Parish Hill-Burton Hospital will be received 2 p.m. May 31 at a meeting of the Concordia Parish Police Jury.

Final plans for the new hospital have been approved by members of the parish police jury and specifications are on file in the office of C. Scott Yerger and Associates in Alexandria, according to S. L. Winston Jr., president of the police jury.

Winston aaid that a period of ten days would be allowed for getting construction underway, following the awarding of the contract and that 450 working days for the completion of the hospital were specified.

The hospital site is north of Ferriday on the Ferriday-Clayton Highway. The ten-acre tract was given for the hospital by the Panola Land and Developement Company of Natchez, Miss., by the late Andrew B. Learned, Natchez industrialist and his niece, Mrs. Louise Metcalfe Williams.

The grounds of the hospital will be beautified by the Ferriday Garden Club, following the completion of construction.

Hospital Will Be Dedicated

RUSTON (Special) —Lincoln Parish will dedicate Lincoln General Hospital, a $1,500,000 facility, at ceremonies Sunday at 2 p.m.

Dedication ceremonies will be followed by an open house for the public from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. through the new 73 - bed hospital.

It will open for patient care on Tuesday, May 1. The hospital built by an $8,00,000 bond issue and Hill-Burton funds.

Guest speaker at the grand opening and dedication program will be Charles Cage, executive director of the Louisiana Hospital Association.

Davis To Speak At Dedication In Waterproof

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis will be the principal speaker May 3 when the town of Waterproof dedicates its new city hall and fire department building.

Mayor Louis Preis said other special guests will include Mayor Raymond Laborde of Marksville, president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, and Mayors and Councilmen from throughout the northeast Louisiana area.

The Waterproof High School choral group will open the program at 2 p.m. by singing the national anthem. This will be followed by presentation of the colors by Troop 24, Boy Scouts of America, and the invocation by the Rev. John Bradshaw of Waterproof.

Following a welcome address by Mayor Preis and the response by Mayor Laborde, all Waterproof municipal officials will be introduced. Davis is scheduled to speak next, after which visiting mayors and councilmen will be introduced.

An open house, with Waterproof High School seniors serving as hosts and hostesses, will be held following the dedicatory program.

PARENTAL PERFORMANCE

NEW YORK (AP) — James Mitchell cut short his vacation from Broadway for a special reason.

Mitchell's parents, who live in California, arrived for a brief holiday of their own while he was having a week's rest from his role of magician in the musical "Carnival." So they could catch him onstage, Mitchell went back to work on his Saturday off — and did both matinee and evening performances.

Insurance Agents Meet In Early May

Some 575 individuals have indicated their intention to attend the 60th annual convention of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents, Inc., May 3, 4, and 5th, 1962 at the Broadwater Beach on the Gulf Coast.

Among those from the Twin Cities who will attend the convention include: H. A. Mouk, Sr., H. A. Mouk, Jr., Jeff Caldwell, Jr., R. D. Farr, Jr., Charles E. McKenzie, Jr., Allan Sugar, Alymer Montgomery, Jr., Gordie Roy, William B. Jackson, Stewart Scott, Ed Seymour and Gilbert Faulk.

In announcing plans for the convention, Allen Smith, manager, Baton Rouge, released information concerning the 1963 mid-year meeting of the National Association of Insurance Agents in conjunction with the Southern Agents Conference. This meeting will be held in New Orleans during the last week of April. Representatives from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will attend. A minimum of 700 registrants is expected. A Louisianian, Harold Boling of Lake Charles, is chairman of the Southern Agents Conference and will preside at its meeting.

Thomas Q. Winkler, New Orleans, president of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents, in outlining this year's convention program pointed out that the time allocated for discussions by the membership was indicative of present day trends necessitating a complete understanding of all phases of insurance coverages if the average independent agent is to survive in an ever-increasing competitive market place.

Agency forums, Thursday afternoon, Friday afternoon and Saturday morning are designed for discussions dedicated to current agency problems.

Panels for these several discussion periods are primarily composed of local agents, members of the Association.

Father Of Local Residents Dies; Services Slated

The father of three Twin Cities residents, Lee A. McPherson, 78, of Columbia, died late Friday night in a Columbia hospital after an illness of one day.

Mr. McPherson was the father of Crosby McPherson and Elige McPherson, both of Monroe, and Mrs. Minnie Bell Martin of West Monroe.

Funeral services will be held in the Columbia Church of God at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. W. C. Wood will officiate. Burial will be in Columbia Cemetery under the direction of Riser and Son Funeral Home of Columbia.

In addition to the two sons and one daughter of the Twin Cities, Mr. McPherson, a retired planter and former Columbia resident, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lee McPherson, Columbia; another son, Herman McPherson, Jena; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Summerall, Jackson, Miss.; 13 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Four Persons Are Booked On Driving Counts

Four persons were booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by Monroe police late Friday and early Saturday.

They were identified as Betty Ruth Jones, 32, Negro of 2930-B Renwick St., Monroe; Myrick Leon Smith, 48, of 3711 W. College St., Shreveport; William Patrick Toland, 36, of Boston, Mass.; and Lowell McClendon, 19, Negro of 303 McKaskle St., West Monroe.

The Negro woman was apprehended at 8:50 p.m. Friday in the 1100 block of Louisville Avenue and booked for DWI, reckless driving and no driver's license. She was held under a $550 bond.

Smith, taken into custody at 11:50 p.m. Friday in the 2900 block of Jackson Street was booked on four charges — DWI, reckless driving, speeding and driving without proper lights. He was held under a $500 bond.

Toland was booked for DWI, reckless driving and no driver's license after being picked up at 12:47 a.m. Saturday in the 2000 block of Louisville Avenue. McClendon, taken into custody at 2:25 a.m. Saturday in the 300 block of DeSiard Street, was booked for DWI and reckless driving. Toland's bond was set at $500 and McClendon's at $435.

All four will be tried in municipal court on the charges.

PARENTAL PERFORMANCE

NEW YORK (AP) — James Mitchell cut short his vacation from Broadway for a special reason.

Mitchell's parents, who live in California, arrived for a brief holiday of their own while he was having a week's rest from his role of magician in the musical "Carnival." So they could catch him onstage, Mitchell went back to work on his Saturday off — and did both matinee and evening performances.

Insurance Agents Meet In Early May

Some 575 individuals have indicated their intention to attend the 60th annual convention of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents, Inc., May 3, 4, and 5th, 1962 at the Broadwater Beach on the Gulf Coast.

Among those from the Twin Cities who will attend the convention include: H. A. Mouk, Sr., H. A. Mouk, Jr., Jeff Caldwell, Jr., R. D. Farr, Jr., Charles E. McKenzie, Jr., Allan Sugar, Alymer Montgomery, Jr., Gordie Roy, William B. Jackson, Stewart Scott, Ed Seymour and Gilbert Faulk.

In announcing plans for the convention, Allen Smith, manager, Baton Rouge, released information concerning the 1963 mid-year meeting of the National Association of Insurance Agents in conjunction with the Southern Agents Conference. This meeting will be held in New Orleans during the last week of April. Representatives from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will attend. A minimum of 700 registrants is expected. A Louisianian, Harold Boling of Lake Charles, is chairman of the Southern Agents Conference and will preside at its meeting.

Thomas Q. Father Of Local Residents Dies; Services Slated

The father of three Twin Cities residents, Lee A. McPherson, 78, of Columbia, died late Friday night in a Columbia hospital after an illness of one day.

Mr. McPherson was the father of Crosby McPherson and Elige McPherson, both of Monroe, and Mrs. Minnie Bell Martin of West Monroe.

Funeral services will be held in the Columbia Church of God at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. W. C. Wood will officiate. Burial will be in Columbia Cemetery under the direction of Riser and Son Funeral Home of Columbia.

In addition to the two sons and one daughter of the Twin Cities, Mr. McPherson, a retired planter and former Columbia resident, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lee McPherson, Columbia; another son, Herman McPherson, Jena; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Summerall, Jackson, Miss.; 13 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Four Persons Are Booked On Driving Counts

Four persons were booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by Monroe police late Friday and early Saturday.

They were identified as Betty Ruth Jones, 32, Negro of 2930-B Renwick St., Monroe; Myrick Leon Smith, 48, of 3711 W. College St., Shreveport; William Patrick Toland, 36, of Boston, Mass.; and Lowell McClendon, 19, Negro of 303 McKaskle St., West Monroe.

The Negro woman was apprehended at 8:50 p.m. Friday in the 1100 block of Louisville Avenue and booked for DWI, reckless driving and no driver's license. She was held under a $550 bond.

Smith, taken into custody at 11:50 p.m. Friday in the 2900 block of Jackson Street was booked on four charges — DWI, reckless driving, speeding and driving without proper lights. He was held under a $500 bond.

Toland was booked for DWI, reckless driving and no driver's license after being picked up at 12:47 a.m. Saturday in the 2000 block of Louisville Avenue. McClendon, taken into custody at 2:25 a.m. Saturday in the 300 block of DeSiard Street, was booked for DWI and reckless driving. Toland's bond was set at $500 and McClendon's at $435.

All four will be tried in municipal court on the charges.

INVOLVES SOL ESTES

Finance Group Asks $3 Million

PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — One of the nation's largest finance companies has filed civil suits for almost $3 million against 28 farmers accused of defaulting on loan payments to indicted fertilizer king Billie Sol Estes.

The suit was filed by CIT Corporation. It was the first legal action brought against farmers whom both the state and federal government have claimed were victimized by Estes.

Estes, 37-year-old onetime boy wonder of agricultural finance in Texas, faces a federal indictment for fraud and a state indictment for theft from farmers, both involving sale of mortgages on fertilizer tanks.

CIT filed suit for $2,971,198 against the farmers. The New York finance company claimed the 28 farmers defaulted in payments on loans made on 3,783 fertilizer tanks and 506 applicators, which are nozzle-type attachments used to sprinkle liquid fertilizer in the soil.

The growing scandal over Estes' collapsed farm empire, once valued at a gross of $150 million, has reached to Washington, where appeals have been made for a congressional investigation of the federal government's grain storage program.

Estes built his agricultural kingdom on anhydrous ammonia (fertilizer) tanks and grain storage. His grain storage elevators were reported to have a capacity of 85 million bushels.

A congressman and an official of the U. S. Department of Agriculture rose to the defense today of the government's grain storage program.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said in Waco, Tex., that there were no violations of grain storage laws or procedures in the Estes case.

Poage said he had been "astounded" by a public impression that the Department of Agriculture under the Democratic administration was guilty of any wrongdoing in the storage of grain in Estes' elevators.

He said an investigation by the USDA showed no shortage of grain stored with Estes. Poage also said farmers stored their grain with Estes by personal choice.

"It doesn't seem that any 'Washington operator' could have had much influence on these farmers' decision as to where they put their grain," the congressman added.

Use of the term "Washington operator" was a reference to a speech last night by Texas Atty.

National Oil Group Will Hear Udall

TULSA (UPI)— Interior Secretary Stewart Udall will make his first appearance in 18 months as a cabinet officer Monday before a national oil organization.

It is not likely to turn into a love feast.

Udall will appear before the mid-year membership meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America at the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City.

His listeners will still hear the echoes of Udall's statement made only last week in favor of flexible oil import controls. He may even repeat it again.

Udall has the primary responsibility for administering the oil import program, and his use of the word flexible is generally interpreted by independents to mean more imports.

The IPAA is firmly dedicated to a rigid control program, meaning fewer imports. In fact, a major order of business at the Kansas City meeting Sunday through Wednesday will be planning tactics to rigidly control the inflow of foreign oil. Members will listen with interest, but he isn't likely to find any converts.

A warmer reception is expected for the two other main speakers, Rep. Tom Steed, D- Okla., and Gov. Howard Edmondson of Oklahoma.

Last Wednesday Steed introduced a proposed amendment to the Trade Expansion Act to reduce and stabilize the level of oil imports.

North Freedom Bus Rides Are Planned

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A spokesman for the Citizens Council of New Orleans Saturday said "Freedom Bus North" trips were being planned in Arkansas and Alabama for Negroes unhappy in the South.

Council spokesman George Singelmann said he plans to fly to Little Rock, Ark., Tuesday to help the Capital Citizens Council there arrange to send a busload of Negroes North.

He said he would fly directly from Little Rock to Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala., to assist councils who want to start the free, one-way trips out of the South for Negroes.

"The Little Rock citizens council wants to send a bus immediately," Singelmann said. He said he was contacted by Amos Guthridge, a Little Rock attorney.

"The movement definitely is rolling now," he said. "Just as we had anticipated other Southern cities will unquestionably begin to operate buses."

The Jackson, Miss., citizens council also is considering starting a similar plan.

Singelmann said a large group of Negroes definitely will leave here for New York or other cities, by Trailways bus Monday. The bus or buses were scheduled to leave at 12:45 p. m. (CST).

New York City Mayor Robert Wagner announced Friday his city would give temporary emergency relief to Negroes sent there by Southern segregationists until they find work.

"We hope a lot of Negroes take advantage of Mr. Wagner's offer," Singelmann said.

A young Negro couple who left for New York by bus Friday night is scheduled to arrive there Sunday at 12:29 p. m. (EST).

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Williams, is the second Negro family sent to New York by the council. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boyd and their eight children arrived in New York seven days ago. Their trip triggered a round of protest against the council.

Some persons accused the council of committing a "cruel hoax." Others said they doubted if the council had paid the way for 116 Negroes out of New Orleans as it claimed.

Officers Hunt Jail Escapees In Mississippi

COLUMBIA, Miss. (UPI) — Authorities combed this South Mississippi area Saturday for six of seven prisoners who escaped the Marion County jail Friday night.

One of the fugitives, James Ray Staggs, 18, of Hattiesburg, was captured early Saturday at Bogalusa, La.

Mrs. J. V. Polk, the sheriff, said none of the escapees was believed armed.

She said one prisoner apparently squeezed through a heating duct to get out of his cell, then got a set of keys from the jailer's desk and returned to let the others out. She said the jailer was ill and a deputy who replaced him was called out of the building temporarily.

ALABAMANS TO VOTE

Racial Problems Election Factor

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama Democrats, perhaps in record numbers, will vote for governor Tuesday in a primary election keynoted by racial problems and the need for more school revenue.

Besides choosing from a seven-man field for governor, the voters will nominate candidates for lieutenant governor, a new Legislature and scores of lesser state and local offices.

They will make known their preference, too, for the U.S. Senate and take a preliminary step under a unique low-man-out plan to determine which of the state's nine U.S. representatives must give up his seat.

Because of the lively interest in local as well as statewide races and the fight for survival among the congressmen, the turnout may exceed the previous record of 618,462 votes in the gubernatorial primary four years ago.

Much of the attention in the governor's race has been focused on former Gov. James E. Folsom's bid to become the state's first three-term chief executive. The colorful 6-foot 8-inch Cullman insurance man was first elected in 1946 and returned for a second term eight years later.

The incumbent governor, John Patterson, is ineligible to succeed himself and has watched the campaign from the sidelines, proclaiming complete neutrality.

Running for the state's highest office besides Folsom are:

Eugene Connor, Birmingham's police commissioner and the state's Democratic national committeeman; State Sen. Ryan deGraffenried; Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion; former State Sen. Bruce Henderson; political newcomer Wayne Bodie Jennings, and former Circuit Court Judge George C. Wallace, runner-up to Patterson in 1958.

In one form or another, the candidates have promised a continuing fight to preserve racial segregation and to resist what they call outside agitation, which they blame for the bloody "Freedom Rider" bus station riots of last year.

The candidates have pledged likewise to find new revenue for the financially troubled schools, now in their fifth consecutive year of proration of state funds because tax receipts have failed to produce enough money to meet the legislative appropriations.

In the governor's race, as in the others, a runoff will be held May 29 if the candidate that runs first Tuesday fails to get a majority of the votes.

The race for lieutenant governor has attracted a field of eight contenders, including a Ku Klux Klan leader, Alvin Horn.

Seeking his seventh term in the U. S. Senate is Lister Hill. Running against him are Donald Hallmark, a prosegregation Citizens Council leader, and retired Adm. John Crommelin, a perennial but unsuccessful office seeker since he was sidelined by the Navy in 1950 for his criticism of Pentagon defense policies.

In the lower brach of Congress, Alabama is losing one of its nine members because it failed to keep pace with the rest of the nation in population growth. Unable to agree on a redistricting bill, the Legislature compromised on a 9-8 elimination plan.

SHOWERS ARE FORECAST Sunday from northern New England westward to eastern Great Lakes and southward to Gulf region, and in parts of central and southern Great Plains. Snow and showers are due in central and northern Plateau and eastern areas of Pacific northwest. It will be cooler in lower Great Lakes eastward through northern New England, and warmer in eastern Great Plains and western Mississippi valley. Northern Plains and southern Plateau and North Pacific coast can expect colder weather. (AP Wirephoto Map)

NATO To Get Nuclear Data

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and Britian will give their NATO allies more information about nuclear weapons in Europe but will not let them have a "finger on the atomic trigger," high diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The sources said the plan represents a compromise between pressures — notably from West Germany — for shared allied control of the nuclear deterrent and President Kennedy's desire to limit the spread of nuclear weapons.

What the new plan amounts to is that NATO allies would be informed and consulted by Britain and the United States on location of nuclear weapons in Europe, their stockpiling and any shifts or redeployment.

They also may be given details of when and how they would be used in the event of hostilities.

The European allies would not, however, be given a key to the American nuclear armory on the continent nor the power to say when such weapons should be used.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrives here Sunday for a series of allied conferences at which the details will be worked out.

He will meet Sunday evening with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and then attend a two - day meeting in London of the members of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) comprising Britain, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey. The United States is a member of CENTO's military and economic committees

Rusk and Home then will go to Athens for the May 3-6 meeting of the NATO ministers and this is where the nuclear subject will come up.

Rusk's week of conferences also will include assessments of the Berlin situation, the Geneva disarmament conference and other cold war problems. The NATO allies will be given a full report on the Berlin talks with the Soviet Union in Washington.

Kennedy Signs Expansion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed a bill Saturday permitting a big expansion of the Peace Corps.

The measure authorizes him to spend $63.75 million to put 9,970 volunteers into the corps by the fall of 1963. It now has about 900 volunteers and expects that number to increase to 2,400 by June 30 and to 5,100 next fall.

The legislation simply authorizes the appropriation of funds, which will have to be provided in separate legislation.

Police Book Two Negroes

Two Negro women were booked for theft Saturday in connection with the shoplifting of 10 cartons of cigarettes from a local store.

Monroe police identified the pair as Barbara Jean Johnson, 21, of 1011½ Texas Ave., and Betty Jean Smith, 24, of 1704 Grammont St., both of Monroe.

They were apprehended at Safeway Store in the Eastgate Shopping Center and charged with theft of the cigarettes valued at approximately $25. Both women were released under $350 bonds.

Firm Requests Permit For Fill

Layton & Pipes, Inc., of Monroe, has submitted an application with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at Vicksburg, Miss., for a permit to build a fill on the east bank of the Ouachita River in the 300 block of South Grand St.

The plans call for building a fill 1,400 feet along the top bank on the river side, and will extend 25 feet into the river. The fill will be the same elevation as the natural top bank.

Persons interested in the proposed work may see plans at the office of Layton & Pipes, Inc., in Monroe, or at the U. S. Army Engineer's District Office at Vicksburg, Miss.

Three Persons Hurt In Mishap Saturday Night

A three - car collision on Ouachita Avenue Saturday night resulted in three persons being injured and a Negro being charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

The injured in the collision were identified as Randy L. Price, 21, of 204 Louise Anne Ave., and Negores Murry Hill, 38, 3906 Dunlap St., and Francine Harvey, 38, of 3900 D'Arbonne.

Price, who was driving west on Ouachita Avenue, was in a collision with Hill's vehicle which was headed south on South Third Street, and according to Monroe police.

Police said that Hill ran a stop sign apparently at an excessive rate of speed and was struck by Price. One of the two vehicles, police were unable to determine which, struck the rear end of another car driven by Alvie J. Jowers, 23, of 209 Ouachita Ave., which was headed east on Ouachita Avenue.

The Price and Hill vehicles were both demolished, while the Jowers car was only damaged on the rear bumper.

The Harvey Negro woman, a passenger in Hill's car, was taken to St. Francis hospital complaining of pain, but with no visible injury. Hill was taken to E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital for examination while Price went to Wright Bendel Clinic suffering with a leg injury and back injury.

Police charged Hill with DWI and reckless driving and he was released under a $500 bond. He will be tried on the counts in municipal court.

THE LAW . . . WELLSPRING OF LIBERTY

THE CONSTITUTION AND BILL OF RIGHTS

The Constitution of The United States of America, together with the subsequent amendments called the Bill of Rights, opened portals of freedom for all. Gladstone termed it "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

The foundation of law laid down in the Constitution made possible the flowering of our whole social order. Equal justice under law became an American tradition.

This year we celebrate the 175th anniversary of the drafting of our basic charter in the Constitutional Convention of 1787. Today, more than ever, the rule of law is indispensable in our daily lives and to the hopes of mankind for a peaceful world.

On May first of 1962 we observe another significant day — the fifth anniversary of Law Day USA. We do so by Act of Congress, and by official proclamation of the President of the United States. It is an occasion for American citizens to "rededicate themselves to the ideals of freedom and justice under law . . . to cultivate respect for law . . . to foster understanding and appreciation of our liberties and the legal and judicial institutions which protect them."

In these days of challenge to the concept of human freedom and dignity, these objectives are especially timely and important to Americans determined to preserve the values of our free society.

This message is published in recognition of the nationwide observance of Law Day USA on May 1.

Bruce Henderson; political newcomer Wayne Bodie Jennings, and former Circuit Court Judge George C. Wallace, runner-up to Patterson in 1958.

In one form or another, the candidates have promised a continuing fight to preserve racial segregation and to resist what they call outside agitation, which they blame for the bloody "Freedom Rider" bus station riots of last year.

The candidates have pledged likewise to find new revenue for the financially troubled schools, now in their fifth consecutive year of proration of state funds because tax receipts have failed to produce enough money to meet the legislative appropriations.

In the governor's race, as in the others, a runoff will be held May 29 if the candidate that runs first Tuesday fails to get a majority of the votes.

The race for lieutenant governor has attracted a field of eight contenders, including a Ku Klux Klan leader, Alvin Horn.

Seeking his seventh term in the U. S. Senate is Lister Hill. Running against him are Donald Hallmark, a prosegregation Citizens Council leader, and retired Adm. John Crommelin, a perennial but unsuccessful office seeker since he was sidelined by the Navy in 1950 for his criticism of Pentagon defense policies.

In the lower brach of Congress, Alabama is losing one of its nine members because it failed to keep pace with the rest of the nation in population growth. Unable to agree on a redistricting bill, the Legislature compromised on a 9-8 elimination plan.

SHOWERS ARE FORECAST Sunday from northern New England westward to eastern Great Lakes and southward to Gulf region, and in parts of central and southern Great Plains. Snow and showers are due in central and northern Plateau and eastern areas of Pacific northwest. It will be cooler in lower Great Lakes eastward through northern New England, and warmer in eastern Great Plains and western Mississippi valley. Northern Plains and southern Plateau and North Pacific coast can expect colder weather. (AP Wirephoto Map)

NATO To Get Nuclear Data

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and Britian will give their NATO allies more information about nuclear weapons in Europe but will not let them have a "finger on the atomic trigger," high diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The sources said the plan represents a compromise between pressures — notably from West Germany — for shared allied control of the nuclear deterrent and President Kennedy's desire to limit the spread of nuclear weapons.

What the new plan amounts to is that NATO allies would be informed and consulted by Britain and the United States on location of nuclear weapons in Europe, their stockpiling and any shifts or redeployment.

They also may be given details of when and how they would be used in the event of hostilities.

The European allies would not, however, be given a key to the American nuclear armory on the continent nor the power to say when such weapons should be used.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrives here Sunday for a series of allied conferences at which the details will be worked out.

He will meet Sunday evening with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and then attend a two-day meeting in London of the members of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) comprising Britain, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey. The United States is a member of CENTO's military and economic committees

Rusk and Home then will go to Athens for the May 3-6 meeting of the NATO ministers and this is where the nuclear subject will come up.

Rusk's week of conferences also will include assessments of the Berlin situation, the Geneva disarmament conference and other cold war problems. The NATO allies will be given a full report on the Berlin talks with the Soviet Union in Washington.

Kennedy Signs Expansion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed a bill Saturday permitting a big expansion of the Peace Corps.

The measure authorizes him to spend $63.75 million to put 9,970 volunteers into the corps by the fall of 1963. It now has about 900 volunteers and expects that number to increase to 2,400 by June 30 and to 5,100 next fall.

The legislation simply authorizes the appropriation of funds, which will have to be provided in separate legislation.

Police Book Two Negroes

Two Negro women were booked for theft Saturday in connection with the shoplifting of 10 cartons of cigarettes from a local store.

Monroe police identified the pair as Barbara Jean Johnson, 21, of 1011½ Texas Ave., and Betty Jean Smith, 24, of 1704 Grammont St., both of Monroe.

They were apprehended at Safeway Store in the Eastgate Shopping Center and charged with theft of the cigarettes valued at approximately $25. Both women were released under $350 bonds.

Firm Requests Permit For Fill

Layton & Pipes, Inc., of Monroe, has submitted an application with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at Vicksburg, Miss., for a permit to build a fill on the east bank of the Ouachita River in the 300 block of South Grand St.

The plans call for building a fill 1,400 feet along the top bank on the river side, and will extend 25 feet into the river. The fill will be the same elevation as the natural top bank.

Persons interested in the proposed work may see plans at the office of Layton & Pipes, Inc., in Monroe, or at the U. S. Army Engineer's District Office at Vicksburg, Miss.

NEW YORK (AP) — Off-Broadway is providing original cast record albums in competition with Broadway offerings.

Three Persons Hurt In Mishap Saturday Night

A three-car collision on Ouachita Avenue Saturday night resulted in three persons being injured and a Negro being charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

The injured in the collision were identified as Randy L. Price, 21, of 204 Louise Anne Ave., and Negores Murry Hill, 38, 3906 Dunlap St., and Francine Harvey, 38, of 3900 D'Arbonne.

Price, who was driving west on Ouachita Avenue, was in a collision with Hill's vehicle which was headed south on South Third Street, and according to Monroe police.

Police said that Hill ran a stop sign apparently at an excessive rate of speed and was struck by Price. One of the two vehicles, police were unable to determine which, struck the rear end of another car driven by Alvie J. Jowers, 23, of 209 Ouachita Ave., which was headed east on Ouachita Avenue.

The Price and Hill vehicles were both demolished, while the Jowers car was only damaged on the rear bumper.

The Harvey Negro woman, a passenger in Hill's car, was taken to St. Francis hospital complaining of pain, but with no visible injury. Hill was taken to E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital for examination while Price went to Wright Bendel Clinic suffering with a leg injury and back injury.

Police charged Hill with DWI and reckless driving and he was released under a $500 bond. He will be tried on the counts in municipal court.

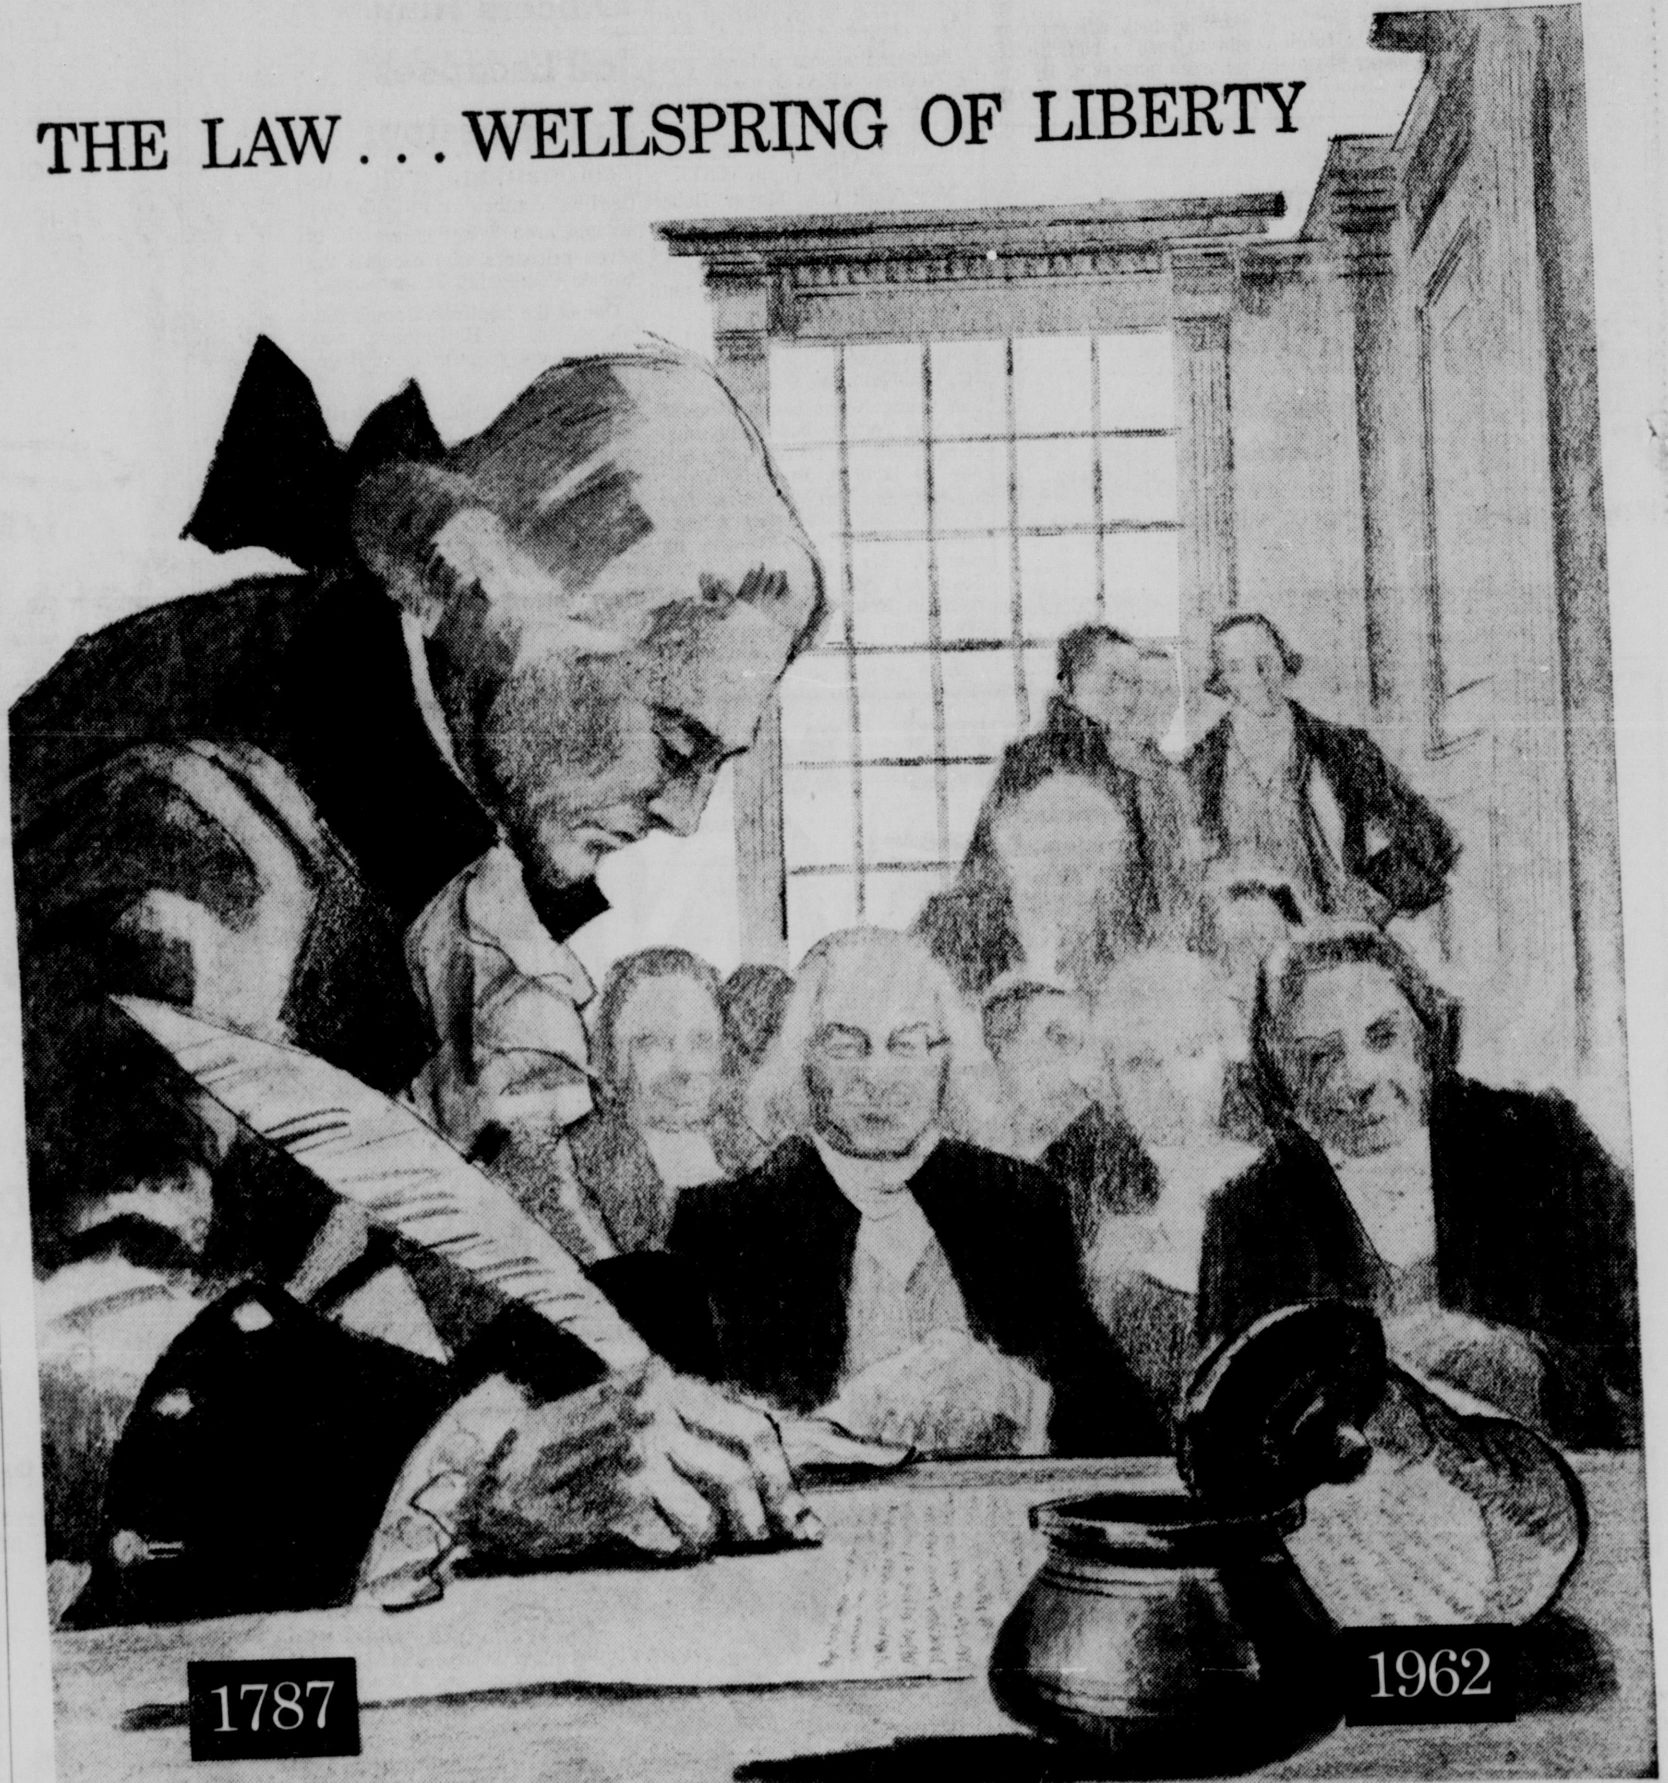
THE LAW . . . WELLSPRING OF LIBERTY



THE CONSTITUTION AND BILL OF RIGHTS

The Constitution of The United States of America, together with the subsequent amendments called the Bill of Rights, opened portals of freedom for all. Gladstone termed it "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

The foundation of law laid down in the Constitution made possible the flowering of our whole social order. Equal justice under law became an American tradition.

This year we celebrate the 175th anniversary of the drafting of our basic charter in the Constitutional Convention of 1787. Today, more than ever, the rule of law is indispensable in our daily lives and to the hopes of mankind for a peaceful world.

On May first of 1962 we observe another significant day — the fifth anniversary of Law Day USA. We do so by Act of Congress, and by official proclamation of the President of the United States. It is an occasion for American citizens to "rededicate themselves to the ideals of freedom and justice under law . . . to cultivate respect for law . . . to foster understanding and appreciation of our liberties and the legal and judicial institutions which protect them."

In these days of challenge to the concept of human freedom and dignity, these objectives are especially timely and important to Americans determined to preserve the values of our free society.

This message is published in recognition of the nationwide observance of Law Day USA on May 1.

Pauling Pickets At White House

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nobel prize-winning chemist who will be a dinner guest of President and Mrs. Kennedy Sunday night picketed the White House Saturday, but from a distance of a block away.

Dr. Linus C. Pauling of the California Institute of Technology joined the picket line of Women Strike for Peace, a group protesting the resumption of U.S. nuclear tests.

He was assigned a three-hour stint, from noon to 3 p.m. His wife also joined the picket line.

Dr. and Mrs. Pauling are among 175 guests, including 49 Nobel prize winners, invited to the White House dinner.

He said they plan to attend the dinner. Pauling won the 1954 Nobel Prize for chemistry.

The picketing had to be conducted on H St., across Lafayette Park from the White House, instead of on the sidewalk in front of the White House on Pennsylvania Ave.

Washington police barred picketing within 500 feet of the White House because of the presence there of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The 500-foot rule is invoked only when a distinguished foreign visitor is at the White House.

Coatless and hatless, Dr. Pauling carried two different signs. One said "no" and included a picture of an atomic explosion. The other read: "Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Macmillan: You have no right to test."

Pauling said the women conducting the picketing against the tests "deserve great credit for bringing the dangers of nuclear testing to the attention of the American people."

GERALD GRESHAM, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Pauline Gresham, formerly of Monroe, will undergo delicate heart surgery May 4 at Children's Hospital in Oakland, Calf. The youngster has been afflicted with a "divided heart condition" since birth. His family has been given little hope for his recovery following surgery. The serious nature of his condition has caused many years of delay in making the decision to operate. Recently, medical authorities have advised Gerald's family that he has "no chance" of survival without surgery. He is a grandson of Mrs. Mattie Lou Wade, 1217 South Second St., Monroe and Mrs. Dora Gresham, of West Monroe. Gerald's mother formerly worked for Dr. J. Q. Graves in Monroe.

Labor Urges Preview Of Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP—The AFL-CIO Executive Council called on congress Friday to provide for advance public review of proposed price increases in key industries.

The council adopted a statement commending President Kennedy for successfully heading off the recent $6-a-ton price increase by U.S. Steel Corp. and other major steel producers.

"By acting quickly and boldly," the nation's top labor union leaders declared in a resolution, "President Kennedy challenged U.S. Steel's domination over a key and on-competitive sector of the American economy.

"For the first time in decades, the corporation's vast economic and financial power was vigorously and successfully challenged. We commend President Kennedy for his courageous action in this situation."

The council said the basic problem still remains, however. It said laws are needed to enable "full public investigation and public disclosure of the cost-price-profit, administered-price industries."

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, was asked at a news conference whether the AFL-CIO approves of the wage-moderation policies of the Kennedy stability formula, as well as the price-restraint policy.

Meany replied that the labor federation has taken no stand on adhering to the administration wage-moderation plea. He said the matter is up to each individual union affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Another AFL-CIO Council statement said, however, in duscussing present economic policies, that unions should seek "reasonable increases in wages and salaries." This appeared to be a more limited bargaining goal than in the past, when unions have generally called for "substantial" wage boosts.

Meany said the AFL-CIO Council authorized him to write all the federation's 130 unions requesting that they negotiate with President Kennedy's committee on equal employment opportunity on commitments to eliminate racial discrimination in their organizations.

New Orleans Preparing For Two-Hour Visit By President Next Friday

By CARROLL P. TROSCLAIR
United Press International

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans is preparing for its sixth Presidential visit Friday with full realization that anything can happen on such occasions.

President Kennedy will fly into the city at 9:40 a. m. for the quickest visit—two hours — ever made here by a President.

Previous presidential visits were made by William McKinley in 1901, Theodore Roosevelt in 1905, William Howard Taft in 1909, Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937 and Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1953.

Kennedy will make two speeches in New Orleans, one on a new, 54-acre river wharf and the other at City Hall. The first is billed as a major foreign trade speech. The second will be from the City Hall steps to New Orleans children placing flowers on the statue of philanthropist John McDonogh.

The selection of the wharf and the City Hall steps for the two Kennedy talks did away with any segregated seating problems.

The Kennedy visit has already caused some trouble for Mayor Victor Schiro and might cause some embarrassment for Gov. Jimmie Davis.

The Citizens Council here, unhappy with the Kennedy Administration's handling of the integration tug-of-war, objected when Schiro went to Washington and asked the President to make the second speech to the school children.

Davis, a frequent critic of the administration on the integration issue, is expected to meet the President in New Orleans, another move that might cause grumbling by the Citizens Council, one of Davis' big supporters.

Last month there were reports segregationists might encourage a children's boycott of the City Hall speech and of more picketing in this picket-minded city. However, no major opposition projects appear to have developed.

But recollections of previous Presidential visits will keep law and protocol officials alert for all kinds of incidents. They recall:

—McKinley's carriage was unable to get through one section of the huge crowd that turned out to greet him. Their way had to be cleared by four huge policemen with a "football center rush."

—Theodore Roosevelt drew a crowd of 300,000 and personally directed some of the movement through it. One admirer yelled "Mr. President, you're a brick!"

—Taft shocked some of this city's gourmet's by bypassing wine at all of his meals here. He drank lemonade.

—Mayor Robert S. Maestri, never fond of public speaking, reportedly broke a long silence between him and Franklin Roosevelt during dinner at Antoine's with a now famous question, "How did you like them ersters?"

—A man clad in pajamas, bathrobe and fedora stood atop the historic Pontalba Apartments to watch Eisenhower re-enact the Louisiana purchase in the French Quarter.

New Orleans Preparing For Two-Hour Visit By President Next Friday

By CARROLL P. TROSCLAIR
United Press International

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans is preparing for its sixth Presidential visit Friday with full realization that anything can happen on such occasions.

President Kennedy will fly into the city at 9:40 a. m. for the quickest visit—two hours — ever made here by a President.

Previous presidential visits were made by William McKinley in 1901, Theodore Roosevelt in 1905, William Howard Taft in 1909, Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937 and Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1953.

Kennedy will make two speeches in New Orleans, one on a new, 54-acre river wharf and the other at City Hall. The first is billed as a major foreign trade speech. The second will be from the City Hall steps to New Orleans children placing flowers on the statue of philanthropist John McDonogh.

The selection of the wharf and the City Hall steps for the two Kennedy talks did away with any segregated seating problems.

The Kennedy visit has already caused some trouble for Mayor Victor Schiro and might cause some embarrassment for Gov. Jimmie Davis.

The Citizens Council here, unhappy with the Kennedy Administration's handling of the integration tug-of-war, objected when Schiro went to Washington and asked the President to make the second speech to the school children.

Davis, a frequent critic of the administration on the integration issue, is expected to meet the President in New Orleans, another move that might cause grumbling by the Citizens Council, one of Davis' big supporters.

Last month there were reports segregationists might encourage a children's boycott of the City Hall speech and of more picketing in this picket-minded city. However, no major opposition projects appear to have developed.

But recollections of previous Presidential visits will keep law and protocol officials alert for all kinds of incidents. They recall:

—McKinley's carriage was unable to get through one section of the huge crowd that turned out to greet him. Their way had to be cleared by four huge policemen with a "football center rush."

—Theodore Roosevelt drew a crowd of 300,000 and personally directed some of the movement through it. One admirer yelled "Mr. President, you're a brick!"

—Taft shocked some of this city's gourmet's by bypassing wine at all of his meals here. He drank lemonade.

—Mayor Robert S. Maestri, never fond of public speaking, reportedly broke a long silence between him and Franklin Roosevelt during dinner at Antoine's with a now famous question, "How did you like them ersters?"

—A man clad in pajamas, bathrobe and fedora stood atop the historic Pontalba Apartments to watch Eisenhower re-enact the Louisiana purchase in the French Quarter.

Creatures Of Wilds

By JANICE CLARK

Crossett, Ark., Correspondent

A brown mallard hen floated out on Lucas Pond at the edge of Crossett, Ark., City Park early in April, leading six strutty little down - covered ducklings. These were the first baby mallards hatched in - the - wild on the park lake, but the forerunners of countless others to come.

Almost immediately after the hours - old ducklings recovered from the shock of their first plunge in cold water they were cruising in expert circles around their mother, tipping up on their stumpy little rear ends and making a real effort to flap their fuzz - covered wings - to - be — as filled with zing and sass as if they had been born in their traditional breeding grounds in far - north Saskatchewan, Manitoba, or Alaska.

The downy six followed their mother as she joined the flock of 50 drakes and hens with whom she had spent the past year on the willow - edged lake by the park. And word sped through Crossett that the first baby ducks were on the lake.

WINTERED ON LAKE

The flock of mallards which have wintered on Lucas Pond were raised from eggs laid last spring by captive mallards in pens of the park zoo. It was an experiment for Cone Crossland, the man who has worked for over 10 years in building a zoo composed chiefly of the animals indigenous to the thousands of acres of towering forest which stretch out in all directions from Crossett. Cone first put the young, fully - feathered ducks in a pen built half in the water and half on land at the lake's edge. They were fed there regularly morning and afternoon to build up their identification with that place. And one wing on each duck was clipped.

Soon a snow - white Peking duck was brought to the pond by a little girl named Katie Long — her Easter duck grown big. That duck, dubbed "Miss Katie" by friends of the zoo, had never seen another duck, and didn't know she was any different from these wonderful new friends. She moved squarely into the middle of the flock, and made herself quite at home there.

DUCKS DONATED

Other children, upon seeing Miss Katie, decided to donate their problem Easter ducks to the zoo, and soon there were nine more snow - white ducks on the pond. The new nine cruised together in tight formation, joining the strange flock of mallards only at feeding time. But Miss Katie, convinced that she was a mallard, remained in the heart of the brown and bottle - necked birds, like a diamond in a copper tiara.

Early in the summer the pen was opened on the water side, and the ducks were free to float over the 40 - acre lake, rippling the golden reflections of willows and diving for minnows through the deep green shadows of the towering pines.

They cruised around bends and into quiet inlets where only an occasional fisherman floated his boat in search of bream; and they explored the wooded edges of the water. But the rattle of the feed - house gate in the morning or late afternoon always brought them from all parts of the lake — Miss Katie in the heart of the mallards, and the glossy - white flock of Pekings all heading for dinner.

ON SPRING DAY

Any warm spring day might find a boy or man lying on his back in the sun at the lake's edge, learning to imitate the multiple calls of the wild ducks on his caller — from the flock of ducks seeking bread crumbs where his hand trails in the water's edge. Or a child will be scattering crumbs on the water, delighted at watching the stately ducks tip end - up to feed off the bottom of the water's edge.

There was a speech teacher in Crossett last winter working with a child who had never spoken a word to her. One day she walked with the child to the park, and to the water's edge. That six year old child became quite excited over the friendly ducks, and suddenly said, "Duck!" and then, "Quack!" the dam which had imprisoned his speech was broken.

Then came the most exciting part of all. When the wild ducks began flying south last fall, flock after flock of the migrating birds weary from their long flight was lured onto the little lake at the edge of Crossett by the friendly call of the stay - at - homes. There they rested, sometimes just over - night, sometimes for days before going on to their far - south wintering places.

GUESTS

They would join the tame ducks at the feeding pen — to be distinguished only when they flew up at the approach of people. There were squealers on the lake for days, chuckers, canvas - backs and wild mallards. Three white-billed coots have about made up their minds to stay, and come closer and closer to the people who stand at the edge of the water to visit with the delightful birds.

This spring, as the drakes grew brilliant new courtship plumage, the brown hens began to thin[k] of nesting. Tucked under b[...]s bushes, in reeds at the l[...]'s edge, and in clumps of wi[...] violets the creamy - white e[gg]s are clustered in shallow [bo]wls of dried grasses and twi[gs].

Many of the egg[s] have been gathered for safe keeping and are being hatch[ed] in incubators at the zoo. Sco[re]s more are destroyed by p[re]datory animals — raccoons, 'possums, and bob cats. But [fro]m the 25 leaf - colored hens, [su]rely many will launch from so[me] hidden spot a family of furry [li]ttle ducklings.

INCUBATION

Of those being hatched in i[n]cubators, Cone plans to put as many as possible under a setting hen as her own eggs begin to "pip." Others will be raised in brooders until they are big enough to survive on the pond.

The ducks are only one interesting feature of the little Crossett City Zoo. The animal and bird collection began when Crossland, with the help of civic leaders, raised the first $500 for a pen to [T]he communiity became so attached to the first deer family in the park that when vandals "kidnapped" and slaughtered one of them one year a furor followed of such proportions that the story hit the national wire services as well as newspapers in two states. Since then the collection has grown to include squirrel, a bob cat, wild turkeys, quail, half a dozen strains of ducks, rabbits, possum (trapped recently stealing mallard eggs) hawks, owls, and non-indigenous specimens such as a timber wolf, white and colored peacocks, pheasant, and a monkey.

GUIDING HAND

R. P. Meredith, chairman of the Crossett Recreation Commission says of the zoo, "The entire concept and development of the zoo idea — its operation and maintenance, has been in the hands of Cone Crossland." Mayor Va[...]ell Carter says of th[e] man who h[as] donated his time to the zoo for more than a decade, "If it were [not] for Cone it (the zoo) would [not] be." He added th[...] [...] than the city [...]ms

he looks long and hard at that $2,900 annual zoo budget. "But then I drive past the park on a Sunday afternoon and see how how many poeple are enjoying the zoo, and I know it is good and we must keep it."

Meantime, Cone Crossland, a quiet man who works as an engineer in the power house at the paper mill, spends hours of his free time each day checking on each animal and bird candling eggs of pheasant, wild turkeys, quail, chuckers and mallards, feeding the hatched young in their brooder pens and plotting new ways to bring the animals where the people can enjoy them even more.

A[nd] — Lucas Pond, half a block from the homes of Crossett, is becoming a haven where migrating ducks are learning to rest free from danger as they wing their way from north to south — and then back again. As Cone Crossland says, "It is quite a sight to see!" when those wild birds glide down on the lake in answer to the happy call of their kin who make their year - round home in Crossett.

Famous Bird Watcher

EDITOR'S NOTE — He wasn't the first — and certainly not the last — but John James Audubon has become the most famous of bird watchers. Latest research shows that not all Audubons are Audubons, but there are many authentic paintings around of the artist who was such a perfectionist he neared hysteria when he couldn't find a flamingo to sit for a portrait.

By ROBERT O'MEARA

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Today they'd call him an American success story, a human dynamo, a painstaking scientist, a promoter, production manager and even a practical joker. He was all of these, but mostly he was a sensitive artist at peace only in the wilderness he knew was doomed.

Now he's an American legend—and as with all legends fact and fiction are mixed.

A new look at the works and contradictory life of John James Audubon has emerged 111 years after his death as the result of a research project by art expert Edward Dwight.

DISQUIETING NOTE

In the process, Dwight came up with the disquieting note that some "Audubon" drawings aren't Audubons at all.

Lots of others are, but only partly. Still others, long thought to be the work of lesser men, are genuine Audubons.

Dwight, working on a Ford Foundation grant, spent six months traveling to favorite working spots of Audubon and seeking out his journals, letters and original drawings. Since 1955, he has been director of the Milwaukee Art Center and on July 1 will become director of the Museum of Art at the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute at Utica, N.Y.

"Audubon's was one of the great success stories of America," says Dwight, "but he was a disturbed personality. In fact, he died insane, completely withdrawn from the task he had outlined for himself."

That task was to record in drawing every known species of North American bird. The project, Audubon found, was overwhelming.

"For instance, he tried without success to shoot a flamingo in Florida so he could paint the details of the feathers," said Dwight. "He almost became hysterical, but finally a friend sent him the skin and feathers of a flamingo from Cuba."

The result was one of Audubon's most magnificent drawings and one of his last.

The flamingo apparently was an exception, because Dwight holds that the quality of Audubon's work declined noticeably as he worked frantically in his late years to complete his series.

He complained of old age at 48 because he no longer could spend 17 hours at his drawing board without getting tired.

Audubon, however, won acclaim and financial success in Europe and America long before the decline of his late years.

Let's set the record straight, Dwight says, on some misconceptions. It is not true that Audubon produced all his pictures himself, drew and painted only from life, abhored the killing of wildlife, or was the lost dauphin, the heir of the French crown who disappeared never to be found.

Audubon was born in Santo Domingo in 1785. His father was a rich merchant and slave trader and the artist refers to his mother in his writings as a local mademoiselle. He also said firmly, "I received breath and life in the new world," ending, Dwight hopes the nonsense that he was heir to the French throne.

But Dwight does confirm that Audubon failed miserably as a businessman, won fame first in the British Isles and then in America, was one of the nation's finest chroniclers of the disappearing frontier, used several assistants to paint the plants, trees and landscapes in the backgrounds of his drawings, and was accurate in unparalled degree.

As for those Audubon drawings that aren't, Dwight found that a close friend of Audubon's, Edward Harris, made bird drawings, obviously copies of the master's, and that these probably were sold as original Audubons.

Manufacturers' Drive

Not content to sit back and let the federal government continue its attacks on business and industry, with the evident purpose of bringing about socialization, the Louisiana Manufacturers Association has launched a statewide drive for enlarged membership. At this particular time, the association's decision to depart thus from its usual procedure is fully justified.

Anyone who will stop to consider will realize that business and industry provide the sources of income of virtually everyone in the United States. If anyone can think of a way to earn money without the sale of goods or services he will practically have to create a fourth dimension. Business and industry provide the avenues for the sale of these goods and services. Without them, the whole economy would collapse overnight. Of course business and industry are interlocking and farming is included in both of them.

The announced sole purpose of the Louisiana Manufacturers Association in departing from custom and promoting a statewide drive for members is to enable it better to represent the point of view of industry and business in legislative and governmental affairs.

No one knows how long the state government must carry onerous burdens of expenditures. The state of Louisiana's fiscal affairs have seldom been in a more precarious condition. In the role of the source for footing most of the bills, the general businessman needs an effective spokesman to make his viewpoint known.

The Manufacturers Association has filled that role well in the past. But in the general scramble to obtain public funds for one course or another, dozens of pressure groups have sprung up to make insistent demands for large portions of industry's money. Any one of these groups is better financed to accomplish its purpose than the association is to defend the businessmen's interest. Some of these groups are composed of public employes able to raise a "war chest" simply by assessing the membership. Others are units of government itself which have access to ample public funds and official entree to legislative bodies to promote their ideas.

While many of these activities are entirely worthy of public interest, the purpose behind them is always to obtain appropriations, whether there is enough money to pass around or not. The businessman's place is soon lost to sight.

The function of the Manufacturers Association is to keep the figure of industry and business, who pay the bills, in the foreground. To perform that function adequately under present conditions, the association finds it must adopt an expanded program, supported by larger funds and so by more members, officials say. That is the purpose of the current membership drive.

While the Louisiana association's efforts are aimed primarily at preventing devastating raids by the state legislature, it appears essential that manufacturers all over the country join in a concerted movement against such heavy taxation that they can no longer exist.

The substitute for private industry and business is government-operated industry and business, which is socialism. Already we have too much of government in business but if government takes over business and industry completely we will have the greatest monopoly any country can have—government bossism.

The Louisiana Manufacturers Association effort deserves widespread support from businessmen all over the state.

Steel Slows Down

The net result of President Kennedy "profits squeeze," directed against the steel companies, is that the companies have lost most of the money heretofore invested in modernization and reinvested in business. They have been so badly crippled that it is doubtful if they will be able, much longer, to compete successful with foreign steel mills, some of which were built with United States tax money.

United States Steel's investment in modernization and reinvestment in business, in the order given, is shown for the last five years as follows: 1961, $326,800,000 and $2,700,000; 1960, 492,400,000 and $117,000,000; 1959, $366,100,000 and $67,500,000; 1958, $448,100,000 and $114,900,000; 1957, $514,900,000 and $232,900,000.

The drop from $514,900,000 in investment in modernization and $232,900,000 reinvested in business in 1957 to comparative figures of $326,800,000 and $2,700,000 is not only startling but dangerous.

Bethlehem Steel shows similar sharp declines. In 1957 this firm invested $209,000,000 in modernization and reinvested $79,200,000 in business. By contrast, the sums spent in 1961, respectively, were $1[illegible],300,000 and $6,613,764.

Figures for other steel companies in recent years have been investment for modernization.

Th[illegible] has been essential to keep the American industry efficient and competitive with the "new" steel plants in Europe and Japan. A "new" plant in Europe or Japan is one that was either bombed out during World War II or that has become obsolete and [h]ad to be rebuilt.

In the case of the Russian plants, they were built entirely new with funds provided by the United States as military or economic aid. American companies have not received such aid. They have built their own plants and paid their own way but now the president has taken action which endangers their ability to maintain plants that are sufficiently modern to meet the foreign competition.

George Sokolsky, widely-known columnist, who at times has strongly defended President Kennedy, had this to say:

"The American steel industry is not currently sufficiently modern to compete in foreign markets with the newer plants.

"The modernization can only come out of earnings or capital. If from earnings alone, it could reduce dividends (possibly to such an extent that there would be no more investors); if from capital, unless reserves are available, it might imperil the company. On the other hand, if these plants are not modernized, the American product will grow increasingly non-competitive.

"Inflation is a terrible economic condition, but obsolescence is just as bad. The United States is being forced by conditions to import its iron ore from abroad; we should indeed be in bad straits if we were forced to import our steel from abroad because we have permitted our plants to grow obsolete, unready to meet any condition that we may be faced with."

Those who have been wondering if it makes much differences whether the steel plants make a good profit should think again. Our situation in peacetime would be bad enough without adequate steel plants but where would we be if war should come if we had no adequate plants?

To the Editor:

I am thoroughly disgusted with President Kennedy's harsh words about the steel situation. President Kennedy seems to forget that such things as business cycles and law of supply and demand still exist.

In the last few years the cost of living has steadily gone up, due to more and higher taxes, labor union disputes, strikes, etc. President Kennety seems to think that it is perfectly all right for the labor unions to strike for higher wages due to the high cost of living; but that it is not right for the steel companies to raise their prices on steel because the cost of living has gone up. What right does the federal government have in telling private enterprise how to run their business?

If the steel companies continue to give their employes higher wages while the cost of living goes up and they themselves are not allowed to raise their prices, then their profit will dwindle, resulting in laying off of thousands of employes. The city of Pittsburgh, Penn. is already experiencing this socialized calamity.

In Chicago, the Merchandise Mart, an office building owned by multi- millionaire Joseph P. Kennedy, the father of the President, is raising some of its rents anywhere from 3 per cent to five per cent. This happened the day after the presidential assault on Big Steel for raising its prices. No harsh words were spoken about this.

It seems dictatorial to send FBI agents to rout out reporters and question them at 3 o'clock in the morning to obtain evidence against steel companies whose officers the reporters had interviewed.

Other foreign countries have tried socializing private enterprise and have failed. It is high time that our federal government starts waking up.

To the Editor:

I am distressed to learn from your paper that Senator Jamar Adcock has joined the ranks of those who wish to eliminate federal funds from the aid-to-dependent-children' program and establish "a modest new program supported entirely by the State of Louisiana." Senator Adcock states that he is "certain no child, black or white, will go hungry in Louisiana." The Senator needs to visit some of his more humble constituents, there are already children going hungry right here in Monroe. They are in the families which were cut off in the great "moral indignation" purge of 1960 and have never been returned to the rolls.

If the legislature, as it has done in the past, loses all touch with reason and rationality, and votes to refuse federal aid, there is going to be wide - spread suffering, even among those still on the rolls. The federal government contributions amount to more than half of what is received by each family. The state will not be able to increase its share. Therefore we can be sure that it will indeed be a "modest" new program supported entirely by the State of Louisiana. It will also be an entirely inadequate program.

Let us quit being so paronoic about federal aid. It's really not so evil. After all, the federal government is of the people and we are the people. Why should we not receive money from our own government to help in such worthwhile projects? Also let us quit being so "moral" about these children. They are entirely innocent, even if illegitimate.

U. S. Senator From Arizona

Modern weapons have created a crisis in human history. This is the claim of William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmement Agency in a recent letter to me outlining the United States' position at the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

To quote him exactly, "We in the executive branch believe that the revolutionary development of modern weapons within a world divided by serious ideological differences has produced a crisis in human history."

To meet this crisis, Mr. Foster explains, the administration has evolved a program for general and complete disarmement in a peaceful world intended to achieve greater security for the United States.

This will be done, he adds, "by providing for the progressive reduction of war-making capabilities of nations under effective international control and simultaneous strengthening of international institutions to settle disputes and maintain the peace."

I suggest there are a number of things wrong with this appraisal of the problem and the formula of what to do about it. Not the least of my objections is with Mr. Foster's premise that weapons have caused the crisis. Experience and history tell us otherwise. They show us, in unmistakable truth, that men—not conditions or things—cause all human crises.

While the outward conditions of life have changed radically, the basic problems of our times are no different than they were in Washington's or Lincoln's time. Nor are the eternal truths of human relations and the principle of natural law and good government altered merely because we exchanged the horse for the tractor, handcrafts for the machine, gunpowder for the atom bomb or the atom bomb for the nuclear bomb. Nor have they changed because we now have the means to probe the depths of the sea and soar into outer space.

It is too easy to say that the development of modern weapons in a divided world has produced a crisis in human history and that, therefore, we must at all costs find means of reducing war-making capabilities. The crisis is in human relationships and is not likely to lessen if we, as a nation, adopt the idea that our possession of modern weapons is the root cause of trouble throughout the world. For, if weapons have caused the crisis—all by themselves—we must consider ourselves the Number One "guilty party," because we pioneered in the development of the nuclear weapons of today. This is dangerous and fallacious thinking. We are guilty of nothing but beating Hitler and Tojo to a stronger weapon in a time of war. We are guilty of nothing but maintaining our nuclear superiority in a time of world-wide unrest while a professed enemy strove mightily to catch up with us.

We can do nothing but play the enemy's game — whether it be at the conference table in Geneva or in our reactions to Soviet pressures in Berlin — if we develop an official "guilt complex" over our possession of weapons powerful enough to spell the end of civilization.

Nikita Khrushchev has no such compunction about Russia's nuclear arsenal. He is not only proud but boastful of the progress the Communists have made in the field of nuclear weapons. The obvious glee with which he broke the test ban agreement and began exploding high megaton bombs provided ample proof of this.

It is important for us to remember in all of this discussion and debate over disarmement that modern weapons — of and by themselves — can do nothing to reduce the world to a heap of radioactive rubble. It takes man to activate these weapons of destruction. I agree with Mr. Foster that there is a crisis in human history. But it is caused by the rise of a Godless ideology which is determined to enslave the world and not by the "revolutionary development of modern weapons."

State Department Wants Cut In Army; Joint Chiefs Oppose

The State Department has jolted the Joint Chiefs of Staff by sending President Kennedy a policy review paper recommending that the U.S.-supported South Korean Army be reduced by one-third.

This amazing recommendation, which comes at a time when the North Korean Communists are renewing guerilla warfare in South Korea, calls for cutting 200,000 from the most powerful anti-Communist forces in Asia.

The 600,000-man South Korean Army, along with two U.S. Army divisions, is standing guard along the 155-mile demilitarized zone separating South from North Korea.

Prepared by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, the explosive policy paper proposes the reduction in force for widely different foreign policy and economic reasons, including:

— A major U. S. peace overture to assure the Chinese Communists that we have no intention of permitting South Korea to use military force to unify Korea or upset the present military armistice;

— To permit the shifting of $100 million in U.S. aid from military to economic projects in South Korea.

Already, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have launched a blistering counter - attack against the Rostow proposal.

In a separate report to the President, these military advisers warn that such a sizable reduction in forces would completely upset their "forward" military strategy for the Far East.

They frankly charge that the Rostow plan is "an open invitation" to the Chinese Communists to reopen hostilities in South Korea since the proposed cutback would greatly weaken this country's ability to fight a "limited war" in South Korea or any other area in the Far East.

"The threat to the Republic of Korea is the same today as it was when the military armistice was signed," states the JCS memorandum. "The pressure of subversion, and infiltration down both coasts of Korea and across the 155 - mile demilitarized zone is even greater today than it has been in recent years. Communist guerillas, supplied and directed from North Korea, are operating in South Korea. All present South Korean forces are needed to meet and contain this growing military threat."

The JCS also point out that the South Korean Army is now considered an integral part of U.S. strategic forces, and present U.S. policy is to increase these forces.

So far as can be determined, President Kennedy has not yet decided to adopt or reject the State Department proposal, nor has it been formally submitted to the National Security Council.

RELIABLE ALLY — Admiral Harry S. Felt undertook a militant defense of President Ngo Dinh Diem when the U.S. commander of all military forces in the Pacific briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the growing guerilla war in South Vietnam.

He also shed some new light on those recurring reports that Diem doesn't have the backing of his people.

Questioned about Diem's honesty by Representative Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), Admiral Felt replied:

"In my opinion, Diem is one of the most courageous and honest leaders in all Southeast Asia. Look at the things Diem has done. A million refugees came down from North Vietnam in 1954 when nobody believed South Vietnam would exist for another six months. Diem stepped in and saved his country. He has given the people a tremendous land reform program. He has increased the number of college students from 2,800 in 1956 to 11,500 in 1961. There isn't a more dedicated anti-Communist anywhere in the world."

"But what about those reports that the bulk of the people do not support Diem?" asked Representative Hays.

"I don't think you can say that the bulk of the people in any country out there support their leader," replied Felt. "They don't even know who he is. Their loyalties are to their own chieftain, to their own village province and chief. I think those reports are unfair. The people are for a free life; to work and to do as they wish as free men. Diem is for that. This is why we support Diem."

In discussing Laos, Admiral Felt told the Committee that he still thinks that country is the key to saving South Vietnam.

"Do you still believe that Laos is the key to saving South Vietnam from the Communists?" asked Representative Walter Judd (R-Minn.).

"Yes," replied Felt. "All I can say about that is that some decisions have to be made, and I can't make them."

Getting wind that the Windsors were coming to Washington to visit British Ambassador and Lady Ormsby - Gore, Mrs. Cafritz gave a dinner for them. With this leverage, she then succeeded in expanding the dinner to include a dance for the Windsors. Ingenious and effective. "Wally" wore a gown of ice-blue satin with bugle beads of darker shade at the midriff, and jewelry consisting of a choker of very large pearls. Gwen was dressed in a watermelon pink gown with a long sheath skirt and matching bolero embroidered all over in olive green and crystal beads .... Mrs. Alexis Johnson, wife of the Deputy Undersecretary of State and former Ambassador to Yugoslavia, is proudly showing off a beautiful strand of real pearls — a gift from her husband on their 30th wedding anniversary. It matches perfectly a large single - pearl ring she got in Thailand when her husband was Ambassador there.

Republican Democratic House Floor Leaders Charles Haleck, Ind., and Carl Albert, Okla., are miles apart politically and legislatively, but they see eye-to-eye on one problem. They have a close alliance on avoiding being used as "party lures." Explains Albert, "When I am told that Charlie has accepted an invitation, I call him to verify that. He does the same when my name is used. That way we make certain we're not being exploited.

Syria's dashing new Ambassador Omar Abou Riche is a diplomat without an embassy, and he doesn't like it. That's preventing him from giving parties, of which he frankly is "very fond." When Syria merged with Egypt, the latter took over Syria's embassy and hasn't returned it. As a result, Riche is temporarily housed in a hotel. He is comfortable enough, but his party - giving proclivities are drastically curbed to his unabashed regret. Tall, suave and widely traveled, Riche is a noted poet and speaks eight languages, one of them fluent English . . . Another diplomatic literary light is Iran's new Ambassador Hossein Ghods Nakhai, who is a distinguished historian, novelist, political essayist, and short story writer. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1862, New Orleans, the gateway to the Mississippi and once a stronghold of the Confederacy, fell to Union forces.

In 1913, a patent was granted for the zipper, an indispensable modern-day gadget that was then called a "separable fastener."

In 1945, American soldiers liberated 32,000 Nazi victims at Dachau, the oldest and worst of the German concentration camps.

In 1945, the bodies of Benito Mussolini and his companions, executed by partisans the day before, were hung up and displayed in Milan, Italy.

A thought for the day: English poet Alfred Tennyson said, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

TREASURY REFUNDING — Secretary of the Treasury Dillon is in for some sharp questioning when he appears before the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday to explain recent treasury financing. Both liberals and conservatives are skeptical of his wisdom in calling low - interest rate bonds (2½) per cent and replacing them with high interest rate bonds, even though the low-rate ones were not due for 10 years. Objection to treasury policy is that it not only will cost the government a lot of money, but by being in the money market bidding up interest rates, it makes interest higher to private business.

Manufacturers' Drive

Not content to sit back and let the federal government continue its attacks on business and industry, with the evident purpose of bringing about socialization, the Louisiana Manufacturers Association has launched a statewide drive for enlarged membership. At this particular time, the association's decision to depart thus from its usual procedure is fully justified.

Anyone who will stop to consider will realize that business and industry provide the sources of income of virtually everyone in the United States. If anyone can think of a way to earn money without the sale of goods or services he will practically have to create a fourth dimension. Business and industry provide the avenues for the sale of these goods and services. Without them, the whole economy would collapse overnight. Of course business and industry are interlocking and farming is included in both of them.

The announced sole purpose of the Louisiana Manufacturers Association in departing from custom and promoting a statewide drive for members is to enable it better to represent the point of view of industry and business in legislative and governmental affairs.

No one knows how long the state government must carry onerous burdens of expenditures. The state of Louisiana's fiscal affairs have seldom been in a more precarious condition. In the role of the source for footing most of the bills, the general businessman needs an effective spokesman to make his viewpoint known.

The Manufacturers Association has filled that role well in the past. But in the general scramble to obtain public funds for one course or another, dozens of pressure groups have sprung up to make insistent demands for large portions of industry's money. Any one of these groups is better financed to accomplish its purpose than the association is to defend the businessmen's interest. Some of these groups are composed of public employes able to raise a "war chest" simply by assessing the membership. Others are units of government itself which have access to ample public funds and official entree to legislative bodies to promote their ideas.

While many of these activities are entirely worthy of public interest, the purpose behind them is always to obtain appropriations, whether there is enough money to pass around or not. The businessman's place is soon lost to sight.

The function of the Manufacturers Association is to keep the figure of industry and business, who pay the bills, in the foreground. To perform that function adequately under present conditions, the association finds it must adopt an expanded program, supported by larger funds and so by more members, officials say. That is the purpose of the current membership drive.

While the Louisiana association's efforts are aimed primarily at preventing devastating raids by the state legislature, it appears essential that manufacturers all over the country join in a concerted movement against such heavy taxation that they can no longer exist.

The substitute for private industry and business is government-operated industry and business, which is socialism. Already we have too much of government in business but if government takes over business and industry completely we will have the greatest monopoly any country can have—government bossism.

The Louisiana Manufacturers Association effort deserves widespread support from businessmen all over the state.

The crisis is in human relationships and is not likely to lessen if we, as a nation, adopt the idea that our possession of modern weapons is the root cause of trouble throughout the world. For, if weapons have caused the crisis—all by themselves—we must consider ourselves the Number One "guilty party," because we pioneered in the development of the nuclear weapons of today. This is dangerous and fallacious thinking. We are guilty of nothing but beating Hitler and Tojo to a stronger weapon in a time of war. We are guilty of nothing but maintaining our nuclear superiority in a time of world-wide unrest while a professed enemy strove mightily to catch up with us.

We can do nothing but play the enemy's game — whether it be at the conference table in Geneva or in our reactions to Soviet pressures in Berlin — if we develop an official "guilt complex" over our possession of weapons powerful enough to spell the end of civilization.

Nikita Khrushchev has no such compunction about Russia's nuclear arsenal. He is not only proud but boastful of the progress the Communists have made in the field of nuclear weapons. The obvious glee with which he broke the test ban agreement and began exploding high megaton bombs provided ample proof of this.

It is important for us to remember in all of this discussion and debate over disarmement that modern weapons — of and by themselves — can do nothing to reduce the world to a heap of radioactive rubble. It takes man to activate these weapons of destruction. I agree with Mr. Foster that there is a crisis in human history. But it is caused by the rise of a Godless ideology which is determined to enslave the world and not by the "revolutionary development of modern weapons."

How do you stand, sir?

State Department Wants Cut In Army; Joint Chiefs Oppose

The State Department has jolted the Joint Chiefs of Staff by sending President Kennedy a policy review paper recommending that the U.S.-supported South Korean Army be reduced by one-third.

This amazing recommendation, which comes at a time when the North Korean Communists are renewing guerilla warfare in South Korea, calls for cutting 200,000 from the most powerful anti-Communist forces in Asia.

The 600,000-man South Korean Army, along with two U.S. Army divisions, is standing guard along the 155-mile demilitarized zone separating South from North Korea.

Prepared by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, the explosive policy paper proposes the reduction in force for widely different foreign policy and economic reasons, including:

— A major U. S. peace overture to assure the Chinese Communists that we have no intention of permitting South Korea to use military force to unify Korea or upset the present military armistice;

— To permit the shifting of $100 million in U.S. aid from military to economic projects in South Korea.

Already, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have launched a blistering counter - attack against the Rostow proposal.

In a separate report to the President, these military advisers warn that such a sizable reduction in forces would completely upset their "forward" military strategy for the Far East.

They frankly charge that the Rostow plan is "an open invitation" to the Chinese Communists to reopen hostilities in South Korea since the proposed cutback would greatly weaken this country's ability to fight a "limited war" in South Korea or any other area in the Far East.

"The threat to the Republic of Korea is the same today as it was when the military armistice was signed," states the JCS memorandum. "The pressure of subversion, and infiltration down both coasts of Korea and across the 155 - mile demilitarized zone is even greater today than it has been in recent years. Communist guerillas, supplied and directed from North Korea, are operating in South Korea. All present South Korean forces are needed to meet and contain this growing military threat."

The JCS also point out that the South Korean Army is now considered an integral part of U.S. strategic forces, and present U.S. policy is to increase these forces.

So far as can be determined, President Kennedy has not yet decided to adopt or reject the State Department proposal, nor has it been formally submitted to the National Security Council.

RELIABLE ALLY — Admiral Harry S. Felt undertook a militant defense of President Ngo Dinh Diem when the U.S. commander of all military forces in the Pacific briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee on the growing guerilla war in South Vietnam.

He also shed some new light on those recurring reports that Diem doesn't have the backing of his people.

Questioned about Diem's honesty by Representative Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), Admiral Felt replied:

"In my opinion, Diem is one of the most courageous and honest leaders in all Southeast Asia. Look at the things Diem has done. A million refugees came down from North Vietnam in 1954 when nobody believed South Vietnam would exist for another six months. Diem stepped in and saved his country. He has given the people a tremendous land reform program. He has increased the number of college students from 2,800 in 1956 to 11,500 in 1961. There isn't a more dedicated anti-Communist anywhere in the world."

"But what about those reports that the bulk of the people do not support Diem?" asked Representative Hays.

"I don't think you can say that the bulk of the people in any country out there support their leader," replied Felt. "They don't even know who he is. Their loyalties are to their own chieftain, to their own village province and chief. I think those reports are unfair. The people are for a free life; to work and to do as they wish as free men. Diem is for that. This is why we support Diem."

In discussing Laos, Admiral Felt told the Committee that he still thinks that country is the key to saving South Vietnam.

"Do you still believe that Laos is the key to saving South Vietnam from the Communists?" asked Representative Walter Judd (R-Minn.).

"Yes," replied Felt. "All I can say about that is that some decisions have to be made, and I can't make them."

SOCIAL WHIRL — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, no less, enabled Mrs. Gwen Cafritz, irrepressible "society queen," to score a spectacular coup in the Capital's hectic lion - hunting scramble. The millionaire realtor's wife was able to snag the one - time British King and his American wife as guests at a dance through a wily stragagem. Getting wind that the Windsors were coming to Washington to visit British Ambassador and Lady Ormsby - Gore, Mrs. Cafritz gave a dinner for them. With this leverage, she then succeeded in expanding the dinner to include a dance for the Windsors. Ingenious and effective. "Wally" wore a gown of ice-blue satin with bugle beads of darker shade at the midriff, and jewelry consisting of a choker of very large pearls. Gwen was dressed in a watermelon pink gown with a long sheath skirt and matching bolero embroidered all over in olive green and crystal beads . . . . Mrs. Alexis Johnson, wife of the Deputy Undersecretary of State and former Ambassador to Yugoslavia, is proudly showing off a beautiful strand of real pearls — a gift from her husband on their 30th wedding anniversary. It matches perfectly a large single - pearl ring she got in Thailand when her husband was Ambassador there.

The spring season's first big party in historic Admirals' House, traditional home of the Chief of Naval Operations, is scheduled for next week in honor of Navy Secretary and Mrs. Fred Korth. Both he and Admiral George Anderson, the host, were appointed to their high posts in recent months. The Admirals' House, a handsome Victorian mansion, is atop Observatory Hill, site of the Navy's noted observatory on fashionable Massachusetts Avenue . . . Republican Democratic House Floor Leaders Charles Haleck, Ind., and Carl Albert, Okla., are miles apart politically and legislatively, but they see eye-to-eye on one problem. They have a close alliance on avoiding being used as "party lures." Explains Albert, "When I am told that Charlie has accepted an invitation, I call him to verify that. He does the same when my name is used. That way we make certain we're not being exploited.

Syria's dashing new Ambassador Omar Abou Riche is a diplomat without an embassy, and he doesn't like it. That's preventing him from giving parties, of which he frankly is "very fond." When Syria merged with Egypt, the latter took over Syria's embassy and hasn't returned it. As a result, Riche is temporarily housed in a hotel. He is comfortable enough, but his party - giving proclivities are drastically curbed to his unabashed regret. Tall, suave and widely traveled, Riche is a noted poet and speaks eight languages, one of them fluent English . . . Another diplomatic literary light is Iran's new Ambassador Hossein Ghods Nakhai, who is a distinguished historian, novelist, political essayist, and short story writer. He is completing a new book titled "Treacherous Patriotism," that will consist of 96 chapters. He rises at 5 a.m. daily to work on the volume.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

TREASURY REFUNDING — Secretary of the Treasury Dillon is in for some sharp questioning when he appears before the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday to explain recent treasury financing. Both liberals and conservatives are skeptical of his wisdom in calling low - interest rate bonds (2½) per cent and replacing them with high interest rate bonds, even though the low-rate ones were not due for 10 years. Objection to treasury policy is that it not only will cost the government a lot of money, but by being in the money market bidding up interest rates, it makes interest higher to private business.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, April 29th, the 119th day of the year with 246 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1862, New Orleans, the gateway to the Mississippi and once a stronghold of the Confederacy, fell to Union forces.

In 1913, a patent was granted for the zipper, an indispensable modern-day gadget that was then called a "separable fastener."

In 1945, American soldiers liberated 32,000 Nazi victims at Dachau, the oldest and worst of the German concentration camps.

In 1945, the bodies of Benito Mussolini and his companions, executed by partisans the day before, were hung up and displayed in Milan, Italy.

A thought for the day: English poet Alfred Tennyson said, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

MISERABLE ONES

Red Activity In Brazil Outlined

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)— "Infelices!" shouts the Communist agitator. "Miserable ones!"

Gaunt farmers listen, their dark eyes smoldering with anger.

"When you want to eat, you unhappy ones, you must go crawling on your knees to your landlords."

The peasants nod solemnly. They know nothing of politics. They know only that they labor in the cruel sun on harsh land, that the fruit of their labors goes to the landlord living in the glittering city. They know their children are near starvation.

Their resentment spreads — to the vast, sprawling slums of the cities, then to secondary schools and universities with their angry young men.

Today, in a vast area of northeast Brazil, long-smoldering discontent is boiling over into ugly rage and sporadic violence. Here President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress faces a major challenge. With U.S. help, a desperate attempt is being made to assuage the anger.

But a visitor may get the feeling that all the gold in Ft. Knox would be insufficient to solve this stricken area's problems.

This state of Pernambuco is like a raw, exposed nerve for Brazil. It is only one of nine states in desperate condition—the nation's northeast, an area double the size of Texas, whose 23 million people make up more than a third of Brazil's population.

The area fails to support its rapidly expanding population. And woes brought on by over-population are compounded by inflation, slow-moving attempts to find remedies and the voracious appetite of local bureaucracies which often leaves little for genuine relief.

In much of the area, the land is poor and ungenerous. Periodic droughts of terrifying proportions pile misery upon misery.

Such a climate was made for Communists.

Aided by other political pressure groups and professional anti-Yankee nationalists, they are whipping up a popular fever with anti-U.S. overtones.

Although officially outlawed as a political party, the Communists operate openly, counting on the support of other leftwing extremists in control of student federations, of certain trade unions and of the Ligas Componeses. These peasant leagues are inspired by Francisco Juliao, a slim, mustached young man who admires Communists and considers Fidel Castro the greatest of Latin American heroes.

Recife, capital of Pernambuco State, is a hub of agitation. Pro-Castro students have made the Alliance for Progress a principal target.

This pressure is being felt. For example, the governor of one of the poorest states, Aluisio Alves of Rio Grande do Norte, took issue with a report on the northeast situation by President Kennedy's special emissary, Merwin Bohan. Gov. Alves called the report an attempt to reduce, psychologically, the tensions among the underprivileged to win them "with dangerous solutions which, when put into practice, in no way alter the dramatic situation in which we live."

The Bohan report called for short-term and long-term relief measures. It recommended a loan of about $250 million. Washington responded with $136 million in alliance help. The Brazilian government is expected to match this for a crash, impact program involving pure water, electrification and other measures whose effect would be felt quickly by the population. Brazil also has allocated the equivalent of $50.5 million for a long-range program.

The situation is complicated by political developments. Voters will elect governors and congressmen in October.

The Roman Catholic hierarchy has indicated worry that a victory of pro-Castro forces might result. Nationalists, on the other hand, are warning of revolution unless a "popular parliament" is elected.

Recife's stores are filled with shoppers but of the city's 800,000 people thousands are unemployed.

The city sits in the humid coastal fringe marking the eastern boundary of the semiarid region where human labor often comes cheaper than the work of animals.

Per capita income ranks with the world's lowest, dipping in some places below $30 a year.

Experts see little hope of real solution except through mass migration of the farm people to Amazon River areas where a development program is under way. Migration takes about 1,000 persons a year, but the birth rate outstrips that outflow.

"The Communists and nationalists who talk of land reforms and other distribution schemes just don't know what they're talking about," said one soil expert. "Any haphazard formula will only promote subhuman existence. This is not a solution."

With all its drawbacks, the drought area is not wholly unredeemable. It has mineral resources and a hydroelectric potential. It could expand industrial uses of such farm crops as oil seeds, sisal, sugar cane and long-staple cotton.

But the biggest problem is this: Will there be time?

Dutch Rulers To Observe Anniversary

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A glittering array of royalty will help Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard celebrate their silver wedding anniversary this coming week.

Six ruling monarchs will be here—Elizabeth of Britain, Baudouin of Belgium, Frederik of Denmark, Olav of Norway, the Shah of Iran and the Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg.

Nearly 100 lesser members of European royalty are coming. The visitors will be greeted at the airport by Crown Princess Beatrix and her three sisters.

After a gala ball in Amsterdam's Royal Palace Tuesday, the guests will be driven the following day to Europe's largest flower park, the Keukenhof, in Holland's famous flower bulb area.

Tulips and jonquils are coming into bloom.

To accent Holland's maritime tradition, the royal guests will sail on the North Sea in the 20,000-ton world cruise ship Oranje.

The queen's 53rd birthday, Monday, has been declared a national holiday.

Juliana, princess of Orange-Nassau, and Bernhard, prince of Lippebiesterfield, were married Jan. 7, 1937. The silver wedding celebrations were set for May because of Holland's harsh winter climate.

PRINCE CHARLES

Will Attend The Toughest School

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—A busload of schoolboys wheeled into Parliament Square a few years ago, and the spiky silhouette of Westminster Abbey towered into view.

"That," said one of the schoolboys, a moppy-haired, chubby boy of 8 named Charles," is where my mother was 'corrugated.'"

Prince Charles meant that his mother was crowned there—or coronated, as some people put it.

As the Prince of Wales, Charles, now 13, is heir to the throne.

Nex Tuesday the boy who will be king will go to Gordonstoun boarding school where, in fact, he may come pretty close to being corrugated.

Founded by the German-born educator Kurt Hahn 28 years ago, Gordonstoun is a tough school where conditions that would alarm a West Point freshman are deliberately created in the strange, almost tribal rite of turning British boys into gentlemen.

Sir Winston Churchill was schooled at Harrow.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was an Eton boy, like half a dozen members of his Cabinet.

Gordonstoun is not so snobbish as Eton or Harrow, but it's tougher. Situated in a bleak section of Scotland, it has fewer sons of the titled gentry than other elite private schools.

This is one of the reasons Prince Philip is said to have insisted that his son go to Gordonstoun. Queen Elizabeth had preferred Eton.

At Eton or Harrow and especially at Gordonstoun, part of the education calls for:

Taking icy baths or showers.
Sleeping on rough mattresses.
Going on hikes before breakfast.
Studying at old, splintered, ink-stained desks.

Students who misbehave are beaten with walking sticks.

The Duke of Bedford's son, Lord Rudolph Russell, 17, ran away from Gordonstoun.

Told that Charles was to be a student there, Lord Rudolph sympathized to a friend: "My heart bleeds for him. I remember it with horror."

Yet, Gordonstoun was not too tough for Charles' father. Prince Philip was an above the average student and became head boy in his senior year. He also captained cricket and rugby teams.

Charles is not likely to match his father's record. In his elementary studies at Cheam School his marks were below average. He was pretty awful at English and mathematics. He was best in history and geography.

"They put me on the relay team," he told a friend, "and I lost a big race for them."

In his senior year, however, he captained the soccer team. Once during a match an opposing player yelled in the royal ear: "I say, fatty, get off my foot."

Last weekend, Prince Philip began teaching his son to play polo.

He's very good with a shotgun. Charles often practiced for hours when the royal family was at Balmoral Castle.

His manners are impeccable and he's throughtful.

Close friends of the royal family say he saves pocket money and insists on personally buying presents for his parents and other relatives.

For a boy his age, he has amazing poise.

Charles gave a cocktail party last Christmas.

He drank fruit juice, but he supervised mixing of stronger drinks and preparation of snacks. Cooking fascinates him. He can bake a cake or make a pie.

Perhaps such unexpected interests as this convinced Prince Philip that rugged Gordonstoun is the place for his son.

It costs about $1,500 a year.

Eddy Gilmore, who often reports on the doings of the British royal family, is himself a Selma, Ala., boy. He was in the AP's Washington and Moscow bureaus before taking up work in London. He has made several lecture tours of the United States.

Ceylon Plagued By Inflation

By ALAN M. KENNEDY

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — The modern specter of inflation plagues the ancient land of Ceylon.

A socialist government, headed by the world's only woman prime minister, has not found a way out of such problems as deficit spending and subsidies to farmers.

It pays growers almost 10 cents a pound for rice and sells this to the public for 2½ cents. Since rice is a staple of diet for 10 million Ceylonese, there is a huge drain on the budget.

For years, cabinets have been unable to cut the rice subsidy because of rural areas' political strength.

It has a ring of familiarity to an American visitor.

This year the total deficit in government accounts is predicted to reach 500 million rupees ($105 million) or one-fourth of the annual budget.

Two previous fiscal years also had deficits over 400 million rupees. These were met partly through foreign aid but mainly by floating loans from the central bank of Ceylon.

The bank now is warning that this must stop or prices will start to rise rapidly due to the inflated money supply. The bank calls for a balanced budget and more. It says a budget surplus is imperative to help finance economic development.

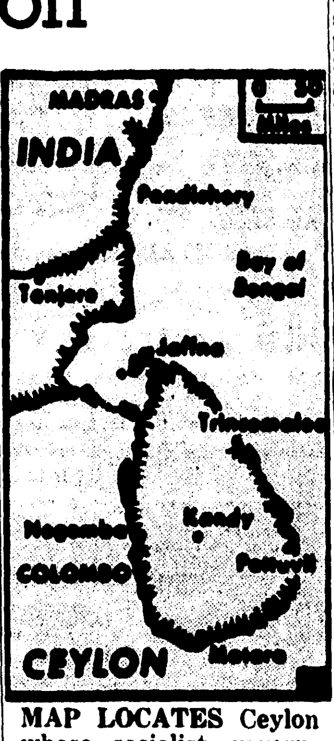
The bank reported that this nation had only a $15.7 million deficit in balance of payments in 1961, thanks to severe import restrictions. This was about a third of the 1960 deficit. But foreign exchange reserves had been bled by previous deficits to an excessive degree, the bank said, and Ceylon must save money internally if it is to progress.

The bank suggested a broadening of the tax structure, hitherto mainly concentrated on the wealthy, with taxes to syphon off buying power from the public.

Finally, it delicately hinted that losses in government enterprises should be reversed and that the explosive subject of reducing rice subsidies should be tackled.

There is skepticism, particularly in business circles, over the ability of Mrs. Sirimayo Bandaranaike's government to come to grips with the fiscal problem. The government lacks an effective central planning body.

Finance Minister Felix Bandaranaike, 31, the prime minister's nephew, admits some government shortcomings in planning and coordination. He blames private enterprise in large measure for Ceylon's slow progress. He says import restrictions have created a protected market for a wide variety of industries while tax rebates and depreciation allowances seek to encourage new ventures. Exceptions are iron, steel, cement, chemicals, textile weaving, tires, sugar, salt, ceramics and a few other fields which government reserves for itself.



MAP LOCATES Ceylon whose socialist government appears headed for inflation. Deficit in government accounts is predicted to reach 105 million dollars which is one-quarter of the budget.

Private enterprise in fact has been cautious on new ventures. Part of this is due to tradition. For many decades local industry mattered little and entrepreneurs went into growing and exporting the major cash crops of tea, coconut and rubber, or into export-import trading.

In addition, however, there has been a suspicion that some ministers at least have doctrinaire socialist hostility toward all private enterprise.

The Bandaranaike party is a blend of near-Marxists and more conservative socialists. It could weaken or split if a crisis in prices occurs or if bank, dock and other highly organized workers strike again for gains they failed to achieve last year.

Ceylon, an island in the Indian Ocean, is about the size of West Virginia. It won independence from Britain in 1948. Mrs. Bandaranaike's husband held the prime ministry from 1956-59 and was assassinated. She won his seat in parliament and became prime minister in July, 1960.

Will Algeria Go Communist As OAS Says?

By ANDREW BORWIEC

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Anti-communism has become the password of Algeria's European settlers opposing the country's independence and its rule by Moslems.

The right-wing Secret Army Organization and its supporters are desperately trying to convince world opinion that the nationalists would pave the way for domination of Algeria by the Soviet East and Red China.

The Europeans cite the nationalists' links with Communist countries, which have been supplying them with arms and funds.

"We are the bastion of the West in North Africa," the Europeans say, in effect. "How long will it take for the world to understand that we are resisting another sell-out to the East?"

It is too early to say to what extent the nationalists have fallen under Communist influence. Several other Moslem states, while courting the Soviet bloc for financial and practical reasons, have steadily resisted solid Communist penetration.

During their bitter war against France the nationalists turned to all countries for help. The West, allied with France, balked. The Communist bloc promptly offered to help. Two years ago money and equipment started pouring in from behind the Iron Curtain to nationalist bases in Tunisia and Morocco.

Today, the 40,000-man nationalist army, waiting on Algeria's frontiers for Algerian self-determination, is largely armed and equipped by the Soviet bloc and Red China.

In their plans to give the Algeria of tomorrow a new face, the nationalists have mapped a sweeping revolutionary program. They hope that their army outside Algeria will be the main force in carrying it out.

In their plans to give the Algeria of tomorrow a new face, the nationalists have mapped a sweeping revolutionary program. They hope that their army outside Algeria will be the main force in carrying it out.

The soldiers in Tunisia and Morocco are being prepared for a new role as pioneers of agricultural reform and leaders of a vast workers' militia. Many Western observers are alarmed by the seemingly Communist form these preparations are taking, but admit that in order to survive, Algeria will need drastic socialist-type reform.

A number of members and officials of the Tunis-based government in exile have traveled behind the Iron Curtain and to Red China. They returned impressed by certain achievements but also aware of the difference in the living standards of East and West. Most Algerians who have been to China seem horrified by the experience of Chinese communal villages.

Frenchmen Wear Token Good Luck

PARIS (AP) — The atomic threat grows, the Algerian chaos continues, but the customs of a happier day survive. Almost every Frenchman will wear a sprig of lily of the valley Tuesday.

The little white flower, with its sweet scent and sheaf of green leaves, is regarded as a symbol of warmth and love—and a token of good luck. On May Day, every street corner will have its vendor of the flowers known here as muguets.

It is the only day of the year when licenses are not required. Many vendors will be city retailers supplied by the central market. Others will be country folk in town for the day.

The price is about 40 cents a sprig.

The Gauls picked muguets before the Roman legions invaded their woods and meadows.

The flowers were commercialized early—every chief of state since King Louis IX (1226-70) is said to have received May Day muguets from flower associations.

About 1900 a music hall singer, Felix Mayol, popularized muguet wearing by showing up in smoky nightclubs with fresh sprigs on his lapel. Paris taxi drivers used to go on strike on May Day so they could drive their families to the woods to pick muguets.

During the riot-troubled May Days of the 1920s and '30s, the Communists tried to replace muguets with flame-colored dog roses. They never caught on.

Today, even untimely growing weather cannot deprive city folks of their muguets. While the normal supply is gathered by an army of pickers in the woods, tons of hothouse or imported muguets fill the gap in emergencies.

Prisoners Lived The Psalm 23

THROUGH THE VALLEY OF THE KWAI. By Ernest Gordon. Harper. $3.95.

The stark fact about this book is that "the valley" is a place beyond the Biblical valley of the shadow of death. It is the place of death itself.

That Gordon remains alive is no small miracle. He was in a Scottish regiment in World War II, was on his own in an attempt to escape capture by the Japanese, and was caught. He was thrown into the living hell of prison camps at Changi, Chungkai, Nakawm Paton and Kanburi, of which the principal one was Chungkai, in the valley of the Kwai.

Basically, this is a story about an agnostic who discovered Christ in the midst of the utmost human degradation, as did many of his fellow sufferers.

At Chungkai the Japanese controverted a basic international convention of war by making prisoners work for them — and driving them to death. These human hulks built a 250 - mile railroad through the jungle in 10 months, and a bridge over the Kwai in two months.

(Incidentally, Gordon, asserts that Pierre Boulle's "The Bridge Over the Kwai" wrongly gives the impression that British officers took part willingly in the construction; he also makes a point that the bridge was incidental to the railroad itself.)

Gordon suffered an incredible combination of diseases as well as starvation. But at the edge of death he was able to take part in a spiritual rebirth that swept through the whole camp. It was a story of men who descended to the law of the fang and claw, then finally discovered that self-sacrifice and fellowship could transform their lives.

Gordon's own transformation might never have occurred if he had not been helped by "Dusty," who happened to be a Methodist, and by "Dinty," who happened to be a Roman Catholic. In the dread conditions of the prison camp, denominations were a small matter.

Few readers can get through these pages without feeling the absolute terror of man's most hideous inhumanity to man. But it is equally true that few readers will fail to be moved by the tenacity of man's resistance to terror when he is upheld by the nobility of faith.

Story About Honorable, Simple Man

A SIMPLE HONORABLE MAN. By Conrad Richter. Knopf. $4.50.

Many who lead lives of quiet desperation might do well to have a look at the often unsung men who lead lives of quiet inspiration.

Such a man is the simple, honorable and gently inspired hero of this novel. His name is Harry Donner. He was a figure in Richter's previous award-winning novel, "The Waters of Kronos."

Donner is a Pennsylvania storekeeper who feels a call to the ministry when he is approaching the age of 40. In practical terms, this means that by the time he has been through the seminary he is getting close to middle age. He will have to take his assignments in the remote little churches serving the backwaters and the dull, often backbiting communities that younger men manage eventually to escape.

So it is inevitable that Donner serves his ministry in such places as Mahanoy, Wetherill Valley and Paint Creek.

But Donner's real sympathies lie even farther into the darkness. Even when he is at Mahanoy, he is drawn to the desperately poor miners at Primrose and Lost Run; even when he goes to Paint Creek, his heart reaches out to the desperately ignorant mountaineers of Chadd's Grove.

Richter's story is thoroughly steeped in the homely qualities of heartland America, a beautifully composed tale in muted tones about a man's self-sacrifice for his beliefs. It is a literary benediction upon the basic human goodness that makes the harsh sophistication of "modern" life seem hollow and doubly desperate.

BROADWAY PLAYGUIDE

New Contenders For Long Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — Highlight events on Broadway in May include limited-run attractions and three new contenders for long-run stay.

The Royal Dramatic Theater Company of Sweden opens a one-week engagement at the Cort, May 14 with "Miss Julie," followed by another August Strindberg drama, "The Father," and Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey into Night."

On the lighter side, City Center begins a spring musical festival on the 16th with revival of "Can-Can," followed at two-week intervals by "Brigadoon" and "Fiorello!" An intimate review, "Cut Loose!" with Pete Seeger, is aiming to open a six-week engagement at the Lyric sometime late in the month.

Hopefully joining the more permanent lineup of shows are two musicals—"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," May 10 at the Alvin, and "Bravo Giovanni," May 19 at the Broadhurst—and a drama, "Infidel Caesar," at the Music Box May 1.

Following is a digest of all current productions, including theater, stars, topic and ticket availability.

DRAMA

"A Gift of Time" Barrymore—Henry Fonda as an incurably ill man and Olivia de Havilland the wife who helps him find surcease. Plenty of seats for all performances.

"A Man for all Seasons": ANTA—Paul Scofield as Sir Thomas More in the season's top drama hit. Order well in advance.

"A Passage to India": Ambassador — Eric Portman, Gladys Cooper and Zia Mohyeddin seek East-West understanding in stage adaptation of E. M. Forester's famous novel. Plenty of room.

"Gideon": Plymouth—Douglas Campbell replaces Fredric March as the angel of the Lord in Paddy Chayefsky's account of Old Testament combat. Gerald Hiken moves into Campbell's former spot as the rustic warrior. Available.

"Ross": Hudson—John Mills as Lawrence of Arabia in World War I desert adventure. Plentiful.

"The Night of the Iguana": Royale—Margaret Leighton and Shelley Winters are among a collection of troubled misfits rounded up by playwright Tennessee Williams in a seedy Mexican hotel. Some tickets available, weekends scarce.

MISEREABLE ONES

Red Activity In Brazil Outlined

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)— "Infelices!" shouts the Communist agitator. "Miserable ones!"

Gaunt farmers listen, their dark eyes smoldering with anger.

"When you want to eat, you unhappy ones, you must go crawling on your knees to your landlords."

The peasants nod solemnly. They know nothing of politics. They know only that they labor in the cruel sun on harsh land, that the fruit of their labors goes to the landlord living in the glittering city. They know their children are near starvation.

Their resentment spreads — to the vast, sprawling slums of the cities, then to secondary schools and universities with their angry young men.

Today, in a vast area of northeast Brazil, long-smoldering discontent is boiling over into ugly rage and sporadic violence. Here President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress faces a major challenge. With U.S. help, a desperate attempt is being made to assuage the anger.

But a visitor may get the feeling that all the gold in Ft. Knox would be insufficient to solve this stricken area's problems.

This state of Pernambuco is like a raw, exposed nerve for Brazil. It is only one of nine states in desperate condition—the nation's northeast, an area double the size of Texas, whose 23 million people make up more than a third of Brazil's population.

The area fails to support its rapidly expanding population. And woes brought on by over-population are compounded by inflation, slow-moving attempts to find remedies and the voracious appetite of local bureaucracies which often leaves little for genuine relief.

In much of the area, the land is poor and ungenerous. Periodic droughts of terrifying proportions pile misery upon misery.

Such a climate was made for Communists.

Aided by other political pressure groups and professional anti-Yankee nationalists, they are whipping up a popular fever with anti-U.S. overtones.

Although officially outlawed as a political party, the Communists operate openly, counting on the support of other leftwing extremists in control of student federations, of certain trade unions and of the Ligas Componeses. These peasant leagues are inspired by Francisco Juliao, a slim, mustached young man who admires Communists and considers Fidel Castro the greatest of Latin American heroes.

Recife, capital of Pernambuco State, is a hub of agitation. Pro-Castro students have made the Alliance for Progress a principal target.

This pressure is being felt. For example, the governor of one of the poorest states, Aluisio Alves of Rio Grande do Norte, took issue with a report on the northeast situation by President Kennedy's special emissary, Merwin Bohan. Gov. Alves called the report an attempt to reduce, psychologically, the tensions among the underprivileged to win them "with dangerous solutions which, when put into practice, in no way alter the dramatic situation in which we live."

The Bohan report called for short-term and long-term relief measures. It recommended a loan of about $250 million. Washington responded with $136 million in alliance help. The Brazilian government is expected to match this for a crash, impact program involving pure water, electrification and other measures whose effect would be felt quickly by the population. Brazil also has allocated the equivalent of $50.5 million for a long-range program.

The situation is complicated by political developments. Voters will elect governors and congressmen in October.

The Roman Catholic hierarchy has indicated worry that a victory of pro-Castro forces might result. Nationalists, on the other hand, are warning of revolution unless a "popular parliament" is elected.

Recife's stores are filled with shoppers but of the city's 800,000 people thousands are unemployed.

The city sits in the humid coastal fringe marking the eastern boundary of the semiarid region where human labor often comes cheaper than the work of animals.

Per capita income ranks with the world's lowest, dipping in some places below $30 a year.

Experts see little hope of real solution except through mass migration of the farm people to Amazon River areas where a development program is under way. Migration takes about 1,000 persons a year, but the birth rate outstrips that outflow.

"The Communists and nationalists who talk of land reforms and other distribution schemes just don't know what they're talking about," said one soil expert. "Any haphazard formula will only promote subhuman existence. This is not a solution."

With all its drawbacks, the drought area is not wholly unredeemable. It has mineral resources and a hydroelectric potential. It could expand industrial uses of such farm crops as oil seeds, sisal, sugar cane and long-staple cotton.

But the biggest problem is this: Will there be time?

Dutch Rulers To Observe Anniversary

AMSTERDAM (AP)—A glittering array of royalty will help Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard celebrate their silver wedding anniversary this coming week.

Six ruling monarchs will be here—Elizabeth of Britain, Baudouin of Belgium, Frederik of Denmark, Olav of Norway, the Shah of Iran and the Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg.

Nearly 100 lesser members of European royalty are coming. The visitors will be greeted at the airport by Crown Princess Beatrix and her three sisters.

After a gala ball in Amsterdam's Royal Palace Tuesday, the guests will be driven the following day to Europe's largest flower park, the Keukenhof, in Holland's famous flower bulb area.

Tulips and jonquils are coming into bloom.

To accent Holland's maritime tradition, the royal guests will sail on the North Sea in the 20,000-ton world cruise ship Oranje.

The queen's 53rd birthday, Monday, has been declared a national holiday.

Juliana, princess of Orange-Nassau, and Bernhard, prince of Lippebiesterfield, were married Jan. 7, 1937. The silver wedding celebrations were set for May because of Holland's harsh winter climate.

PRINCE CHARLES

Will Attend The Toughest School

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—A busload of schoolboys wheeled into Parliament Square a few years ago, and the spiky silhouette of Westminster Abbey towered into view.

"That," said one of the schoolboys, a moppy-haired, chubby boy of 8 named Charles," is where my mother was 'corrugated."

Prince Charles meant that his mother was crowned there—or coronated, as some people put it.

As the Prince of Wales, Charles, now 13, is heir to the throne. Nex Tuesday the boy who will be king will go to Gordonstoun boarding school where, in fact, he may come pretty close to being corrugated.

Founded by the German-born educator Kurt Hahn 28 years ago, Gordonstoun is a tough school where conditions that would alarm a West Point freshman are deliberately created in the strange, almost tribal rite of turning British boys into gentlemen.

Sir Winston Churchill was schooled at Harrow.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was an Eton boy, like half a dozen members of his Cabinet.

Gordonstoun is not so snobbish as Eton or Harrow, but it's tougher. Situated in a bleak section of Scotland, it has fewer sons of the titled gentry than other elite private schools.

This is one of the reasons Prince Philip is said to have insisted that his son go to Gordonstoun. Queen Elizabeth had preferred Eton.

At Eton or Harrow and especially at Gordonstoun, part of the education calls for:

Taking icy baths or showers.

Sleeping on rough mattresses.

Going on hikes before breakfast.

Studying at old, splintered, inkstained desks.

Students who misbehave are beaten with walking sticks.

The Duke of Bedford's son, Lord Rudolph Russell, 17, ran away from Gordonstoun.

Told that Charles was to be a student there, Lord Rudolph sympathized to a friend: "My heart bleeds for him. I remember it with horror."

Yet, Gordonstoun was not too tough for Charles' father. Prince Philip was an above the average student and became head boy in his senior year. He also captained cricket and rugby teams.

Charles is not likely to match his father's record. In his elementary studies at Cheam School his marks were below average. He was pretty awful at English and mathematics. He was best in history and geography.

"They put me on the relay team," he told a friend, "and I lost a big race for them."

In his senior year, however, he captained the soccer team. Once during a match an opposing player yelled in the royal ear: "I say, fatty, get off my foot."

Last weekend, Prince Philip began teaching his son to play polo.

He's very good with a shotgun. Charles often practiced for hours when the royal family was at Balmoral Castle.

His manners are impeccable and he's throughtful.

Close friends of the royal family say he saves pocket money and insists on personally buying presents for his parents and other relatives.

For a boy his age, he has amazing poise.

Charles gave a cocktail party last Christmas.

He drank fruit juice, but he supervised mixing of stronger drinks and preparation of snacks. Cooking fascinates him. He can bake a cake or make a pie.

Perhaps such unexpected interests as this convinced Prince Philip that rugged Gordonstoun is the place for his son.

It costs about $1,500 a year.

Eddy Gilmore, who often reports on the doings of the British royal family, is himself a Selma, Ala., boy. He was in the AP's Washington and Moscow bureaus before taking up work in London. He has made several lecture tours of the United States.

Ceylon Plagued By Inflation

By ALAN M. KENNEDY

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — The modern specter of inflation plagues the ancient land of Ceylon.

A socialist government, headed by the world's only woman prime minister, has not found a way out of such problems as deficit spending and subsidies to farmers.

It pays growers almost 10 cents a pound for rice and sells this to the public for 2½ cents. Since rice is a staple of diet for 10 million Ceylonese, there is a huge drain on the budget.

For years, cabinets have been unable to cut the rice subsidy because of rural areas' political strength.

It has a ring of familiarity to an American visitor.

This year the total deficit in government accounts is predicted to reach 500 million rupees ($105 million) or one-fourth of the annual budget.

Two previous fiscal years also had deficits over 400 million rupees. These were met partly through foreign aid but mainly by floating loans from the central bank of Ceylon.

The bank now is warning that this must stop or prices will start to rise rapidly due to the inflated money supply. The bank calls for a balanced budget and more. It says a budget surplus is imperative to help finance economic development.

The bank reported that this nation had only a $15.7 million deficit in balance of payments in 1961, thanks to severe import restrictions. This was about a third of the 1960 deficit. But foreign exchange reserves had been bled by previous deficits to an excessive degree, the bank said, and Ceylon must save money internally if it is to progress.

The bank suggested a broadening of the tax structure, hitherto mainly concentrated on the wealthy, with taxes to syphon off buying power from the public.

Finally, it delicately hinted that losses in government enterprises should be reversed and that the explosive subject of reducing rice subsidies should be tackled.

There is skepticism, particularly in business circles, over the ability of Mrs. Sirimayo Bandaranaike's government to come to grips with the fiscal problem. The government lacks an effective central planning body.

Finance Minister Felix Bandaranaike, 31, the prime minister's nephew, admits some government shortcomings in planning and coordination. He blames private enterprise in large measure for Ceylon's slow progress. He says import restrictions have created a protected market for a wide variety of industries while tax rebates and depreciation allowances seek to encourage new ventures. Exceptions are iron, steel, cement, chemicals, textile weaving, tires, sugar, salt, ceramics and a few other fields which government reserves for itself.

Private enterprise in fact has been cautious on new ventures. Part of this is due to tradition. For many decades local industry mattered little and entrepreneurs went into growing and exporting the major cash crops of tea, coconut and rubber, or into export-import trading.

In addition, however, there has been a suspicion that some ministers at least have doctrinaire socialist hostility toward all private enterprise.

The Bandaranaike party is a blend of near-Marxists and more conservative socialists. It could weaken or split if a crisis in prices occurs or if bank, dock and other highly organized workers strike again for gains they failed to achieve last year.

Ceylon, an island in the Indian Ocean, is about the size of West Virginia. It won independence from Britain in 1948. Mrs. Bandaranaike's husband held the prime ministry from 1956-59 and was assassinated. She won his seat in parliament and became prime minister in July, 1960.

Will Algeria Go Communist As OAS Says?

By ANDREW BORWIEC

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Anti-communism has become the password of Algeria's European settlers opposing the country's independence and its rule by Moslems.

The right-wing Secret Army Organization and its supporters are desperately trying to convince world opinion that the nationalists would pave the way for domination of Algeria by the Soviet East and Red China.

The Europeans cite the nationalists' links with Communist countries, which have been supplying them with arms and funds.

"We are the bastion of the West in North Africa," the Europeans say, in effect. "How long will it take for the world to understand that we are resisting another sell-out to the East?"

It is too early to say to what extent the nationalists have fallen under Communist influence. Several other Moslem states, while courting the Soviet bloc for financial and practical reasons, have steadily resisted solid Communist penetration.

During their bitter war against France the nationalists turned to all countries for help. The West, allied with France, balked. The Communist bloc promptly offered to help. Two years ago money and equipment started pouring in from behind the Iron Curtain to nationalist bases in Tunisia and Morocco.

Today, the 40,000-man nationalist army, waiting on Algeria's frontiers for Algerian self-determination, is largely armed and equipped by the Soviet bloc and Red China.

In their plans to give the Algeria of tomorrow a new face, the nationalists have mapped a sweeping revolutionary program. They hope that their army outside Algeria will be the main force in carrying it out.

In their plans to give the Algeria of tomorrow a new face, the nationalists have mapped a sweeping revolutionary program. They hope that their army outside Algeria will be the main force in carrying it out.

The soldiers in Tunisia and Morocco are being prepared for a new role as pioneers of agricultural reform and leaders of a vast workers' militia. Many Western observers are alarmed by the seemingly Communist form these preparations are taking, but admit that in order to survive, Algeria will need drastic socialist-type reform.

A number of members and officials of the Tunis-based government in exile have traveled behind the Iron Curtain and to Red China. They returned impressed by certain achievements but also aware of the difference in the living standards of East and West. Most Algerians who have been to China seem horrified by the experience of Chinese communal villages.

Frenchmen Wear Token Good Luck

PARIS (AP) — The atomic threat grows, the Algerian chaos continues, but the customs of a happier day survive. Almost every Frenchman will wear a sprig of lily of the valley Tuesday.

The little white flower, with its sweet scent and sheaf of green leaves, is regarded as a symbol of warmth and love—and a token of good luck. On May Day, every street corner will have its vendor of the flowers known here as muguets.

It is the only day of the year when licenses are not required. Many vendors will be city retailers supplied by the central market. Others will be country folk in town for the day.

The price is about 40 cents a sprig.

The Gauls picked muguets before the Roman legions invaded their woods and meadows.

The flowers were commercialized early—every chief of state since King Louis IX (1226-70) is said to have received May Day muguets from flower associations.

About 1900 a music hall singer, Felix Mayol, popularized muguet wearing by showing up in smoky nightclubs with fresh sprigs on his lapel. Paris taxi drivers used to go on strike on May Day so they could drive their families to the woods to pick muguets.

During the riot-troubled May Days of the 1920s and '30s, the Communists tried to replace muguets with flame-colored dog roses. They never caught on.

Today, even untimely growing weather cannot deprive city folks of their muguets. While the normal supply is gathered by an army of pickers in the woods, tons of hothouse or imported muguets fill the gap in emergencies.

Prisoners Lived The Psalm 23

THROUGH THE VALLEY OF THE KWAI. By Ernest Gordon. Harper. $3.95.

The stark fact about this book is that "the valley" is a place beyond the Biblical valley of the shadow of death. It is the place of death itself.

That Gordon remains alive is no small miracle. He was in a Scottish regiment in World War II, was on his own in an attempt to escape capture by the Japanese, and was caught. He was thrown into the living hell of prison camps at Changi, Chungkai, Nakawm Paton and Kanburi, of which the principal one was Chungkai, in the valley of the Kwai.

Basically, this is a story about an agnostic who discovered Christ in the midst of the utmost human degradation, as did many of his fellow sufferers.

At Chungkai the Japanese controverted a basic international convention of war by making prisoners work for them — and driving them to death. These human hulks built a 250 - mile railroad through the jungle in 10 months, and a bridge over the Kwai in two months.

(Incidentally, Gordon, asserts that Pierre Boulle's "The Bridge Over the Kwai" wrongly gives the impression that British officers took part willingly in the construction; he also makes a point that the bridge was incidental to the railroad itself.)

Gordon suffered an incredible combination of diseases as well as starvation. But at the edge of death he was able to take part in a spiritual rebirth that swept through the whole camp. It was a story of men who descended to the law of the fang and claw, then finally discovered that self-sacrifice and fellowship could transform their lives.

Gordon's own transformation might never have occurred if he had not been helped by "Dusty," who happened to be a Methodist, and by "Dinty," who happened to be a Roman Catholic. In the dread conditions of the prison camp, denominations were a small matter.

Few readers can get through these pages without feeling the absolute terror of man's most hideous inhumanity to man. But it is equally true that few readers will fail to be moved by the tenacity of man's resistance to terror when he is upheld by the nobility of faith.

Story About Honorable, Simple Man

A SIMPLE HONORABLE MAN. By Conrad Richter. Knopf. $4.50.

Many who lead lives of quiet desperation might do well to have a look at the often unsung men who lead lives of quiet inspiration.

Such a man is the simple, honorable and gently inspired hero of this novel. His name is Harry Donner. He was a figure in Richter's previous award-winning novel, "The Waters of Kronos."

Donner is a Pennsylvania storekeeper who feels a call to the ministry when he is approaching the age of 40. In practical terms, this means that by the time he has been through the seminary he is getting close to middle age. He will have to take his assignments in the remote little churches serving the backwaters and the dull, often backbiting communities that younger men manage eventually to escape.

So it is inevitable that Donner serves his ministry in such places as Mahanoy, Wetherill Valley and Paint Creek.

But Donner's real sympathies lie even farther into the darkness. Even when he is at Mahanoy, he is drawn to the desperately poor miners at Primrose and Lost Run; even when he goes to Paint Creek, his heart reaches out to the desperately ignorant mountaineers of Chadd's Grove.

Richter's story is thoroughly steeped in the homely qualities of heartland America, a beautifully composed tale in muted tones about a man's self-sacrifice for his beliefs. It is a literary benediction upon the basic human goodness that makes the harsh sophistication of "modern" life seem hollow and doubly desperate.

BROADWAY PLAYGUIDE

New Contenders For Long Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — Highlight events on Broadway in May include limited-run attractions and three new contenders for long-run stay.

The Royal Dramatic Theater Company of Sweden opens a one-week engagement at the Cort, May 14 with "Miss Julie," followed by another August Strindberg drama, "The Father," and Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey into Night."

On the lighter side, City Center begins a spring musical festival on the 16th with revival of "Can-Can," followed at two-week intervals by "Brigadoon" and "Fiorello!" An intimate review, "Cut Loose!" with Pete Seeger, is aiming to open a six-week engagement at the Lyric sometime late in the month.

Hopefully joining the more permanent lineup of shows are two musicals—"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," May 10 at the Alvin, and "Bravo Giovanni," May 19 at the Broadhurst—and a drama, "Infidel Caesar," at the Music Box May 1.

Following is a digest of all current productions, including theater, stars, topic and ticket availability.

DRAMA

"A Gift of Time" Barrymore—Henry Fonda as an incurably ill man and Olivia de Havilland the wife who helps him find surcease. Plenty of seats for all performances.

"A Man for all Seasons": ANTA—Paul Scofield as Sir Thomas More in the season's top drama hit. Order well in advance.

"A Passage to India": Ambassador — Eric Portman, Gladys Cooper and Zia Mohyeddin seek East-West understanding in stage adaptation of E. M. Forester's famous novel. Plenty of room.

"Gideon": Plymouth—Douglas Campbell replaces Fredric March as the angel of the Lord in Paddy Chayefsky's account of Old Testament combat. Gerald Hiken moves into Campbell's former spot as the rustic warrior. Available.

"Ross": Hudson—John Mills as Lawrence of Arabia in World War I desert adventure. Plentiful.

"The Night of the Iguana": Royale—Margaret Leighton and Shelley Winters are among a collection of troubled misfits rounded up by playwright Tennessee Williams in a seedy Mexican hotel. Some tickets available, weekends scarce.

COMEDY

"A Shot in the Dark": Booth—Julie Harris is a pert French maid suspected of homicide. Most performances available.

"A Thousand Clowns": O'Neill—Jason Robards Jr. as a merry nonconformist trying to bring up a young nephew. Available.

"Come Blow Your Horn": Atkinson—Hal March introduces his brother to the hazards of bachelorhood. Plentiful.

4 COMPANIES INDICTED

Steel Industry Charged With Fixing Prices, Bids

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry took it on the chin again during the week — this time through indictment of four steel companies, a trade association and five individuals on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids.

The development came as the sound and fury of the two-week-old steel price increase warfare echoed. But there was no connection.

Indicted by a federal grand jury were United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., Erie Forge & Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. Also charged were Open Die Forging Institute and five officials of the four companies.

The bids cited in the indictment were on sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other buyers.

The Forging Institute was alleged to have acted as a "clearing house" for price agreements among the accused companies.

The Justice Department said it began investigating the case in April 1961.

The case against the steel companies appeared to parallel the indictment for price fixing and bid rigging of 29 electrical equipment manufacturers and 44 of their executives in 1960. The companies and executives were fined a total of $1,924,500 and seven executives were sent to jail.

The indictment returned Thursday had nothing to do with the steel industry's raising prices $6 a ton April 10, only to back down three days later under steamroller pressure from the Kennedy administration. However, steel pricing is under investigation by another federal grand jury.

News of the indictment sent steel stocks lower on the New York Stock Exchange. They had been declining all week on investor disappointment over first-quarter earnings.

Steel company heads took the opportunity of reporting earnings to reiterate their need for relief from a profit-cost squeeze so that they could meet competition from other domestic materials and foreign steel imports.

U.S. Steel earned $55.8 million, equal to 91 cents a share, compared with $32 million in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and $112.6 million in the busy 1960 period.

U.S. Steel Chairman Roger L. Blough said:

"Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration 75 cents and a pro-rata share of the year's debt repayment, leaving no margin for reinvestment in the business."

Chairman Avery C. Adams of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., commenting on the price situation faced by the steel companies, said: "Isn't it time for all of us to face up to the economic facts of life and examine the question as to whether any business, large or small, can coexist with a governmental policy which calls for a denouncement of anyone who does not submit meekly to economic edicts by government."

Adding to its tribulations, the steel industry found demand for its products continuing to slide since a new labor contract was signed three months ahead of the contract expiration date.

The early agreement, providing 10 cents an hour in fringe benefits but no wage increase, was reached under pressure from President Kennedy.

STARTED IN 1911

U.S. Steel Is Pro At Skirmishes With Officials

For five decades the U.S. Steel Corp. has been the dominant firm in an industry that helps shape the nature of the nation's economy. Even before its recent clash with President Kennedy over a price boost, U.S. Steel has battled with government on several occasions. The following article outlines some of the history of "Big Steel," its relations with Washington, the part steel places in our daily lives and just how steel is produced.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Skirmishes with the government are nothing new to United States Steel Corp., now a target of Justice Department and congressional inquiries.

As long ago as 1911, this titan in a titanic industry—a mainspring of many others—was assailed in the courts as being too big and powerful for the public good.

In those times, U.S. Steel controlled about two thirds of the nation's production.

Wall Street, in tribute to its majesty, called the corporation merely "Steel," an awesome custom that persists even now that its relative strength has been cut more than half by the growth of other giant competing steel producers.

The court battle went on nine years. It ended in a celebrated 4 to 3 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, with two justices abstaining.

"The law does not make more size an offense or the existence of unexerted power an offense," the majority held.

By laying down this judicial guideline, the tribunal threw the investigative ball largely to Congress and the semiautonomous regulatory agencies.

Later, the Federal Trade Commission in 1924 put curbs on "Big Steel's" pricing practices as they affected Western consumers.

Congressional probes, centered mainly on what critics called "administered" prices, were undertaken in 1938 and again in 1958.

In 1952, during the Korean War, another conflict occurred when President Truman sought to seize the nation's steel mills to head off at threatened strike.

U.S. Steel and the industry's second ranking producer, Bethlehem Steel Corp., challenged the President in the Supreme Court—and won again.

The court held that Truman had exceeded his powers. A 53-day strike ensued. It was settled after the President served notice he was ready to move in a second time.

The history of strife was written against a background of industrial might seldom, if ever, equalled in the American economy.

First of all, steelmaking is a mammoth undertaking all its own even today, employing in 1961 nearly 670,000 persons at wages and benefits of nearly $5.2 billion.

Assets topped $15.7 billion. Sales and revenues aggregating $13.7 billion generated profits of about $715 million in ingot production of 98 million tons.

Secondly, the output of the nation's mills feeds raw manufacturing materials into other industries producing everything from razor blades and bobby pins to skyscrapers, ocean liners and bridges.

Great volumes of steel pour into highway-building, automobiles (one to 1½ ton a piece), can making, housing, farm tractors, washingmachines and refrigerators and office furniture.

Steel goes into oil refineries, pipelines, machinery, railroad cars, utility poles and turbines, space vehicles, kitchen utensils, milk tanks, fencing, barges, golf clubs, sewing machines and a bewildering variety of other products used in the nation's commerce, defense and daily living routines.

Of last year's production, U.S. Steel accounted for 25.2 million tons—about 27 per cent, greater than the output of any four other steelmaking firms with the exception of Bethlehem, producer of 14.9 million tons.

Since 1950, steel prices had risen 61 per cent, consumer prices about 20 per cent.

How is steel made?

The process starts miles from steel mills. Hugh machines rip into the earth and scoop out iron ore and coal. Limestone is blasted loose in quarries. These are the raw materials of steel.

The coal must be processed. This is done by "baking" it in air-tight ovens. Gases and smoke are driven away. What remains is coke, a hard substance capable of creating great heat.

The ore, coke and limestone are dumped into a blast furnace. What comes out is called pit iron.

The furnace operates 24 hours a day. Every few minutes the cars dump more materials into it. Iron is tapped from the bottom every six hours or so.

To make a ton of pig iron, it takes almost two tons of ore, about a ton of coke, a half ton of limestone and three and a half tons of air.

Changing iron into steel is mainly a job of getting impurities out of the crude iron. This is done in three different types of furnaces—the open hearth, Bessemer converter and the electric furnace. About 90 per cent of all steel is made in the open hearth, which is dish-shaped and housed in a rectangular brick structure.

Samples are taken from time to time. More materials may be added to change the steel. One batch of steel may be for auto fenders; another for refrigerators. Making steel in the open hearth is like grandmother used to make soup; an ingredient is added, then it's tested to see if it's just right.

Molten steel is tapped from the hearth into a ladle. From the ladle it is poured into molds. The result is called an ingot.

The ingot, while in a solid form but still hot, is rolled into three principle shapes—blooms, slabs and billets.

Blooms are fat blocks; slabs are thick and wide; billets are long and narrow. These are called semi-finished shapes.

At finishing mills, blooms are rolled into shapes for such things as structural steel and rails; slabs become plates, sheets and strips, and billets become rods, bars, pipe and tubes.

Giant that it is, "Big Steel" passed its zenith as a producer in 1953 when it turned out ingots and castings totaling 35.8 million tons, or some 40 per cent over 1961.

Employment, now under the 200,000 mark, topped out in the World War II year of 1942 when it averaged 335,866, nearly two thirds greater than 1961.

Improved tools of production, more modern furnaces and mills and greater all around efficiency are credited with narrowing the employment-tonnage ratio.

Since 1946 alone, more than $4 billion has been pumped into improvements and additions to big steel's far flung properties.

Stockholders Of Crossett Given Option

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Peter F. Watzek, president of the Crossett Paper Co., told stockholders Wednesday at the company's annual meeting that he didn't think Georgia Pacific Corporation's offer of between $47.50 and $55 per share for the firm, "was nearly high enough."

Watzek compared Georgia Pacific's offer with an option of $68.50 per share offered by Union Bag-Camp Corp., two years ago. But, Watzek pointed out Union's offer failed to materialize.

The Crossett Co. was largely owned by members of the Crossett, Watzek and Gates families until about two weeks ago when the Crossett family optioned its block of stock to Georgia Pacific.

Following his address to stockholders, Watzek invited questions from members present. In reply to a query by a stockholder as to whether the Watzek and Gates families still control more than a majority of the stock, Watzek said, "Yes."

But, when another stockholder asked, "What are the Watzek and Gates families going to do?" Watzek replied, "I don't know."

In his address, the company's president explained terms and limiting factors of ensuing negotiations to the stockholders.

He explained, "This is a contract between Georgia Pacific Paper Corp., and the Crossett family.

"Although neither the company nor the Watzek or Gates families have a contract with Georgia Pacific, but they will still be affected by the Crossett negotioation."

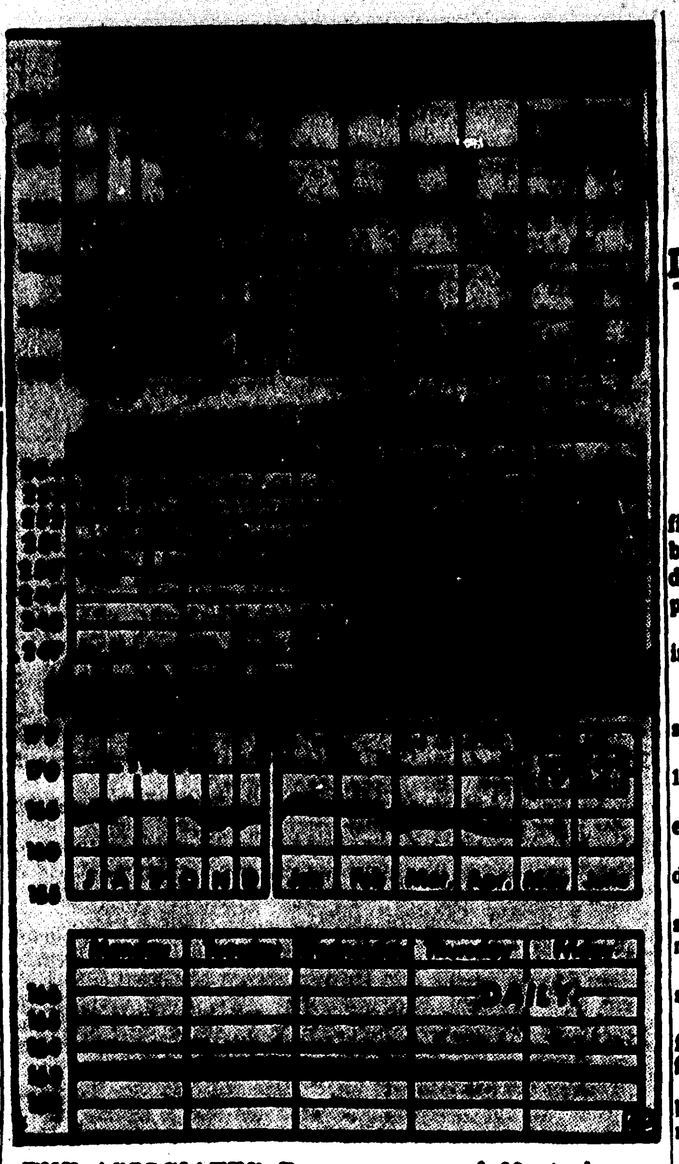
Watzek described the contract in effect as an option. "Although the Crossetts are committed to sell, Georgia Pacific is not committed to buy," he said.

Before purchasing the Crossett family stock, Georgia Pacific has two hurdles to clear — they must secure authority from the board of directors and the company must make financing arrangements.

"If the authority and funds are secured, then the contract provides that Georgia Pacific may make a conditonal offer of $55 to all stockholders.

It must be made before July 2, 1962, and Georgia Pacific need not purchase any of the stock for $55 per share unless more than 50 per cent of each class of stock, including the Crossett family's which is already deposited with an escrow agent, is offered.

If this conditioonal offer of $55 is made Crossett stockholders will be given not more than 28 days from the offer date to accept the offer.



THE ASSOCIATED Press average of 60 stocks recorded its sharpest weekly break since March 1960 when it closed this week at 247.9 from 254.5 a week earlier. Led by livestock, the commodity index declined slightly this week to 163.0 from 163.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

OIL ALLOWABLES OUT

Resurge Shown By Gas Drillers

Gas drillers last week spearheaded a resurgence of activity over the 14 parishes of the Monroe Oil & Gas District, with reports reaching here showing a recent high total of 11 completions, seven in Union Parish — six in the Monroe Field and one in the Ora Field.

Ouachita Parish recorded no completions but accounted for three of a total of 19 new locations reported. All were in the Monroe gas field. Also all spotted in the Monroe Field was the eight high total recorded in Union Parish.

Half of a total of 10 rigs listed as active were to be found in LaSalle Parish, while Ouachita Parish contributed none.

Reports yesterday from District Manager Duncan S. Cook showed three wells as re-completed during the week, two in Catahoula Parish and the third in LaSalle. In Catahoula's Tew Lake Field is H. A. Harper's G. S. Beasley No. 2 and J. A. Webb No. 1, while in the Nebo Hemphill Field of LaSalle Parish is Reliance Trust's Coon No. 4.

Three rigs were plugged and abandoned over the week, pushing the total on inactive sites moderately higher to 92. Twenty-two wells were drilling and locations numbered 61.

Making news earlier in the week was the establishment Monday in Baton Rouge by Conservation Commissioner James Gill of the state's May-June daily oil allowables. The total fell nearly 45,000 barrels overall, while the Monroe District's production allowable sustained approximately a 2,000 barrel cut.

The new state figure, as announced by Gill, stands at 1,110,556 barrels, down from 1,155,364 barrels in March and April, while the district will be allowed 59,107 barrels a day.

Offshore allowables decline from 322,356, to 310,489 barrels daily.

Following is the usual closer look at the Monroe District's completions, new locations and active rigs, as they stood at week's end:

4 COMPANIES INDICTED

Steel Industry Charged With Fixing Prices, Bids

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry took it on the chin again during the week — this time through indictment of four steel companies, a trade association and five individuals on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids.

The development came as the sound and fury of the two-week-old steel price increase warfare echoed. But there was no connection.

Indicted by a federal grand jury were United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., Erie Forge & Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. Also charged were Open Die Forging Institute and five officials of the four companies.

The bids cited in the indictment were on sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other buyers.

The Forging Institute was alleged to have acted as a "clearing house" for price agreements among the accused companies.

The Justice Department said it began investigating the case in April 1961.

The case against the steel companies appeared to parallel the indictment for price fixing and bid rigging of 29 electrical equipment manufacturers and 44 of their executives in 1960. The companies and executives were fined a total of $1,924,500 and seven executives were sent to jail.

The indictment returned Thursday had nothing to do with the steel industry's raising prices $6 a ton April 10, only to back down three days later under steamroller pressure from the Kennedy administration. However, steel pricing is under investigation by another federal grand jury.

News of the indictment sent steel stocks lower on the New York Stock Exchange. They had been declining all week on investor disappointment over first-quarter earnings.

Steel company heads took the opportunity of reporting earnings to reiterate their need for relief from a profit-cost squeeze so that they could meet competition from other domestic materials and foreign steel imports.

U.S. Steel earned $55.8 million, equal to 91 cents a share, compared with $32 million in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and $112.6 million in the busy 1960 period.

U.S. Steel Chairman Roger L. Blough said:

"Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration 75 cents and a pro-rata share of the year's debt repayment, leaving no margin for reinvestment in the business."

Chairman Avery C. Adams of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., commenting on the price situation faced by the steel companies, said: "Isn't it time for all of us to face up to the economic facts of life and examine the question as to whether any business, large or small, can coexist with a governmental policy which calls for a denouncement of anyone who does not submit meekly to economic edicts by government."

Adding to its tribulations, the steel industry found demand for its products continuing to slide since a new labor contract was signed three months ahead of the contract expiration date.

The early agreement, providing 10 cents an hour in fringe benefits but no wage increase, was reached under pressure from President Kennedy.

STARTED IN 1911

U.S. Steel Is Pro At Skirmishes With Officials

For five decades the U.S. Steel Corp. has been the dominant firm in an industry that helps shape the nature of the nation's economy. Even before its recent clash with President Kennedy over a price boost, U.S. Steel has battled with the government on several occasions. The following article outlines some of the history of "Big Steel," its relations with Washington, the part steel places in our daily lives and just how steel is produced.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Skirmishes with the government are nothing new to United States Steel Corp., now a target of Justice Department and congressional inquiries.

As long ago as 1911, this titan in a titanic industry—a mainspring of many others—was assailed in the courts as being too big and powerful for the public good.

In those times, U.S. Steel controlled about two thirds of the nation's production.

Wall Street, in tribute to its majesty, called the corporation merely "Steel," an awesome custom that persists even now that its relative strength has been cut more than half by the growth of other giant competing steel producers.

The court battle went on nine years. It ended in a celebrated 4 to 3 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, with two justices abstaining.

"The law does not make more size an offense or the existence of unexerted power an offense," the majority held.

By laying down this judicial guideline, the tribunal threw the investigative ball largely to Congress and the semiautonomous regulatory agencies.

Later, the Federal Trade Commission in 1924 put curbs on "Big Steel's" pricing practices as they affected Western consumers.

Congressional probes, centered mainly on what critics called "administered" prices, were undertaken in 1938 and again in 1958.

In 1952, during the Korean War, another conflict occurred when President Truman sought to seize the nation's steel mills to head off at threatened strike.

U.S. Steel and the industry's second ranking producer, Bethlehem Steel Corp., challenged the President in the Supreme Court—and won again.

The court held that Truman had exceeded his powers. A 53-day strike ensued. It was settled after the President served notice he was ready to move in a second time.

The history of strife was written against a background of industrial might seldom, if ever, equalled in the American economy.

First of all, steelmaking is a mammoth undertaking all its own even today, employing in 1961 nearly 670,000 persons at wages and benefits of nearly $5.2 billion.

Assets topped $15.7 billion. Sales and revenues aggregating $13.7 billion generated profits of about $715 million in ingot production of 98 million tons.

Secondly, the output of the nation's mills feeds raw manufacturing materials into other industries producing everything from razor blades and bobby pins to skyscrapers, ocean liners and bridges.

Great volumes of steel pour into highway-building, automobiles (one to 1½ ton a piece), can making, housing, farm tractors, washingmachines and refrigerators and office furniture.

Steel goes into oil refineries, pipelines, machinery, railroad cars, utility poles and turbines, space vehicles, kitchen utensils, milk tanks, fencing, barges, golf clubs, sewing machines and a bewildering variety of other products used in the nation's commerce, defense and daily living routines.

Of last year's production, U.S. Steel accounted for 25.2 million tons—about 27 per cent, greater than the output of any four other steelmaking firms with the exception of Bethlehem, producer of 14.9 million tons.

Since 1950, steel prices had risen 61 per cent, consumer prices about 20 per cent.

How is steel made?

The process starts miles from steel mills. Hugh machines rip into the earth and scoop out iron ore and coal. Limestone is blasted loose in quarries. These are the raw materials of steel.

The coal must be processed. This is done by "baking" it in air-tight ovens. Gases and smoke are driven away. What remains is coke, a hard substance capable of creating great heat.

The ore, coke and limestone are dumped into a blast furnace. What comes out is called pit iron.

The furnace operates 24 hours a day. Every few minutes the cars dump more materials into it. Iron is tapped from the bottom every six hours or so.

To make a ton of pig iron, it takes almost two tons of ore, about a ton of coke, a half ton of limestone and three and a half tons of air.

Changing iron into steel is mainly a job of getting impurities out of the crude iron. This is done in three different types of furnaces—the open hearth, Bessemer converter and the electric furnace. About 90 per cent of all steel is made in the open hearth, which is dish-shaped and housed in a rectangular brick structure.

Samples are taken from time to time. More materials may be added to change the steel. One batch of steel may be for auto fenders; another for refrigerators. Making steel in the open hearth is like grandmother used to make soup; an ingredient is added, then it's tested to see if it's just right.

Molten steel is tapped from the hearth into a ladle. From the ladle it is poured into molds. The result is called an ingot.

The ingot, while in a solid form but still hot, is rolled into three principle shapes—blooms, slabs and billets.

Blooms are fat blocks; slabs are thick and wide; billets are long and narrow. These are called semi-finished shapes.

At finishing mills, blooms are rolled into shapes for such things as structural steel and rails; slabs become plates, sheets and strips, and billets become rods, bars, pipe and tubes.

Giant that it is, "Big Steel" passed its zenith as a producer in 1953 when it turned out ingots and castings totaling 35.8 million tons, or some 40 per cent over 1961.

Employment, now under the 200,000 mark, topped out in the World War II year of 1942 when it averaged 335,866, nearly two thirds greater than 1961.

Improved tools of production, more modern furnaces and mills and greater all around efficiency are credited with narrowing the employment-tonnage ratio.

Since 1946 alone, more than $4 billion has been pumped into improvements and additions to big steel's far flung properties.

Stockholders Of Crossett Given Option

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Peter F. Watzek, president of the Crossett Paper Co., told stockholders Wednesday at the company's annual meeting that he didn't think Georgia Pacific Corporation's offer of between $47.50 and $55 per share for the firm, "was nearly high enough."

Watsek compared Georgia Pacific's offer with an option of $68.50 per share offered by Union Bag-Camp Corp., two years ago. But, Watzek pointed out Union's offer failed to materialize.

The Crossett Co. was largely owned by members of the Crossett, Watzek and Gates families until about two weeks ago when the Crossett family optioned its block of stock to Georgia Pacific.

Following his address to stockholders, Watzek invited questions from members present. In reply to a query by a stockholder as to whether the Watzek and Gates families still control more than a majority of the stock, Watzek said, "Yes."

But, when another stockholder asked, "What are the Watzek and Gates families going to do?" Watzek replied, "I don't know."

In his address, the company's president explained terms and limiting factors of ensuing negotiations to the stockholders.

He explained, "This is a contract between Georgia Pacific Paper Corp., and the Crossett family.

"Although neither the company nor the Watzek or Gates families have a contract with Georgia Pacific, but they will still be affected by the Crossett negotioation."

Watzek described the contract in effect as an option. "Although the Crossetts are committed to sell, Georgia Pacific is not committed to buy," he said.

Before purchasing the Crossett family stock, Georgia Pacific has two hurdles to clear — they must secure authority from the board of directors and the company must make financing arrangements.

"If the authority and funds are secured, then the contract provides that Georgia Pacific may make a conditonal offer of $55 to all stockholders.

It must be made before July 2, 1962, and Georgia Pacific need not purchase any of the stock for $55 per share unless more than 50 per cent of each class of stock, including the Crossett family's which is already deposited with an escrow agent, is offered.

If this conditioonal offer of $55 is made Crossett stockholders will be given not more than 28 days from the offer date to accept the offer.

OIL ALLOWABLES OUT

Resurge Shown By Gas Drillers

Gas drillers last week spearheaded a resurgence of activity over the 14 parishes of the Monroe Oil & Gas District, with reports reaching here showing a recent high total of 11 completions, seven in Union Parish — six in the Monroe Field and one in the Ora Field.

Ouachita Parish recorded no completions but accounted for three of a total of 19 new locations reported. All were in the Monroe gas field. Also all spotted in the Monroe Field was the eight high total recorded in Union Parish.

Half of a total of 10 rigs listed as active were to be found in LaSalle Parish, while Ouachita Parish contributed none.

Reports yesterday from District Manager Duncan S. Cook showed three wells as re-completed during the week, two in Catahoula Parish and the third in LaSalle. In Catahoula's Tew Lake Field is H. A. Harper's G. S. Beasley No. 2 and J. A. Webb No. 1, while in the Nebo Hemphill Field of LaSalle Parish is Reliance Trust's Coon No. 4.

Three rigs were plugged and abandoned over the week, pushing the total on inactive sites moderately higher to 92. Twenty-two wells were drilling and locations numbered 61.

Making news earlier in the week was the establishment Monday in Baton Rouge by Conservation Commissioner James Gill of the state's May-June daily oil allowables. The total fell nearly 45,000 barrels overall, while the Monroe District's production allowable sustained approximately a 2,000 barrel cut.

The new state figure, as announced by Gill, stands at 1,110,556 barrels, down from 1,155,364 barrels in March and April, while the district will be allowed 59,107 barrels a day.

Offshore allowables decline from 322,356, to 310,489 barrels daily.

Following is the usual closer look at the Monroe District's completions, new locations and active rigs, as they stood at week's end:

N.Y. GOVERNORSHIP

Wagner To Skip Rockefeller Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner removed himself Saturday as a candidate for the governorship this fall against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Reports had persisted that President Kennedy might induce Wagner, the state's strongest Democrat, to try to upset Rockefeller, a potential Republican nominee for President in 1964.

Wagner told a news conference he had discussed the matter with Kennedy but that he was "never under pressure" and that the President "knew how I felt."

The mayor, elected to a third four-year term last fall, said he could not "walk away" from his city duties.

He added, in effect, that there was no need for him to run for governor—that there are "a number of outstanding Democrats who running on a liberal forward-looking platform, can take the measure of Gov. Rockefeller."

Rockefeller, commenting on Wagner's announcement, said "The decision is up to him."

Asked whom he thought now might be his November opponent, Rockefeller said: "It's up to the Democratic Party."

Wagner declined to express any choice for the Democratic nomination.

L. Judson Morhouse, state Republican chairman, commented:

"Mr. Wagner's decision obviously means only one thing: he is conceding the re-election of Gov. Rockefeller."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said his chances got "a great boost" as a result of Wagner's announcement.

Wagner had said repeatedly that "I am not a candidate" but this phraseology had left open the possibility that he might become one later or would accept a draft. Today he put it this way:

"I have decided again to make crystal clear my final and irevocable decision not to permit my name to be put forward as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, nor to be a candidate or to allow myself to be drafted as a candidate."

The mayor, son of the late Sen. Robert F. Wagner who sponsored the Wagner Labor Relations Act and other New Deal legislation in the 1930s, generally has been regarded as wishing to follow in his father's footsteps to the Senate.

But he said he was not interested in the Senate.

"My statement clearly indicates I'm not a candidate for anything," he told newsmen. "I have found out long ago that you cannot plan to run two years from now. You have to go on a day-to-day basis."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, A Republican who defeated Wagner for the senate in 1956, is up for re-election this year.

UNITED GIVERS FUND

Walker Appoints Campaign Heads

Two prominent Monroe businessmen have been named campaign chairman and co-chairman of the United Givers Fund by Dr. George T. Walker, Fund president and president of Northeast State.

Bernard Biedenharn, president of Ouachita Candy Co., will serve as campaign chairman, and Ben Marshall, vice-president of the Ouachita National Bank, will serve as co-chairman.

Mr. Biedenharn said that the campaign to raise funds for the 14 participating agencies would be made in the fall and that plans are now being formulated to appoint leaders of the various segments of the campaign.

The Quota and Admissions committee will meet with the agencies in May or June to determine the allocations for each agency. The total of these allocations will made up the goal for the fall drive.

Last year's campaign raised approximately $225,000. Agencies participating this year are the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Strauss Rehabilitation Center, Colored Community Welfare, Girl Scouts, Mental Health, Monroe Guidance Center, Traveler's Aid, Association for Retarded Children, Salvation Army, YMCA, YWCA, USO, and West Monroe Boy's Club.

"With the cooperation of the people in the community, we can expect to meet the goal of this 8th United Givers Fund drive," Mr. Biedenharn said.

Viet Nam War Tempo Shows Rise

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—More than 200 Viet Cong communists were killed this week, the government reported, as South Viet Nam's guerrilla war steadily grew in intensity.

The increasing pressure of government units, aided by Americans, fanning out into Communist-infested sectors, brought bloody clashes daily in the jungles and dusty rice fields.

Government figures showed two Viet Cong wounded and 23 captured, besides those killed, in seven engagements. There probably were more dead and wounded but the Communists carry away their casualties if at all possible.

Listed government casualties were 7 dead, 17 wounded, 20 captured.

One U.S. helicopter was shot down without casualties.

More American helicopters arrived and were put into operation, bringing to nearly 100 the number of these aircraft which are giving to President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces a new zest and mobility in the constantly shifting war.

The biggest helicopter operation of the war so far was conducted when two full helicopter companies, including a U.S. Marine company, flew troops on a surprise strike in the Mekong River delta.

An important addition to South Viet Nam's military hardware was the arrival of more shallow-draft, unsinkable boats designed to carry a squad of men on swift expeditions through the nation's 2,500-mile spiderweb of canals and waterways in the Mekong Delta. The boats will be especially valuable in the rainy season, due next month.

The government complained to the International Control Commission Saturday that Red China has been building up the North Viet Nam navy by giving it between 25 and 30 gunboats, in addition to patrol boats and other craft since 1958. Naval bases near the 17th Parallel, the dividing line between North and South Viet Nam, are being used to transport infiltrators into the south, said the complaint.

U.S. naval advisors are working with the 8,000-man navy of South Viet Nam to patrol the coast.

An Open Letter to Our Senator and Representative concerning Chiropractic Licenses in the State of Louisiana.

Monroe, La.
April 5, 1962

Hon. Jamar Adcock
Hon. Mike John, Jr.
Hon. Lawrence Gibbs

Dear Sirs:

May I voice my opinion on the ruling of our state that our Chiropractors must obtain their licenses within six weeks, or lose their right to practice their profession in the State of Louisiana?

The first question I would like to ask you—How do you expect our Chiropractors to obtain licenses when our state does not have a state board of examination for Chiropractors?

Second question—Why does our state require Chiropractors to pass a state board set up for Medical Doctors? They are not the same, nor do they claim to be the same. Our Medical Doctors are not asked to pass a lawyer or barber's state board of examination to obtain their licenses to practice medicine in our state, instead, they are required to pass a state board in the field they chose and studied as their career.

Third—Why does our state choose to be one of only two states in the union that have no proper state board of examination for Chiropractors in the field they chose and studied as their career? These men and women are just as sincere and dedicated to the health care of mankind as medical Doctors are. It cost them years of time and several thousand dollars to earn the right to the title of Doctor of Chiropractic. In some of our states the hours and practice to become a Doctor of Chiropractic exceed those required of medical students.

We are all aware that we have men operating in our state under the name of Chiropractors that are not qualified and have not earned the right to carry the title of D. C. The National Chiropractic Association does not recognize or condone the practice of these men, anymore than the Medical Association would an imposter in their field. Due to our state law that refuses to set up a reasonable state board of examination for qualified Chiropractors the NCA is powerless to stop these men in our state. The qualified men are grouped in the same class with imposters. I am sure if our state did not have a proper state board for Medical Doctors to acquire their licenses, we would soon see many men hanging out shingles in the field of medicine that would not be qualified to carry the title of M. D.

Our qualified Chiropractors are ready and eager to take a proper state board of examination in the field of Chiropractic, not in the field of medicine, law, or any other field outside the realm of their studies. In this free country, why do we not have the proper board of examination for these important men to obtain their licenses? They are not afraid of the competition the Medical Association has for them. Why are the Medical men apparently afraid of the competition the qualified Chiropractors have for them?

I am not a Chiropractic, nor am I associated with the Chiropractic Association in any way. I am a taxpayer and voter in the State of Louisiana. I own and operate a retail grocery business here in Ouachita parish. My entire family of four has been under the care of a competent Chiropractor in Monroe for over a year. Never in any way has this fine young Doctor ever suggested that we give up any form of medical care we were accustomed to from our Medical Doctor. Through our Choice and the results obtained from our Chiropractic care alone, we go to this Doctor of Chiropractic. Why then should we, because of someone's fear of competition, be forced to go outside our own state to seek the health care we prefer and pay for?

I have a son 16 years of age, born in Monroe and getting his education in our Ouachita Parish schools. He is considering (as a free American) the field of Chiropractic as his career. Again, why must he leave his native state to follow the career of his choice?

I earnestly ask you to take time from your many other duties to think about this very important problem. Please think wisely and clearly without bias or prejudice to anyone. This affects thousands of our Louisiana citizens, who should have the same freedom of choice that citizens of 48 (and how can 48 be wrong and only 2 right) of our states already have. —The freedom to select the health care and Doctor of their choice within their own state. We are not asking that our state laws be changed to force anyone to exchange their medical care for Chiropractic care. Each has his equally important place in the care of our health. We are only asking that our fine Doctors of Chiropractic have the same chance our Doctors of Medicine have. A state board of examination set up for the field of Chiropractic. Then and only then, will they have the opportunity to remove the unqualified men from their field and earn the respect they are due as qualified men in the field of Chiropractic. I am sure if this is done in a short time we will find our M.D.'s and our D.C.'s working together to assure our citizens the very best in health care.

Thanking you in advance for your time and consideration on this problem—

May we have a proper STATE BOARD OF EXAMINATION in the very important FIELD OF CHIROPRACTIC in our own STATE OF LOUISIANA?.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. J. R. Nixon, Jr.

RAF Helicopter Sets Coventry's Cathedral Cross

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Coventry's new cathedral finally got its cross Saturday. It was dropped into place by a Royal Air Force helicopter on the second attempt.

A first try at placing the cross atop the cathedral's new 80-foot spire failed Friday when a guide rope broke. Further attempts were delayed by a rising wind.

The cross is a 10-foot abstract design by British sculptor Geoffrey Clarke. The same helicopter set the cathedral's two-ton spire in position Thursday.

There were few spectators around when the helicopter carried out its delicate 14-minute operation at 6:00 a.m. Saturday.

A tense moment came when one of the four guide ropes, handled by a ground crew, fouled the spire. But the half-ton cross was lowered slowly until its three-foot spike engaged a three-inch wide slot drilled into the spire.

The $3,780,000 cathedral, built to replace Coventry's original cathedral which was destroyed in Nazi bombing during World War II, will be formally dedicated May 25.

SMOKEY REPORTS

Forest Fires down in '61

Our forests were ripe for disaster last year. The West was dry—too dry—from years of drought. Lightning lashed the high country, setting more fires than ever recorded from that cause before.

A gloomy picture, yes, but what was the record? In this year of high fire hazard, with more folks than ever visiting our forests, the number of forest fires caused by people was near an alltime low.

This is a record to be proud of, but not one to be satisfied with!

Forest fires still take too much of our natural wealth each year. We can't afford to lose our scenic heritage, our wildlife, wood, and water.

With your help, Smokey will be able to report new gains in '62. Please be extra careful, won't you, with every fire?

Remember-only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

These men and women are just as sincere and dedicated to the health care of mankind as medical Doctors are. It cost them years of time and several thousand dollars to earn the right to the title of Doctor of Chiropractic. In some of our states the hours and practice to become a Doctor of Chiropractic exceed those required of medical students.

We are all aware that we have men operating in our state under the name of Chiropractors that are not qualified and have not earned the right to carry the title of D. C. The National Chiropractic Association does not recognize or condone the practice of these men, anymore than the Medical Association would an imposter in their field. Due to our state law that refuses to set up a reasonable state board of examination for qualified Chiropractors the NCA is powerless to stop these men in our state. The qualified men are grouped in the same class with imposters. I am sure if our state did not have a proper state board for Medical Doctors to acquire their licenses, we would soon see many men hanging out shingles in the field of medicine that would not be qualified to carry the title of M. D.

Our qualified Chiropractors are ready and eager to take a proper state board of examination in the field of Chiropractic, not in the field of medicine, law, or any other field outside the realm of their studies. In this free country, why do we not have the proper board of examination for these important men to obtain their licenses? They are not afraid of the competition the Medical Association has for them. Why are the Medical men apparently afraid of the competition the qualified Chiropractors have for them?

I am not a Chiropractic, nor am I associated with the Chiropractic Association in any way. I am a taxpayer and voter in the State of Louisiana. I own and operate a retail grocery business here in Ouachita parish. My entire family of four has been under the care of a competent Chiropractor in Monroe for over a year. Never in any way has this fine young Doctor ever suggested that we give up any form of medical care we were accustomed to from our Medical Doctor. Through our Choice and the results obtained from our Chiropractic care alone, we go to this Doctor of Chiropractic. Why then should we, because of someone's fear of competition, be forced to go outside our own state to seek the health care we prefer and pay for?

I have a son 16 years of age, born in Monroe and getting his education in our Ouachita Parish schools. He is considering (as a free American) the field of Chiropractic as his career. Again, why must he leave his native state to follow the career of his choice?

I earnestly ask you to take time from your many other duties to think about this very important problem. Please think wisely and clearly without bias or prejudice to anyone. This affects thousands of our Louisiana citizens, who should have the same freedom of choice that citizens of 48 (and how can 48 be wrong and only 2 right) of our states already have. —The freedom to select the health care and Doctor of their choice within their own state. We are not asking that our state laws be changed to force anyone to exchange their medical care for Chiropractic care. Each has his equally important place in the care of our health. We are only asking that our fine Doctors of Chiropractic have the same chance our Doctors of Medicine have. A state board of examination set up for the field of Chiropractic. Then and only then, will they have the opportunity to remove the unqualified men from their field and earn the respect they are due as qualified men in the field of Chiropractic. I am sure if this is done in a short time we will find our M.D.'s and our D.C.'s working together to assure our citizens the very best in health care.

Thanking you in advance for your time and consideration on this problem—

May we have a proper STATE BOARD OF EXAMINATION in the very important FIELD OF CHIROPRACTIC in our own STATE OF LOUISIANA?.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. J. R. Nixon, Jr.

RAF Helicopter Sets Coventry's Cathedral Cross

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Coventry's new cathedral finally got its cross Saturday. It was dropped into place by a Royal Air Force helicopter on the second attempt.

A first try at placing the cross atop the cathedral's new 80-foot spire failed Friday when a guide rope broke. Further attempts were delayed by a rising wind.

The cross is a 10-foot abstract design by British sculptor Geoffrey Clarke. The same helicopter set the cathedral's two-ton spire in position Thursday.

There were few spectators around when the helicopter carried out its delicate 14-minute operation at 6:00 a.m. Saturday.

A tense moment came when one of the four guide ropes, handled by a ground crew, fouled the spire. But the half-ton cross was lowered slowly until its three-foot spike engaged a three-inch wide slot drilled into the spire.

The $3,780,000 cathedral, built to replace Coventry's original cathedral which was destroyed in Nazi bombing during World War II, will be formally dedicated May 25.

SMOKEY REPORTS

Forest Fires down in '61

Our forests were ripe for disaster last year. The West was dry—too dry—from years of drought. Lightning lashed the high country, setting more fires than ever recorded from that cause before.

A gloomy picture, yes, but what was the record? In this year of high fire hazard, with more folks than ever visiting our forests, the number of forest fires caused by people was near an alltime low.

This is a record to be proud of, but not one to be satisfied with!

Forest fires still take too much of our natural wealth each year. We can't afford to lose our scenic heritage, our wildlife, wood, and water.

With your help, Smokey will be able to report new gains in '62. Please be extra careful, won't you, with every fire?

Remember-only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Campbell Carries 1 Stroke Lead Into Final Day Of Texas Open

JIM GRELLE, veteran distance runner, became the fourth American to run the mile in less than four minutes as he was clocked in 3:59.9 in the Mt. San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif., yesterday. The former University of Orgeon star competed for the Los Angeles Track Club. His best previous time was 4:00.1. (AP Wirephoto)

SETS WORLD'S RECORD

Dave Tork Vaults 16 Feet, 2 Inches

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Crew-cut Dave Tork, a rangy Marine lieutenant from Camp Pendleton, Calif., sailed over the bar at 16 feet 2 inches Saturday night to eclipse all world's records in the pole vault.

Tork, 27, made the successful leap on his second try as what was left of a large crowd watched spellbound at the climactic end of the Mount San Antonio Relays.

Tork missed at 16-4 without coming close.

The recognized world mark is 15-9¼, set by Don Bragg at Palo Alto, Calif., July 2, 1960.

But pending is a mark of 16-¾ inches made by John Uelses an ex-Marine, at Santa Barbara, Calif., last March 31. And there's still another record pending—15-10¼ recorded by George Davies at Boulder, Colo., May 20, 1961.

Apparently everything was in order. The site was the Mount San Antonio College stadium, where five world records were established and another tied in a pre-Olympic game meet in 1960.

Tork's great performance overshadowed the sub-4-minute mile mark raced earlier by Jim Grelle and the near-record breaking throw in the discus by Al Oerter.

The vaulting started at 14 feet, but Tork remained out of action until the bar reached 15 feet. He cleared 15 feet and then 15-7, both on the first try.

Davies, of Arizona State, and a left-handed vaulter, Gerald Pratt, of Texas Southern, also cleared 15-7, but couldn't make the 16-2 height.

Tork barely missed at 16-2 on his first attempt. The successful try was a little shaky, but the bar remained in position. Officials measured the distance and found the height was correct.

"I hope some day to do 17 feet," the 6-foot Marine said. He politely and with a smile refused to give his weight. He inferred this is a military secret.

Watching while he vaulted were his wife, Mary Jo, and their two young daughters. Tork went to high school in Fairmont, W.Va., graduated from the University of West Virginia, and has been in the Marine Corps since 1958.

In the mile, Grelle's time — 3:59.9 — made him the fourth American and the 30th athlete to break the once-formidable barrier.

Tech Finishes In 2nd Place In Arkansas

CONWAY, Arkansas (Special) — A rain - softened track wet-blanketed hopes for the fastest times of the season in some events here Saturday night, but it detracted little from another stiring battle between Arkansas State Teachers and Louisiana Tech, with the Arkansas team winning by a slightly larger margin than it did when the two teams tangled last week in Little Rock.

State Teachers finished with 76½ points to 59 for Tech and 28½ for Ouachita of Arkadelphia Ark. Teachers won by 70 to 62½ in Little Rock at the Tiger Relays.

Although State Teachers won the meet, sprinter David Booth of Ouachita stole the thunder of the winners flying Owen brothers, Don and Wilbur, by winning the hundred, 220 and 440 yard dashes in 9.8, 21.5 and 48.9, times that equaled Arkansas records.

In a race that had been much heralded here, Gerald Cound of Teachers defeated Tech's Earl Wright in the 880-yard run in a sparkling 1.53. Cound held off Wright in the back of the final lap, then kicked to a five-step victory, the first time he had ever beaten Wright.

Louisiana Tech got first places in the 120-yard hurdles (15.2 by Max Howard), the mile-run (4.24.-3 by Bob Hayes); and the pole vault (13-9 Bob Goree).

Hayes ran his first three laps comparatively slowly, then finished strongly on the final leg to win going away. His time, however, was not one of his fastest.

Tech's Percy Holoman got off one of his better throws in the discus, 150-2, but was second to Teacher's Don Ketcheside, who threw 151-7⅛.

The Summary:

Discus: Don Ketchside, Teachers; Percy Holoman, Tech; Kim Goodwin, Tech; Bill Baldridge, Ouachita (151-7¼).

440 - yard Relay: Teachers (Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Don Owen, Wilbur Owen); Ouachita. (42.4).

Shot Put: Buddy Voegele, Teachers; Tim Kirby, Teachers; Roy Rowe, Ouachita; Jim Graves, Tech (45-9).

High Jump: Ronnie Hern, Teachers; four way tie between Dale Kent, Teachers; Wayne Melton and Frank Howard, Tech; Bill Heaten, Ouachita (6-3¾).

120 - Yard Hurdles: Max Howard, Tech; Bill Wright, Teachers. (15.2).

Broad Jump: Dale Kent, Teachers; Max Howard, Tech; Robert Taunton, Teachers; Robert Daulton, Tech (22-4).

100 - Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Don Owen, Teachers; Van Max Hays, Tech (9.8).

Mile Run: Bob Hayes, Tech; Frank Bright, Tech; James McDermott, Teachers; Bobby Richardson, Teachers (4:24.3).

880 - yard Relay: Teachers (Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Don Owen, Wilbur Owen), Tech (1:29.4).

440-Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Bill Powell, Tech;

Paul Gentry, Teachers; Dayton Baker, Tech (48.9).

220 - Low Hurdles: Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Robert Daulton, Tech; Wayne Haver, Ouachita; Bill Wright, Teachers (24.6).

880 - Yard Run: Gerald Cound, Teachers; Earl Wright, Tech; Allen Laird, Tech; Larry Frost, Teachers; (1.53).

Sprint Medley: Teachers (Guy Kockel, Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Jewell Steinbeck), Tech, (3:36.5).

220-yard Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Don Owen, Teachers; Van Max Hayes, Tech (21.5).

Pole Vault: Bob Goree, Tech; tie for second between Mickey Howell, Tech and Burt Creasey, Ouachita; Woodrow Bragg, Teachers (13.9).

Mile Relay: Teachers (Paul Gentry, Gerald Cound, Don Owen, (Wilbur Owen), Tech (3:23.1).

State Teachers 76½, Tech 59, Ouachita 28½.

3 Tied For Second; Palmer Two Back

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Burly Joe Campbell kept steady nerves in the company of Arnold Palmer Saturday, firing a two-under-par 69 to maintain his one-stroke lead after three rounds of the $30,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Campbell's three-day total of 204 kept him one ahead of fast-closing Gene Littler, Rancho Bergnardo, Calif., and Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif., who were tied for second at 205.

Palmer, the defending champion from Miami, Fla., shot a one-under-par 70 for a three-day total of 206, tied with Dave Marr of Sun City, Ariz., and Jay Hebert of Miami.

Touring the sun-swept Oak Hills course with an overflow gallery following Palmer did not shake the steady Campbell, a blond former Purdue basketball star from Pendleton, Ind.

Campbell, enjoying his perennial cigar after the round, said "I don't have to worry about what Palmer is going to do—he'll do it anyway. The crowd was very courteous today and I had no problems the big following."

Campbell's putting had been his long suit in the second round, but today it was long drives and good approach shots that made the round.

"I didn't sink a single long putt," Campbell said, "but tomorrow . . . maybe tomorrow."

Campbell overcame bogies on the seventh and 11th holes with birdies on 6, 8, 14 and 15.

Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., shot a sparkling six-under-par 65 to bring in a total of 207, tied with Jon Gustin of Gladwyne, Pa., Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.

Sanders, who started the day four strokes behind Campbell, picked up his 66 score with some tremendous putting on the back nine. The slender pro from California dropped a 50-foot putt on the par-5 15th for an eagle three and rolled in a 26-footer on the 17th hole for a birdie.

The only trouble Sanders had on his round was a bogey on the eighth hole when he hit a wedge shot over the green. Littler moved into strong contention with his 68 today on an erratic round that included two bogies and a double bogey on the 11th hole.

Littler shot birdies on 1, 6, 7, 10, 12, 14 and 15.

Palmer blamed his putting for his one-under-par 70, nothing outstanding for the defending champion and leading money winner among the pros.

"It was really poor," Palmer said. "I only sank two putts all day."

Hebert was modest about his 66 round, saying it would take a six-under-par 65 score by him Sunday to win the tourney. He had six birdies and one bogey on his round that included a 16-foot putt on the first hole.

Marr, who was only one stroke behind Campbell after the second round, slipped one stroke further back today with a one-under-par 70.

Billy Dunk of Gosford, Australia, shot the best round Saturday, a seven-under-par 64 that included putts of 10, 15 and 17 feet enroute to seven birdies. Dunk has a long way to pull in the final round, however, for the 23-year-old Aussie shot a 79 on the opening day and stands at 211.

John Romano Carries Tribe By Twins, 8-7

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Romano lashed a clutch one-run double in the seventh inning Saturday as the league leading Cleveland Indians edged the Minnesota Twins 8-7.

Romano, who had three for four, knocked in the winning run off ex-Indian Dick Stigman after Tito Francona singled.

The Twins tied the score at 7-7 in the seventh on Don Mincher's grand slam home run off reliever Frank Funk. It was his second homer of the game and he drove in five runs. He replaced first baseman Vic Power, who pulled a leg muscle in the first inning after scoring a run.

Bubba Phillips also had three for four for the Indians and batted in three runs. Woodie Held belted a solo homer for Cleveland in the fifth inning.

Soldier Barber Hurls Athletics Past Baltimore

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Soldier Steve Barber posted his third victory without a loss and ran his lifetime record against Kansas City to 8-0 Saturday night by pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Athletics.

Barber, a private first class in the Army at Ft. Bragg, N.C., had to have relief help in the ninth inning, however, from Hoyt Wilhelm.

He had previously pitched complete games against Boston and Washington, winning 5-1 and 8-3, and yielding just two earned runs. The A's runs added two more to his ERA total.

Dodgers Get Win Over Pirates, 2-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tommy Davis, hitless in his first four times at bat, singled in the bottom of the ninth to score Wally Moon with the winning run Saturday in a 2-1 Los Angeles Dodgers victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Sandy Koufax, although not achieving his usual toll of strikeouts, went all the way to gain his fourth win against one loss. He thus became the leading National League hurler in number of victories.

By striking out six, he raised his lifetime total to 999 men fanned.

Hardluck loser for the Pirates was Earl Francis, who like Koufax gave up six hits but struck out seven and was unlucky enough to have an unearned run scored against him.

The Pirate loss combined with a St. Louis victory over Cincinnati, put the Cardinals in first place in the National League by .036, with San Francisco in third position — a half game ahead of the Dodgers.

Yanks Hand Senators 11th Straight Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York Yankees powered three more home runs into distant points of the new D.C. Stadium in the same inning Saturday in dealing the Washington Senators their 11th consecutive defeat 10-3.

Hector Lopez hit his first over the center field wall, Clete Boyer his fourth eight rows into the upper deck, and Roger Maris his third off the facade in right. Boyer's was the longest by a right-hander in the stadium.

All were off an old pal of the Yankees, Fred Green, who was bombarded in relief roles in the 1960 world series when he was with Pittsburgh.

Ralph Terry pitched a smooth six-hitter in winning for the fourth time against one defeat.

The Senators scored one in the fourth on Bob Johnson's third home run over the center field fence, and two in the eighth on three singles and a sacrifice fly.

Claude Osteen started for the Senators and the Yankees took care of him with five hits and three walks in 2 1-3 innings. He was followed by Green and two others. Osteen lost for the third straight time, and twice has not lasted past the third inning.

Boyer continued his heavy hitting for the Yankees with two singles in addition to his home run while Maris also had three of the Yankees' 13 hits. Lopez batted in four runs, one on an infield out, two on a two-run single, and one on his homer.

Southeastern Splits Twinbill With McNeese

HAMMOND, La. (UPI) — Host Southeastern Louisiana split a doubleheader Saturday in Gulf States Conference baseball, Southeastern winning the opener 7-5 and the Cowboys taking revenge in the nightcap 1-0.

Roland Oubre got credit for the first-game win but needed help from Joe Thomas, who came on in the sixth inning with one out and the tying runs on base. Thomas held McNeese to preserve the victory.

Jim Bischoff took the loss. Southeastern's Tony Allelo got a solo home run in the first inning and teammage Billy Ladner added a similar contribution in the second.

Mickey Kimball's five-hitter blanked the Lions and earned him the second-game triumph. Bob Hardy was the loser. McNeese's Len Kahn got four hits in four at-bats, including a double and a solo home run.

Little Boys Baseball

The West Monroe Little Boys Baseball League officially got underway Saturday afternoon with Mayor J. Allan Norris the speaker for the opening ceremonies of the 1962 season, at the Northside park.

Mayor Norris stated that he and the city of West Monroe are 100 per cent behind Little Boys Baseball. He also pointed out that rest rooms at the Southside Park will be completed by June 1, and that other improvements for the park will be carried out.

Five games were played yesterday, four at the Northside park and one on the Southside diamond.

Ouachita National Bank outlasted Colbert Hardware, 4-3, in 11 innings in the Southside game Ouachita scored its four runs on three hits while Colbert collected eight safeties. Huller and Seals were the winning batteries and Rose and Audusch the losers.

Hancroft defeated Pulp and Paper Makers Union, 5-1, in the opener at the Northside park. Rankin and Gates formed the battery for the winners and Kirby and Pickens for the losers.

A. and E. Grocery edged Foremost Dairy, 6-5, despite the fact that Foremost outhit A. and E., 11-2. Mike Jones belted a homerun for Foremost.

American Oil blanked Sanders Lumber, 7-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Bryant. Ken Fletcher led the winners' nine-hit attack with three singles.

A.J. Lester Insurance defeated Barker Rent - All, 13-3, in the final game of the night. Foot collected two of the winners' three hits. Ross held Barker's to only two safeties.

Sadecki Gets Win; Minoso Also Stars

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The hot St. Louis Cardinals blended the talents of young left-hander Ray Sadecki and aging firebrand Minnine Minoso Saturday and made it two straight over Cincinnati's defending National League baseball champs, 5-4.

The 21-year-old Sadecki picked up his first victory of the season with an eight-hitter and help from Lindy McDaniel in the ninth. He was a 14-game winner in his sophomore season last year but a disappointment this season—before this game.

Minoso, 39, slammed two doubles, batted in two runs and scored twice in his best day of the season.

The victory was the 10th for the Redbirds against only three defeats.

Cincinnati had a 2-0 lead in the fourth behind left-hander Jim O'Toole, gained on an unearned run in the second and Frank Robinson's double in the fourth scoring Vada Pinson, who had singled.

But Minoso opened the fourth with a double off the screen in right and scored on Bill White's second hit, a single to right.

In the fifth Julio Gotay and Julian Javier singled and there were two out when Minoso delivered a two-run double to left for a 3-2 lead.

An error by Eddie Kasko let in the third St. Louis run of the fifth. The Reds moved up 4-3 in the seventh inning on a run-scoring single by Cookie Rojas after singles by Wally Post and Johnny Edwards.

The Redbirds picked up what proved to be the winning run off relief pitcher Jim Brosnan, an old teammate, in their half of the seventh. Gotay doubled and scored on Curt Flood's single. The hit stretched Flood's hitting streak to 23 games—going back through the last 12 games of last season.

Albie Pearson Leads Angels Over Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Albie Pearson, the littlest guy in the major leagues, was the big man for the Los Angeles Angels with three extra base hits in a 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Pearson, who stands 5-feet 5⅜ and weighs just 140 pounds, cracked two line doubles and a long triple.

Ryne Duren's blazing relief pitching held off a late Tiger comeback as the Angels posted their first decision over Detroit in nine meetings since last July.

Duren came on as the fifth Angel pitcher and struck out two batters while the Tigers' potential tying run died on second base in the eighth.

Milwaukee Tops Struggling Colts As Butler Stars

HOUSTON ZAP) — Milwaukee's Braves used a three-run burst in the sixth inning and the solid relief pitching of Cecil Butler for a 9-3 verdict over the struggling Houston Colts Saturday night.

It was the fifth loss in seven starts for the new Colts, with only one victory in the stretch. They had a 5-5 tie in 17 innings that was halted by curfew.

Mets Overcome Phillies, 3-2, For Second Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Thomas, Charlie Neal and Gil Hodges hit successive home runs in the sixth inning as the New York Mets rallied for six runs and overcame the Philadelphia Phillies 8-6 Saturday. It was only the second victory in 14 games for the Mets.

Nine home runs were hit in the game, five by the Mets. Neal and Don Demeter of the Phillies hit two, while Clay Dalrymple and Tony Gonzalez of the Phils and Jim Hickman of the Mets had one apiece. Thomas' four-bagger, with a man on base, was his fifth of the season.

Gonzalez' homer with two on and Demeter's four-bagger, both off starter Jay Hook in the first, got the Phils off to a 4-0 lead. After the Mets picked up a run on Neal's first homer, the Phils added two more on a homer by Dalrymple in the fourth and Demeter's second homer in the sixth.

Jim Owens, the Phils starter, was yanked in the sixth after giving up a walk to Gus Bell and home runs to Thomas and Neal. Jack Hamilton, his replacement, left after throwing a home run pitch to Hodges and walking Chris Cannizzaro. Sullivan walked pinch hitter Sam Taylor, then gave way to left-hander Chris Short after retiring Richie Ashburn for the second out. With pinch hitter Ed Bouchee at bat, Short uncorked a wild pitch permitting the Mets' fifth and sixth runs of the inning to cross the plate.

Campbell Carries 1 Stroke Lead Into Final Day Of Texas Open

JIM GRELLE, veteran distance runner, became the fourth American to run the mile in less than four minutes as he was clocked in 3:59.9 in the Mt. San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif., yesterday. SETS WORLD'S RECORD

Dave Tork Vaults 16 Feet, 2 Inches

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Crew-cut Dave Tork, a rangy Marine lieutenant from Camp Pendleton, Calif., sailed over the bar at 16 feet 2 inches Saturday night to eclipse all world's records in the pole vault.

Tork, 27, made the successful leap on his second try as what was left of a large crowd watched spellbound at the climactic end of the Mount San Antonio Relays.

Tork missed at 16-4 without coming close.

The recognized world mark is 15-9¼, set by Don Bragg at Palo Alto, Calif., July 2, 1960.

But pending is a mark of 16-¾ inches made by John Uelses an ex-Marine, at Santa Barbara, Calif., last March 31. And there's still another record pending—15-10¼ recorded by George Davies at Boulder, Colo., May 20, 1961.

Apparently everything was in order. The site was the Mount San Antonio College stadium, where five world records were established and another tied in a pre-Olympic game meet in 1960.

Tork's great performance overshadowed the sub-4-minute mile mark raced earlier by Jim Grelle and the near-record breaking throw in the discus by Al Oerter.

The vaulting started at 14 feet, but Tork remained out of action until the bar reached 15 feet. He cleared 15 feet and then 15-7, both on the first try.

Davies, of Arizona State, and a left-handed vaulter, Gerald Pratt, of Texas Southern, also cleared 15-7, but couldn't make the 16-2 height.

Tork barely missed at 16-2 on his first attempt. The successful try was a little shaky, but the bar remained in position. Officials measured the distance and found the height was correct.

"I hope some day to do 17 feet," the 6-foot Marine said. He politely and with a smile refused to give his weight. He inferred this is a military secret.

Watching while he vaulted were his wife, Mary Jo, and their two young daughters. Tork went to high school in Fairmont, W.Va., graduated from the University of West Virginia, and has been in the Marine Corps since 1958.

In the mile, Grelle's time — 3:59.9 — made him the fourth American and the 30th athlete to break the once-formidable barrier.

Tech Finishes In 2nd Place In Arkansas

CONWAY, Arkansas (Special) — A rain - softened track wet-blanketed hopes for the fastest times of the season in some events here Saturday night, but it detracted little from another stiring battle between Arkansas State Teachers and Louisiana Tech, with the Arkansas team winning by a slightly larger margin than it did when the two teams tangled last week in Little Rock.

State Teachers finished with 76½ points to 59 for Tech and 28½ for Ouachita of Arkadelphia Ark. Teachers won by 70 to 62½ in Little Rock at the Tiger Relays.

Although State Teachers won the meet, sprinter David Booth of Ouachita stole the thunder of the winners flying Owen brothers, Don and Wilbur, by winning the hundred, 220 and 440 yard dashes in 9.8, 21.5 and 48.9, times that equaled Arkansas records.

In a race that had been much heralded here, Gerald Cound of Teachers defeated Tech's Earl Wright in the 880-yard run in a sparkling 1.53. Cound held off Wright in the back of the final lap, then kicked to a five-step victory, the first time he had ever beaten Wright.

Louisiana Tech got first places in the 120-yard hurdles (15.2 by Max Howard), the mile-run (4.24.-3 by Bob Hayes); and the pole vault (13-9 Bob Goree).

Hayes ran his first three laps comparatively slowly, then finished strongly on the final leg to win going away. His time, however, was not one of his fastest.

Tech's Percy Holoman got off one of his better throws in the discus, 150-2, but was second to Teacher's Don Ketcheside, who threw 151-7⅛.

The Summary:

Discus: Don Ketchside, Teachers; Percy Holoman, Tech; Kim Goodwin, Tech; Bill Baldridge, Ouachita (151-7¼).

440 - yard Relay: Teachers (Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Don Owen, Wilbur Owen); Ouachita. (42.4).

Shot Put: Buddy Voegele, Teachers; Tim Kirby, Teachers; Roy Rowe, Ouachita; Jim Graves, Tech (45-9).

High Jump: Ronnie Hern, Teachers; four way tie between Dale Kent, Teachers; Wayne Melton and Frank Howard, Tech; Bill Heaten, Ouachita (6-3½).

120 - Yard Hurdles: Max Howard, Tech; Bill Wright, Teachers, (15.2).

Broad Jump: Dale Kent, Teachers; Max Howard, Tech; Robert Taunton, Teachers; Robert Daulton, Tech (22-4).

100 - Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Don Owen, Teachers; Van Max Hays, Tech (9.8).

Mile Run: Bob Hayes, Tech; Frank Bright, Tech; James McDermott, Teachers; Bobby Richardson, Teachers (4:24.3).

880 - yard Relay: Teachers (Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Don Owen, Wilbur Owen), Tech (1:29.4).

440-Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Bill Powell, Tech; Paul Gentry, Teachers; Dayton Baker, Tech (48.9).

220 - Low Hurdles: Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Robert Daulton, Tech; Wayne Haver, Ouachita; Bill Wright, Teachers (24.6).

880 - Yard Run: Gerald Cound, Teachers; Earl Wright, Tech; Allen Laird, Tech; Larry Frost, Teachers; (1.53).

Sprint Medley: Teachers (Guy Kockel, Ernest Miller, Joe Wessell, Jewell Steinbeck), Tech, (3:36.5).

220-yard Dash: David Booth, Ouachita; Wilbur Owen, Teachers; Don Owen, Teachers; Van Max Hayes, Tech (21.5).

Pole Vault: Bob Goree, Tech; tie for second between Mickey Howell, Tech and Burt Creasey, Ouachita; Woodrow Bragg, Teachers (13.9).

Mile Relay: Teachers (Paul Gentry, Gerald Cound, Don Owen, (Wilbur Owen), Tech (3:23.1).

State Teachers 76½, Tech 59, Ouachita 28½.

3 Tied For Second; Palmer Two Back

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Burly Joe Campbell kept steady nerves in the company of Arnold Palmer Saturday, firing a two-under-par 69 to maintain his one-stroke lead after three rounds of the $30,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Campbell's three-day total of 204 kept him one ahead of fast-closing Gene Littler, Rancho Bergnardo, Calif., and Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif., who were tied for second at 205.

Palmer, the defending champion from Miami, Fla., shot a one-under-par 70 for a three-day total of 206, tied with Dave Marr of Sun City, Ariz., and Jay Hebert of Miami.

Touring the sun-swept Oak Hills course with an overflow gallery following Palmer did not shake the steady Campbell, a blond former Purdue basketball star from Pendleton, Ind.

Campbell, enjoying his perennial cigar after the round, said "I don't have to worry about what Palmer is going to do—he'll do it anyway. The crowd was very courteous today and I had no problems the big following."

Campbell's putting had been his long suit in the second round, but today it was long drives and good approach shots that made the round.

"I didn't sink a single long putt," Campbell said, "but tomorrow . . . maybe tomorrow."

Campbell overcame bogies on the seventh and 11th holes with birdies on 6, 8, 14 and 15.

Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., shot a sparkling six-under-par 65 to bring in a total of 207, tied with Jon Gustin of Gladwyne, Pa., Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.

Sanders, who started the day four strokes behind Campbell, picked up his 66 score with some tremendous putting on the back nine. The slender pro from California dropped a 50-foot putt on the par-5 15th for an eagle three and rolled in a 26-footer on the 17th hole for a birdie.

The only trouble Sanders had on his round was a bogey on the eighth hole when he hit a wedge shot over the green. Littler moved into strong contention with his 68 today on an erratic round that included two bogies and a double bogey on the 11th hole.

Littler shot birdies on 1, 6, 7, 10, 12, 14 and 15.

Palmer blamed his putting for his one-under-par 70, nothing outstanding for the defending champion and leading money winner among the pros.

"It was really poor," Palmer said. "I only sank two putts all day."

Hebert was modest about his 66 round, saying it would take a six-under-par 65 score by him Sunday to win the tourney. He had six birdies and one bogey on his round that included a 16-foot putt on the first hole.

Marr, who was only one stroke behind Campbell after the second round, slipped one stroke further back today with a one-under-par 70.

Billy Dunk of Gosford, Australia, shot the best round Saturday, a seven-under-par 64 that included putts of 10, 15 and 17 feet enroute to seven birdies. Dunk has a long way to pull in the final round, however, for the 23-year-old Aussie shot a 79 on the opening day and stands at 211.

John Romano Carries Tribe By Twins, 8-7

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Romano lashed a clutch one-run double in the seventh inning Saturday as the league leading Cleveland Indians edged the Minnesota Twins 8-7.

Romano, who had three for four, knocked in the winning run off ex-Indian Dick Stigman after Tito Francona singled.

The Twins tied the score at 7-7 in the seventh on Don Mincher's grand slam home run off reliever Frank Funk. It was his second homer of the game and he drove in five runs. He replaced first baseman Vic Power, who pulled a leg muscle in the first inning after scoring a run.

Bubba Phillips also had three for four for the Indians and batted in three runs. Woodie Held belted a solo homer for Cleveland in the fifth inning.

Southeastern Splits Twinbill With McNeese

HAMMOND, La. (UPI) — Host Southeastern Louisiana split a doubleheader Saturday in Gulf States Conference baseball, Southeastern winning the opener 7-5 and the Cowboys taking revenge in the nightcap 1-0.

Roland Oubre got credit for the first-game win but needed help from Joe Thomas, who came on in the sixth inning with one out and the tying runs on base. Thomas held McNeese to preserve the victory.

Jim Bischoff took the loss. Southeastern's Tony Allelo got a solo home run in the first inning and teammage Billy Ladner added a similar contribution in the second.

Mickey Kimball's five-hitter blanked the Lions and earned him the second-game triumph. Bob Hardy was the loser. McNeese's Len Kahn got four hits in four at-bats, including a double and a solo home run.

Soldier Barber Hurls Athletics Past Baltimore

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Soldier Steve Barber posted his third victory without a loss and ran his lifetime record against Kansas City to 8-0 Saturday night by pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Athletics.

Barber, a private first class in the Army at Ft. Bragg, N.C., had to have relief help in the ninth inning, however, from Hoyt Wilhelm.

He had previously pitched complete games against Boston and Washington, winning 5-1 and 8-3, and yielding just two earned runs. The A's runs added two more to his ERA total.

BUCS LOSE FIRST

Dodgers Get Win Over Pirates, 2-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tommy Davis, hitless in his first four times at bat, singled in the bottom of the ninth to score Wally Moon with the winning run Saturday in a 2-1 Los Angeles Dodgers victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Sandy Koufax, although not achieving his usual toll of strikeouts, went all the way to gain his fourth win against one loss. He thus became the leading National League hurler in number of victories.

By striking out six, he raised his lifetime total to 999 men fanned.

Hardluck loser for the Pirates was Earl Francis, who like Koufax gave up six hits but struck out seven and was unlucky enough to have an unearned run scored against him.

The Pirate loss combined with a St. Louis victory over Cincinnati, put the Cardinals in first place in the National League by .036, with San Francisco in third position — a half game ahead of the Dodgers.

Yanks Hand Senators 11th Straight Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York Yankees powered three more home runs into distant points of the new D.C. Stadium in the same inning Saturday in dealing the Washington Senators their 11th consecutive defeat 10-3.

Hector Lopez hit his first over the center field wall, Clete Boyer his fourth eight rows into the upper deck, and Roger Maris his third off the facade in right. Boyer's was the longest by a right-hander in the stadium.

All were off an old pal of the Yankees, Fred Green, who was bombarded in relief roles in the 1960 world series when he was with Pittsburgh.

Ralph Terry pitched a smooth six-hitter in winning for the fourth time against one defeat.

The Senators scored one in the fourth on Bob Johnson's third home run over the center field fence, and two in the eighth on three singles and a sacrifice fly.

Claude Osteen started for the Senators and the Yankees took care of him with five hits and three walks in 2 1-3 innings. He was followed by Green and two others. Osteen lost for the third straight time, and twice has not lasted past the third inning.

Boyer continued his heavy hitting for the Yankees with two singles in addition to his home run while Maris also had three of the Yankees' 13 hits. Lopez batted in four runs, one on an infield out, two on a two-run single, and one on his homer.

Sadecki Gets Win; Minoso Also Stars

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The hot St. Louis Cardinals blended the talents of young left-hander Ray Sadecki and aging firebrand Minnine Minoso Saturday and made it two straight over Cincinnati's defending National League baseball champs, 5-4.

The 21-year-old Sadecki picked up his first victory of the season with an eight-hitter and help from Lindy McDaniel in the ninth. He was a 14-game winner in his sophomore season last year but a disappointment this season—before this game.

Minoso, 39, slammed two doubles, batted in two runs and scored twice in his best day of the season.

The victory was the 10th for the Redbirds against only three defeats.

Cincinnati had a 2-0 lead in the fourth behind left-hander Jim O'Toole, gained on an unearned run in the second and Frank Robinson's double in the fourth scoring Vada Pinson, who had singled.

But Minoso opened the fourth with a double off the screen in right and scored on Bill White's second hit, a single to right.

In the fifth Julio Gotay and Julian Javier singled and there were two out when Minoso delivered a two-run double to left for a 3-2 lead.

An error by Eddie Kasko let in the third St. Louis run of the fifth. The Reds moved up 4-3 in the seventh inning on a run-scoring single by Cookie Rojas after singles by Wally Post and Johnny Edwards.

The Redbirds picked up what proved to be the winning run off relief pitcher Jim Brosnan, an old teammate, in their half of the seventh. Gotay doubled and scored on Curt Flood's single. The hit stretched Flood's hitting streak to 23 games—going back through the last 12 games of last season.

Albie Pearson Leads Angels Over Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Albie Pearson, the littlest guy in the major leagues, was the big man for the Los Angeles Angels with three extra base hits in a 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Pearson, who stands 5-feet 5⅜ and weighs just 140 pounds, cracked two line doubles and a long triple.

Ryne Duren's blazing relief pitching held off a late Tiger comeback as the Angels posted their first decision over Detroit in nine meetings since last July.

Duren came on as the fifth Angel pitcher and struck out two batters while the Tigers' potential tying run died on second base in the eighth.

San Francisco Coasts To Win Over Chicago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays' grand slam homer in a six-run second inning sent San Francisco into a commanding lead and the Giants coasted to a 11-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

Mays' clout over the left field fence was his fixth homer of the season and the sixth grand slammer in his career.

Mets Overcome Phillies, 3-2, For Second Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Thomas, Charlie Neal and Gil Hodges hit successive home runs in the sixth inning as the New York Mets rallied for six runs and overcame the Philadelphia Phillies 8-6 Saturday. It was only the second victory in 14 games for the Mets.

Nine home runs were hit in the game, five by the Mets. Neal and Don Demeter of the Phillies hit two, while Clay Dalrymple and Tony Gonzalez of the Phils and Jim Hickman of the Mets had one apiece. Thomas' four-bagger, with a man on base, was his fifth of the season.

Gonzalez' homer with two on and Demeter's four-bagger, both off starter Jay Hook in the first, got the Phils off to a 4-0 lead. After the Mets picked up a run on Neal's first homer, the Phils added two more on a homer by Dalrymple in the fourth and Demeter's second homer in the sixth.

PROVES DERBY FITNESS

Sir Gaylord Takes Easy Win At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Sir Gaylord wiped out all doubt about his fitness for the Kentucky Derby as he scored a smashing victory over three other Derby eligibles in the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs Saturday.

The future book favorite for the May 5 running of the Derby, Sir Gaylord won by 1¾ lengths over Sir Ribot but was much the best. Green Hornet finished third.

Ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, the star of C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable laid in third and fourth places through most of the 7-furlong event and didn't make his move until the turn into the stretch.

Sir Gaylor then worked out the Kentucky Derby distance of 1¼ miles in 2:02 2-5. His time for the Stepping Stone was 1:22 2-5, two-fifths of a second off the track record.

Sir Gaylord was the overwhelming betting choice, going off at 1-5 and returning $2.40 and $2.20. Because of the six-horse field, there was no hold bitting. Sir Ribot was $2.20 to place.

Sir Gaylord and Sir Ribot, owned by Fred Turner, locked up at the head of the stretch and battled to the final sixteenth pole, where Sir Gaylord pulled away with ease.

This was Sir Gaylord's first start since last February, when he won the Everglades Stakes at Hialeah. Immediately afterward, the big son of Turn-To injured his ankle.

Doc Jocoy, who with Sir Ribot and Swizzlestrut set the early pace, finished fourth. Swizzlestrut was fifth and Sycorax was sixth. The last two finishers are not eligible for the Derby.

Sir Gaylord's stablemate, Cicada, scored an even more impressive victory in the $15,000-added Oaks Prep. The 7-furlong race for 3-year-old fillies was a preview of next Friday's $35,000-added Kentucky Oaks.

Cicada came home four lengths in front of Dinner Partner, a 99-1 shot. Summer Sea, the early leader, finished third in the 12-horse field.

Cicada ran the distance in 1:22 1-5, one-fifth of a second faster than Sir Gaylord in the Stepping Stone.

Ridden by Willie Shoemaker, she returned $2.60, $2.80 and $2.20. Dinner Partner was $37.20 and $9.60 and Summer Sea was $4.40.

Casey Hayes, who trains Sir Gaylord and Cicada, has indicated he may run the two as an entry in the Derby. Cicada's victory may go a long way in helping him make up his mind.

In Cicada's only encounter with the Colts, she was nipped at the wire int he Florida Derby by Ridan, one of the solid Kentucky Derby favorites.

IN PENN RELAYS

New York U. Wins Two Major Titles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York University broke a 7-year drought and won two major titles in the Penn Relays Saturday — the sprint medley and the mile.

Joe Healey's Violets whipped to a 3 minute, 3 victory in the sprint medley, then became the first team since 1954 to break Villanova's stranglehold in the mile relay, hustling to a 3:12.9 decision over Morgan State.

Villanova scratched from the mile because, said coach Jim Elliott, "We couldn't field a representative team. It wouldn't have been fair for the others for us to start knowing we didn't have a chance."

But the Wildcats, crippled by a long list of injuries, did manage to win the 880 relay in 1:25.

Michigan captured the 2-mile in 7:37.8. Abilene Christian took the 440 in 41.6, and Winston-Salem carted off the shuttle hurdles in 59.3.

So NYU, Villanova and Michigan all wound up double winners. Villanova took the distance medley and Michigan successfully defended its 4-mile title on the first day of the big carnival.

A crowd of 35,545 at the University of Pennsylvania's sunny Franklin Field saw three meet records broken—in the javelin, 3,000-meter steeplechase and shot-put. Another was broken Saturday in the discus, and the 400-meter hurdles mark was tied.

Jerry Dyes of Abilene set the javelin record in the trials with a toss of 248 feet, ½ inch. This erased the mark of 232 feet set last year by Nick Kovalakides of Maryland. In the final, he could do no better than 232-10½, which still broke the record.

Pat Traynor of Villanova, who was voted the most valuable collegian in the meet because of his efforts on the Wildcat relay teams, was caught in 9:11.1 in the 3,000 meter steeplechase. The old record was 9:14.2 by John Lawler of Abilene Christian last year.

Gary Gubner of New York University smashed the meet record with a 61-4¼ toss in the shotput. The old mark was 59-1¾ by Ken Bantum of Manhattan in 1956.

6 Games Slated In West Monroe Boy's Softball

Six games are on tap this week in the Boys Softball League, sponsored by the West Monroe Recreation Department.

Action begins Monday at 6:30 p.m. when the Brownville Methodist take on RLDS. At 8:30 Fair Park plays New Chapel Hill.

Two games are also slated for May 3: at 6:30 First Baptist Church meets Mt. Vernon Baptist and Hi Y Club plays McClendon Baptist at 8:30 p.m.

The first week of play will be rounded out Saturday when Boy's Club plays RLDS at 6:30 p.m. and Brownville Methodist meet Mt. Vernon Baptist at 8:30 p.m.

Sadowski Drives In Winning Run For White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Sadowski's pinch double with one out in the 10th inning drove in the decisive run for a 7-6 Chicago White Sox victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Sadowski who came to Chicago from the Philadelphia chain this spring, hit a pinch homer in the second inning of Friday night's game that supported a 7-4 White Sox triumph.

His double brought home pinch hitter Bob Farley, who drew a walk from Mike Fornieles and was sacrificed to second by Camilo Carreon.

AT KANSAS RELAYS

Texas Southern Held Down; Only 3 Records

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Texas Southern, sensation of the Texas and Kansas Relays, was held to four titles and only two meet records were set in the chilly 53rd Drake Relays Saturday before 18,000 fans.

In all, six marks were set and one tied in the 2-day meet.

A modest 9.5 seconds triumph in a heralded 100-yard dash was registered by Florida A&M's fleet Bob Hayes, just a little less disappointing than 16-foot pole vaulter John Uelses' also-ran performance Friday.

Hayes, however, was the strong man in Florida A&M's two-victory strike which thwarted Texas Southern's bid for a sweep of the six college division baton events.

Texas Southern's talented squad from Houston, although failing to match its five triumphs in the Texas Relays and six titles in the Kansas Relays, accounted for three of the Drake records.

In Saturday's 50-degree weather, Texas Southern romped to a sprint medley record of 3:21.2, after Friday setting distance medley and 1-mile relay records. The only other record came in the shot put with Missouri's Don Smith uncorking a 57-foot-11 winning heave.

In the university division, Kansas and Missouri shared laurels with two relay triumphs each, while Southern Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Baylor each won one baton event.

Hayes anchored Florida A&M's triumphs in the college 440 and 880 relay races.

One of the noteworthy performances was a 4:09.2 victory in the mile by Oklahoma's Paul Ebert.

Texas Southern's triumphs came in the sprint medley, 2-mile and mile college relays.

The Houston Negro team was disqualified for passing the baton out of the zone in the 440 relay, won by Florida A&M.

The first record to tumble Saturday was the college sprint medley mark of 3:21.9 by Kansas State of Emporia in 1955. Texas Southern's quartet was timed in 3:21.2.

The 120-yard hurdles produced a new champion as Ray Cunningham of Texas dethroned Texas Christian's Bobby Bernard in 13.9.

Southern Illinois, aided by two sophomores from England—Brian Turner and Bill Cornell—scored a 100-yard victory over Nebraska in the university distance medley with the good time of 9:50.8.

In the University Division, Oklahoma's 440 relay quartet, anchored by Tony Watson, shaded Nebraska and defending champion on Baylor. All three were clocked in 41.4. Nebraska retained its 480-yard shuttle high hurdles crown in 58.8.

In the high jump, Colon Ridgeway, Lamar Tech's sophomore from Australia, cleared 6-7¾.

Kansas retained its university 2-mile crown in 7:35.0, while the college 2-mile event saw Texas Southern win in 7:35.5.

Another defending university champion repeated as Baylor won the 880 relay in 1:25.8.

POORLY LIGHTED PARK

Cards Say Houston Like Being In Dark

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "After playing in the dark at Houston, we almost needed sunglasses in our bright ball park," St. Louis Cardinal third baseman Ken Boyer said Saturday.

Other members of the Cardinal team, who collected 14 runs against Cincinnati Friday night, agreed with Boyer.

The Cards got only 11 runs in 35 innings of play at Houston last week. Trainer Bob Bauman said "after those poor lights at Houston the baseball looked like a big pumpkin to our batters."

The Card slugger who probably enjoyed the Busch Stadium electricity most was Carl Sawatski.

"My eyes are bad enough without having to play in a dark park," he said.

Sawatski said that even slugger Stan Musial "couldn't see the spin or pick up the ball at Houston."

WINS 11 FIRSTS

LSU Sweeps Own Track, Field Meet

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Pole vaulter Joe Harris soared to a record 15-5 in his specialty Saturday as his Louisiana State teammates swept the LSU 5th annual invitational track and field meet here.

The Tigers won 11 first places, tied for a 12th and smashed two meet records as they piled up 81 points.

Southwestern Louisiana was runnerup with 54. Memphis State and Mississippi were a distant third with 14 points each, and Tulane had 13.

Harris, a 21-year-old senior from Baton Rouge, broke both the school and meet record with his tremendous vault.

He was a full eight inches higher than the old LSU invitational meet mark of 14-9 seg last year by the Tiger's Jeffrey Fatheree Jr. and only 1½ inches below the 15-6½ vault of Rice's Fred Hansen—rated the nation's best collegiate effort when Hansen made it two weeks ago.

Harris, a chunky blond who has been improving steadily this season, tried at 15-9 three times—and came close on his first try. He cleared the bar but brushed it off with his chest going down.

Jack O'Neill, a 20-year-old Abbeville junior, streaked to a 10-yard victory in the quarter-mile and broke the meet mark by two-tenths of a second in :47.4.

Jack Yates won the 100 in:09.9 and the 220 in :21.0 and scored 12 individual points as he placed third in the broad jump. He also ran on both LSU relays.

The summaries:

440 relay—1, LSU Jack O'Neil, Bob Yates, Sam Simonton, Billy Hardin. 2, Mississippi. 3, Tulane. 4, USL. :41.6.

Mile—1, Malcolm Robinson, USL. 2, Ted O'Neil Jr., LSU. 3, Dan Fuseller, USL. 4, Tom Trahan, USL. 4:27.8.

440-1, Jack O'Neil, LSU. 2, Larry Smith, Mississippi. 3, Robert Dueitt, USL. 4, Tom Schmeider, Tulane. :47.4. record, breaks old record of :47.6, Dick Hays, Northeast, 1960.

100—1, Bob Yates, LSU. 2, Mel Edmonds, Mississippi. 3, Lenny Stein, Tulane. 4, Gerry Winsberg, Tulane. :09.9.

120-high hurdles—1, Bill Hardin, LSU. 2, Sam Simonton, LSU. 3, David Hathcock, Memphis State. 4, Charles Lancaster, USL. :14.6.

Ramblers Roll To 8-4 Victory In Opening Tilt

RUSTON (Special)—The Ruston Ramblers opened their season successfully in the new North Louisiana Amateur baseball league here last night with an 8-4 victory over Moore Insurance of Shreveport.

Lane Martin got credit for the victory although he was relieved in the fourth by Billy Henderson.

Gene Stevens, who went the first four innings, took the loss.

Clyde Berry with 3-4 and Charles Fuller with 2-2 paced the Ramblers' offensive attack, while Erwin Davis connected for three safeties for the losers.

Ruston's next action comes next Sunday, May 6, at Shreveport against Oakmont.

FOR SECOND TIME

Billy Joe Patton Wins N-S Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, mixing some of his fabled escape artistry with rock-steady iron play, overwhelmed Hobert Manley 7 and 6 Saturday in the finals of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

The championship was the second for the 40-year-old lumberman from Morganton, N.C. He won in 1954, three years after losing 1 up in the finals to Manley, also a lumberman from Savannah, Ga.

Patton, a bespectacled graying crew cut, duplicated his 1951 start against Manley, now 35, by going 5 up on the first nine holes of the 36-hole match. But this time, there was no closing surge by Manley, who finished with five threes to pull out the victory 11 years ago.

Patton led by six holes until the 15th where a birdie gave Manley his first winning hole. Billy Joe went back to 6 up with a birdie on No. 16 but three putted the 18th to lose to a par four and go to lunch 5 up. It was his only three put hole in four rounds.

At the intermission, Patton had a 33-36—69 card and Manley was 38-36—74 for the 7,000-yard, par 72 course over which the National Amateur will be played in September.

Clifford Creed To Defend Title

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Defending champion Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria will try for her seventh state championship when the 34th annual state women's golf championship tourney opens Tuesday at the Oakbourne Country Club here.

Miss Creed, who defeated Barbara Fay White of Shreveport 6 and 5 in last year's 36-hole finals, rules a strong favorite off her recent victories in several top women's golf tourneys in Florida and North Carolina.

Miss Creed and Mrs. Sam Israel Jr. of New Orleans are the only six-time winners of the state crown.

PROVES DERBY FITNESS

Sir Gaylord Takes Easy Win At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Sir Gaylord wiped out all doubt about his fitness for the Kentucky Derby as he scored a smashing victory over three other Derby eligibles in the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs Saturday.

The future book favorite for the May 5 running of the Derby, Sir Gaylord won by 1¾ lengths over Sir Ribot but was much the best. Green Hornet finished third.

Ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, the star of C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable laid in third and fourth places through most of the 7-furlong event and didn't make his move until the turn into the stretch.

Sir Gaylor then worked out the Kentucky Derby distance of 1¼ miles in 2:02 2-5. His time for the Stepping Stone was 1:22 2-5, two-fifths of a second off the track record.

Sir Gaylord was the overwhelming betting choice, going off at 1-5 and returning $2.40 and $2.20. Because of the six-horse field, there was no hold bitting. Sir Ribot was $2.20 to place.

Sir Gaylord and Sir Ribot, owned by Fred Turner, locked up at the head of the stretch and battled to the final sixteenth pole, where Sir Gaylord pulled away with ease.

This was Sir Gaylord's first start since last February, when he won the Everglades Stakes at Hialeah. Immediately afterward, the big son of Turn-To injured his ankle.

Doc Jocoy, who with Sir Ribot and Swizzlestrut set the early pace, finished fourth. Swizzlestrut was fifth and Sycorax was sixth. The last two finishers are not eligible for the Derby.

Sir Gaylord's stablemate, Cicada, scored an even more impressive victory in the $15,000-added Oaks Prep. The 7-furlong race for 3-year-old fillies was a preview of next Friday's $35,000-added Kentucky Oaks.

Cicada came home four lengths in front of Dinner Partner, a 99-1 shot. Summer Sea, the early leader, finished third in the 12-horse field.

Cicada ran the distance in 1:22 1-5, one-fifth of a second faster than Sir Gaylord in the Stepping Stone.

Ridden by Willie Shoemaker, she returned $2.60, $2.80 and $2.20. Dinner Partner was $37.20 and $9.60 and Summer Sea was $4.40.

Casey Hayes, who trains Sir Gaylord and Cicada, has indicated he may run the two as an entry in the Derby. Cicada's victory may go a long way in helping him make up his mind.

In Cicada's only encounter with the Colts, she was nipped at the wire int he Florida Derby by Ridan, one of the solid Kentucky Derby favorites.

IN PENN RELAYS

New York U. Wins Two Major Titles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York University broke a 7-year drought and won two major titles in the Penn Relays Saturday — the sprint medley and the mile.

Joe Healey's Violets whipped to a 3 minute, 3 victory in the sprint medley, then became the first team since 1954 to break Villanova's stranglehold in the mile relay, hustling to a 3:12.9 decision over Morgan State.

Villanova scratched from the mile because, said coach Jim Elliott, "We couldn't field a representative team. It wouldn't have been fair for the others for us to start knowing we didn't have a chance."

But the Wildcats, crippled by a long list of injuries, did manage to win the 880 relay in 1:25.

Michigan captured the 2-mile in 7:37.8. Abilene Christian took the 440 in 41.6, and Winston-Salem carted off the shuttle hurdles in 59.3.

So NYU, Villanova and Michigan all wound up double winners. Villanova took the distance medley and Michigan successfully defended its 4-mile title on the first day of the big carnival.

A crowd of 35,545 at the University of Pennsylvania's sunny Franklin Field saw three meet records broken — in the javelin, 3,000-meter steeplechase and shotput. Another was broken Saturday in the discus, and the 400-meter hurdles mark was tied.

Jerry Dyes of Abilene set the javelin record in the trials with a toss of 232 feet, 10½ inch. This erased the mark of 232 feet set last year by Nick Kovalakides of Maryland. In the final, he could do no better than 232-10½, which still broke the record.

Pat Traynor of Villanova, who was voted the most valuable collegian in the meet because of his efforts on the Wildcat relay teams, was caught in 9:11.1 in the 3,000 meter steeplechase. The old record was 9:14.2 by John Lawler of Abilene Christian last year.

Gary Gubner of New York University smashed the meet record with a 61-4¼ toss in the shotput. The old mark was 59-1¾ by Ken Bantum of Manhattan in 1956.

The first week of play will be rounded out Saturday when Boy's Club plays RLDS at 6:30 p.m. and Brownville Methodist meet Mt. Vernon Baptist at 8:30 p.m.

Sadowski Drives In Winning Run For White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Sadowski's pinch double with one out in the 10th inning drove in the decisive run for a 7-6 Chicago White Sox victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Sadowski who came to Chicago from the Philadelphia chain this spring, hit a pinch homer in the second inning of Friday night's game that supported a 7-4 White Sox triumph.

His double brought home pinch hitter Bob Farley, who drew a walk from Mike Fornieles and was sacrificed to second by Camilo Carreon.

AT KANSAS RELAYS

Texas Southern Held Down; Only 3 Records

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Texas Southern, sensation of the Texas and Kansas Relays, was held to four titles and only two meet records were set in the chilly 53rd Drake Relays Saturday before 18,000 fans.

In all, six marks were set and one tied in the 2-day meet.

A modest 9.5 seconds triumph in a heralded 100-yard dash was registered by Florida A&M's fleet Bob Hayes, just a little less disappointing than 16-foot pole vaulter John Uelses' also-ran performance Friday.

Hayes, however, was the strong man in Florida A&M's two-victory strike which thwarted Texas Southern's bid for a sweep of the six college division baton events.

Texas Southern's talented squad from Houston, although failing to match its five triumphs in the Texas Relays and six titles in the Kansas Relays, accounted for three of the Drake records.

In Saturday's 50-degree weather, Texas Southern romped to a sprint medley record of 3:21.2, after Friday setting distance medley and 1-mile relay records. The only other record came in the shot put with Missouri's Don Smith uncorking a 57-foot-11 winning heave.

In the university division, Kansas and Missouri shared laurels with two relay triumphs each, while Southern Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Baylor each won one baton event.

Hayes anchored Florida A&M's triumphs in the college 440 and 880 relay races.

One of the noteworthy performances was a 4:09.2 victory in the mile by Oklahoma's Paul Ebert.

Texas Southern's triumphs came in the sprint medley, 2-mile and mile college relays.

The Houston Negro team was disqualified for passing the baton out of the zone in the 440 relay, won by Florida A&M.

The first record to tumble Saturday was the college sprint medley mark of 3:21.9 by Kansas State of Emporia in 1955. Texas Southern's quartet was timed in 3:21.2.

The 120-yard hurdles produced a new champion as Ray Cunningham of Texas dethroned Texas Christian's Bobby Bernard in 13.9.

Southern Illinois, aided by two sophomores from England—Brian Turner and Bill Cornell—scored a 100-yard victory over Nebraska in the university distance medley with the good time of 9:50.8.

In the University Division, Oklahoma's 440 relay quartet, anchored by Tony Watson, shaded Nebraska and defending champion Baylor. All three were clocked in 41.4. Nebraska retained its 480-yard shuttle high hurdles crown in 58.8.

In the high jump, Colon Ridgeway, Lamar Tech's sophomore from Australia, cleared 6-7¾.

Kansas retained its university 2-mile crown in 7:35.0, while the college 2-mile event saw Texas Southern win in 7:35.5.

Another defending university champion repeated as Baylor won the 880 relay in 1:25.8.

POORLY LIGHTED PARK

Cards Say Houston Like Being In Dark

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "After playing in the dark at Houston, we almost needed sunglasses in our bright ball park," St. Louis Cardinal third baseman Ken Boyer said Saturday.

Other members of the Cardinal team, who collected 14 runs against Cincinnati Friday night, agreed with Boyer.

The Cards got only 11 runs in 35 innings of play at Houston last week. Trainer Bob Bauman said "after those poor lights at Houston the baseball looked like a big pumpkin to our batters."

The Card slugger who probably enjoyed the Busch Stadium electricity most was Carl Sawatski.

"My eyes are bad enough without having to play in a dark park," he said.

Sawatski said that even slugger Stan Musial "couldn't see the spin or pick up the ball at Houston."

WINS 11 FIRSTS

LSU Sweeps Own Track, Field Meet

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Pole vaulter Joe Harris soared to a record 15-5 in his specialty Saturday as his Louisiana State teammates swept the LSU 5th annual invitational track and field meet here.

The Tigers won 11 first places, tied for a 12th and smashed two meet records as they piled up 81 points.

Southwestern Louisiana was runnerup with 54. Memphis State and Mississippi were a distant third with 14 points each, and Tulane had 13.

Harris, a 21-year-old senfor from Baton Rouge, broke both the school and meet record with his tremendous vault.

He was a full eight inches higher than the old LSU invitational meet mark of 14-9 seg last year by the Tiger's Jeffrey Fatheree Jr. and only 1½ inches below the 15-6½ vault of Rice's Fred Hansen—rated the nation's best collegiate effort when Hansen made it two weeks ago.

Harris, a chunky blond who has been improving steadily this season, tried at 15-9 three times—and came close on his first try. He cleared the bar but brushed it off with his chest going down.

Jack O'Neill, a 20-year-old Abbeville junior, streaked to a 10-yard victory in the quarter-mile and broke the meet mark by two-tenths of a second in :47.4.

Jack Yates won the 100 in:09.9 and the 220 in :21.0 and scored 12 individual points as he placed third in the broad jump. He also ran on both LSU relays.

The summaries:

440 relay—1, LSU Jack O'Neil, Bob Yates, Sam Simonton, Billy Hardin. 2. Mississippi. 3, Tulane. 4, USL. :41.6.

Mile—1. Malcolm Robinson, USL. 2, Ted O'Neil Jr., LSU. 3, Dan Fuselier, USL. 4, Tom Trahan, USL. 4:27.8.

Ramblers Roll To 8-4 Victory In Opening Tilt

RUSTON (Special)—The Ruston Ramblers opened their season successfully in the new North Louisiana Amateur baseball league here last night with an 8-4 victory over Moore Insurance of Shreveport.

Lane Martin got credit for the victory although he was relieved in the fourth by Billy Henderson.

Gene Stevens, who went the first four innings, took the loss.

Clyde Berry with 3-4 and Charles Fuller with 2-2 paced the Ramblers' offensive attack, while Erwin Davis connected for three safeties for the losers.

Ruston's next action comes next Sunday, May 6, at Shreveport against Oakmont.

FOR SECOND TIME

Billy Joe Patton Wins N-S Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, mixing some of his fabled escape artistry with rock-steady iron play, overwhelmed Hobert Manley 7 and 6 Saturday in the finals of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

The championship was the second for the 40-year-old lumberman from Morganton, N.C. He won in 1954, three years after losing 1 up in the finals to Manley, also a lumberman from Savannah, Ga.

Patton, a bespectacled graying crew cut, repeated his 1951 start against Manley, now 35, by going 5 up on the first nine holes of the 36-hole match. But this time, there was no closing surge by Manley, who finished with five threes to pull out the victory 11 years ago.

Patton led by six holes until the 15th where a birdie gave Manley his first winning hole. Billy Joe went back to 6 up with a birdie on No. 16 but three putted the 18th to lose to a par four and go to lunch 5 up. It was the only time he three put hole in four rounds.

At the intermission, Patton had a 33-36—69 card and Manley was 38-36—74 for the 7,000-yard, par 72 course over which the National Amateur will be played in September.

Clifford Creed To Defend Title

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Defending champion Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria will try for her seventh state championship when the 34th annual state women's golf championship tourney opens Tuesday at the Oakbourne Country Club here.

Miss Creed, who defeated Barbara Fay White of Shreveport 6 and 5 in last year's 26-hole finals, rules a strong favorite off her recent victories in several top women's golf tourneys in Florida and North Carolina.

Miss Creed and Mrs. Sam Israel Jr. of New Orleans are the only six-time winners of the state crown.

Turner Amateur Tournament Will Begin Thursday

BURNEYVILLE, Okla. (AP)— The Waco Turner Open Golf Tournament opens Thursday with more than 100 professionals expected to compete for more than $20,000 in prizes. The tournament ends Sunday.

Turner, a wealthy oilman, is offering a purse of $20,000, including first prize of $2,800, plus special bonuses. The tournament is open to professionals who have not won a tournament during the past year and who therefore are not eligible for the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Turner awarded $18,830 in bonuses last year, pushing his total outlay, including the orginal $20,-000 purse, to $34,840.

The scale for bonuses is $100 for daily low score, $50 for eagles, $25 for chip-ins, $15 for birdies and $100 for a hole-in-one.

Grambling Takes

GRAMBLING, La. (AP) — Grambling College swept a twin bill from Stillman (Ala.) College here Saturday 7-4 and 16-3.

Hillary Bossier picked up the victory in the first game and Bob Williams got credit for the night-cap. Grambling has won 16 of 19 games this season.

Honored

HARRISONBURG, La. (Special) — Helen Randall and Jackie Owens were named the most valuable players by their teammates on the 1961-62 Harrisonburg High basketball teams.

IN ALL SPRING SPORTS

Indian Teams Will Be Busy During Week

LOUISIANA TECH will probably send ace righthanders Charlie Fuller (left) and George Woodson against Southeastern Louisiana college in Hammond Monday in an effort to climb back into contention for the GSC title. Fuller is 3-1 and Woodson 2-1 for the season. The Lions will likely use Roland Oubre (5-0) and Bob Hardy (5-1) or Sonny Hegwood (5-0) against the Techmen.

Northeast State's baseball team will be as busy as a major league team this week with eight games on tap, including a make-up twin bill with Southwestern here Tuesday.

Northeast and Southwestern were scheduled to play two games here March 31 but the games were postponed because of wet grounds. They'll try to get the twin bill in Tuesday afternoon beginning at 1:30 on the Ouachita diamond.

All of Northeast's spring sports teams will be in action this week. The baseball and tennis teams open the action with games against McNeese Monday, Jim Coats' netters meeting the Cowboys here and George Luffey's baseballers playing in Lake Charles.

The Southwestern - Northeast doubleheader comes Tuesday along with another make-up contest involving the game schools, a tennis match here originally scheduled for April 12.

Also in action Tuesday will be the Northeast track team, which participates in the Northwestern Relays, set back by rain from Saturday, in Natchitoches.

Tribe baseballers are scheduled to be in action again Wednesday when Delta State invades for a doubleheader.

Friday the tennis team plays its third home match of the week, Northeast defeated Southeastern, 4-3- earliert his year in Hammond.

The track team goes to Natchitoches again Saturday for a triangular meet with Northwestern and Louisiana Tech while the Tribe golfers open two days of play in the annual Municipal Golf Tournament on the Highland Park Country Club course in West Monroe. The tourney ends Sunday.

Northeast baseballers play their final games of the week Saturday afternoon with a doubleheader in Ruston against Louisiana Tech.

There is also a possibility Northeast and Tech will get together this week to finish their protested game of April 9 on one of Northeast's two "free" days, Thursday or Friday. The game will resume in the bottom of the sixth with the Indians at bat, two men out and a man on second. It will be played in Monroe.

Tech and Northeast were scheduled to finish the game last Wednesday but rain intervened. Luffey said the teams would try to play the game this week if it could be arranged.

Northeast golfers, unlike the track and baseball teams, were not rained out last weekend, playing Southwestern at Lafayette Friday despite rain, lightening and stiff winds.

Southwestern won the match, $14\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$. Gene Adams picked up $1\frac{1}{2}$ points for Northeast by halving the No. 1 match with a 76 while Glen Walker shot an even - par 72 to take a point in the No. 3 match with a two-under par 70, 2-1.

Walker and Ken Renwick scored the other Northeast point in a team match, won by USL's Bass and McBerry, 2-1.

THIS WEEK

Tech Golfers Meet 2 GSC Opponents

RUSTON (Special)— Louisiana Tech's golf team, setting the pace in the Gulf States conference, will take on two strong loop foes this week, meeting McNeese State in Lake Charles Tuesday and Southwestern here Saturday.

Coach Joe Aillet's squad was second in the LSU Invitational last week, with Roy Pace of Tech medalist in the tourney. Pace tied with LSU's Howell Fraser and John Sample and then won the playoff on the fourth extra hole.

Pace, one of two Longview, Tex., players on the Tech squad, was medalist in the GSC tourney as a sophomore two years ago. Teammate Joe Thomas was GSC individual titlist last season. Tech's Lyn Fuller is also from Longview.

Tech's team is composed of Pace, Thomas, Fuller, Jimmy Paul, Ed Michaud, Jerry Gulledge, and Jerry Long. In the LSU meet, Pace had a 142, Fuller 149. Thomas and Paul 151's for a team total of 593. LSU copped first with 578, while Tulane had 600, USL 630 and Ole Miss 631.

The Tech golfers are unbeaten in dual matches, but were tied 9-9 by the University of Southern Mississippi.

USL and McNeese are expected to provide tough competition for the Bulldogs in the GSC tourney at Hammond May 10-11. The Cowboys' Doug Farr and USL's Chuck Palmer are rated among the better golfers in the league.

Aillet's teams have won three straight GSC titles and have copped the loop crown in seven of the past nine years. Besides the LSU Invitational tourney, the All-American tourney held at Houston.

SATURDAY, MAY 5

Tulane Scrimmage Will Climax Drills

Tulane head football coach Tommy O'Boyle has divided his 75-man spring training squad into the Green and White teams for the annual scrimmage game which will climax drills on Saturday, May 5, at 2 p.m.

O'Boyle assigned coaches Don Watson, Jim Royer, Jim Carmody, and Phil Nugent to direct the White team, while Johnny Rauch, Bill Arnsparger, Fred Wallner, Jeff Bratton and Gus Gonzales will be in charge of the Green team.

The White team will have a 35-man squad and 13 lettermen, with the Greens having 34 players and 11 lettermen. Six players are injured and definitely out of action, including letterman halfback George Oechsner who has not fully recovered from a knee operation.

"We feel the two squads are fairly equal in strength," says O'Boyle, "and look forward to an exciting game. It should be a good spectator affair because we plan on using a wide-open offense stressing the passing game, just as we will do next fall."

The White team will have the team which has been rated as the first unit this spring, while the Greens will be composed of the second unit. Alternates on both teams, however, are extremely well - matched and that should overshadow any edge the Whites might have in personnel.

O'Boyle and his new staff have spent a busy spring readying their team for next fall's rigorous schedule. "We have worked many hours on fundamentals and expect to field a team which will be fundamentally sound on blocking and tackling," O'Boyle says. "The entire staff feels that we have some fine football players, but we do not have the depth needed to be a winner in the Southeastern Conference at the present time. We are still looking for football players to play for us, and while we have experienced some pleasant surprises this spring, we still have a long way to go before we will be a top - caliber football squad.

"I'm not trying to be pessimistic, but realistic. These are the same boys we had last year, for the most part, and we must shore up certain parts of our overall game to be a good club."

Kickoff time for the Green-White game is 2 p.m. in Tulane-Sugar Bowl Stadium. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The White team: Left ends — Clarence Moen of Cumberland, Wisc., David Potter of Texarkana, Ark., and Dick Brien of Napoleonville. Greenies Rally To Beat USM

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Tulane came up with a 6-run rally in the seventh inning to down Mississippi Southern 7-6 Saturday.

Bob Cornett had the big blow of the rally, a 2-run homer for the Greenies. John Greschuk walloped a 3-run homer in the first for Southern.

The winning pitcher was Plauche Villere, and the loser was Earl Etheridge.

Using Dogs For Deer Hunting Topic At Meet

JONESBILLE (Special)—A discussion on deer hunting with dogs in the hill sections of Catahoula, Caldwell and LaSalle parishes will head the agenda of the Catahoula Independent Sportsmen's Association when they meet Monday night, April 30, in Harrisonburg, according to E. B. McGuffee, president. The meting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the parish courthouse.

Delegations from LaSalle and Caldwell parishes are scheduled to meet with the group to work out coordinated plans to present to the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission on the hill section deer hunting season. Members of all three parish groups want the season open with the use of dogs permitted.

"It has been rumored that the Louisiana Wild Life Commission wants the area open for still hunting only," Mr. McGuffee said. "this is not in accord with the wishes of our members."

A representative of the Wild Life Commission will be present to present a film on wildlife—possible deer, it was stated.

"We are making progress in our membership drive," Ernest Guinn, chairman of the membership committee said, "but we are still a long way from our goal." The newly organized wildlife groups now has approximately 250 members, according to Guinn. They have set their goal at 500 members. The new organization was formed recently after withdrawing from the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

"All members and those who are interested in the wildlife and sportsmen's organized efforts to further our interests within our parish and state are urged to attend this meeting," Guinn said. "An organization is no stronger than its weakest link, so let's all join in and make this project real."

CHAMPIONSHIP SPORTS, INC.

Group To Make Decision On Title Fight Site Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculation continued Saturday on a new site for proposed heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston following the surprise move that knocked the bout out of New York.

The three-man New York State Athletic Commission denied Liston a license Friday, basing its action on the 220-pound slugger's criminal record and alleged association with unsavory elements.

The multi-million dollar production had been scheduled for September, either in Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds.

Championship Sports, Inc., which is to promote any Patterson-Liston bout, announced it would mull over all offers and make a decision "in a few days."

Meanwhile, Patterson's camp reports the champion also wants a few days to digest the New York Commission's ruling before definitely announcing future plans. It is not believed, however, that the fight will be canceled.

Liston has been Patterson's No. 1 challenger for some time, but his past record has made him an undesirable opponent in many eyes. The 28-year-old, Arkansas-born fighter has been arrested nine times and was convicted twice in St. Louis on charges of robbery and assault with intent to kill, serving time for both offenses.

Contracts for the controversial bout were signed March 16, and the match is expected to be one of the most lucrative in boxing history — perhaps the richest — with returns from gate receipts, closed circuit television, and radio and movie rights.

From Philadelphia the report was that if the match were slated for there, Liston apparently would have no trouble getting his license renewed. There also were indications the fight would be welcome in Chicago, Seattle, Canada and perhaps California.

Liston himself seemed to think the bout would be shifted to his home town of Philadelphia, commenting, "a lot of friends sent telegrams to say how sorry they were. But it's Patterson they should feel sorry for because now I'll probably get to fight him on my home grounds."

Two of the three Pennsylvania commissioners, Paul Sullivan and Al Klein, said they would vote to grant Liston a renewal of his license, which expired at the end of last year. The third commissioner, chairman Jim Crowley, was non-committal.

Joseph Triner of the Illinois Athletic Commission said that if the promoters should move the fight to Chicago "they can rest assured that Sonny Liston will be given the right. I'm a firm believer in rehabilitation."

Canada's national boxing commissioner, Gene Letourneau, said that Liston could fight in that country anytime, adding, "he has paid his debt to society. Cutting him off completely is not the way to rehabilitate him."

Douglas Hayden, chairman of the California Athletic Commission, indicated his state might take the same attitude toward Liston as New York. But Los Angeles promoter John Horn, president of United World Enterprises, said his group has offered $1 million for the bout.

The state of Washington apparently is willing to give Liston the go-ahead, paving the way for the match to be held in Seattle, currently the site of a world's fair. But there is the chance the lack of a suitable arena might kill off that location.

FOR NBA STATES

Return Bout Clause Causes Difficulties

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Boxing Association's ban on return bout clauses in championship fights has become an important consideration in member states that might want to land the Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston bout.

The contract signed in New York with Championship Sports, Inc., calls for a rematch if Liston takes Patterson's heavyweight crown.

New York is not an NBA member, nor is California, which has indicated it would follow New York's lead in refusing to grant Liston a license should he seek one there.

Thus Liston probably will have to fight in an NBA state, or in non-member Massachusetts or abroad, both unlikely.

Philadelphia, Chicago and perhaps Seattle, are logical sites. But would they accept a return bout clause? And if Patterson refused to sign a non-return bout contract would the NBA then strip him of his title?

The expectation is that the city or state landing the big bout would realize millions of dollars in business and taxes. That is making the return bout clause a matter of concern to interested parties.

Al Klein, an NBA vice president and a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, says the clause shouldn't be a matter of concern to member states but rather is a matter for the Patterson camp to consider.

Pine Hills Gun Club Sets Shoot During Late May

Plans are being made for a challenge cup shoot at the Pine Hills Gun Club in West Monroe during the latter part of May, officials have reported.

Trophies will be awarded in each of the five classes including a 15 and under Junior Division.

The shoot will involve both trap and skeet shooting. Any one interested in joining the gun club may contact either Bob Talton or Harry Frazier, Jr., for further information or is urged to come to the club site at the Bancroft camp in West Monroe.

This past week's scores at the Pine Hills Gun Club include:

Trap: Jessie Cobb, 98x100; C. G. White, 90x100; R. T. Lolley, 89x100; Tommy Lolley, 81x100; Vance Hale, 79x100; L. L. Rosedale, 46x50; Jim Steel III, 44x50; and Rickey Fields, 41x50.

Skeet: Bob Talton, 84x100; Ross Graves, 72x75; Gene Lutz, 71x75; C. G. Pearce Jr., 71x75; Lee Bosberg, 68x75; Lee Herron, 41x50; Bruce Brooks, 39x50; Dr. Dickenhorst, 23x25; Jim Neil, 22x25 and Bailey Grant, 20x25.

3 Delta League Teams Tied For Lead; Meet Set

The Delta League continues play today with all games scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m., and three teams are presently leading the league with 2-0 records.

Swartz, Chatham and Calhoun each have 2-0 records and are tied for first place. Drew and Southside follow with 1-1 records while three others, Ouachita, Monroe and West Monroe have dropped both games.

In today's action, Chatham and Ouachita will play at West Monroe High School stadium; Swartz; and Southside will play at Swartz; Drew will play at Calhoun and Monroe will play West Monroe at Rebel Stadium.

Managers of the eight teams are scheduled to meet Tuesday night at 7:30 at Olin Craft Cafe in West Monroe. Each manager will turn in a roster of his team to the League president, Don Lomax, at the session.

Turner Amateur Tournament Will Begin Thursday

BURNEYVILLE, Okla. (AP)—The Waco Turner Open Golf Tournament opens Thursday with more than 100 professionals expected to compete for more than $20,000 in prizes. The tournament ends Sunday.

Turner, a wealthy oilman, is offering a purse of $20,000, including first prize of $2,800, plus special bonuses. The tournament is open to professionals who have not won a tournament during the past year and who therefore are not eligible for the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas.

Turner awarded $18,830 in bonuses last year, pushing his total outlay, including the orginal $20,000 purse, to $34,840.

The scale for bonuses is $100 for daily low score, $50 for eagles, $25 for chip-ins, $15 for birdies and $100 for a hole-in-one.

Grambling Takes

GRAMBLING, La. (AP) — Grambling College swept a twin bill from Stillman (Ala.) College here Saturday 7-4 and 16-3.

Hillary Bossier picked up the victory in the first game and Bob Williams got credit for the nightcap. Grambling has won 16 of 19 games this season.

Honored

HARRISONBURG, La. (Special) — Helen Randall and Jackie Owens were named the most valuable players by their teammates on the 1961-62 Harrisonburg High basketball teams.

IN ALL SPRING SPORTS

Indian Teams Will Be Busy During Week

LOUISIANA TECH will probably send ace righthanders Charlie Fuller (left) and George Woodson against Southeastern Louisiana college in Hammond Monday in an effort to climb back into contention for the GSC title. Fuller is 3-1 and Woodson 2-1 for the season. The Lions will likely use Roland Oubre (5-0) and Bob Hardy (5-1) or Sonny Hegwood (5-0) against the Techmen.

Northeast State's baseball team will be as busy as a major league team this week with eight games on tap, including a make-up twin bill with Southwestern here Tuesday.

Northeast and Southwestern were scheduled to play two games here March 31 but the games were postponed because of wet grounds. They'll try to get the twin bill in Tuesday afternoon beginning at 1:30 on the Ouachita diamond.

All of Northeast's spring sports teams will be in action this week. The baseball and tennis teams open the action with games against McNeese Monday, Jim Coats' netters meeting the Cowboys here and George Luffey's baseballers playing in Lake Charles.

The Southwestern - Northeast doubleheader comes Tuesday along with another make-up contest involving the game schools, a tennis match here originally scheduled for April 12.

Also in action Tuesday will be the Northeast track team, which participates in the Northwestern Relays, set back by rain from Saturday, in Natchitoches.

Tribe baseballers are scheduled to be in action again Wednesday when Delta State invades for a doubleheader.

Friday the tennis team plays its third home match of the week, Northeast defeated Southeastern, 4-3- earliert his year in Hammond.

The track team goes to Natchitoches again Saturday for a triangular meet with Northwestern and Louisiana Tech while the Tribe golfers open two days of play in the annual Municipal Golf Tournament on the Highland Park Country Club course in West Monroe. The tourney ends Sunday.

Northeast baseballers play their final games of the week Saturday afternoon with a doubleheader in Ruston against Louisiana Tech.

There is also a possibility Northeast and Tech will get together this week to finish their protested game of April 9 on one of Northeast's two "free" days, Thursday or Friday. The game will resume in the bottom of the sixth with the Indians at bat, two men out and a man on second. It will be played in Monroe.

Tech and Northeast were scheduled to finish the game last Wednesday but rain intervened. Luffey said the teams would try to play the game this week if it could be arranged.

Northeast golfers, unlike the track and baseball teams, were not rained out last weekend, playing Southwestern at Lafayette Friday despite rain, lightening and stiff winds.

Southwestern won the match, 14½ - 3½. Gene Adams picked up 1½ points for Northeast by halving the No. 1 match with a 76 while Glen Walker shot an even - par 72 to take a point in the No. 3 match with a two-under par 70, 2-1.

Walker and Ken Renwick scored the other Northeast point in a team match, won by USL's Bass and McBerry, 2-1.

THIS WEEK

Tech Golfers Meet 2 GSC Opponents

RUSTON (Special)— Louisiana Tech's golf team, setting the pace in the Gulf States conference, will take on two strong loop foes this week, meeting McNeese State in Lake Charles Tuesday and Southwestern here Saturday.

Coach Joe Aillet's squad was second in the LSU Invitational last week, with Roy Pace of Tech medalist in the tourney. Pace tied with LSU's Howell Fraser and John Sample and then won the playoff on the fourth extra hole.

Pace, one of two Longview, Tex., players on the Tech squad, was medalist in the GSC tourney as a sophomore two years ago. Teammate Joe Thomas was GSC individual titlist last season. Tech's Lyn Fuller is also from Longview.

Tech's team is composed of Pace, Thomas, Fuller, Jimmy Paul, Ed Michaud, Jerry Gulledge, and Jerry Long. In the LSU meet, Pace had a 142, Fuller 149, Thomas and Paul 151's for a team total of 593. LSU copped first with 578, while Tulane had 600, USL 630 and Ole Miss 631.

The Tech golfers are unbeaten in dual matches, but were tied 9-9 by the University of Southern Mississippi.

USL and McNeese are expected to provide tough competition for the Bulldogs in the GSC tourney at Hammond May 10-11. The Cowboys' Doug Farr and USL's Chuck Palmer are rated among the better golfers in the league.

Aillet's teams have won three straight GSC titles and have copped the loop crown in seven of the past nine years. Besides the LSU Invitational tourney, the All-American tourney held at Houston.

SATURDAY, MAY 5

Tulane Scrimmage Will Climax Drills

Tulane head football coach Tommy O'Boyle has divided his 75-man spring training squad into the Green and White teams for the annual scrimmage game which will climax drills on Saturday, May 5, at 2 p.m.

O'Boyle assigned coaches Don Watson, Jim Royer, Jim Carmody, and Phil Nugent to direct the White team, while Johnny Rauch, Bill Arnsparger, Fred Wallner, Jeff Bratton and Gus Gonzales will be in charge of the Green team.

The White team will have a 35-man squad and 13 lettermen, with the Greens having 34 players and 11 lettermen. Six players are injured and definitely out of action, including letterman halfback George Oechsner who has not fully recovered from a knee operation.

"We feel the two squads are fairly equal in strength," says O'Boyle, "and look forward to an exciting game. It should be a good spectator affair because we plan on using a wide-open offense stressing the passing game, just as we will do next fall."

The White team will have the team which has been rated as the first unit this spring, while the Greens will be composed of the second unit. Alternates on both teams, however, are extremely well - matched and that should overshadow any edge the Whites might have in personnel.

O'Boyle and his new staff have spent a busy spring readying their team for next fall's rigorous schedule. "We have worked many hours on fundamentals and expect to field a team which will be fundamentally sound on blocking and tackling," O'Boyle says. "The entire staff feels that we have some fine football players, but we do not have the depth needed to be a winner in the Southeastern Conference at the present time. We are still looking for football players to play for us, and while we have experienced some pleasant surprises this spring, we still have a long way to go before we will be a top - caliber football squad.

"I'm not trying to be pessimistic, but realistic. These are the same boys we had last year, for the most part, and we must shore up certain parts of our overall game to be a good club."

Kickoff time for the Green-White game is 2 p.m. in Tulane-Sugar Bowl Stadium. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Tulane came up with a 6-run rally in the seventh inning to down Mississippi Southern 7-6 Saturday.

Bob Cornett had the big blow of the rally, a 2-run homer for the Greenies. John Greschuk walloped a 3-run homer in the first for Southern.

The winning pitcher was Plauche Villere, and the loser was Earl Etheridge.

Using Dogs For Deer Hunting Topic At Meet

JONESBILLE (Special)—A discussion on deer hunting with dogs in the hill sections of Catahoula, Caldwell and LaSalle parishes will head the agenda of the Catahoula Independent Sportsmen's Association when they meet Monday night, April 30, in Harrisonburg, according to E. B. McGuffee, president. The meting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the parish courthouse.

Delegations from LaSalle and Caldwell parishes are scheduled to meet with the group to work out coordinated plans to present to the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission on the hill section deer hunting season. Members of all three parish groups want the season open with the use of dogs permitted.

"It has been rumored that the Louisiana Wild Life Commission wants the area open for still hunting only," Mr. McGuffee said. "this is not in accord with the wishes of our members."

A representative of the Wild Life Commission wil be present to present a film on wildlife—possible deer, it was stated.

"We are making progress in our membership drive," Ernest Guinn, chairman of the membership committee said, "but we are still a long way from our goal." The newly organized wildlife groups now has approximately 250 members, according to Guinn. They have set their goal at 500 members. The new organization was formed recently after withdrawing from the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

"All members and those who are interested in the wildlife and sportsmen's organized efforts to further our interests within our parish and state are urged to attend this meeting," Guinn said. "An organization is no stronger than its weakest link, so let's all join in and make this project real."

CHAMPIONSHIP SPORTS, INC.

Group To Make Decision On Title Fight Site Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculation continued Saturday on a new site for proposed heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston following the surprise move that knocked the bout out of New York.

The three-man New York State Athletic Commission denied Liston a license Friday, basing its action on the 220-pound slugger's criminal record and alleged association with unsavory elements.

The multi-million dollar production had been scheduled for September, either in Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds.

Championship Sports, Inc., which is to promote any Patterson-Liston bout, announced it would mull over all offers and make a decision "in a few days."

Meanwhile, Patterson's camp reports the champion also wants a few days to digest the New York Commission's ruling before definitely announcing future plans. It is not believed, however, that the fight will be canceled.

Liston has been Patterson's No. 1 challenger for some time, but his past record has made him an undesirable opponent in many eyes. The 28-year-old, Arkansas-born fighter has been arrested nine times and was convicted twice in St. Louis on charges of robbery and assault with intent to kill, serving time for both offenses.

Contracts for the controversial bout were signed March 16, and the match is expected to be one of the most lucrative in boxing history — perhaps the richest — with returns from gate receipts, closed circuit television, and radio and movie rights.

From Philadelphia the report was that if the match were slated for there, Liston apparently would have no trouble getting his license renewed. There also were indications the fight would be welcome in Chicago, Seattle, Canada and perhaps California.

Liston himself seemed to think the bout would be shifted to his home town of Philadelphia, commenting, "a lot of friends sent telegrams to say how sorry they were. But it's Patterson they should feel sorry for because now I'll probably get to fight him on my home grounds."

Two of the three Pennsylvania commissioners, Paul Sullivan and Al Klein, said they would vote to grant Liston a renewal of his license, which expired at the end of last year. The third commissioner, chairman Jim Crowley, was non-committal.

Joseph Triner of the Illinois Athletic Commission said that if the promoters should move the fight to Chicago "they can rest assured that Sonny Liston will be given the right. I'm a firm believer in rehabilitation."

Canada's national boxing commissioner, Gene Letourneau, said that Liston could fight in that country anytime, adding, "he has paid his debt to society. Cutting him off completely is not the way to rehabilitate him."

Douglas Hayden, chairman of the California Athletic Commission, indicated his state might take the same attitude toward Liston as New York. But Los Angeles promoter John Horn, president of United World Enterprises, said his group has offered $1 million for the bout.

The state of Washington apparently is willing to give Liston the go-ahead, paving the way for the match to be held in Seattle, currently the site of a world's fair. But there is the chance the lack of a suitable arena might kill off that location.

FOR NBA STATES

Return Bout Clause Causes Difficulties

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Boxing Association's ban on return bout clauses in championship fights has become an important consideration in member states that might want to land the Floyd Patterson - Sonny Liston bout.

The contract signed in New York with Championship Sports, Inc., calls for a rematch if Liston takes Patterson's heavyweight crown.

New York is not an NBA member, nor is California, which has indicated it would follow New York's lead in refusing to grant Liston a license should he seek one there.

Thus Liston probably will have to fight in an NBA state, or in non-member Massachusetts or abroad, both unlikely.

Philadelphia, Chicago and perhaps Seattle, are logical sites. But would they accept a return bout clause? And if Patterson refused to sign a non-return bout contract would the NBA then strip him of his title?

The expectation is that the city or state landing the big bout would realize millions of dollars in business and taxes. That is making the return bout clause a matter of concern to interested parties.

Al Klein, an NBA vice president and a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, says the clause shouldn't be a matter of concern to member states but rather is a matter for the Patterson camp to consider.

Pine Hills Gun Club Sets Shoot During Late May

Plans are being made for a challenge cup shoot at the Pine Hills Gun Club in West Monroe during the latter part of May, officials have reported.

Trophies will be awarded in each of the five classes including a 15 and under Junior Division.

The shoot will involve both trap and skeet shooting. Any one interested in joining the gun club may contact either Bob Talton or Harry Frazier, Jr., for further information or is urged to come to the club site at the Bancroft camp in West Monroe.

This past week's scores at the Pine Hills Gun Club include:

Trap: Jessie Cobb, 98x100; C. G. White, 90x100; R. T. Lolley, 89x100; Tommy Lolley, 81x100; Vance Hale, 79x100; L. L. Rosedale, 46x50; Jim Steel III, 44x50; and Rickey Fields, 41x50.

Skeet: Bob Talton, 84x100; Ross Graves, 72x75; Gene Lutz, 71x75; C. G. Pearce Jr., 71x75; Lee Bosberg, 68x75; Lee Herron, 41x50; Bruce Brooks, 39x50; Dr. Dickenhorst, 23x25; Jim Neil, 22x25 and Bailey Grant, 20x25.

3 Delta League Teams Tied For Lead; Meet Set

The Delta League continues play today with all games scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m., and three teams are presently leading the league with 2-0 records.

Swartz, Chatham and Calhoun each have 2-0 records and are tied for first place. Drew and Southside follow with 1-1 records while three others, Ouachita, Monroe and West Monroe have dropped both games.

In today's action, Chatham and Ouachita will play at West Monroe High School stadium; Swartz; and Southside will play at Swartz; Drew will play at Calhoun and Monroe will play West Monroe at Rebel Stadium.

Managers of the eight teams are scheduled to meet Tuesday night at 7:30 at Olin Craft Cafe in West Monroe. Each manager will turn in a roster of his team to the League president, Don Lomax, at the session.

REPORT TO KENNEDY

Americans are seeking the outdoors as never before. By 2000 the population should double; the demand for recreation should triple.

These are key statements made by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission in its amazing report to President Kennedy and the Congress.

The commission, which was headed by Laurance S. Rockfeller of New York, compiled a tremendous study of America's outdoor facilities and future needs.

Any sportsman interested enough in obtaining a copy of the report can do so by sending $2 to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. The report contains a lot of interesting reading.

While the commission came up with five areas of recommendations — some general and some specific — the commission also made a good point, putting it in thee words:

"The commission wishes to emphasize, however, that the key elements in the total effort to make outdoor recreation opportunities available are private enterprise, the States and the local government."

There are examples of this here:

Private enterprise — Wham Brake and the FAIR program.

State — Russell Sage Wildlife Management Area.

Local — Cheniere Lake.

While the commission emphasized the importance of recreation needs being met on the local level, its recommendations called for a big role to be played by the federal government.

The recommendations were too numerous to cover here, but one phase of the proposals are worthy enough of going into some detail in this column.

The commission recommended the creation of a Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

"This Bureau would have overall responsibility for leadership of a nationwide effort by coordinating the various Federal programs and assisting other levels of government to meet the demands for outdoor recreation. It would not manage any land."

Specifically, the new Bureau would:

1. Coordinate the recreation activities of the more than 20 Federal agencies whose activities affect outdoor recreation.
2. Assist State and local government with technical aid in planning and administration, including the development of standards for personnel, procedures, and operations.
3. Administer a grants-in-aid program to States for planning and for development and acquisition of needed areas.
4. Act as a clearinghouse for information and guide, stimulate, and sponsor research as needed.
5. Encourage interstate and regional cooperation, including Federal participation where necessary.

It should be evident, at this point, that the commission's report covers so much it would be impossible to mention all the points here. It covers 245 pages in an attractive volumn.

So far we haven't heard any reaction to the report on the Louisiana state level while we haven't gone far enough into the written matter to form any definite opinion about the commission's recommendations.

But we are impressed with the report and any sportsman would be too. The report, which is available to anyone, should be on your required reading list.

ARKANSAS, LOUISIANA KILLS

From all indications, Arkansas, when all the returns are in, will lead Louisiana in the turkey season. Arkansas, which kills more deer than Louisiana, uses the tagging system too.

At any rate the Arkansas commission has reported that during the first half of the season, April 2-5, a total of 384 gobblers met their deaths. That's a big kill for three days hunting — much greater than the entire 9-day season in Louisiana..

The Louisiana commission still is seeking cards from hunters who turkey hunted, but it looks like the final report will show about 100 dead gobblers for our section of the state.

The Florida parishes usually have a bigger kill, although the final report is not in.

So it is apparent that Arkansas has better turkey hunting.

Louisiana biologists have pointed out from time to time, however, that a big factor in producing a good turkey population is protection. There was a time when the turkey population dropped tremendously in Louisiana — when there was not a season at all.

But the birds have been protected and now the population is on the increase again.

However, too many hunters give in to temptation when a flock of turkeys strolls through the woods into the path of the hunter during the squirrel and deer seasons. A lot of young birds, not smart enough or wild enough to get out of the hunter's way, meet their ends during the squirrel and deer seasons.

Let's save the turkeys for a spring day.

RESOLUTION ON DUCKS

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, meeting in New Orleans early this past week, adopted a resolution pertaining to the duck season.

While the commission called on the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service to grant Louisiana a season of not less than 50 days, the resolution asked for a daily bag limit of not less than four ducks and a possession limit of not less than eight ducks.

These requests are in bold contrast to the past season, which was for only 19½ days with a three-duck bag limit, but in November, thanks to the commission, when this area did not have any ducks.

In the resolution, the commission made a good point by saying that the federal government should not base its framework of seasons on the mallard population. While it is unfortunate that mallards are decreasing, other species of waterfowl have not undergone such a tremendous reduction.

Therefore, the commission feels that it is unfair to base the season on the mallard.

The recommendation also called for a bonus bag of four scaup per day and eight in possession in that area of Louisiana south of U.S. 190, which of course does not include our section.

In addition, the commission asked for an extension on the framework for blue, snow and white-fronted geese — until January 15, 1963.

Following is a quote from a commission release:

"The commission strongly felt that these more liberal regulations are necessary if the tradition of duck hunting is to be maintained; if public support for waterfowl management programs and wetlands preservation is to be retained; and if the current large scale state and private waterfowl management programs are to be continued."

This position taken by the commission should make a lot of duck hunters happy. Duck hunters would be happier, however, if the commission in the future, would set a late duck season as recommended by the biologists.

LITTLE MAN'S CORNER

Fishing was good until Friday and the little men made news afield.

Best story of the week came from Lake Providence where Willie Oldert, a commercial fisherman, put out a trotline in the lake. He baited it with shad.

When Willie Oldert went back to check his line, he found that he had snared not a fish but a fullgrown bobcat. The bobcat had swallowed one of the hooks and drowned.

For proof, he took line, hook, cat and all to town. It's hard to believe, but it really happened.

And closer to home, Black Bayou has been a hot spot for bream fisherman, until Friday when the winds really began to blow. Among numerous fishermen catching bream there this week were R. L. Nichols, Frank Savanna, Angelo Danna, T. J. Coleman, Bill Hays, Pete Shambro, and Mrs. Attie Brednaux.

Capt. Rex Ensminger of Monroe had a good fishing trip to Lake St. Joseph. He said the bream are really biting. Sanford Woods of St. Joseph and Windle Dyer of Archibald caught a big string of bream there.

Fishing with red worms in Black Bayou, Ellard Brantley and Bob Light of Monroe caught about 80 bream.

From Lake Providence, Jesse Hires caught three bass, a string of bream and a catfish all on a Helldiver with a yellow shirt. Louise Coran and Vera Grice of Lake Providence had good luck with the catfish in Lake Providence.

And Gassoway paid off for white perch fishermen — like T. J. Trimble of Bastrop, Tobe Fuller and Jim Jackson of Epps, O. D. Malone of Kilbourne and Bert Harper of Terry, all limits.

Claude Rinicker of Lake Providence caught the limit of white perch in Grand Lake while Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper averaged 20 white perch in Grand Lake each afternoon for several days.

Saline has been good for bream. Carol Hicks, Bill Cummins, Frank Henderson and Harold Henderson got the limit. Dick Killingsworth and Frank Henderson got the limit of bass too.

Ivy Fields of Jena, says Deacon Walker, caught the limit of bream in Black River Lake.

LOCAL FISHERMEN Ellard Brantley (left) and Bob Light caught about 80 bream in Black Bayou near Monroe. They were fishing with red worms. Brantley and Light are just two of the numerous fishermen who have had good luck with the bream — not only in Black Bayou but in several other spots.

GREAT SPORT, SMALL AMBITION

Baseball Not Doing Well Because Of 'Little Ideas'

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — At a 1958 Senate hearing into baseball Casey Stengel delivered a classic explanation of why Japanese players were having their difficulties with America's national pastime.

"They're not doin' so good," said Stengel, "because they're trying to play the game with little fingers."

The commissioner of Japanese baseball, surveying the opening weeks of the 1962 major league baseball season in the United States, might well paraphrase the remark — except that he would be referring to the owners instead of the players.

"They're not doin' so good," he could say, "because they're trying to run their business with little ideas."

In short, the era of expansion, night baseball and television has exposed baseball as a great sport with a small ambition: To milk the baseball public of the present at the risk of alienating it for the future.

The first three weeks of the season apparently were designed to give TV comedians material for jokes — rather than to get the races off in "serious" fashion. Except that it couldn't have been very funny for the customers who paid their money at the box office for big league baseball and were served a hippodrome-type game.

The New York Mets, for example, played a Sunday "game" that should have been called "snowball." Snow flurries fell throughout a large portion of the game and the lights had to be turned on in mid-afternoon because of the darkness that enveloped the field. The players "mushed" their way through nine innings and then the second game was called off.

The very next day a game was postponed when — in comparison — the sun was splitting the sidewalks.

Behind the apparent contradiction was the fact that the Sunday game was a national TV game and the Mets picked up $25,000 because it was played. Needless to point out, there was no TV the next day — and therefore no game.

At almost the same time it was discovered that the $18-million new Dodger stadium in Los Angeles — a baseball Taj Mahal that seats 56,000 paying customers — contained only three water fountains. One was in each of the two dugouts and the other — you guessed it —was in the private box of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley.

What was supposed to happen when the temperature in Los Angeles rose to 95 or so in the summer time? Simple. There are plenty of beer spigots and soft drinks of all types are available — at the price, of course.

Kids? Oh yes, kids, baseball men used to talk about them. Remember? Baseball is really for the kids. Give 'em a great day by taking 'em to the ballgame. Babe Ruth loved kids. So did Kenesaw Mountain Landis and Connie Mack. So did all baseball men. Loved mothers, too, especially mothers with the price of admission.

And so it went from city to city. . .bleery-eyed players arriving at 5 a.m. to play games at 2 p.m. the same day. . .teams playing in 40-degree temperature . . .night games (the kids love 'em) played before crowds wrapped in parkas. . .Roger Maris wearing mittens in the on-deck circle and Yankees batting with gloves on.

This is baseball?

Ype, it's baseball in the age of expansion, night ball and TV. It's the grand old game played on a coast-to-coast 162-game schedule pattern designed to keep the turnstiles spinning around the clock. Ruth wouldn't have liked it because he didn't think nights were for playing baseball. But who's Ruth? Only a fellow who once hit one less homer in a season than Maris did in the wonderful expansion year of 1961.

Where will it all end? The sky's the limit. Crowds are expected to be bigger than ever. New records for attendance, popcorn, soda, beer and souvenirs. The players don't mind it. The fans must love it because they turn out. And the owners keep warm by counting the proceeds.

It was all explained long before the first night baseball game ever was played by a man who knew and understood the American public.

Fellow named Phineas T. Barnum.

JOFRE MEETS MARQUEZ

Bantamweight Title Fight Slated Friday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eder Jofre, the world bantamweight champion who has fought outside South America for less than two years, and Herman Marquez, a little-known Californian who's ranked No. 3, will fight for the title next Friday.

The thrice-postponed 15-rounder matches a slugging knockout artist—Jofre—against a versatile and durable boxer—Marquez.

It is their first meeting, and neither has seen the other in action, even in films.

Jofre, who has won 41 of 44 bouts and drawn three times, is the favorite. But Marquez, 20-7-1, is conceded a fair chance to take the crown if the bout goes the distance.

The 28-year-old challenger is so confident that he speaks of "when I win the title," not "if I win." But Jofre, who disdains even a headgear in his sparring sessions, quietly says he didn't come all the way from Sao Paulo, Brazil, to lose.

Jofre has won 31 of his fights by knockout, including his last 11. He has gone 15 rounds once, never more than 10 in any other bout.

Marquez has only six knockouts on his record. [illegible]t has gone 15 rounds once [illegible] 2 six times.

Observers call the 26-year-old Jofre a European-style boxer. He keeps boring in under a high, peek-a-boo guard, often leading with a stiff jab. He is equally at home punching to the head or body.

He occasionally throws soft rights, following with rugged lefts that demonstrate his former southpaw style.

Marquez, by contrast, bobs lightly about, throwing a steady stream of blows but not depending on a stiff knockout punch. He uses a lower guard than Jofre.

The Stockton, Calif., challenger can carry a bout when he has to, and against a slugger prefers to get to the inside to work on the body.

Gaining any success against Jofre's body could be a chore, however—the champ works 25 minutes daily on stomach exersises.

Jofre will receive a minimum of $30,000 for the defense, plus ancillary rights in Brazil. Marquez gets $5,000 plus expenses, and must guarantee Jofre a rematch in Brazil within 90 days if he upsets the champ.

Tribe Athletes Rated 1st In 3 Track Events

Northeast State athletes are tops in three events and among the top 10 in 11 others, according to the first official track statistics released this year by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Northeast hurdler Don Styron has the best time in two events—the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard lows — while distance man Don "Buddy" Eiland is first in the mile run.

Styron's NAIA-leading high hurdles time is 13.8 and his low hurdles clocking is 22.7, which betters the NAIA record of 22.8 set by Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem in 1957. NAIA records are established only in the organization's track meet. Styron is the world record holder in the low hurdles with a 21.9 time.

Eiland's time of 4:10.4 in the Shreveport Relays mile is the best among NAIA athletes. In second place is Malcolm Robinson's time of 4:10.7. The Southwestern miler ran his 4:10.7 to come in second to Eiland in the Shreveport meet.

Northeast thinclads have the second best performances in five events. Freshman Tommy Edmonson is second in the pole vault with a 14-0 effort and four relays teams rank second. The Northeast 440-yard quartet of Dave and Don Styron, Owen Owen and Charles McDonald has a 41.1 clocking, one-tenth of a second behind leading Texas Southern; the mile relays team of the Styrons, Randall Walker and John Baker has a 3:11.9 lcocking; the sprint medley crew of the Styrons, Walker and Eiland has a time of 3:23.1; and the 880 team of the Styrons, Jay Goldsmith and McDonald has a clocking of 1:25.9.

Northeast's 440 relay time betters the NAIA record of 41:3 set by Texas Southern in 1961 and the mile relay clocking betters the organizations's record of 3:14.3, held by two schools.

Dave Styron is third in the 100-yard dash with 9.3 and fifth in the 220 with 21.4 around a turn.

Walker and Baker are fifth and sixth in the 440, Walker with 48.5, and Baker with 48.8.

Eiland is sixth in the 880 with 1:54.6. The only man to defeat Eiland in the half mile this year, Frank Santiago of Howard Payne, is first with 1:52.4.

Northeast's Tiffin Stone is fifth among NAIA discus throwers with a 156-4½ effort while Noel Orr is sixth in the pole vault with 13.7. Gene Harbert is ninth in the javelin throw with 195-8 ¾.

Archery Heads Organize Group; Hogg Chairman

RUSTON (Special)—A National Collegiate Archery Coaches' Association was founded here Saturday at Louisiana Tech for the purpose of launching intercollegiate archery competition.

Blue Hogg of Tech was named temporary chairman of the group which also meets Sunday to continue work on the constitution and by-laws for the new organization.

A banquet for eight visiting coaches and members of the Archery industry was held at Tech Saturday night. An informal archery demonstration is slated in Tech's Memorial Gymnasium Sunday at 10 a.m. with the coaches' meeting to re-convene at noon for the final session.

The coaches hope to eventually get National Collegiate Athletic Association approval.

Among those attending the organizational meeting are Charles Blumenthal of the University of North Carolina; Steve Brown of Southern Methodist University; Robert Getchell of Franklin and Marshall College; Ray Hanson of Western Illinois College; Norman McDonnell of the University of Minnesota; George Rich of San Fernanco Valley State College, and Captain M. J. Steger of the Air Force Academy, and Dick Gallagher, executive secretary of the archery institute.

Frosh Coach Quits

NEW ORLEANS (Speiacl)—Tulane freshman basketball coach Ralph Pedersen has resigned to accept the position of assistant basketball coach at the University of Missouri. His resignation is effective May 1.

At Missouri, Pedersen will be assistant to Bob Vanatta, the highly - successful coach at Bradley, Army and Memphis State.

Pedersen is a 1952 graduate of Tulane and had been freshman coach at Tulane since 1957.

REPORT TO KENNEDY

Americans are seeking the outdoors as never before. By 2000 the population should double; the demand for recreation should triple.

These are key statements made by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission in its amazing report to President Kennedy and the Congress.

The commission, which was headed by Laurance S. Rockfeller of New York, compiled a tremendous study of America's outdoor facilities and future needs.

Any sportsman interested enough in obtaining a copy of the report can do so by sending $2 to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. The report contains a lot of interesting reading.

While the commission came up with five areas of recommendations — some general and some specific — the commission also made a good point, putting it in thee words:

"The commission wishes to emphasize, however, that the key elements in the total effort to make outdoor recreation opportunities available are private enterprise, the States and the local government."

There are examples of this here:

Private enterprise — Wham Brake and the FAIR program.

State — Russell Sage Wildlife Management Area.

Local — Cheniere Lake.

While the commission emphasized the importance of recreation needs being met on the local level, its recommendations called for a big role to be played by the federal government.

The recommendations were too numerous to cover here, but one phase of the proposals are worthy enough of going into some detail in this column.

The commission recommended the creation of a Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

"This Bureau would have overall responsibility for leadership of a nationwide effort by coordinating the various Federal programs and assisting other levels of government to meet the demands for outdoor recreation. It would not manage any land."

Specifically, the new Bureau would:

1. Coordinate the recreation activities of the more than 20 Federal agencies whose activities affect outdoor recreation.

2. Assist State and local government with technical aid in planning and administration, including the development of standards for personnel, procedures, and operations.

3. Administer a grants-in-aid program to States for planning and for development and acquisition of needed areas.

4. Act as a clearinghouse for information and guide, stimulate, and sponsor research as needed.

5. Encourage interstate and regional cooperation, including Federal participation where necessary.

It should be evident, at this point, that the commission's report covers so much it would be impossible to mention all the points here. It covers 245 pages in an attractive volumn.

So far we haven't heard any reaction to the report on the Louisiana state level while we haven't gone far enough into the written matter to form any definite opinion about the commission's recommendations.

But we are impressed with the report and any sportsman would be too. The report, which is available to anyone, should be on your required reading list.

ARKANSAS, LOUISIANA KILLS

From all indications, Arkansas, when all the returns are in, will lead Louisiana in the turkey season. Arkansas, which kills more deer than Louisiana, uses the tagging system too.

At any rate the Arkansas commission has reported that during the first half of the season, April 2-5, a total of 384 gobblers met their deaths. That's a big kill for three days hunting — much greater than the entire 9-day season in Louisiana..

The Louisiana commission still is seeking cards from hunters who turkey hunted, but it looks like the final report will show about 100 dead gobblers for our section of the state.

The Florida parishes usually have a bigger kill, although the final report is not in.

So it is apparent that Arkansas has better turkey hunting.

Louisiana biologists have pointed out from time to time, however, that a big factor in producing a good turkey population is protection. There was a time when the turkey population dropped tremendously in Louisiana — when there was not a season at all.

But the birds have been protected and now the population is on the increase again.

However, too many hunters give in to temptation when a flock of turkeys strolls through the woods into the path of the hunter during the squirrel and deer seasons. A lot of young birds, not smart enough or wild enough to get out of the hunter's way, meet their ends during the squirrel and deer seasons.

Let's save the turkeys for a spring day.

RESOLUTION ON DUCKS

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission, meeting in New Orleans early this past week, adopted a resolution pertaining to the duck season.

While the commission called on the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service to grant Louisiana a season of not less than 50 days, the resolution asked for a daily bag limit of not less than four ducks and a possession limit of not less than eight ducks.

These requests are in bold contrast to the past season, which was for only 19½ days with a three-duck bag limit, but in November, thanks to the commission, when this area did not have any ducks.

In the resolution, the commission made a good point by saying that the federal government should not base its framework of seasons on the mallard population. While it is unfortunate that mallards are decreasing, other species of waterfowl have not undergone such a tremendous reduction.

Therefore, the commission feels that it is unfair to base the season on the mallard.

The recommendation also called for a bonus bag of four scaup per day and eight in possession in that area of Louisiana south of U.S. 190, which of course does not include our section.

In addition, the commission asked for an extension on the framework for blue, snow and white-fronted geese — until January 15, 1963.

Following is a quote from a commission release:

"The commission strongly felt that these more liberal regulations are necessary if the tradition of duck hunting is to be maintained; if public support for waterfowl management programs and wetlands preservation is to be retained; and if the current large scale state and private waterfowl management programs are to be continued."

This position taken by the commission should make a lot of duck hunters happy. Duck hunters would be happier, however, if the commission in the future, would set a late duck season as recommended by the biologists.

LITTLE MAN'S CORNER

Fishing was good until Friday and the little men made news afield.

Best story of the week came from Lake Providence where Willie Oldert, a commercial fisherman, put out a trotline in the lake. He baited it with shad.

When Willie Oldert went back to check his line, he found that he had snared not a fish but a fullgrown bobcat. The bobcat had swallowed one of the hooks and drowned.

For proof, he took line, hook, cat and all to town. It's hard to believe, but it really happened.

And closer to home, Black Bayou has been a hot spot for bream fisherman, until Friday when the winds really began to blow. Among numerous fishermen catching bream there this week were R. L. Nichols, Frank Savanna, Angelo Danna, T. J. Coleman, Bill Hays, Pete Shambro, and Mrs. Attie Brednaux.

Capt. Rex Ensminger of Monroe had a good fishing trip to Lake St. Joseph. He said the bream are really biting. Sanford Woods of St. Joseph and Windle Dyer of Archibald caught a big string of bream there.

Fishing with red worms in Black Bayou, Ellard Brantley and Bob Light of Monroe caught about 80 bream.

From Lake Providence, Jesse Hires caught three bass, a string of bream and a catfish all on a Helldiver with a yellow shirt. Louise Coran and Vera Grice of Lake Providence had good luck with the catfish in Lake Providence.

And Gassoway paid off for white perch fishermen — like T. J. Trimble of Bastrop, Tobe Fuller and Jim Jackson of Epps, O. D. Malone of Kilbourne and Bert Harper of Terry, all limits.

Claude Rinicker of Lake Providence caught the limit of white perch in Grand Lake while Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper averaged 20 white perch in Grand Lake each afternoon for several days.

Saline has been good for bream. Carol Hicks, Bill Cummins, Frank Henderson and Harold Henderson got the limit. Dick Killingsworth and Frank Henderson got the limit of bass too.

Ivy Fields of Jena, says Deacon Walker, caught the limit of bream in Black River Lake.

LOCAL FISHERMEN Ellard Brantley (left) and Bob Light caught about 80 bream in Black Bayou near Monroe. They were fishing with red worms. Brantley and Light are just two of the numerous fishermen who have had good luck with the bream — not only in Black Bayou but in several other spots.

GREAT SPORT, SMALL AMBITION

Baseball Not Doing Well Because Of 'Little Ideas'

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — At a 1958 Senate hearing into baseball Casey Stengel delivered a classic explanation of why Japanese players were having their difficulties with America's national pastime.

"They're not doin' so good," said Stengel, "because they're trying to play the game with little fingers."

The commissioner of Japanese baseball, surveying the opening weeks of the 1962 major league baseball season in the United States, might well paraphrase the remark — except that he would be referring to the owners instead of the players.

"They're not doin' so good," he could say, "because they're trying to run their business with little ideas."

In short, the era of expansion, night baseball and television has exposed baseball as a great sport with a small ambition: To milk the baseball public of the present at the risk of alienating it for the future.

The first three weeks of the season apparently were designed to give TV comedians material for jokes — rather than to get the races off in "serious" fashion. Except that it couldn't have been very funny for the customers who paid their money at the box office for big league baseball and were served a hippodrome-type game.

The New York Mets, for example, played a Sunday "game" that should have been called "snowball." Snow flurries fell throughout a large portion of the game and the lights had to be turned on in mid-afternoon because of the darkness that enveloped the field. The players "mushed" their way through nine innings and then the second game was called off.

The very next day a game was postponed when — in comparison — the sun was splitting the sidewalks.

Behind the apparent contradiction was the fact that the Sunday game was a national TV game and the Mets picked up $25,000 because it was played. Needless to point out, there was no TV the next day — and therefore no game.

At almost the same time it was discovered that the $18-million new Dodger stadium in Los Angeles — a baseball Taj Mahal that seats 56,000 paying customers — contained only three water fountains. One was in each of the two dugouts and the other — you guessed it —was in the private box of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley.

What was supposed to happen when the temperature in Los Angeles rose to 95 or so in the summer time? Simple. There are plenty of beer spigots and soft drinks of all types are available — at the price, of course.

Kids? Oh yes, kids, baseball men used to talk about them. Remember? Baseball is really for the kids. Give 'em a great day by taking 'em to the ballgame. Babe Ruth loved kids. So did Kenesaw Mountain Landis and Connie Mack. So did all baseball men. Loved mothers, too, especially mothers with the price of admission.

And so it went from city to city. . .bleery-eyed players arriving at 5 a.m. to play games at 2 p.m. the same day. . .teams playing in 40-degree temperature . . .night games (the kids love 'em) played before crowds wrapped in parkas. . .Roger Maris wearing mittens in the on-deck circle and Yankees batting with gloves on.

This is baseball?

Ype, it's baseball in the age of expansion, night ball and TV. It's the grand old game played on a coast-to-coast 162-game schedule pattern designed to keep the turnstiles spinning around the clock. Ruth wouldn't have liked it because he didn't think nights were for playing baseball. But who's Ruth? Only a fellow who once hit one less homer in a season than Maris did in the wonderful expansion year of 1961.

Where will it all end? The sky's the limit. Crowds are expected to be bigger than ever. New records for attendance, popcorn, soda, beer and souvenirs. The players don't mind it. The fans must love it because they turn out. And the owners keep warm by counting the proceeds.

It was all explained long before the first night baseball game ever was played by a man who knew and understood the American public.

Fellow named Phineas T. Barnum.

JOFRE MEETS MARQUEZ

Bantamweight Title Fight Slated Friday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eder Jofre, the world bantamweight champion who has fought outside South America for less than two years, and Herman Marquez, a little-known Californian who's ranked No. 3, will fight for the title next Friday.

The thrice-postponed 15-rounder matches a slugging knockout artist—Jofre—against a versatile and durable boxer—Marquez.

It is their first meeting, and neither has seen the other in action, even in films.

Jofre, who has won 41 of 44 bouts and drawn three times, is the favorite. But Marquez, 20-7-1, is conceded a fair chance to take the crown if the bout goes the distance.

The 28-year-old challenger is so confident that he speaks of "when I win the title," not "if I win." But Jofre, who disdains even a headgear in his sparring sessions, quietly says he didn't come all the way from Sao Paulo, Brazil, to lose.

Jofre has won 31 of his fights by knockout, including his last 11. He has gone 15 rounds once, never more than 10 in any other bout.

Marquez has only six knockouts on his record. [illegible]t has gone 15 rounds once a[illegible] [illegible]2 six times.

Observers call the 26-year-old Jofre a European-style boxer. He keeps boring in under a high, peek-a-boo guard, often leading with a stiff jab. He is equally at home punching to the head or body.

He occasionally throws soft rights, following with rugged lefts that demonstrate his former southpaw style.

Marquez, by contrast, bobs lightly about, throwing a steady stream of blows but not depending on a stiff knockout punch. He uses a lower guard than Jofre.

The Stockton, Calif., challenger can carry a bout when he has to, and against a slugger prefers to get to the inside to work on the body.

Gaining any success against Jofre's body could be a chore, however—the champ works 25 minutes daily on stomach exercises.

Jofre will receive a minimum of $30,000 for the defense, plus ancillary rights in Brazil. Marquez gets $5,000 plus expenses, and must guarantee Jofre a rematch in Brazil within 90 days if he upsets the champ.

Tribe Athletes Rated 1st In 3 Track Events

Northeast State athletes are tops in three events and among the top 10 in 11 others, according to the first official track statistics released this year by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Northeast hurdler Don Styron has the best time in two events—the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard lows — while distance man Don "Buddy" Eiland is first in the mile run.

Styron's NAIA-leading high hurdles time is 13.8 and his low hurdles clocking is 22.7, which betters the NAIA record of 22.8 set by Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem in 1957. NAIA records are established only in the organization's track meet. Styron is the world record holder in the low hurdles with a 21.9 time.

Eiland's time of 4:10.4 in the Shreveport Relays mile is the best among NAIA athletes. In second place is Malcolm Robinson's time of 4:10.7. The Southwestern miler ran his 4:10.7 to come in second to Eiland in the Shreveport meet.

Northeast thinclads have the second best performances in five events. Freshman Tommy Edmonson is second in the pole vault with a 14-0 effort and four relays teams rank second. The Northeast 440-yard quartet of Dave and Don Styron, Owen Owen and Charles McDonald has a 41.1 clocking, one-tenth of a second behind leading Texas Southern; the mile relays team of the Styrons, Randall Walker and John Baker has a 3:11.9 lcocking; the sprint medley crew of the Styrons, Walker and Eiland has a time of 3:23.1; and the 880 team of the Styrons, Jay Goldsmith and McDonald has a clocking of 1:25.9.

Northeast's 440 relay time betters the NAIA record of 41:3 set by Texas Southern in 1961 and the mile relay clocking betters the organizations's record of 3:14.3, held by two schools.

Dave Styron is third in the 100-yard dash with 9.5 and fifth in the 220 with 21.4 around a turn.

Walker and Baker are fifth and sixth in the 440, Walker with 48.5, and Baker with 48.8.

Eiland is sixth in the 880 with 1:54.6. The only man to defeat Eiland in the half mile this year, Frank Santiago of Howard Payne, is first with 1:52.4.

Northeast's Tiffin Stone is fifth among NAIA discus throwers with a 156-4½ effort while Noel Orr is sixth in the pole vault with 13.7. Gene Harbert is ninth in the javelin throw with 195-8 ¾.

Archery Heads Organize Group; Hogg Chairman

RUSTON (Special)—A National Collegiate Archery Coaches' Association was founded here Saturday at Louisiana Tech for the purpose of launching intercollegiate archery competition.

Blue Hogg of Tech was named temporary chairman of the group which also meets Sunday to continue work on the constitution and by-laws for the new organization.

A banquet for eight visiting coaches and members of the Archery industry was held at Tech Saturday night. An informal archery demonstration is slated in Tech's Memorial Gymnasium Sunday at 10 a.m. with the coaches' meeting to re-convene at noon for the final session.

The coaches hope to eventually get National Collegiate Athletic Association approval.

Among those attending the organizational meeting are Charles Blumenthal of the University of North Carolina; Steve Brown of Southern Methodist University; Robert Getchell of Franklin and Marshall College; Ray Hanson of Western Illinois College; Norman McDonnell of the University of Minnesota; George Rich of San Fernanco Valley State College, and Captain M. J. Steger of the Air Force Academy, and Dick Gallagher, executive secretary of the archery institute.

Frosh Coach Quits

NEW ORLEANS (Speiacl)—Tulane freshman basketball coach Ralph Pedersen has resigned to accept the position of assistant basketball coach at the University of Missouri. His resignation is effective May 1.

At Missouri, Pedersen will be assistant to Bob Vanatta, the highly-successful coach at Bradley, Army and Memphis State.

Pedersen is a 1952 graduate of Tulane and had been freshman coach at Tulane since 1957.

Gov. Barnett Orders Second Probe Of Prison Actions

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett, disturbed by a legislative investigation of his prison program, ordered Saturday that a group of state officials conduct a second probe.

"I want to find out the truth about what has been going on at Parchman and not hearsay and innuendoes," Barnett stated. "I mean business and I want this done immediately."

The governor asked the probation and parole board, the penitentiary commission and acting prison Supt. C. E. Breazeale to "make a thorough and complete investigation of any alleged wrong-doing at Parchman."

The four members of the parole board and three members of the penitentiary commission are all Barnett appointees. Breazeale was appointed by the commission.

Barnett challenged anyone knowing about any "wrong-doing" to appear before the investigators. He said any findings of illegal activities or wrong-doing should then be given to the sheriff, district attorney and county attorney of Sunflower county.

"If any laws have been violated or any wrong-doing has been committed, I want the matters submitted to the grand jury for proper action," Barnett said.

"I think also that in view of the allegations which have been made that the special legislative investigating committee should turn over its records to the proper grand jury."

The committee recently filed as public record the testimony made during its investigation. In included charges by Fred Jones, then the prison superintendent, that Barnett forced him to retain incompetent employes who had supported him in the governor's race.

Barnett ordered his investigation a few hours after it was made public that one of his colonels was mentioned as a possible "influence peddler" in testimony gathered by the legislative committee.

Prison chaplain Felix O. Martin testified that he heard a convict telephone his mother and ask her to send $1,500 to a Jackson man who would try to get him a parole. The man, an honorary Barnett colonel, has denied the charge.

The governor suggested that the chaplain appear before his investigators.

Jones said Friday that prison employes had taken money from convicts seeking parole recommendations. He said he had affidavits supporting his claims in three such cases and all involved "good friends of the governor."

Storm Sinks Two Boats In Adriatic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —A sudden storm swept the northern Adriatic Friday night, sinking two boats with a possible loss of 21 lives, Tanjug news agency said Saturday. Most victims were youths.

One boat with 18 teen-age students and an adult crewman sank on a voyage from the island of Losinj to the island of Rab. One boy swam ashore and two girls were rescued after somehow managing to keep afloat from two to four hours in stormy seas, Tanjug reported.

A boat carrying a 20-year-old Yugoslav and four teen-agers sank on a mile voyage from the island of Krk to the island of Galun, Tanjug said. No trace has been found of boat or survivors.

Marijan Piculjan, a student who swam ashore, told how disaster struck the small boat Jadrab. He said all aboard but the crewman were pupils in a school at Losinj. They left in the late afternoon for the island of Rab to spend the May vacation with their parents.

The weather was good and the sea calm, he said, but less than two hours later a storm broke. A big wave swept over the crowded boat, registered to hold only nine passengers, and it capsized, he reported.

Piculjan said a few pupils jumped into the sea but the others went down with the boat. Swimming through heavy seas, Piculjan reached the small, unpopulated isl. of Trstenik and was dragged ashore by some fishermen who had taken shelter from the storm.

When the youth gasped out his story, the fishermen put out in their boat. They rescued one girl who had managed to swim for two hours in the heavy seas and later found a second girl who had been swimming about four hours, Tanjug reported.

Rescue parties found the Jadrab in about 65 feet of water. She was raised but no bodies were recovered. Ships still are searching the area in hope others may have got to shore.

Singer Lewis Defiantly Back In London Again

LONDON (AP)—American rock 'n' roll singer Jerry Lee Lewis defiantly returned to London Saturday—the town he was virtually drummed out of four years ago.

"I've been waiting a long time to come back," the wavy-haired singer said. "I don't reckon I'm afraid or apprehensive about the reception I'll get this time."

Lewis arrived here in May 1958 for a nationwide tour, but flew home again before giving a single performance. His marriage earlier to a 13-year-old girl, whom he brought on the 1958 tour, caused an uproar.

Lewis arrived Saturday just six days after his 3-year-old son Steve drowned in the family swimming pool in Memphis, Tenn. But the singer said he didn't think he was being heartless in coming on a tour so soon after his son's death.

"Nobody was closer to Stevie than I was," he said, his eyes glistening. "But I felt I had to keep on going, keep working. And I reckon Stevie's in a lot better place than I am now."

Lewis came here this time with his wife, Myra, now 17.

"Myra's just now in a pretty nervous state because of Stevie," Lewis said. "But she may join me later, maybe next week. Depends how she feels."

Lewis will be doing a three-week tour of Britain, making one-night stands in theaters in England, Scotland and Wales.

The four members of the parole board and three members of the penitentiary commission are all Barnett appointees. Breazeale was appointed by the commission.

Barnett challenged anyone knowing about any "wrong-doing" to appear before the investigators. He said any findings of illegal activities or wrong-doing should then be given to the sheriff, district attorney and county attorney of Sunflower county.

"If any laws have been violated or any wrong-doing has been committed, I want the matters submitted to the grand jury for proper action," Barnett said.

"I think also that in view of the allegations which have been made that the special legislative investigating committee should turn over its records to the proper grand jury."

The committee recently filed as public record the testimony made during its investigation. In included charges by Fred Jones, then the prison superintendent, that Barnett forced him to retain incompetent employes who had supported him in the governor's race.

Barnett ordered his investigation a few hours after it was made public that one of his colonels was mentioned as a possible "influence peddler" in testimony gathered by the legislative committee.

Prison chaplain Felix O. Martin testified that he heard a convict telephone his mother and ask her to send $1,500 to a Jackson man who would try to get him a parole. The man, an honorary Barnett colonel, has denied the charge.

The governor suggested that the chaplain appear before his investigators.

Jones said Friday that prison employes had taken money from convicts seeking parole recommendations. He said he had affidavits supporting his claims in three such cases and all involved "good friends of the governor."

Storm Sinks Two Boats In Adriatic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —A sudden storm swept the northern Adriatic Friday night, sinking two boats with a possible loss of 21 lives, Tanjug news agency said Saturday. Most victims were youths.

One boat with 18 teen-age students and an adult crewman sank on a voyage from the island of Losinj to the island of Rab. One boy swam ashore and two girls were rescued after somehow managing to keep afloat from two to four hours in stormy seas, Tanjug reported.

A boat carrying a 20-year-old Yugoslav and four teen-agers sank on a mile voyage from the island of Krk to the island of Galun, Tanjug said. No trace has been found of boat or survivors.

Marijan Piculjan, a student who swam ashore, told how disaster struck the small boat Jadrab. He said all aboard but the crewman were pupils in a school at Losinj. They left in the late afternoon for the island of Rab to spend the May vacation with their parents.

The weather was good and the sea calm, he said, but less than two hours later a storm broke. A big wave swept over the crowded boat, registered to hold only nine passengers, and it capsized, he reported.

Piculjan said a few pupils jumped into the sea but the others went down with the boat. Swimming through heavy seas, Piculjan reached the small, unpopulated island of Trstenik and was dragged ashore by some fishermen who had taken shelter from the storm.

When the youth gasped out his story, the fishermen put out in their boat. They rescued one girl who had managed to swim for two hours in the heavy seas and later found a second girl who had been swimming about four hours, Tanjug reported.

Rescue parties found the Jadrab in about 65 feet of water. She was raised but no bodies were recovered. Ships still are searching the area in hope others may have got to shore.

Singer Lewis Defiantly Back In London Again

LONDON (AP)—American rock 'n' roll singer Jerry Lee Lewis defiantly returned to London Saturday—the town he was virtually drummed out of four years ago.

"I've been waiting a long time to come back," the wavy-haired singer said. "I don't reckon I'm afraid or apprehensive about the reception I'll get this time."

Lewis arrived here in May 1958 for a nationwide tour, but flew home again before giving a single performance. His marriage earlier to a 13-year-old girl, whom he brought on the 1958 tour, caused an uproar.

Lewis arrived Saturday just six days after his 3-year-old son Steve drowned in the family swimming pool in Memphis, Tenn. But the singer said he didn't think he was being heartless in coming on a tour so soon after his son's death.

"Nobody was closer to Stevie than I was," he said, his eyes glistening. "But I felt I had to keep on going, keep working. And I reckon Stevie's in a lot better place than I am now."

Lewis came here this time without his wife, Myra, now 17.

"Myra's just now in a pretty nervous state because of Stevie," Lewis said. "But she may join me later, maybe next week. Depends how she feels."

Lewis will be doing a three-week tour of Britain, making one-night stands in theaters in England, Scotland and Wales.

"Twarn't a fit day out, but inside it looked like Spring all the way at the Junior Charity League annual Silver Tea, Tuesday at the home of BITZA BROWN. Flowers were spectacular, and ladies equally so in their spring finery.

In the entrance hall, a mass arrangement using pink peonies, English dogwood, Dutch iris, roses, larkspur, and iris was placed in a planter box in the newel post. Guests passed into the living room, where the receiving line, made up of past presidents of the League, stood before a table on which stood a white china urn filled with all white flowers: peonies, roses, iris, daffodils. Other decorations in the living room included white floribunda roses in a small white china container; a cut glass cornucopia overflowing with English dogwood; and a black and white marble pedestal with a triangular arrangement of pink daisy mums.

Two downstairs bedrooms were decorated for the tea. In the front room was a pink and orchid arrangement using tulips, phlox, and anemones; and a vertical placement of red roses. . . . The master bedroom was accented with a copper bowl filled with lemon daylilies and white roses.

Flowers in yellow tones were used in the panelled den, where one refreshment table was set up. Yellow iris decorated the table, and yellow daylilies were used on the coffee table. On the breakfront were Fashion roses, arranged with sweetpeas of the same orange-y shade. Trays of goodies, each tastier than the last, were passed here and in the dining room, decorated with white and yellow. Tiny open-face and pinwheel sandwiches were offered with cheese straws and various dainty sweets.

Among the spring outfits we noted NANCY WARDLAW, all in white . . . CLAUDETTE BROWNFIELD in aqua and white . . . and ELLEN WEBB in orange silk, pleated from shoulder to hem . . . HAZEL CALLOWAY was stunning in red linen, and JO MATTISON equally so in vivid blue . . . Tiny pillboxes were very popular. We noted particularly PAULINE LOKER's white and KATIE MAE THORNHILL's black patent, the veil accented with black patent bows.

. . . VIRGINIA HARGROVE chose an ice-green silk suit, and SUE CUTLER an eye-catching yellow outfit.

BARBARA TARVER's brown linen was spiked with an inserted panel of yellow and matching yellow straw hat. . . . ZOLA BLAKE matched her hat to her spring green silk suit. . . . Also in green was BARBARA ENSMINGER, whose hat was a natural straw with open-work brim. . . . DOLLY PETRUS was in black and her hat was of woven red, white, and black ribbons. . .

Lilies of the valley formed the crown of VIRGINIA WHITAKER'S white straw hat. . . . Another white hat, this worn with a black outfit, was BONNIE PASSMAN's pillbox of pearlized white flowers. . . . BETTY LOU PHILLIPS chose a brown roller with her orange silk frock. . . . White batiste styled with lace and tucks and finished with a blue satin belt set off LOUISE SEYMOUR's doll-like looks. . . . SALLY LAUVE's red and grey shepherd check was styled with a flared-back jacket. . . . MILLIE TROY chose cotton chiffon printed in shades of blue. . . . Good-enough-to-eat was IRMALEE HARRISON's silk suit, the color of apricot sherbert. . . . Her cornflower blue dress was most becoming to JANE SARTOR, who also wore a white hat with slouch brim. . . . ZINNIA CHAPMAN's sleeveless grey organza featured a wide collar and bow at the neck. She chose a white pillbox hat.

Another occasion which provided happy opportunities for the clothes-watcher was "Lambda in Loveland," style show sponsored by Lambda Sigma Chi on the Virginia roof Wednesday afternoon. Sorority members modeled clothes furnished by Silverstein's, all chosen for a trousseau. Opening the show, GAY HARGROVE showed an aqua net formal suitable for an announcement ball. It featured a row of white roses from the top of the bodice onto the full ruffled skirt. . . . Also for this occasion, CAROLYN MURRAY modelled a jonquil yellow net with circles of roses appliqued on the skirt.

For pre-nuptial parties, LOUISE WEIR showed a blush pink late day dress with tucks, pleats, and baby Val lace. . . . NANCY CROSSLAND chose white rayon linen with full skirt embroidered in peacock colors. . . . With a full-skirted white dacron and cotton, Carolyn wore a yellow daisy pixie cap.

Gay returned in a sky blue cotton, accented with a single blue rose at the waist, and a tiny pill box of wine, mauve, and blue straw. . . . Also for bridal parties, CAROL KOONTZ showed a whipped cream shirtwaist printed with aqua and green polka dots. Her hat was of lilies of the valley. . . . The sissy look was apparent in POLLY PARRISH's baby blue voile trimmed with white lace, with which she wore a cloche of blue pleated chiffon.

. . . VIRGINIA CROW and her daughter KAREN modelled mother and daughter seersucker dresses ideal for hostesses for the bridal breakfast. Virginia's hat was a large roller of white rough straw, while Karen's was a smaller roller of straw and hairbraid strips. . .

Third group of the show featured bridesmaids' dresses, with Louise modelling a soft salmon chiffon with spaghetti straps. She was escorted by BILL ETHRIDGE, Lambda sponsor. . . . Nancy wore blue chiffon over taffeta, with a large bow of starched chiffon at the back. Her escort was SAM CAVERLEE. . . . Polly modelled a peppermint pink chiffon, highlighted by diagonal shirring on the bodice.

Highlight of any style show is the bride, in this case Carol, who entered on the arm of STEVE UPDEGRAF. Airy Chantilly lace combined with nylon net to form fitted bodice with brief sleeves and full skirt ending in chapel train. A crown of sequins and pearls held the veil. . . . Following the wedding scene, the models showed clothes suitable for the wedding trip. Louise wore the going-away suit of blue silk shantung, with a whimsy of white straw and black velvet. . . . Gay modelled a navy and white swimsuit, and Nancy a taffy-stripe. . . Carol showed a Jamaica set for tennis or beach, and Carolyn a sun dress of cotton in citrus shades. . . . Louise chose slim pants in hot pink pure silk and a blouse printed in colorful butterflies. . . . Polly appeared in white slim jims, worn with a vivid striped blouse. . . . Closing the show were SARA M'SHERRY and her daughter KATHY, mother and younger sister dressed to await the return of the newlyweds. They chose beige shirtwaists with matching sweaters.

Cleverest invitations seen hereabouts in quite a spell were those out this week for Neville's Junior-Senior prom. On the front, drawn in red ink, were sketches of a band and tables covered with checked cloths. Inside was this, the poem of the week:

Attention Big Cats and put this down!
A Real Gone Twister is gonna hit this town.
The Junior-Senior Prom is what it's all about.
Saturday, May 5th, you can sing and shout!
Eight to twelve is the time, you all!
The Virginia Roof will be scene of the ball.
With the Playboys swinging, you oughta get the gist;
The theme of this gathering is "The Peppermint Twist"!
This invitation, you'd better keep it, Mac,
Cause it's your ticket to join the pack.

Prior to their departure for Europe this week, SCOTTIE and MONTE CARBONE were honored at several informal parties. On Tuesday evening, the JIM SPARKS and the DICK KELLOGGS were hosts for dinner. Ten guests gathered first at the Sparks home, and then proceeded to Bayou DeSiard country club, where dinner was served in the private dining room. A multi-colored arrangement of daisies, lilies, and stock centered the table, with white candles in silver candlesticks placed at each end. Shrimp cocktail was followed by steak dinner, with tropical parfait for dessert.

The Carbones were also named guests of honor when VICKY and SHELBY HILL entertained at dinner at the Embers. Before the meal, hors d'oeuvres and cocktails were served in the private dining room. Dainties included tiny fried meat pies, whole shrimp, and a hot lobster dip. For dinner, twenty guests were seated at a long table set up in the main dining room at the Embers. Tiny Italian and French flags were incorporated into the central arrangement of spring flowers. Ribbons labeled "Bon Voyage" ran down the table to hurricane lights at each end. Steak dinner was served, with cheese cake and-or chocolate torte for dessert.

The Carbones left on Thursday and plan to be away about a month. They are to go first to Rome, with later stops in France and England.

MISS EVELYN HALSEY'S engagement to Dalton Neal is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Halsey of West Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Neal, also of West Monroe. The wedding will be an event of June 9 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

ENGAGEMENT AND APPROACHING marriage of Miss Linda Sue Walker to Mack Murray son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvis Murray of Marion is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker, of Marion. The wedding will take place June 15 in the Meridian Baptist Church of Marion at 5 p.m.

Nuptial Mass In St. Paschal's Church Unites Margaret Sandlin, Mr. Carter

Nuptial Mass solemnized at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 28 in St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe, united in marriage Miss Margaret Celeste Sandlin and Robert Leon Carter. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy K. Sandlin, 702 N. 7th, West Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carter, 1704 Spencer, Monroe.

The Rev. Jordan Schell, O. F. M. performed the double ring ceremony. Two large arrangements of white gladioli and stock graced either side of the main altar and smaller bouquets were used on the side altars.

Sister Mary Charlotte, O. S. F., organist, played Ave Maria, and "Immaculate Mary," and appropriate music throughout the mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie satin with lace bodice and high scalloped neckline. Long lace sleeves were also scalloped at the wrist and the full skirt on princess lines was embellished with appliques of lace and seed pearls. Self covered buttons enclosed the back bodice and were repeated at the wrists. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from a Swedish crown of seed pearls and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

BRIDESMAIDS

Mrs. John B. Overmeyer Jr., of Bastrop, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Pipes and Miss Ruth McCann. They wore identical street length frocks of white peau de soie satin, styled similar to the bride's, with short sleeves and boat neckline and full skirts. Their headpieces were pillbox hats with face veils. They wore short lace gloves and carried nosegays of pink roses, showered with pink streamers.

Jack Fryday attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were John Guerriero and Edward Johnson. Serving as ushers were Mike Haddad and Albert Theriot Jr. and altar boys were Butch Theriot and David Sandlin.

Mrs. Sandlin, mother of the bride, wore a dress of rose pink linen with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige silk linen costume with bone accessories and an orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in St. Paschal's School hall. Two tables were draped with satin-finish linen cloths. The bride's table held the tiered wedding cake, flanked by lighted candles and the punch table held a centerpiece of white stock and pink carnations. Mrs. Ruth Parks served the wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowls were Miss Cora Theriot and Mrs. J. R. Hegwood Jr. Mrs. Edwin J. Pezant presided at the guest book from a table centered with a large anniversary candle.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a suit of aqua silk linen featuring a small cowl collar and elbow length sleeves. She wore black patent accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 416 Wilmuth in Monroe.

Mrs. Carter was graduated from Our Lady of Perpetual Help high school in St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. Carter graduated from Neville high school and Northeast Louisiana State College.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Pezant, San Antonio, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. David Pezant, Sorrento; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McDonald, Rayville; Mr. and Mrs. John Guirovick, Mrs. Irma Guarino, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bascle and Byron Jr., and Barry, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Alcantara and Duncan, all of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Alcantara of Metairie and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parks, Shreveport.

MISS ELEANOR VIRGINIA WEBB

Engagement Of Miss Webb Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clinton Webb Jr., of Nil Desperandum Plantation at Delta, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Virginia to Terry MacGown Sutcliffe of Waco, Texas. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Williams Sutcliffe of Phoenix, Arizona.

The wedding will take place June 9 at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Tallulah. Rev. J. W. Bruner of Hillsboro, Texas, will officiate.

Other decorations in the living room included white floribunda roses in a small white china container; a cut glass cornucopia overflowing with English dogwood; and a black and white marble pedestal with a triangular arrangement of pink daisy mums.

Two downstairs bedrooms were decorated for the tea. In the front room was a pink and orchid arrangement using tulips, phlox, and anemones; and a vertical placement of red roses. . . . The master bedroom was accented with a copper bowl filled with lemon daylilies and white roses.

Flowers in yellow tones were used in the panelled den, where one refreshment table was set up. Yellow iris decorated the table, and yellow daylilies were used on the coffee table. On the breakfront were Fashion roses, arranged with sweetpeas of the same orange-y shade. Trays of goodies, each tastier than the last, were passed here and in the dining room, decorated with white and yellow. Tiny open-face and pinwheel sandwiches were offered with cheese straws and various dainty sweets.

Among the spring outfits we noted NANCY WARDLAW, all in white . . . CLAUDETTE BROWNFIELD in aqua and white . . . and ELLEN WEBB in orange silk, pleated from shoulder to hem . . . HAZEL CALLOWAY was stunning in red linen, and JO MATTISON equally so in vivid blue . . . Tiny pillboxes were very popular. We noted particularly PAULINE LOKER's white and KATIE MAE THORNHILL's black patent, the veil accented with black patent bows.

. . . VIRGINIA HARGROVE chose an ice-green silk suit, and SUE CUTLER an eye-catching yellow outfit.

BARBARA TARVER's brown linen was spiked with an inserted panel of yellow and matching yellow straw hat. . . . ZOLA BLAKE matched her hat to her spring green silk suit. . . . Also in green was BARBARA ENSMINGER, whose hat was a natural straw with open-work brim. . . . DOLLY PETRUS was in black and her hat was of woven red, white, and black ribbons. . .

Lilies of the valley formed the crown of VIRGINIA WHITAKER'S white straw hat. . . . Another white hat, this worn with a black outfit, was BONNIE PASSMAN's pillbox of pearlized white flowers. . . . BETTY LOU PHILLIPS chose a brown roller with her orange silk frock. . . . White batiste styled with lace and tucks and finished with a blue satin belt set off LOUISE SEYMOUR's doll-like looks. . . . SALLY LAUVE's red and grey shepherd check was styled with a flared-back jacket. . . . MILLIE TROY chose cotton chiffon printed in shades of blue. . . . Good-enough-to-eat was IRMALEE HARRISON's silk suit, the color of apricot sherbert. . . . Her cornflower blue dress was most becoming to JANE SARTOR, who also wore a white hat with slouch brim. . . . ZINNIA CHAPMAN's sleeveless grey organza featured a wide collar and bow at the neck. She chose a white pillbox hat.

Another occasion which provided happy opportunities for the clothes-watcher was "Lambda in Loveland," style show sponsored by Lambda Sigma Chi on the Virginia roof Wednesday afternoon. Sorority members modeled clothes furnished by Silverstein's, all chosen for a trousseau. Opening the show, GAY HARGROVE showed an aqua net formal suitable for an announcement ball. It featured a row of white roses from the top of the bodice onto the full ruffled skirt. . . . Also for this occasion, CAROLYN MURRAY modelled a jonquil yellow net with circles of roses appliqued on the skirt.

For pre-nuptial parties, LOUISE WEIR showed a blush pink late day dress with tucks, pleats, and baby Val lace. . . . NANCY CROSSLAND chose white rayon linen with full skirt embroidered in peacock colors. . . . With a full-skirted white dacron and cotton, Carolyn wore a yellow daisy pixie cap.

Gay returned in a sky blue cotton, accented with a single blue rose at the waist, and a tiny pill box of wine, mauve, and blue straw. . . . Also for bridal parties, CAROL KOONTZ showed a whipped cream shirtwaist printed with aqua and green polka dots. Her hat was of lilies of the valley. . . . The sissy look was apparent in POLLY PARRISH's baby blue voile trimmed with white lace, with which she wore a cloche of blue pleated chiffon.

. . . VIRGINIA CROW and her daughter KAREN modelled mother and daughter seersucker dresses ideal for hostesses for the bridal breakfast. Virginia's hat was a large roller of white rough straw, while Karen's was a smaller roller of straw and hairbraid strips. . .

Third group of the show featured bridesmaids' dresses, with Louise modelling a soft salmon chiffon with spaghetti straps. She was escorted by BILL ETHRIDGE, Lambda sponsor. . . . Nancy wore blue chiffon over taffeta, with a large bow of starched chiffon at the back. Her escort was SAM CAVERLEE. . . . Polly modelled a peppermint pink chiffon, highlighted by diagonal shirring on the bodice.

Highlight of any style show is the bride, in this case Carol, who entered on the arm of STEVE UPDEGRAF. Airy Chantilly lace combined with nylon net to form fitted bodice with brief sleeves and full skirt ending in chapel train. A crown of sequins and pearls held the veil. . . . Following the wedding scene, the models showed clothes suitable for the wedding trip. Louise wore the going-away suit of blue silk shantung, with a whimsy of white straw and black velvet. . . . Gay modelled a navy and white swimsuit, and Nancy a taffy-stripe. . . Carol showed a Jamaica set for tennis or beach, and Carolyn a sun dress of cotton in citrus shades. . . . Louise chose slim pants in hot pink pure silk and a blouse printed in colorful butterflies. . . . Polly appeared in white slim jims, worn with a vivid striped blouse. . . . Closing the show were SARA M'SHERRY and her daughter KATHY, mother and younger sister dressed to await the return of the newlyweds. They chose beige shirtwaists with matching sweaters.

Cleverest invitations seen hereabouts in quite a spell were those out this week for Neville's Junior-Senior prom. On the front, drawn in red ink, were sketches of a band and tables covered with checked cloths. Inside was this, the poem of the week:

Attention Big Cats and put this down!
A Real Gone Twister is gonna hit this town.
The Junior-Senior Prom is what it's all about.
Saturday, May 5th, you can sing and shout!
Eight to twelve is the time, you all!
The Virginia Roof will be scene of the ball.
With the Playboys swinging, you oughta get the gist;
The theme of this gathering is "The Peppermint Twist"!
This invitation, you'd better keep it, Mac,
Cause it's your ticket to join the pack.

Prior to their departure for Europe this week, SCOTTIE and MONTE CARBONE were honored at several informal parties. On Tuesday evening, the JIM SPARKS and the DICK KELLOGGS were hosts for dinner. Ten guests gathered first at the Sparks home, and then proceeded to Bayou DeSiard country club, where dinner was served in the private dining room. A multi-colored arrangement of daisies, lilies, and stock centered the table, with white candles in silver candlesticks placed at each end. Shrimp cocktail was followed by steak dinner, with tropical parfait for dessert.

The Carbones were also named guests of honor when VICKY and SHELBY HILL entertained at dinner at the Embers. Before the meal, hors d'oeuvres and cocktails were served in the private dining room. Dainties included tiny fried meat pies, whole shrimp, and a hot lobster dip.

For dinner, twenty guests were seated at a long table set up in the main dining room at the Embers. Tiny Italian and French flags were incorporated into the central arrangement of spring flowers. Ribbons labeled "Bon Voyage" ran down the table to hurricane lights at each end. Steak dinner was served, with cheese cake and-or chocolate torte for dessert.

The Carbones left on Thursday and plan to be away about a month. They are to go first to Rome, with later stops in France and England.

MISS EVELYN HALSEY'S engagement to Dalton Neal is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Halsey of West Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Neal, also of West Monroe. The wedding will be an event of June 9 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

ENGAGEMENT AND APPROACHING marriage of Miss Linda Sue Walker to Mack Murray son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvis Murray of Marion is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker, of Marion. The wedding will take place June 15 in the Meridian Baptist Church of Marion at 5 p.m.

Nuptial Mass In St. Paschal's Church Unites Margaret Sandlin, Mr. Carter

Nuptial Mass solemnized at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 28 in St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe, united in marriage Miss Margaret Celeste Sandlin and Robert Leon Carter. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy K. Sandlin, 702 N. 7th, West Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carter, 1704 Spencer, Monroe.

The Rev. Jordan Schell, O. F. M. performed the double ring ceremony. Two large arrangements of white gladioli and stock graced either side of the main altar and smaller bouquets were used on the side altars.

Sister Mary Charlotte, O. S. F., organist, played Ave Maria, and "Immaculate Mary," and appropriate music throughout the mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie satin with lace bodice and high scalloped neckline. Long lace sleeves were also scalloped at the wrist and the full skirt on princess lines was embellished with appliques of lace and seed pearls. Self covered buttons enclosed the back bodice and were repeated at the wrists. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from a Swedish crown of seed pearls and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

BRIDESMAIDS

Mrs. John B. Overmeyer Jr., of Bastrop, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Pipes and Miss Ruth McCann. They wore identical street length frocks of white peau de soie satin, styled similar to the bride's, with short sleeves and boat neckline and full skirts. Their headpieces were pillbox hats with face veils. They wore short lace gloves and carried nosegays of pink roses, showered with pink streamers.

Jack Fryday attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were John Guerriero and Edward Johnson. Serving as ushers were Mike Haddad and Albert Theriot Jr. and altar boys were Butch Theriot and David Sandlin.

Mrs. Sandlin, mother of the bride, wore a dress of rose pink linen with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige silk linen costume with bone accessories and an orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in St. Paschal's School hall. Two tables were draped with satin-finish linen cloths. The bride's table held the tiered wedding cake, flanked by lighted candles and the punch table held a centerpiece of white stock and pink carnations. Mrs. Ruth Parks served the wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowls were Miss Cora Theriot and Mrs. J. R. Hegwood Jr. Mrs. Edwin J. Pezant presided at the guest book from a table centered with a large anniversary candle.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a suit of aqua silk linen featuring a small cowl collar and elbow length sleeves. She wore black patent accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 416 Wilmuth in Monroe.

Mrs. Carter was graduated from Our Lady of Perpetual Help high school in St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. Carter graduated from Neville high school and Northeast Louisiana State College.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Pezant, San Antonio, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. David Pezant, Sorrento; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McDonald, Rayville; Mr. and Mrs. John Guirovick, Mrs. Irma Guarino, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bascle and Byron Jr., and Barry, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Alcantara and Duncan, all of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Alcantara of Metairie and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parks, Shreveport.

MISS ELEANOR VIRGINIA WEBB

Engagement Of Miss Webb Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clinton Webb Jr., of Nil Desperandum Plantation at Delta, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Virginia to Terry MacGown Sutcliffe of Waco, Texas. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Williams Sutcliffe of Phoenix, Arizona.

The wedding will take place June 9 at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Tallulah. Rev. J. W. Bruner of Hillsboro, Texas, will officiate.

Miss Webb is the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert Clinton Webb Sr., of Delta and the late Mr. Webb. A graduate of Tallulah high school, she is at present a senior student at Baylor University in Waco, Texas.

Mr. Sutcliffe was graduated from Waco high school and attended Baylor University and is presently associated with an advertising company in Waco.

Shorties

For the tailored woman, the abbreviated or "shortie" glove is a perfect spring accessory. Elegant without being fussy, the shortie is available in textured pigskin, suede or smooth leather in colors to match or accent a costume.

Walker - McElroy Vows Revealed

Miss Shelia Ann McElroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ardis McElroy of Winnfield became the bride of Ray Roland Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Dodson, on Friday, April 20, at 7 p.m.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents in the presence of family members and a few close friends. Rev. Lester Rhymes of Louisiana Baptist Children's home officiated at the double ring vows.

Take Care When Buying New Fabrics

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

The endless variety of fabrics in spring clothes means that the buyer must examine her purchases closely.

"Frills and trims such as ribbon, embroideries, fringe and braid put a garment in the luxury class, no matter what its price," warned Dr. Dorothy Siegert Lyle, director of consumer education for a national institute.

Pure linen, for example, still tends to shrink, so look for ample seams which allow letting out after cleaning, or get a looser fit.

Embroideries done with long stitches will snag and break more easily than those done with short stitches. Pure silk prints may bleed — so look for colorfast hang tags.

Many lightweight brocades will be worn for spring. Best buys are those with the design woven in. Embossed brocades, where the design is pressed onto the fabric, frequently lose the embossing when cleaned.

Be sure that contrast color trims, such as ribbon and braid bindings, are colorfast as well as the garment fabric. Buttons, one of the important spring trims, will simply vanish in cleaning if they are plastic! If wood, their paint may disappear. Hand - painted designs on less expensive garments may crack, peel and wear away in cleaning.

Can the consumer avoid all these horrors? Dr. Lyle says yes, if she buys with an eye on quality as well as looks.

Medical Auxiliary Lists State Convention Plans

Plans for the annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary to the Louisiana State Medical Society, which will convene in Monroe May 7, 8 and 9, in conjunction with the Medical Society were announced this weekend by Mrs. Cyril T. Yancey, publicity chairman.

Varied activities combining business sessions and social events are planned for the three-day conclave, with an expected attendance of 200 auxiliary members from throughout the state.

Ensaut Hall, 400 Jackson, will be convention headquarters for the Auxiliary with Medical Society sessions scheduled for the Hotel Frances and Hotel Virginia. Registration will begin at a coffee at 8:30 a.m. Monday, May 7, and will continue through 4 p.m. at the Hall. A Dutch treat luncheon is planned for 12 noon at the Skylight Room, of St. Francis Hospital Roof and the general meeting will open at 2 p.m.

Tuesday's business session for the Auxiliary will be highlighted by an address by Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Southern Regional vice-president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association, and presentation of essay contest awards by Mrs. John A. Fisher.

"Happy Hour" is planned for 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, May 8 in the Stag Room of the Paragon Supper club with the Ouachita Parish Medical Auxiliary as hostess. A luncheon and style show will follow in the ball room of the Paragon club. The occasion will honor Mrs. Glenn Scott Jr., state president and Mrs. Hubbard. Mrs. James W. Schonlau will act as toastmistress.

Concluding Tuesday's agenda will be a cocktail party in the ballroom of the Paragon club, from 7 until 9 p.m. with Ouachita Parish Medical Society as hosts and a dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. hosted by the Louisiana State Medical Society.

Golf and duplicate bridge will be arranged for out-of-town visitors Wednesday morning from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon and a garden tour and Bayou Terrace party is planned from 2:30 until 5 p.m. A tour of "Elsong," the garden of Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, will be followed by the Bayou Terrace party at the home of Mrs. Henry E. Guerriero, 2803 Pargoud Blvd., in honor of Mrs. Gordon W. Peek, incoming state president.

Final event of the convention will be a Turf Club Supper at Bayou DeSiard Country Club on Wednesday, starting at 7 p.m.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam is general chairman of the convention with Mrs. W. Cavitt Cookston Jr., vice-chairman. Other members of the planning committee are Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mrs. C. T. Yancey, Mrs. J .D. Kelly, Mrs. Roy Kelly, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. Scott Hamilton and Mrs. N. R. Spencer.

Ole Miss Students To Wed In June

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Woodburn of Athens, Ga. and Oxford, Miss., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Ellen Woodburn to Wells Edward Nutt. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Nutt of Crossett, Arkansas, and the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wells of Fordyce, Ark.

The wedding will be solemnized June 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Oxford, Miss.

Both will graduate from the University of Mississippi in June when the bride-elect will receive her degree from the college of liberal arts and Mr. Nutt will receive his degree in chemical engineering.

Following their graduation the couple will spend the summer in Savannah, Ga. where Mr. Nutt will be employed in the research department of Union Bag-Camp Paper Company. They plan to return to the university next fall where he will do graduate work in chemistry.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. GARLAND

MRS. WILLIAM ADDISON WALKER, prior to her marriage Thursday, April 19 was Miss Sandra Shutting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kelly of this city. Mr. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walker, also of Monroe, is with the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Dix, New Jersey. The wedding took place in the First Methodist Church, Monroe.

West Monroe Couple Wed In Baptist Church

Vows uniting Glenda Sue Valentine and Richard L. Garland were solemnized April 19 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, West Monroe. Dr. Clifton Tennison performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Valentine and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Garland, all of West Monroe.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Joyce Roberts, pianist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two piece beige linen suit, embroidered in brown with a hat of beige chiffon. She wore a double strand gold necklace, a gift of the bridegroom and carried two white orchids atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bentley Roberts, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Crystal England, daughter of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a blue taffeta frock. Ring bearer was Kenneth Roberts, nephew of the bride.

Bentley Roberts attended Mr. Garland as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. The refreshment table, covered with a yellow cutwork cloth was centered with the wedding cake, adorned in yellow rosebuds. Mrs. E. B. Roberts served the cake and Mrs. James Massey presided at the punch bowl.

After a wedding trip to Houston and Galveston, Texas and New Orleans, the couple has established a home in West Monroe.

Delores Cawthon To Wed Rupert Reginald Vaughn

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cawthon of West Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Delores Annette to Rupert Reginald Vaughn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Vaughn, also of West Monroe.

The wedding will be solemnized Friday, June 1 in Fair Park Baptist Church of West Monroe. Rev. O. C. Clark of New Iberia, will perform the ceremony at 10 a.m.

Miss Cawthon is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eugene Blazier of West Monroe, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cawthon of Pioneer. Mr. Vaughn is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hill of Tallulah and the late Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Vaughn of Mena.

Both are graduates of West Monroe high school. The future bridegroom attended Northwestern State College at Natchitoches and both are now junior students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Glistening Wet Is New Look In Rainwear

There is a new period of truth in coat fashions for the rainy season.

Designers have switched from the let's - pretend - it - isn't-raining kinds of wet weather coats to ones that match the slick slippery city streets on black, stormy nights.

For the past few years inclement weather coats have looked like silk, satin, velvet, suede, and even fur, anything but what you would wear in the rain. These were in vivid colors or were at least spashed generously with riotous giant floral prints.

The purpose was to look cheerful, sunny, be the silver lining in the cloudy sky. And dry be as the desert.

Today the whole idea is to look glisteningly wet.

This is accomplished with shiny, black patent vinyl coats as slim as rain drops and with a dozen militant gold-plated buttons marching double - file down the front. Commodius, square pockets, overlapped, on each side carry head scarves a comb, and lipstick with ease.

Fast Dry

A pair of king-size pop bottles make good drying stands for washed rubber gloves. The air will curculate within the fingers and the inside of the gloves will dry quickly.

Barpins Revived

Barpins make a comeback this spring to flatter feminine fashions. They can anchor a jacket, hold a scarf in place or simply decorate a lapel or bodice. Barpins can and should be worn with other jewelry for a smart accent.

Medical Auxiliary Lists State Convention Plans

Plans for the annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary to the Louisiana State Medical Society, which will convene in Monroe May 7, 8 and 9, in conjunction with the Medical Society were announced this weekend by Mrs. Cyril T. Yancey, publicity chairman.

Varied activities combining business sessions and social events are planned for the three-day conclave, with an expected attendance of 200 auxiliary members from throughout the state.

Enaut Hall, 400 Jackson, will be convention headquarters for the Auxiliary with Medical Society sessions scheduled for the Hotel Frances and Hotel Virginia. Registration will begin at a coffee at 8:30 a.m. Monday, May 7, and will continue through 4 p.m. at the Hall. A Dutch treat luncheon is planned for 12 noon at the Skylight Room, of St. Francis Hospital Roof and the general meeting will open at 2 p.m.

Tuesday's business session for the Auxiliary will be highlighted by an address by Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Southern Regional vice-president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association, and presentation of essay contest awards by Mrs. John A. Fisher.

"Happy Hour" is planned for 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, May 8 in the Stag Room of the Paragon Supper club with the Ouachita Parish Medical Auxiliary as hostess. A luncheon and style show will follow in the ball room of the Paragon club. The occasion will honor Mrs. Glenn Scott Jr., state president and Mrs. Hubbard. Mrs. James W. Schonlau will act as toastmistress.

Concluding Tuesday's agenda will be a cocktail party in the ballroom of the Paragon club, from 7 until 9 p.m. with Ouachita Parish Medical Society as hosts and a dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. hosted by the Louisiana State Medical Society.

Golf and duplicate bridge will be arranged for out-of-town visitors Wednesday morning from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon and a garden tour and Bayou Terrace party is planned from 2:30 until 5 p.m. A tour of "Elsong," the garden of Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, will be followed by the Bayou Terrace party at the home of Mrs. Henry E. Guerriero, 2803 Pargoud Blvd., in honor of Mrs. Gordon W. Peek, incoming state president.

Final event of the convention will be a Turf Club Supper at Bayou DeSiard Country Club on Wednesday, starting at 7 p.m.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam is general chairman of the convention with Mrs. W. Cavitt Cookston Jr., vice-chairman. Other members of the planning committee are Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mrs. C. T. Yancey, Mrs. J .D. Kelly, Mrs. Roy Kelly, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. Scott Hamilton and Mrs. N. R. Spencer.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. GARLAND

West Monroe Couple Wed In Baptist Church

Vows uniting Glenda Sue Valentine and Richard L. Garland were solemnized April 19 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, West Monroe. Dr. Clifton Tennison performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Valentine and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Garland, all of West Monroe.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Joyce Roberts, pianist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two piece beige linen suit, embroidered in brown with a hat of beige chiffon. She wore a double strand gold necklace, a gift of the bridegroom and carried two white orchids atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bentley Roberts, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Crystal England, daughter of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a blue taffeta frock. Ring bearer was Kenneth Roberts, nephew of the bride.

Bentley Roberts attended Mr. Garland as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. The refreshment table, covered with a yellow cutwork cloth was centered with the wedding cake, adorned in yellow rosebuds. Mrs. E. B. Roberts served the cake and Mrs. James Massey presided at the punch bowl.

After a wedding trip to Houston and Galveston, Texas and New Orleans, the couple has established a home in West Monroe.

Delores Cawthon To Wed Rupert Reginald Vaughn

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cawthon of West Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Delores Annette to Rupert Reginald Vaughn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Vaughn, also of West Monroe.

The wedding will be solemnized Friday, June 1 in Fair Park Baptist Church of West Monroe. Rev. O. C. Clark of New Iberia, will perform the ceremony at 10 a.m.

Miss Cawthon is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eugene Blazier of West Monroe, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cawthon of Pioneer. Mr. Vaughn is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hill of Tallulah and the late Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Vaughn of Mena.

Both are graduates of West Monroe high school. The future bridegroom attended Northwestern State College at Natchitoches and both are now junior students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Miss Ethridge Is April Bride

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ethridge Jr., Lakeshore Drive, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lynne to Douglas N. MacDonald of New Haven, Conn., and Miami, Florida, which was an event of April 14.

The couple will reside in Miami, where Mr. MacDonald is a graduating senior at the University of Miami.

Betty Jo Slaughter, John R. Dunn Exchange Vows In Candlelight Scene

MRS. JOHN RICHARD DUNN

St. Paul's Methodist Church was scene of the double ring ceremony Saturday, April 21 which united in marriage Miss Betty Jo Slaughter and John Richard Dunn. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Carlton Slaughter, 1509 Spencer, and the late Mr. Slaughter. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Dunn, 110 Cryer St., West Monroe.

Centering the altar was a fan shaped arrangement of Easter lilies, at each side of which were white candles in seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery, against a background of potted fern.

Dr. Ben Oliphint performed the ceremony at 5 p.m. following a program of nuptial music by Leroy Anspach, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Leroy Anspach as she sang "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE ENTERS

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Charles Lee Vollbaum. She wore a full length gown of white crystal yarn taffeta. The fitted bodice, encircled by a crushed cummerbund, was a demi - fitted sheath and was backed by a large bow with floor length streamers. Her elbow length tulle veil fell from a pearl tiara and she wore three quarter length white satin gloves and carried a cascade of white roses with white satin bows.

Miss Jeanne Slaughter attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Susanne Morris was bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Susan Duggins and Miss Dixie Vollbaum with Miss Cindy Geisler and Miss Terri Cartwright serving as flower girls.

The bride's attendants wore identical frocks of yellow crystal yarn taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodices and bell - shaped skirts. Their portrait hats of yellow tulle were topped with bows matching their dresses and they carried bouquets of yellow roses with green velvet leaves and yellow tulle bows.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Pat Dunn. Johnny Smith served as groomsman and ushers were Fred Allen, Moe Tyner and Joe Tyer.

Candles were lighted by Bennie Gammill and Bill Alexander.

MOHER'S GOWNS

For the occasion, Mrs. Slaughter, mother of the bride, wore a pale blue lace sheath with hat of blue roses, matching linen shoes and a corsage of white rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Dunn, wore a rose - colored lace sheath with satin cummerbund, hat of roses and matching satin shoes. Her corsage was also of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Candelabra holding lighted tapers were used throughout the reception room. An arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums centered the refreshment table, which held a silver coffee service at one end, and a crystal punch bowl encircled with English ivy and yellow chrysanthemums, opposite. A three tiered cake, with rambling roses encircling each tier was served from another table by Mrs. John Bellan. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Darrow Cartwright and Miss Jean Harper while Mrs. James Geisler was at the coffee services.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Lucian Branch, Mrs. W. D. McGhee, Mrs. Herman Gunn and Mrs. Ben Oliphint. Tea girls were Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Rickey Kepner and Miss Pat Porter. Mrs. Joe Tyer presided at the bride's book, and Miss Lisa Cartwright distributed rice bags.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss., and New Orleans, the bride was wearing a blue silk linen suit, lined with white silk, a blue hat, matching multi - colored shoes and bag and a red rosebud corsage. The couple will establish a home at 4010 Mandell St., in Houston, Texas.

A graduate of Neville High School Mrs. Dunn is a junior student at Rice University in Houston, where she is a member of Pallas Athene Literary Society. Mr. Dunn was graduated from West Monroe High School, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston. He is presently employed in Houston and working on his master's degree at the University of Houston. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Out - of - town guests were Miss Susanne Morris, Glenn Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tyer, Arthur Mahan, Miss Mary Ellen McVickers and W. L. Gunter-Givens Vows Are Read In Candlelight

A candlelight ceremony on April 20 at 7:30 p.m. united in marriage, Miss Mary Ann Givens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Givens Sr., Winnsboro, and Edwin Isles Gunter, son of Mrs. Harriet Gunter of Glenmora.

Rev. Fred Schwindimann performed the double - ring vows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Graves, aunt and uncle of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before a white prie dieu against a background of candelabra holding cathedral tapers, fern trees of jade foliage and baskets of white stock, pompons and greenery. An arrangement of pink Aristocrat roses and white stock in a crystal apothecary jar graced the coffee table and an arrangement of Killeen daisies completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a blue Moygashel embroidered linen dress, styled with stand - away neckline and deep bands of white Alencon lace. She wore a small pillbox hat of blue and white flowers and carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis encircling a white orchid on a small white testament, with satin leaves and white maline poufs. Her only jewelry was a tiny gold chain with a cameo, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Carolyn Smith was maid of honor and wore a pink sheer dress with a lace and straw hat and pink slippers. Her bouquet was a modified cascade of pink Aristocrat roses accented with shell pink satin ribbon and rose leaves.

Elwin Odom served as best man and Shelby Graves, nephew of the bride, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Graves, mother of the bride, wore a light blue linen sheath with matching accessories and Mrs. Gunter chose a blue sheer with complimentary accessories. Both wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

Preceding the ceremony and during the reception which followed Mrs. Anne Moore presented a program of nuptial music.

The refreshment table was garlanded with Baker's fern and centered with a mass arrangement of pink roses and white snapdragons in a crystal epergne. Mrs. Vernon Roden presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Rebecca Glasgow served the wedding cake. Guests were registered by Miss Sharon Graves, niece of the bride.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing an oyster white suit with black buttons and braid and black patent accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will be at home at 307½ South Bonner in Ruston.

Mrs. Gunter will graduate from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in May with a degree in elementary education. Mr. Gunter will receive his master's degree in botany from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in August. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

MRS. JOHN RICHARD DUNN

Betty Jo Slaughter, John R. Dunn Exchange Vows In Candlelight Scene

St. Paul's Methodist Church was scene of the double ring ceremony Saturday, April 21 which united in marriage Miss Betty Jo Slaughter and John Richard Dunn. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Carlton Slaughter, 1509 Spencer, and the late Mr. Slaughter. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Dunn, 110 Cryer St., West Monroe.

Centering the altar was a fan shaped arrangement of Easter lilies, at each side of which were white candles in seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery, against a background of potted fern.

Dr. Ben Oliphint performed the ceremony at 5 p.m. following a program of nuptial music by Leroy Anspach, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Leroy Anspach as she sang "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE ENTERS

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Charles Lee Vollbaum. She wore a full length gown of white crystal yarn taffeta. The fitted bodice, encircled by a crushed cummerbund, was a demi - fitted sheath and was backed by a large bow with floor length streamers. Her elbow length tulle veil fell from a pearl tiara and she wore three quarter length white satin gloves and carried a cascade of white roses with white satin bows.

Miss Jeanne Slaughter attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Susanne Morris was bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Susan Duggins and Miss Dixie Vollbaum with Miss Cindy Geisler and Miss Terri Cartwright serving as flower girls.

The bride's attendants wore identical frocks of yellow crystal yarn taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodices and bell - shaped skirts. Their portrait hats of yellow tulle were topped with bows matching their dresses and they carried bouquets of yellow roses with green velvet leaves and yellow tulle bows.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Pat Dunn. Johnny Smith served as groomsman and ushers were Fred Allen, Moe Tyner and Joe Tyer.

Candles were lighted by Bennie Gammill and Bill Alexander.

MOHER'S GOWNS

For the occasion, Mrs. Slaughter, mother of the bride, wore a pale blue lace sheath with hat of blue roses, matching linen shoes and a corsage of white rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Dunn, wore a rose - colored lace sheath with satin cummerbund, hat of roses and matching satin shoes. Her corsage was also of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Candelabra holding lighted tapers were used throughout the reception room. An arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums centered the refreshment table, which held a silver coffee service at one end, and a crystal punch bowl encircled with English ivy and yellow chrysanthemums, opposite. A three tiered cake, with rambling roses encircling each tier was served from another table by Mrs. John Bellan. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Darrow Cartwright and Miss Jean Harper while Mrs. James Geisler was at the coffee services.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Lucian Branch, Mrs. W. D. McGhee, Mrs. Herman Gunn and Mrs. Ben Oliphint. Tea girls were Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Rickey Kepner and Miss Pat Porter. Mrs. Joe Tyer presided at the bride's book, and Miss Lisa Cartwright distributed rice bags.

WEDDING TRIP

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss., and New Orleans, the bride was wearing a blue silk linen suit, lined with white silk, a blue hat, matching multi - colored shoes and bag and a red rosebud corsage. The couple will establish a home at 4010 Mandell St., in Houston, Texas.

A graduate of Neville High School Mrs. Dunn is a junior student at Rice University in Houston, where she is a member of Pallas Athene Literary Society. Mr. Dunn was graduated from West Monroe High School, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston. He is presently employed in Houston and working on his master's degree at the University of Houston. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Nude Mood Dominates Sportswear For Spring

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) —A nude mood dominates sports and lounge clothes in the resort and spring collections.

It's the revival of a bareness which has been around since the ancient harem — if we're to believe the costuming in movie extravanganzas on the subject. We're talking about the bared midriff in which the top of the bottom of the costume settles well below the waistline.

The modern versions had their beginnings on the Riviera about a year and a half ago — the same coastal area where that other exposure called the bikini helped make such as Brigitte Bardot famous.

First, the look was called St. Tropez, because of its Mediterranean origin. Now, from the Riviera to the rocky mountains and on west they're Americanized into hipster, hip hanger or hip hugger.

Varied In Cut

The hipsters are cut in varying degrees from one inch below normal waistline to below the navel. Mostly, you'll see the hipster look in trousers, but some designers also have introduced it in skirts.

John Weitz of New York used denim for both the sleeveless, bolero-type top and an above-knee skirt for one sports costume.

Toppings generally for the hipsters are extremely short or long enough to tuck into the lowering waistband, if a girl figures she is not svelte enough for the bare look. For the very slim, the cropped tops show part of the rib cage.

For the too hippy of the hipsters, there are some standard exercises which will help fit them neatly into the low-slungs. These figure fixers come from Professor Fern Yats of the Physical Education Department, Barnard College, Columbia University.

"Take on the exercises only with your doctor's advice," she said, "and start with a few of them at a time, building the number gradually."

Prevent Rust

Breadboxes and other tin containers can be kept from rusting if a thin coat of paraffin is applied inside. Take a pin and open the air holes in the breadbox for ventilation.

MRS. THOMAS FREDRICK DENNIG

Double Ring Vows Unite Miss Alwood, Mr. Denning

Miss Carolyn Ruth Alwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Richard Alwood of Ferriday and Thomas Fredrick Dennig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Bartel Dennig of Ruston, exchanged wedding vows Saturday, April 21 in the First Presbyterian Church of Ferriday. The Rev. Clarence E. Pickens officiated at the double ring ceremony.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Ritcher Alwood and the late Mr. Alwood and of Roy Albert Brown and the late Mrs. Brown. The bridegroom is the grandson of William Fredrick Dennig and the late Mrs. Dennig, and of Mrs. James Bean and the late Mr. Bean.

The chancel rail was garlanded with ivy, held in place by bouquets of lilies and stock, behind which were pedestal baskets of stock and Easter lilies interspersed with white tapers in gilt antique candelabra. Emerald palms formed a background.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Judy Willis, organist, who also accompanied Miss Peggy Conner of Harlingen, Texas, as she sang "Because," "The Song of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace. The bodice etched in sequins and seed pearls rose to a high round neck and the full skirt extended into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a pearl tiara and she carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was an antique lavaliere, belonging to her aunt.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Betty Serio, maid of honor, wore a gown of shell pink silk organza with a satin banded empire waist, a controlled skirt front and wind swept back. Bridesmaids, Miss Linda Lee Long, cousin of the bride; Miss Frances Virginia Cone, Lake Providence; Miss Charlaine Turner, Miss Frances Maxwell, Miss Jinks Coleman, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Kathy Dennig, sister of the bridegroom, were dressed identically in roseberry pink silk organza frocks. All wore tiny satin pillbox hats, trimmed with seed pearls and satin ribbons, to match their gowns, and carried white wicker baskets filled with multicolored Ester Reed daisies and ivy.

The flower girl, Miss Susan Chauvin, cousin of the bride, also wore a shell pink gown and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Dennig was attended by Harry Arch Turner III as best man and groomsmen were Richard Calvin Alwood, brother of the bride; Hillman Edward Hunter, Julian Swayze Glanton, Troyce Guice, Lawrence John Chauvin, and John Elmer Alwood Jr., both cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Alwood chose a mint green chiffon dress in Grecian style, with which she wore a pillbox hat and veiling of the same shade and matching accessories. Mrs. Dennig, mother of the bridegroom, wore a lace dress in tones of beige with darker accesories.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception at their home on Lake St. John, where the reception rooms were decorated with Easter lilies and ivy. Presiding at the guest book were Miss Carroll Guice and Miss Kim Guice. The bride's table, covered with white net over pink satin was centered with the tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses. Mrs. Marion Newman and Miss Loretta Dennig served the cake and alternating at the punch bowl were Miss Janice Roden and Miss Rene Griffen. Champagne was served by Miss Mary Nell Dennig and Miss Carolyn Rosenberg.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a beige suit with roseberry pink accessories and a corsage of roses from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will be at home on Chrippa Plantation at Frogmore, La. Mrs. Dennig is a graduate of Ferriday High School and attended Northeast Louisiana State College and Kilgore Junior College. Mr. Dennig graduated from West Monroe High School and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE EARL SMITH

Smith-Sutton Wedding Held In Baptist Church

Baskets of yellow gladioli and Easter lilies against a background of magnolia foliage and white tapers in branched candelabra, entwined with English ivy formed a setting in College Place Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Billie Jean Sutton and Leslie Earl Smith.

Rev. T. Earl Ogg performed the double ring ceremony on April 19 at 7 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sutton, 3400 Grammont, Monroe, and Mr. Smith is the son of Mrs. Leslie W. Smith and the late Mr. Smith, of Jonesboro.

Traditional nuptial music was rendered by Miss Betty Pope, organist, who also accompanied Rev. Walter Mangham Jr., as he sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Candles were lighted by Misses Peggy and Carolyn Gibbs, who wore yellow eyelet embroidered organdy frocks with white accessories and whimsey headpieces.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown featured an imported Alencon lace bodice with high scalloped neckline embroidered with seed pearls. Long sleeves formed points over the hands and the skirt was fashioned of four ruffled tiers of tulle over taffeta with each tier edged with Alencon lace. Her veil of lace edged tulle was attached to a tiara of pearls and crystals, which matched a single strand pearl and crystal necklace, worn by the groom's mother on her wedding day. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses surrounding a white orchid and showered with white satin love knots and streamers.

Miss Louise Moak, who served as maid of honor, wore a dress of mint green embroidered eyelet organdy over cotton satin, styled with bateau neckline and soft pleated skirt. She wore matching satin pumps and short white gloves and carried a bouquet of yellow glamelias with ivy sprays. Her headdress was of petals of dress material with short veil attached. Miss Patricia Kelly, bridesmaid, was dressed identically to the honor attendant with white accessories, as was the flower girl, Denita Ann Sutton, sister of the bride, who carried a basket of white chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern.

Serving as best man was Robert W. Rich Jr., of Baton Rouge, and groomsman was Tommy Joe Brown of Jonesboro. Ushers were Bert Crawley, W. C. Sonny Spears, Ronnie Marrus, all of Jonesboro and Raymond Jones of Monroe. Emmett Gibbs of Monroe was junior page.

Mrs. Sutton, mother of the bride, wore a moss green crepe sheath with flower hat in shades of beige and green, bone accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Smith wore a moss green sheath with white hat and gloves, moss green shoes and a white orchid.

RECEPTION

Baskets of Easter lilies and yellow gladioli were placed near the entrance and formed a background for the receiving line at the reception which followed the ceremony in the church social hall. Mrs. Charles Lockwood, sister of the bride, of Ruston, presided at the bride's book at a table decorated with a memory candle and sprays of white spring flowers.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with white net with satin border and lace appliques. Centerpiece of white stock and chrysanthemums was flanked by white candles in crystal holders. At either end of the table were the tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Robert W. Rich Sr., aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake and Mrs. E. S. Gibbs presided at the punch bowl. They were assisted by Mrs. Hurvie Moak and Mrs. E. S. Parrish. Miss Betty Rich, Miss Debbie Harrison and Miss Martha Brooks, also wearing dresses of mint green, assisted with the courtesies.

For a short wedding trip the bride changed to a blue embroidered linen costume with short jacket, blue petal hat and white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will be at home at 3400 Grammont until end of the spring semester after which they will reside in Jonesboro.

The bride was graduated from Neville High School and is presently a junior at Northeast Louisiana State College, where she is a math education major. She will continue her education at Louisiana Tech in Ruston beginning with the summer semester. Mr. Smith graduated from Jonesboro Hodge High School and is now a junior at Louisiana Tech majoring in physics. He is in advanced ROTC and other school organizations and plans to continue his studies at Louisiana Tech.

MRS. MARCUS EDWARD COOPER JR.

Double Ring Vows Unite Minette Goff, Mr. Cooper

In a candlelight ceremony at 5 p.m. Saturday, April 21, Miss Minette Goff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Goff Jr., of Ruston, became the bride of Marcus Edward Cooper Jr., son of Colonel and Mrs. Marcus Edward Cooper of Rayville and Fort Stewart, Georgia.

The Rev. Douglas L. McGuire officiated at the double ring ceremony in the Trinity Methodist Church, Ruston, as the couple stood beneath an arch entwined with greenery and white blossoms. Palms, candletrees and pedestal baskets of white spring flowers formed a background for the setting and the chancel rail was adorned with garlands of greenery and large white mums, interspersed with groupings of white candles. Pews were marked with white satin bows, nylon tulle and candles.

Dr. Marshall Bretz, organist, presented a concert of nuptial music and accompanied Kendall Hearn as he sang "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at conclusion of the ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a floor length gown of bouquet taffeta with appliques of reembroidered lace trimmed with iridescents and pearls. The lace bodice featured cap sleeves and a set-in midriff and the voluminous skirt had double panels of lace in front and sides sweeping to back fullness, terminating in a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of illusion fell from a headpiece fashioned of a white satin rose with petals of organza and lily of the valley. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and valley lilies.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Albert Lazarus of Ruston was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Anne Brandon Cooper of Rayville, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Anita Jane McKinney of Lake Charles, cousin of the bride and Miss Charlyn Kelly of Baton Rouge. They wore identical dresses of pale yellow silk organza, fashioned with satin-banded empire waist, controlled skirt front and wind-swept back. They wore matching pillbox hats with veiling and bands of seed pearls and carried bouquets of yellow roses in white colonial lace holders with nile green ribbon streamers.

Col. Cooper attended his son as best man. Ushers were James A. Hoogland, Albert Lazarus, Ruston; David Burke, and Lanny Graves of Rayville. Serving as groomsmen were George Purvis of Rayville; Kennon Goff of Ruston and Frederick Preaus of Farmerville. Candles were lighted by Mark Cooper Brown and Bill Cooper of Rayville.

Mrs. Goff chose for her daughter's wedding a camellia pink silk shantung sheath with scoop neckline and brief sleeves. She wore a small matching hat and shoes and a cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Cooper wore an aqua lace sheath with matching accessories and a cymbidium orchid.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Goff were hosts at a reception in their home. A tiered silver container holding white pompons, candytuft and maline graced a hall table and standards of white flowers were used about the reception rooms.

The bride's table, covered with a white organdy floor - length cloth, was centered with a tall silver candelabra with cherubs, white stock and deutzier. Garlands of smilax extended from the base to the table edge. The silver punch bowl, encircled with smilax, was at one end of the table with the tiered white cake, decorated in yellow, opposite. Alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. W. A. Marbury Jr., Mrs. J. C. Ritchie and Mrs. J. C. Love Jr. The cake was served by Mrs. Dillard Darby, Mrs. J. W. Reeves and Mrs. Cecile McKinley. Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. James A. Hoogland, Mrs. J. M. Baker, Mrs. D. D. Lomax, Mrs. O. O. Goyne, and Mrs. L. O. Gahagan. Tea girls were Miss Stephanie Hearn, Miss Mary Ruth Fowler, and Miss Beverlee Biscomb. Members of the house party wore white carnation corsages.

Miss Rebekah Marbury presided at the guest book from a table graced by a single white candle. White tulle rice bags, tied with yellow ribbons, were distributed by Misses Penny Love, Caroline Marbury and Melissa Hoogland.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing an aqua ensemble with matching flowered hat, bone accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will be at home in Baton Rouge until June at which time they will return to Ruston.

JOBS FOR YOUTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most immediate problems facing youth is the need to find jobs which fill the individual's need for status and satisfaction, it was reported at the annual conference of the Child Study Association of America.

"Lack of such jobs contributes directly to delinquency," Mrs. Clarence K. Whitehill, president of the national family education organization, said.

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE EARL SMITH

Smith-Sutton Wedding Held In Baptist Church

Baskets of yellow gladioli and Easter lilies against a background of magnolia foliage and white tapers in branched candelabra, entwined with English ivy formed a setting in College Place Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Billie Jean Sutton and Leslie Earl Smith.

Rev. T. Earl Ogg performed the double ring ceremony on April 19 at 7 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sutton, 3400 Grammont, Monroe, and Mr. Smith is the son of Mrs. Leslie W. Smith and the late Mr. Smith, of Jonesboro.

Traditional nuptial music was rendered by Miss Betty Pope, organist, who also accompanied Rev. Walter Mangham Jr., as he sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Candles were lighted by Misses Peggy and Carolyn Gibbs, who wore yellow eyelet embroidered organdy frocks with white accessories and whimsey headpieces.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown featured an imported Alencon lace bodice with high scalloped neckline embroidered with seed pearls. Long sleeves formed points over the hands and the skirt was fashioned of four ruffled tiers of tulle over taffeta with each tier edged with Alencon lace. Her veil of lace edged tulle was attached to a tiara of pearls and crystals, which matched a single strand pearl and crystal necklace, worn by the groom's mother on her wedding day. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses surrounding a white orchid and showered with white satin love knots and streamers.

Miss Louise Moak, who served as maid of honor, wore a dress of mint green embroidered eyelet organdy over cotton satin, styled with bateau neckline and soft pleated skirt. She wore matching satin pumps and short white gloves and carried a bouquet of yellow glamelias with ivy sprays. Her headdress was of petals of dress material with short veil attached. Miss Patricia Kelly, bridesmaid, was dressed identically to the honor attendant with white accessories, as was the flower girl, Denita Ann Sutton, sister of the bride, who carried a basket of white chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern.

Serving as best man was Robert W. Rich Jr., of Baton Rouge, and groomsman was Tommy Joe Brown of Jonesboro. Ushers were Bert Crawley, W. C. Sonny Spears, Ronnie Marrus, all of Jonesboro and Raymond Jones of Monroe. Emmett Gibbs of Monroe was junior page.

Mrs. Sutton, mother of the bride, wore a moss green crepe sheath with flower hat in shades of beige and green, bone accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Smith wore a moss green sheath with white hat and gloves, moss green shoes and a white orchid.

RECEPTION

Baskets of Easter lilies and yellow gladioli were placed near the entrance and formed a background for the receiving line at the reception which followed the ceremony in the church social hall. Mrs. Charles Lockwood, sister of the bride, of Ruston, presided at the bride's book at a table decorated with a memory candle and sprays of white spring flowers.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with white net with satin border and lace appliques. Centerpiece of white stock and chrysanthemums was flanked by white candles in crystal holders. At either end of the table were the tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Robert W. Rich Sr., aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake and Mrs. E. S. Gibbs presided at the punch bowl. They were assisted by Mrs. Hurvie Moak and Mrs. E. S. Parrish. Miss Betty Rich, Miss Debbie Harrison and Miss Martha Brooks, also wearing dresses of mint green, assisted with the courtesies.

For a short wedding trip the bride changed to a blue embroidered linen costume with short jacket, blue petal hat and white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They will be at home at 3400 Grammont until end of the spring semester after which they will reside in Jonesboro.

The bride was graduated from Neville High School and is presently a junior at Northeast Louisiana State College, where she is a math education major. She will continue her education at Louisiana Tech in Ruston beginning with the summer semester. Mr. Smith graduated from Jonesboro Hodge High School and is now a junior at Louisiana Tech majoring in physics. He is in advanced ROTC and other school organizations and plans to continue his studies at Louisiana Tech.

MRS. MARCUS EDWARD COOPER JR.

Double Ring Vows Unite Minette Goff, Mr. Cooper

In a candlelight ceremony at 5 p.m. Saturday, April 21, Miss Minette Goff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Goff Jr., of Ruston, became the bride of Marcus Edward Cooper Jr., son of Colonel and Mrs. Marcus Edward Cooper of Rayville and Fort Stewart, Georgia.

The Rev. Douglas L. McGuire officiated at the double ring ceremony in the Trinity Methodist Church, Ruston, as the couple stood beneath an arch entwined with greenery and white blossoms. Palms, candletrees and pedestal baskets of white spring flowers formed a background for the setting and the chancel rail was adorned with garlands of greenery and large white mums, interspersed with groupings of white candles. MRS. JOHN HARLAND BENNETT

Bennett-Johnson Vows Read In Central Baptist

Baskets of white gladioli and seven - branched candelabra holding white tapers formed a setting in Central Baptist Church for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Jackie Lou Johnson and John Harland Bennett. Rev. Charles B. Littleton performed the double ring ceremony Friday, April 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Buckhorn Bend Drive, and Mr. Bennett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett Sr., of Bernice.

Appropriate wedding music was presented by Miss Nancy Marie Holloday, organist, and Jim Stroud, soloist, who sang "Because," and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza with panels of pearl and sequin trimmed Chantilly lace extending from the Sabrina neckline to the hem of the bouffant skirt, which terminated in a chapel train. Long sleeves of the lace bodice tapered to lily points over the hands. Her short bouffant veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and her bouquet was a purple throated white orchid, surrounded by fleur d'amour, and lily of the valley. A strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom was her only jewelry.

Miss Lynda Johnson, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Di-Ann Laird, Miss Carolyn Wills and Miss Elizabeth Van Matre. They wore identical frocks of coral polished cotton styled with fitted bodices and bouffant overskirts of matching organza. Their headdresses were of white veiling and they carried bouquets of coral glamelias showered with white streamers. They wore strands of pearls, gifts from the bride.

Candles were lighted by Miss De'Lane Cooper and Wayne Naron, cousins of the bride.

Richard Brinkman, brother-in-law of Mr. Bennett, served as best man and groomsmen were Buddy Earl, Jimmy Arnold and Bennie Hollis.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a dress of mint green silk with hat of spring shades and bone accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige sheath dress with hat of multicolored flowers and bone accessories. Both had corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church social center. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth over green taffeta, with an overskirt of white net. Bouquets of the bride and her attendants' were used as the centerpiece, flanked by white candles. The tiered wedding cake on a mirror plaque was embossed with white sugar bells and decorated in colors of green and coral. Mrs. Woodrow Bailey had charge of the reception, assisted by Mrs. Webber Laird. The cake was served by Mrs. Jackie Norton and serving as tea girls were Misses Kay Terrell, Ann Hobgood, Virginia Hendricks and Betty Jean Sims.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks the bride changed to a turquoise suit with navy shoes and bag, white hat and gloves and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 3008 Breville Avenue.

Mrs. Bennett graduated from Ouachita Parish high school, and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. A graduate of Bernice high school, Mr. Bennett is presently a student at Northeast.

FINE MEASURE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fluoride in teeth now can be measured in amounts less than one ten-billionth of an ounce, it was reported at the 141st meeting of the American Chemical Society.

The new method of analysis already is being applied to precise measurement of fluoride before and after treatment of teeth with anti-decay agent.

Team Neutrals With Brilliant Accessories

Q: I have two new loveseats in beige brocade and a chair in green. These and marble-topped tables are all French Provincial in style. What color rug, walls, draperies and lamps should I use?

A: Neutral beige is a perfect starting point, you can proceed safely in any direction. I presume your green chair is a medium shade. Make neutrals the major element in your scheme, with green secondary color and brilliant accents for drama. This might involve ivory walls, rich moss green carpet, black and white used for some accessories, apricot and lacquer red or aquamarine and teal blue for others.

Q: Living room is paneled in natural fir, beige floor and is flecked with white, brown and silver. Have a gold sofa, tangerine chair, another in print of green, red, yellow and white. Barrel chair is in print of beige with orange, black and yellow. Draperies are beige, area rug is blue. Room seems to need something. What should I do?

A: You have too many colors in small amounts with no strong color plan. Concentrate on golds and oranges. Replace the rug, recover red and green print chair. Chair in rich pumpkin tweed, golden yellow rug, pehaps with border or woven design in rusts, dark brown and white. Accessories and pillows in white, tangerine would complete the scheme.

Q: Draperies and tables are antique white, two chairs cocoa one persimmon. What colors of draperies for walls and carpet and couch?

A: Stick to pale colors of draperies for walls and carpet. Sofa might be brighter — perhaps orange and white print or yellow tweed. Accessories in yellow, persimmon, sky blue.

Richard Brinkman, brother-in-law of Mr. Bennett, served as best man and groomsmen were Buddy Earl, Jimmy Arnold and Bennie Hollis.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a dress of mint green silk with hat of spring shades and bone accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige sheath dress with hat of multi-colored flowers and bone accessories. Both had corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church social center. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth over green taffeta, with an overskirt of white net. Bouquets of the bride and her attendants' were used as the centerpiece, flanked by white candles. The tiered wedding cake on a mirror plaque was embossed with white sugar bells and decorated in colors of green and coral. Mrs. Woodrow Bailey had charge of the reception, assisted by Mrs. Webber Laird. The cake was served by Mrs. Jackie Norton and serving as tea girls were Misses Kay Terrell, Ann Hobgood, Virginia Hendricks and Betty Jean Sims.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks the bride changed to a turquoise suit with navy shoes and bag, white hat and gloves and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 3602 Breville Avenue.

Mrs. Bennett graduated from Ouachita Parish high school, and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. A graduate of Bernice high school, Mr. Bennett is presently a student at Northeast.

FINE MEASURE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fluoride in teeth now can be measured in amounts less than one ten-billionth of an ounce, it was reported at the 141st meeting of the American Chemical Society.

The new method of analysis already is being applied to precise measurement of fluoride before and after treatment of teeth with anti-decay agent.

Team Neutrals With Brilliant Accessories

Q: I have two new loveseats in beige brocade and a chair in green. These and marble-topped tables are all French Provincial in style. What color rug, walls, draperies and lamps should I use?

A: Neutral beige is a perfect starting point, you can proceed safely in any direction. I presume your green chair is a medium shade. Make neutrals the major element in your scheme, with green secondary color and brilliant accents for drama. This might involve ivory walls, rich moss green carpet, black and white used for some accessories, apricot and lacquer red or aquamarine and teal blue for others.

Q: Living room is paneled in natural fir, beige floor and is flecked with white, brown and silver. Have a gold sofa, tangerine chair, another in print of green, red, yellow and white. Barrel chair is in print of beige with orange, black and yellow. Draperies are beige, area rug is blue. Room seems to need something. What should I do?

A: You have too many colors in small amounts with no strong color plan. Concentrate on golds and oranges. Replace the rug, recover red and green print chair. Chair in rich pumpkin tweed, golden yellow rug, pehaps with border or woven design in rusts, dark brown and white. Accessories and pillows in white, tangerine would complete the scheme.

Q: Draperies and tables are antique white, two chairs cocoa one persimmon. What colors of draperies for walls and carpet and couch?

A: Stick to pale colors of draperies for walls and carpet. Sofa might be brighter — perhaps orange and white print or yellow tweed. Accessories in yellow, persimmon, sky blue.

Time To Root Mum Cuttings

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you have planned to make some chrysanthemum cuttings, but have failed to do so, better get busy. Take three to four inch lengths from new growth on the side of the old plant, put in sand or vermiculite, sprinkle with water daily for about a week. It takes about three weeks to root.

Now is the time to visit your nurserymen for those plants to add color to the landscape during the summer months. Of course, you had planned all year to plant the seed for your plants, but the time to put the plants out has arrived so you need to visit the nursery for plants.

There are so many plants to select from if you want white ones, the best little plant is periwinkle (vinca). This plant demands very little care, needs very little moisture in fact in August when the other plants are looking weary from the summer heat the periwinkle is gorgeous. The foliage is a beautiful shade of green. This plant used in a large area of the landscape really adds interest.

LOVELY PLANT

The petunia is another lovely plant now available at your local nursery that will add color and about most any color to the landscape during the summer months.

And, of course, let's don't forget our caladiums. If you haven't planted your bulbs as yet it is time to get them in the ground. The caladiums really add interest with the beautiful leaf as well as the color. Be sure if you are using several colors group all one color in the same area. This will give a much more interesting note to your landscape.

DRESS REVUE

The annual Home Demonstration dress revue will be held Saturday, May 5th at 9:30 a.m. at the Agricultural Auditorium in West Monroe. The judges for the revue will be Miss Fae Roark, clothing specialist of LSU Agricultural Extension; Mrs. Ann May, home economic teacher of Ouachita Parish High School; and Miss Lola Caldwell, home demonstration agent from Caldwell Parish.

Miss Betty Jane Hodgkins, assistant clothing specialist from LSU Agriculture Extension, will score the construction of the garments.

H. D. SCHEDULE

Your Home Demonstration Agent's schedule for the month of May is: May 1, 9:30 a.m., Progressive, with Mrs. Roy Simmons; 1 p.m., Lakeshore; May 2, 9:30 a.m., Thrifty Homemaker, at 113 Oak Drive, West Monroe; 2 p.m. Colony at Forsythe Park; May 3, 9:30 a.m., Better Homemaker, with Mrs. Frank Buce; 2 p.m., Watson, with Mrs. Glen Jones; May 4, 9:30 a.m. McGuire, with Mrs. Robert Ingram; 2 p.m. Woodlawn, with Mrs. J. W. Bush; May 5, Dress Revue; May 8, 9, 10, Baton Rouge attending State Home Demonstration Council meeting; May 11, 9:30 a.m., Swartz, with Mrs. Eldon Arnold; 2 p.m. Liberty, with Mrs. Betty Camp; May 14 at 1:30 p.m. Okaloosa; May 15, 9:30 Cypress; 2 p.m., Bosco, with Mrs. Malcolm Ray; May 16, 9:30 a.m. Claiborne with Mrs. R. H. Hearne, 2 p.m., Eureka; May 17, 9:30 p.m. Lamkin, 2 p.m. McClendon, with Mrs. Elbert Moore; May 18, 1 p.m., Sterlington, with Mrs. Joe Pratt; May 21, 9:30 a.m., Cadeville, with Mrs. James Sturdivant; May 22, 23, District meeting; May 24, 1 p.m., Drew with Mrs. W. O. Northcutt; May 25, 10 a.m. Parish Council meeting; May 29 garden tour; May 30, Lenwil, Welcome Home; May 31, Leader training at 9:30 a.m. for home management leaders.

FARM BUREAU WOMEN

Mrs. Rankin Earle, chairman of the women committee of Farm Bureau urges all women to attend the meeting Monday, April 30 at 9:30 a.m., Louis Lock Room of Ouachita Parish Public Library. The state meeting will be discussed and Ouachita Parish has some definite assignments so be sure to come and help with this project.

Pascal Norris, local attorney, will speak on Americanism. The women's committee invite the men of Farm Bureau to come hear Norris and make this a joint meeting.

Other officers of the Women's Committee are: Mrs. J. W. Standley, secretary and Mrs. Tripp Faulk, reporter.

CLOTHING WORKSHOP

Yours truly had a delightful clothing workshop last week. The seven new sewing machines which the Police Jury purchased for our work really helped make the workshop a pleasure. A great big thanks from us, the homemakers of Ouachita, to the Police Jury members. The following took part in the workshop: Mrs. Robert Joyner, Mrs. James B. Terral, Mrs. Owal G. Stone; Mrs. Charles B. Gorman, Mrs. Danny Sullivan, Mrs. Terry Owens, Mrs. Huey P. Martin, Mrs. Steve McCrary, Mrs. Jimmy Greer, Mrs. Johnny Carter, Mrs. Carl Brister, Mrs. J. O. Street, Mrs. O. T. Audirsch, Mrs. James Griffin, Mrs. H. P. Collie, Mrs. Juluis Sanderson.

Scientists Learn Faults' Lengths With Computers

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists have found a way to determine the length of slippage along fault lines in great earthquakes—and without visiting the scene.

They do it, the California Institute of Technology reported Saturday, by analyzing seismograms with computers.

They have found, for instance, that the great Mongolian quake of 1957 resulted from slippage along 340 miles of a fault, or crack in the earth's surface. They know that the movement was in a southeasterly direction, at a velocity of 7,000 miles an hour. Horizontal displacement was 10.5 feet, vertical displacement as much as 19.5 feet.

Russian investigators were unable to get such precise information because the area was covered with ice and snow.

Geophysicists Ari Ben-Menahem and M. Nafi Toksov of the Caltech seismological laboratory made their computations entirely from seismic records obtained by laboratory instruments, processed by a computer. Seismograms are graphs depicting shock waves in the earth's crust created by quakes.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

The Tailor Trix pressing board winner of the week is Mrs. V. Smith, Hamilton, Ont., who makes this suggestion:

"After having difficulty drying oven mitts because of the heavy padding I decided to make 'slip covers' for them. Now the mitts do not have to be washed so frequently. I just put a mitt on two layers of fabric, allowing a seam allowance. Seam the raw edges, turn and finish the hem with bias tape. In 5 minutes I have a new cover which is very easy to launder."

EXTRA TOUCH

"Dear Eunice,

"I couldn't wait to make the 'cocktail hat' from the pattern I sent for from your column. I find it was even cuter than the picture, and fun to make. I am using a pair of 'clip' earrings clipped on the hat for a little 'extra touch.' There are probably other little touches such as a flower, fruit, etc. to make it look more individual."

Mrs. F. W.

DRESS PLACKET

"Dear Eunice,

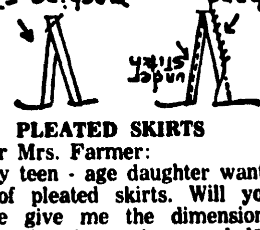
"In making little girls' dresses, I can't seem to get the placket in the back. Can you help me?"

Mrs. J. T. W.

Dear Mrs. J. T. W.:

This is a rather tedious technique and is actually the same principle as used in "gussets." In other words, you must re-inforce the area you are going to clip with tiny machine stitches first to prevent the clipped fabric from fraying out. Try to use a strip of fabric with one side of selvage for your continuous lap, this will keep it from looking so thick.

The secret to keep it from pulling out at the bottom, since it is only held together with ONE thread (any more than one would make a tuck), is to fold the two finished sides of the continuous lap over each other and diagonally stitch through BOTH of them about one half inch above the lower edge diagonally down to the end. This will keep from pulling against only one thread. The illustration should help you.



PLEATED SKIRTS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"My teen-age daughter wants lots of pleated skirts. Will you please give me the dimensions for figuring the yardage needed?"

MRS. A. S.

Dear Mrs. A. S.:

For the average "generously pleated" skirt, you will need three times her hip measurement for the skirt. When the skirt is pleated, it must be as large as her hips or else the pleats will fan out in a very unattractive way. The excess must now be held in at the waistline. This can be done by making each pleat a little smaller at the waistline before applying the waist band. If the skirt is boxpleated, you can make a small dart in the center of each space between the pleats and this will make it fit smoothly at the waist.

MATCH PLAIDS

"Dear Eunice,

"Will you please tell me how to baste a plaid or striped material to insure a perfectly matched seam? Thank you for all your excellent 'tips'."

Mrs. J. M.D.

Dear Mrs. J. M. D.:

First of all, the cutting of plaids and stripes is the most important step when it comes to the finished product looking matched and even. Be sure the center back seam will meet at the "center" of a plaid, so it will look unbroken after stitching.

Fold and press the seam allowance on one side of the seam. Next, lay the pressed or folded seam allowance OVER the other seam allowance, right side of fabric, matching the plaid perfectly. Pin this seam in place. Next, slipstitch the folded edge of the seam line to the seam line of the under section. Be careful that you keep your stitches in the FOLD of the seam. You can now turn the seams to the wrong side and machine stitch the seam. It is a good idea to pin carefully before stitching so that the fabric will not slip.

To answer many questions concerning plaids, when cutting the BODICE, you must always match the side seams BELOW the side dart, not at the armhold.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Beauty Is Plentiful In Flower Displays

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Lafayette Ruffin, student of Louisiana Tech, Ruston, presented the T. V. and Garden Center show last week. As always, Lafayette made beautiful arrangements for his show, using an array of lovely spring flowers.

The first arrangement that he showed, after having made it prior to the show, was a massed design featuring iris of two types and colors, the Dutch iris and the bearded iris in colors of golden yellow and deep into light purple, (complimentary colors).

These were placed in a large, low, green bowl. For filler he used the golden privet in massed placement at the base of the design. Also, he used the variegated arborvitae at the base of the design to add weight and balance. It is a lovely arrangement for the spring tea table.

SIMPLE PLACEMENT

The next arrangement was made by the simple placement of three stalks of light purple iris with the buds in a low black container, in the Japanese manner. The three lines, Heaven, Man and Earth, were cleverly made by the placement of the three iris stalks at the three levels required for this design. Crystal glass rocks were placed around the needle point holder to hide it from view, also, to add interest. The last part of this design is placing the water in the container.

The Japanese attach a lot of importance to this part of the design. The cool water showing in the container is an important feature of this natural design. This is a lovely arrangement to use in the hall entrance or in the living room to greet guests into your home.

The last design featured roses—pink shades with the tight buds for filler. The line of this triangle arrangement was made of pink-lavender mums with the buds for the tallest placement. The container for this design was a natural tan ceramic chalice cup. Lafayette mentioned that this was his favorite container.

This week, watch for additional arrangements made by Lafayette every morning, starting Monday through Friday at 7:45. This is a new feature for the Garden center on T. V.

NEW LOCATION

The Garden Center has a new location in Sears — same section of the building located in the northwest corner — larger space for our garden displays and garden club projects in the future. We are very proud of the new location and more space, so, come in to see me soon. We also have more book space, and speaking of books, there are new books in the library now that you will enjoy. One, "All the Birds of the Bible," by Alice Parmelee, is one that would be lovely for a review as a program in your garden club on birds.

This book gives the stories of the birds mentioned in the Bible, their identification and meaning. It reflects a thorough understanding of both the Bible and ornithology and describes their relationship. As Miss Parmelee guides us on this unique journey through the Bible, we travel in the company of patriarchs, kings and prophets, seeing the world of nature as they saw it and discovering the significance that birds had for them. There are 64 full-page illustrations reproduced from masterpieces of art, contemporary photographs, and ancient representations.

This week's Garden center and T. V. program will be brought to you by the Bastrop Garden Club. Mrs. Emmett Barham is their president. So, be sure to watch, and come by the Garden Center to see the show.

Truman Quinton, an expert on plant diseases, plant pruning, and insecticides will be in Monroe the week of May 7 through May 11. He will visit in the gardens of Monroe, and West Monroe, and also will appear on TV May 10, Open House, to give an instructive program on plant diseases, etc. I will list the gardens to be visited next week, in case you would like to contact the hostesses or Truman to let them know you would like to be present during his visit in their gardens.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A 29-year-old photographer barely out of the novice class and on his first big assignment, clicked the shutter of his 35mm camera last summer and captured one of the most dramatic pictures of 1961, the "Leap to Freedom."

The youthful camerman, Peter Leiging of Hamburg, Germany, has just received his fourth top award in this country for his photograph of a defecting East German soldier hurdling the barbed-wire barricade of Communism onto free soil of West Berlin.

It won first prize in the Spot News Class of the National Press Photographers' "Pictures of the Year" contest. It was judged best in the News Photography Division by Sigma Delta Chi, the nation's well-known journalistic society. It took top honors for Still-Photographic Reporting from Abroad in the Overseas Press Club's annual contest. And it was declared the winner of the Atlantic City Headliners Club Award for News Photography in 1961.

It was almost as though Leibing's entire photographic training had been pointed toward the split-second decision which confronted him in Berlin on Aug. 15, 1961. His two years' apprenticeship at Conti-Press had been as a sports photographer — with his reflexes sharpened to shoot at the peak of action for each sport.

In July 1961, his apprenticeship over, Leibing signed a contract with Conti-Press as a fullfledged photographer. One month later he received his first major assignment: Berlin. He took his very first plane ride to reach the divided city from Hamburg. Eventually he found himself at the Bernauer Strasse sector shortly after the Communists had sealed off that area.

A rumor reached Leibing that an East German soldier had signaled to spectators on the West Berlin side of the barbed-wire barrier that he was going to make a break for freedom.

"I'm a sports photographer," Leibing recalled later, "and the coverage of political unrest was new to me. But I felt as though I were in a sports arena waiting for the right moment to get the picture of an athlete in his best action."

An hour and a half dragged by as Leibing waited with camera ready. Another group of photographers and spectators caused a commotion nearby, diverting the attention of the East German soldiers present. Taking sudden advantage of the momentary diversion, the defecting East German soldier ran to the barrier and leaped. Simultaneously, Leibing's camera reached his eye, froze there and his finger clicked the release as the soldier cleared the top strands of the barbed wire.

"I was so fascinated by the scene," Leibing added, "That I forgot any possible danger. At the moment it did not come to my mind that perhaps the other East German soldiers could fire at their defecting comrade and that I was in the line of fire."

The picture first appeared in the Bild-Zeitung, Hamburg, and then circled the globe, outside of Germany and France, through the facilities of The Associated Press. It landed on the world's front pages. Editorials hailed it as a dramatic symbol of the failure of the Communist barricade against the forces of freedom.

The Berlin crisis may some day be resolved but "Leap to Freedom" will never lose its place as a permanent tribute to a young photographer who vaulted into the pages of photo-journalistic history with the click of sports training and instinct.

Daylight Time Starts Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Daylight Saving Time goes into effect in large areas of the nation Sunday.

In 15 states, all cities and communities will turn their clocks up one hour to "fast" time. Thirteen other states will have some of their towns on Daylight and others remaining on Standard.

For 22 more states, there will be no changes whatsoever. All communities there will stick to Standard Time.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Plant Food Is Important

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Even the best of gardeners tend to forget that most of the growth is made on trees and shrubs between now and the middle of July. If we fail to fertilize woody plants now, we will miss that extra growth. Plants that need fertilizing will stand still, and those that are already starving will go backwards.

With so much to be done at this time of the year, most of us forget to feed something in the yard or garden. For this reason, it is well to do all of your feeding at the same time instead of off and on. Large gardens and grounds can be fed in sections but each section should be completed before undertaking the next.

UNTHINKABLE

Trees are so important that it is unthinkable to neglect them. If they begin to starve, you can lose the growth and beauty that it has taken years to create. Yet many people think that trees "just grow" and seem surprised when their trees starve to death and die. The bill for taking down even a single large tree comes to a truly shocking amount. A few dollars' worth of fertilizer each year will keep a tree in health and prevent the great expenditure of removing it. In many cases, it is actually cheaper to keep somewhat decreipt trees alive and try to nurse them back to health than to take them down.

SIGNAL

Little dead brachlets, small leaves and short growths all signal the starvation of trees and shrubs. Most of the early foliage is yellowish on woody plants, but it soon colors up to the darker shade typical of each kind. A complete fertilizer scattered underneath shrubs and scratched into the soil lightly will soon begin to take effect. Feeding by the hole punching method underneath trees and larger shrubs will certainly take effect after several good rains.

Where there is a mulch over the ground, it is well to pull it away, scatter fertilizer, scratch it in and then replace the mulch. After this, some gardeners like to scatter more fertilizer over their mulches in order to decay the mulch material faster and break it down into humus. Then they dig the humus into the surface lightly each year when they fertilize and add more mulch. This kind of program really builds up your soil.

Without going into detail as to what formula to use for each plant, we can safely say that a complete fertilizer like 8-8-8 is good for most plants — especially when they are starving.

Time To Root Mum Cuttings

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you have planned to make some chrysanthemum cuttings, but have failed to do so, better get busy. Take three to four inch lengths from new growth on the side of the old plant, put in sand or vermiculite, sprinkle with water daily for about a week. It takes about three weeks to root.

Now is the time to visit your nurserymen for those plants to add color to the landscape during the summer months. Of course, you had planned all year to plant the seed for your plants, but the time to put the plants out has arrived so you need to visit the nursery for plants.

There are so many plants to select from if you want white ones, the best little plant is periwinkle (vinca). This plant demands very little care, needs very little moisture in fact in August when the other plants are looking weary from the summer heat the periwinkle is gorgeous. The foliage is a beautiful shade of green. This plant used in a large area of the landscape really adds interest.

LOVELY PLANT

The petunia is another lovely plant now available at your local nursery that will add color and about most any color to the landscape during the summer months.

And, of course, let's don't forget our caladiums. If you haven't planted your bulbs as yet it is time to get them in the ground. The caladiums really add interest with the beautiful leaf as well as the color. Be sure if you are using several colors group all one color in the same area. This will give a much more interesting note to your landscape.

DRESS REVUE

The annual Home Demonstration dress revue will be held Saturday, May 5th at 9:30 a.m. at the Agricultural Auditorium in West Monroe. The judges for the revue will be Miss Fae Roark, clothing specialist of LSU Agricultural Extension; Mrs. Ann May, home economic teacher of Ouachita Parish High School; and Miss Lola Caldwell, home demonstration agent from Caldwell Parish.

Miss Betty Jane Hodgkins, assistant clothing specialist from LSU Agriculture Extension, will score the construction of the garments.

H. D. SCHEDULE

Your Home Demostration Agent's schedule for the month of May is: May 1, 9:30 a.m., Progressive, with Mrs. Roy Simmons; 1 p.m., Lakeshore; May 2, 9:30 a.m., Thrifty Homemaker, at 113 Oak Drive, West Monroe; 2 p.m. Colony at Forsythe Park; May 3, 9:30 a.m., Better Homemaker, with Mrs. Frank Buce; 2 p.m., Watson, with Mrs. Glen Jones; May 4, 9:30 a.m. McGuire, with Mrs. Robert Ingram; 2 p.m. Woodlawn, with Mrs. J. FARM BUREAU WOMEN

Mrs. Rankin Earle, chairman of the women committee of Farm Bureau urges all women to attend the meeting Monday, April 30 at 9:30 a.m., Louis Lock Room of Ouachita Parish Public Library. The state meeting will be discussed and Ouachita Parish has some definite assignments so be sure to come and help with this project.

Pascal Norris, local attorney, will speak on Americanism. The women's committee invite the men of Farm Bureau to come hear Norris and make this a joint meeting.

Other officers of the Women's Committee are: Mrs. J. W. Standley, secretary and Mrs. Tripp Faulk, reporter.

CLOTHING WORKSHOP

Yours truly had a delightful clothing workshop last week. The seven new sewing machines which the Police Jury purchased for our work really helped make the workshop a pleasure. A great big thanks from us, the homemakers of Ouachita, to the Police Jury members. The following took part in the workshop: Mrs. Robert Joyner, Mrs. James B. Terral, Mrs. Owal G. Stone; Mrs. Charles B. Gorman, Mrs. Danny Sullivan, Mrs. Terry Owens, Mrs. Huey P. Martin, Mrs. Steve McCrary, Mrs. Jimmy Greer, Mrs. Johnny Carter, Mrs. Carl Brister, Mrs. J. O. Street, Mrs. O. T. Audirsch, Mrs. James Griffin, Mrs. H. P. Collie, Mrs. Juluis Sanderson.

A THOUGHT

It is better to be short of cash then to be short of character.

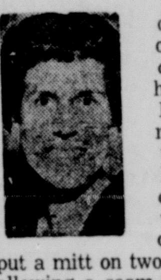
SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

The Tailor Trix pressing board winner of the week is Mrs. V. Smith, Hamilton, Ont., who makes this suggestion:



"After having difficulty drying oven mitts because of the heavy padding I decided to make 'slip covers' for them. Now the mitts do not have to be washed so frequently. I just put a mitt on two layers of fabric, allowing a seam allowance. Seam the raw edges, turn and finish the hem with bias tape. In 5 minutes I have a new cover which is very easy to launder."

EXTRA TOUCH

"Dear Eunice,

"I couldn't wait to make the 'cocktail hat' from the pattern I sent for from your column. I find it was even cuter than the picture, and fun to make. I am using a pair of 'clip' earrings clipped on the hat for a little 'extra touch.' There are probably other little touches such as a flower, fruit, etc. to make it look more individual."

Mrs. F. W.

DRESS PLACKET

"Dear Eunice,

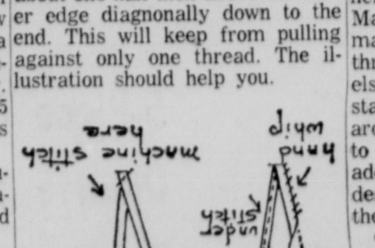
"In making little girls' dresses, I can't seem to get the placket in the back. Can you help me?"

Mrs. J. T. W.

Dear Mrs. J. T. W.:

This is a rather tedious technique and is actually the same principle as used in "gussets." In other words, you must re - inforce the area you are going to clip with tiny machine stitches first to prevent the clipped fabric from fraying out. Try to use a strip of fabric with one side of selvage for your continuous lap, this will keep it from looking so thick.

The secret to keep it from pulling out at the bottom, since it is only held together with ONE thread (any more than one would make a tuck), is to fold the two finished sides of the continuous lap over each other and diagonally stitch through BOTH of them about one half inch above the lower edge diagonally down to the end. This will keep from pulling against only one thread. The illustration should help you.



PLEATED SKIRTS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"My teen - age daughter wants lots of pleated skirts. Will you please give me the dimensions for figuring the yardage needed?"

MRS. A. S.

Dear Mrs. A. S.:

For the average "generously pleated" skirt, you will need three times her hip measurement for the skirt. When the skirt is pleated, it must be as large as her hips or else the pleats will fan out in a very unattractive way. The excess must now be held in at the waistline. This can be done by making each pleat a little smaller at the waistline before applying the waist band. If the skirt is boxpleated, you can make a small dart in the center of each space between the pleats and this will make it fit smoothly at the waist.

MATCH PLAIDS

"Dear Eunice,

"Will you please tell me how to baste a plaid or striped material to insure a perfectly matched seam? Thank you for all your excellent 'tips'."

Mrs. J. M.D.

Dear Mrs. J. M. D.:

First of all, the cutting of plaids and stripes is the most important step when it comes to the finished product looking matched and even. Be sure the center back seam will meet at the "center" of a plaid, so it will look unbroken after stitching.

Fold and press the seam allowance on one side of the seam. Next, lay the pressed or folded seam allowance OVER the other seam allowance, right side of fabric, matching the plaid perfectly. Pin this seam in place. Next, slipstitch the folded edge of the seam line to the seam line of the under section. Be careful that you keep your stitches in the FOLD of the seam. You can now turn the seams to the wrong side and machine stitch the seam. It is a good idea to pin carefully before stitching so that the fabric will not slip.

To answer many questions concerning plaids, when cutting the BODICE, you must always match the side seams BELOW the side dart, not at the armhold.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Scientists Learn Faults' Lengths With Computers

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists have found a way to determine the length of slippage along fault lines in great earthquakes—and without visiting the scene.

They do it, the California Institute of Technology reported Saturday, by analyzing seismograms with computers.

They have found, for instance, that the great Mongolian quake of 1957 resulted from slippage along 340 miles of a fault, or crack in the earth's surface. They know that the movement was in a southeasterly direction, at a velocity of 7,000 miles an hour. Horizontal displacement was 10.5 feet, vertical displacement as much as 19.5 feet.

Russian investigators were unable to get such precise information because the area was covered with ice and snow.

Geophysicists Ari Ben-Menahem and M. Nafi Toksov of the Caltech seismological laboratory made their computations entirely from seismic records obtained by laboratory instruments, processed by a computer. Seismograms are graphs depicting shock waves in the earth's crust created by quakes.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Beauty Is Plentiful In Flower Displays

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Lafayette Ruffin, student of Louisiana Tech, Ruston, presented the T. V. and Garden Center show last week. As always, Lafayette made beautiful arrangements for his show, using an array of lovely spring flowers.

The first arrangement that he showed, after having made it prior to the show, was a massed design featuring iris of two types and colors, the Dutch iris and the bearded iris in colors of golden yellow and deep into light purple, (complimentary colors).

These were placed in a large, low, green bowl. For filler he used the golden privet in massed placement at the base of the design. Also, he used the variegated arborvitae at the base of the design to add weight and balance. It is a lovely arrangement for the spring tea table.

SIMPLE PLACEMENT

The next arrangement was made by the simple placement of three stalks of light purple iris with the buds in a low black container, in the Japanese manner. The three lines, Heaven, Man and Earth, were cleverly made by the placement of the three iris stalks at the three levels required for this design. Crystal glass rocks were placed around the needle point holder to hide it from view, also, to add interest. The last part of this design is placing the water in the container.

The Japanese attach a lot of importance to this part of the design. The cool water showing in the container is an important feature of this natural design. This is a lovely arrangement to use in the hall entrance or in the living room to greet guests into your home.

The last design featured roses—pink shades with the tight buds for filler. The line of this triangle arrangement was made of pink-lavender mums with the buds for the tallest placement. The container for this design was a natural tan ceramic chalice cup. Lafayette mentioned that this was his favorite container.

This week, watch for additional arrangements made by Lafayette every morning, starting Monday through Friday at 7:45. This is a new feature for the Garden center on T. V.

NEW LOCATION

The Garden Center has a new location in Sears — same section of the building located in the northwest corner — larger space for our garden displays and garden club projects in the future. We are very proud of the new location and more space, so, come in to see me soon. We also have more book space, and speaking of books, there are new books in the library now that you will enjoy. One, "All the Birds of the Bible," by Alice Parmelee, is one that would be lovely for a review as a program in your garden club on birds.

This book gives the stories of the birds mentioned in the Bible, their identification and meaning. It reflects a thorough understanding of both the Bible and ornithology and describes their relationship. As Miss Parmelee guides us on this unique journey through the Bible, we travel in the company of patriarchs, kings and prophets, seeing the world of nature as they saw it and discovering the significance that birds had for them. There are 64 full-page illustrations reproduced from masterpieces of art, contemporary photographs, and ancient representations.

This week's Garden center and T. V. program will be brought to you by the Bastrop Garden Club. Mrs. Emmett Barham is their president. So, be sure to watch, and come by the Garden Center to see the show.

Truman Quinton, an expert on plant diseases, plant pruning, and insecticides will be in Monroe the week of May 7 through May 11. He will visit in the gardens of Monroe, and West Monroe, and also will appear on TV May 10, Open House, to give an instructive program on plant diseases, etc. I will list the gardens to be visited next week, in case you would like to contact the hostesses or Truman to let them know you would like to be present during his visit in their gardens.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A 20 - year - old photographer barely out of the novice class and on his first big assignment, clicked the shutter of his 35mm camera last summer and captured one of the most dramatic pictures of 1961, the "Leap to Freedom."

The youthful camerman, Peter Leiging of Hamburg, Germany, has just received his fourth top award in this country for his photograph of a defecting East German soldier hurdling the barbed-wire barricade of Communism onto free soil of West Berlin.

It won first prize in the Spot News Class of the National Press Photographers' "Pictures of the Year" contest. It was judged best in the News Photography Division by Sigma Delta Chi, the nation's well-known journalistic society. It took top honors for Still-Photographic Reporting from Abroad in the Overseas Press Club's annual contest. And it was declared the winner of the Atlantic City Headliners Club Award for News Photography in 1961.

It was almost as though Leibing's entire photographic training had been pointed toward the split-second decision which confronted him in Berlin on Aug. 15, 1961. His two years' apprenticeship at Conti-Press had been as a sports photographer — with his reflexes sharpened to shoot at the peak of action for each sport.

In July 1961, his apprenticeship over, Leibing signed a contract with Conti-Press as a fullfledged photographer. One month later he received his first major assignment: Berlin. He took his very first plane ride to reach the divided city from Hamburg. Eventually he found himself at the Bernauer Strasse sector shortly after the Communists had sealed off that area.

A rumor reached Leibing that an East German soldier had signaled to spectators on the West Berlin side of the barbed-wire barrier that he was going to make a break for freedom.

"I'm a sports photographer," Leibing recalled later, "and the coverage of political unrest was new to me. But I felt as though I were in a sports arena waiting for the right moment to get the picture of an athlete in his best action."

An hour and a half dragged by as Leibing waited with camera ready. Another group of photographers and spectators caused a commotion nearby, diverting the attention of the East German soldiers present. Taking sudden advantage of the momentary diversion, the defecting East German soldier ran to the barrier and leaped. Simultaneously, Leibing's camera reached his eye, froze there and his finger clicked the release as the soldier cleared the top strands of the barbed wire.

"I was so fascinated by the scene," Leibing added, "That I forgot any possible danger. At the moment it did not come to my mind that perhaps the other East German soldiers could fire at their defecting comrade and that I was in the line of fire."

The picture first appeared in the Bild-Zeitung, Hamburg, and then circled the globe, outside of Germany and France, through the facilities of The Associated Press. It landed on the world's front pages. Editorials hailed it as a dramatic symbol of the failure of the Communist barricade against the forces of freedom.

The Berlin crisis may some day be resolved but "Leap to Freedom" will never lose its place as a permanent tribute to a young photographer who vaulted into the pages of photo-journalistic history with the click of sports training and instinct.

Daylight Time Starts Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Daylight Saving Time goes into effect in large areas of the nation Sunday.

In 15 states, all cities and communities will turn their clocks up one hour to "fast" time. Thirteen other states will have some of their towns on Daylight and others remaining on Standard.

For 22 more states, there will be no changes whatsoever. All communities there will stick to Standard Time.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Plant Food Is Important

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Even the best of gardeners tend to forget that most of the growth is made on trees and shrubs between now and the middle of July. If we fail to fertilize woody plants now, we will miss that extra growth. Plants that need fertilizing will stand still, and those that are already starving will go backwards.

With so much to be done at this time of the year, most of us forget to feed something in the yard or garden. For this reason, it is well to do all of your feeding at the same time instead of off and on. Large gardens and grounds can be fed in sections but each section should be completed before undertaking the next.

UNTHINKABLE

Trees are so important that it is unthinkable to neglect them. If they begin to starve, you can lose the growth and beauty that it has taken years to create. Yet many people think that trees "just grow" and seem surprised when their trees starve to death and die. The bill for taking down even a single large tree comes to a truly shocking amount. A few dollars' worth of fertilizer each year will keep a tree in health and prevent the great expenditure of removing it. In many cases, it is actually cheaper to keep somewhat decreipt trees alive and try to nurse them back to health than to take them down.

SIGNAL

Little dead brachlets, small leaves and short growths all signal the starvation of trees and shrubs. Most of the early foliage is yellowish on woody plants, but it soon colors up to the darker shade typical of each kind. A complete fertilizer scattered underneath shrubs and scratched into the soil lightly will soon begin to take effect. Feeding by the hole punching method underneath trees and larger shrubs will certainly take effect after several good rains.

Where there is a mulch over the ground, it is well to pull it away, scatter fertilizer, scratch it in and then replace the mulch. After this, some gardeners like to scatter more fertilizer over their mulches in order to decay the mulch material faster and break it down into humus. Then they dig the humus into the surface lightly each year when they fertilize and add more mulch. This kind of program really builds up your soil.

Without going into detail as to what formula to use for each plant, we can safely say that a complete fertilizer like 8 - 8 - 8 is good for most plants — especially when they are starving.

Three-Day Youth Revival Slated At Area Church

The Rev. Ed Jelks, student at Louisiana College, Alexandria, will be featured evangelist at a three-day youth revival at the First Baptist Church of Calhoun starting Friday at 7:30 p.m.

A music student at Louisiana Tech, Bud Thames, will be featured singer and choir director for the services.

During the services youth of the church will fill all church offices. Youth fellowship periods with games and refreshments will follow the services each evening.

School Meet, Conference Will Be Held

The Louisiana Presbyterian Synodical Training School will be held Monday, May 7, through Friday, May 11, at Silliman College, Clinton.

The training school will be preceded by the week end conference which opens Saturday, May 5, and closes at noon the following day.

Dr. J. Randolph Taylor, pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims, Washington, D. C., will be platform speaker for the training school, and Dr. Robert P. Douglass, pastor of the Preston Hollow Presbyterian Church, Dallas, will be platform speaker for the week end conference.

Both will have as their theme, "Our Unity in Christ."

Classes of the training school will include, Christian Witnessing, taught by Miss Marietta Yarnell, Oklahoma Presbyterian College; Organization and Program of the Women of the Church, taught by Mrs. John W. McQueen, Albany, Ga.; Bible Book Study of Jeremiah, taught by Rev. John M. Wilson, John Knox Church, Bossier City; Church Music, taught by Neal Smith, Central Church, Jackson, Miss. Afternoon discussion groups will be led by Miss B. Lewis, Mrs. J. Q. Walsh, and Rev. Wilson. Miss Lewis will be vesper speaker.

Leaders for the week end conference will include Miss Yarnell and Mrs. Walsh, director of Christian Community Action for the Board of Women's Work. James G. Smith, a member of the music faculty, Louisiana Tech, will lead a group in church music and will direct the music for the conference.

Training school dean will be Mrs. Charles T. Beaird, Shreveport. Miss Bernice O'Neal, Ruston, will be dean of the week end conference. Miss Elizabeth Williams will be director of both training school and conference. Mrs. Walter Stone will be hostess and Mrs. L. W. Sipes will be registrar.

Revival Climax

A series of revival meetings at the Woodlawn Baptist Church in Rayville will conclude Sunday with a morning sermon on "Decisions," and a 7:30 p.m. sermon on "Walking in the Valley." The pastor is the Rev. Perry Lassiter.

Church Program

There will be dinner on the grounds and an all-day singing program Sunday at New Light Baptist Church on Prairie Road, at the conclusion of a series of revival meetings, the Rev. Billy Ulmer, pastor, said.

Russian Born Pastor Will Appear Here

A Russian born minister, who escaped from Soviet dominated Latvia to avoid deportation to Siberia, will speak 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Baptist Church 214 Reagan, West Monroe.

The Rev. Robert Tarzier, former pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Rigia, Latvia, will speak on, "The Heart, Mind, and Soul of Communism."

Rev. Tarzier, who came to America in 1946, is a naturalized citizen. He now resides in Knoxville, Tenn.

PREACHER IN FAMILY

He was born in the Baltic province of imperial Russia, part of which after World War One, became an independent and democratic free state known as Latvia. For three generations there had been a preacher in the family. His father was also a preacher.

Rev. Tarzier was educated in Russian and Latvian schools, and received theological education in London, England. He has studied communism by reading textbooks on it and living under its domination.

He was pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Rigia, capital city of Latvia, which has been internationally known since 1912 for its missionary and soul winning program. Church officials said that "it stood out as a bright and shining star, consequently becoming a target for the reds."

PUT TO DEATH

The pastor's father was sentenced to death in a church which was taken over by the communists, desecrated, and then turned into a revolutionary court. He was buried alive in a mass extermination operation.

For more than 25 years, Rev. Tarzier was missionary, evangelist, and pastor in Soviet - dominated Latvia. He has experienced arrest, imprisonment and ill treatment at the hands of communists.

In order to escape deportation to a forced labor camp in Siberia, he left Latvia at the close of World War Two. He and his family, to avoid arrest, slipped out of the country in a leaky fishing vessel without food or water.

They were picked up by a Swedish ship and taken to Sweden. In 1946 he came to the United States to live. Since then he has devoted full time to informing the people about communism. As a christian minister, said church officials, he speaks without bitterness or hatred, but with a sound knowledge and understanding of communism's goal of world conquest.

In announcing the program, church officials said, "Rev. Tarzier will reveal the heart, mind and soul of communism and will answer the puzzling question, 'What is the dynamic of communism, and why is it winning the world?' And why in 57 years from 17 followers of Lenin it has spread like creeping paralysis until it has become the master of one billion people."

"The menace of communism is the problem of all christianity and not of one particular denomination or branch of christianity," said Rev. Tarzier.

Former Monroe Resident Gets Church Honors

A former Monroyan, Mrs. James W. Bolton of Metaire, her husband and three children, were chosen recently to represent the New Orleans district of the Louisiana Methodist Conference in a search for the 1962 Methodist Family of the Year.

They will compete nationally for the title.

Mrs. Bolton is the former Anne Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burgess. Her father now lives in Metaire, and her mother is deceased. She is a graduate of Neville High School in Monroe.

Seigle Assembly Revival To Open

A revival starting Sunday at Seigle Assembly of God Church, corner of Smith and Washington streets, West Monroe, will feature Rodney Duron of Shreveport as evangelist.

Services will start daily at 7:15 p.m., said the Rev. B. O. Smith, pastor. The revival will run for several days.

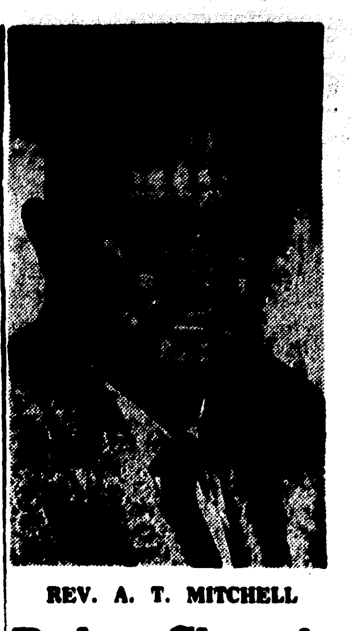
Training Union Convention Set At Jena Church

At least 250 persons are expected to attend a regional Training Union convention Friday at the First Baptist Church of Jena.

Baptist Associations taking part will include Delta, Ouachita, LaSalle, Jackson, Winn, Shady Grove, Big Creek, Central Louisiana and North Rapides. Parishes represented will be Tensas, Concordia, Catahoula, LaSalle, Jackson, Winn, Grant, Rapides and Avoyelles.

The convention will get under way at 2:45 p.m. with registration. A devotional period, leadership conference and intermediate sword drill will follow during the period extending to the supper hour at 6 p.m.

Resuming at 6:45 p.m. with a devotional period, the evening session will include a junior Bible memory drill, leadership conferences and a speakers tournament.



REV. A. T. MITCHELL

Ridge Church Will Observe Anniversary

Ridge Avenue Baptist Church will observe its 22nd anniversary this Sunday with a homecoming and special services.

The meeting will be open to former members of the church and to any visitors wishing to attend. Special services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The pastor, the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, who has served continuously with the church since its founding, will speak at the morning service on "The Church of My Dreams In A Good City."

The Rev. Charles Holstead, who was licensed and ordained by the church in 1944 when he was only 16 years of age, will speak at the 6:30 p.m. services.

Featured also at the evening service will be music directed by Lonnie Fisher, the first music director of the church and special music by members of the First first church choir of 1940.

Special Play Presentation Is Scheduled

"The Case of the Delinquent Deacon," a play, will be presented 10:30 a.m. Sunday at Covenant Presbyterian Church, 1901 Milton. It will take the place of the regular morning sermon.

The play is a take-off on Perry Mason. It is an account of the trial of the deacon, who hasn't performed his job. As the court convenes and explores what has taken place, many people are questioned.

Bill McGhee, play director, announced the following cast of players: Bill Oliver, Graham Humble, C. G. Pearce Jr., James Simmons, Billy Edmondson, Dr. H. H. Davis, Dr. Walter Ernest, Hugh Matthews II, Marion Simmons, Tom Hassion, Carol McDonald, Bill McGhee and Jesse McDonald.

Chief Inspector Is Key Speaker

The chief inspector of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and assistant director in charge of the Domestic Intelligence Division, was featured speaker at a seminar on "The Church and Communism," held in Baton Rouge Friday and Saturday, it was announced by the Rev. W. M. Allen, pastor of the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church.

William C. Sullivan spoke at the meeting, sponsored by the Board of Christian Social Concerns of the Louisiana Annual Conference

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Should a minister wear a robe? I do not think Paul would have. Our minister appeared in a robe last Sunday for the first time in the history of our church. The congregation was shocked.

J.R.

ANSWER: What a minister wears is not nearly so important as what he is and what he preaches. For example, in Great Britain nearly all ministers of all denominations wear a clerical collar, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Pentecostalists, etc. Some of the greatest preachers I have ever known wear robes. There are others who do not. In my crusades, I do not wear a robe; but if I go to a university or a church where it is the custom to wear one, I do not hesitate.

It's not so much what you wear as what you are. It's not the outward attire that God is interested in, but the inner adornment.

Speaking of Paul's not wearing a robe, this is where you are entirely wrong. The wearing of robes was the custom of the day. There is no doubt that Paul did wear a robe when he preached. Our Lord preached in a robe, and his seamless garment was His only possession when He went to the cross. God does not look upon the outward appearance, but the inward attire of the heart. I can receive a blessing from a minister whether he dresses in a business suit, a robe or a clerical collar, if he preaches the gospel.

Three-Day Youth Revival Slated At Area Church

The Rev. Ed Jelks, student at Louisiana College, Alexandria, will be featured evangelist at a three-day youth revival at the First Baptist Church of Calhoun starting Friday at 7:30 p.m.

A music student at Louisiana Tech, Bud Thames, will be featured singer and choir director for the services.

During the services youth of the church will fill all church offices. Youth fellowship periods with games and refreshments will follow the services each evening.

School Meet, Conference Will Be Held

The Louisiana Presbyterian Synodical Training School will be held Monday, May 7, through Friday, May 11, at Silliman College, Clinton.

The training school will be preceded by the week end conference which opens Saturday, May 5, and closes at noon the following day.

Dr. J. Randolph Taylor, pastor of the Church of the Pilgrims, Washington, D. C., will be platform speaker for the training school, and Dr. Robert P. Douglass, pastor of the Preston Hollow Presbyterian Church, Dallas, will be platform speaker for the week end conference.

Both will have as their theme, "Our Unity in Christ."

Classes of the training school will include, Christian Witnessing, taught by Miss Marietta Yarnell, Oklahoma Presbyterian College; Organization and Program of the Women of the Church, taught by Mrs. John W. McQueen, Albany, Ga.; Bible Book Study of Jeremiah, taught by Rev. John M. Wilson, John Knox Church, Bossier City; Church Music, taught by Neal Smith, Central Church, Jackson, Miss. Afternoon discussion groups will be led by Miss B. Lewis, Mrs. J. Q. Walsh, and Rev. Wilson. Miss Lewis will be vesper speaker.

Leaders for the week end conference will include Miss Yarnell and Mrs. Walsh, director of Christian Community Action for the Board of Women's Work. James G. Smith, a member of the music faculty, Louisiana Tech, will lead a group in church music and will direct the music for the conference.

Training school dean will be Mrs. Charles T. Beaird, Shreveport. Miss Bernice O'Neal, Ruston, will be dean of the week end conference. Miss Elizabeth Williams will be director of both training school and conference. Mrs. Walter Stone will be hostess and Mrs. L. W. Sipes will be registrar.

Revival Climax

A series of revival meetings at the Woodlawn Baptist Church in Rayville will conclude Sunday with a morning sermon on "Decisions," and a 7:30 p.m. sermon on "Walking in the Valley." The pastor is the Rev. Perry Lassiter.

Church Program

There will be dinner on the grounds and an all-day singing program Sunday at New Light Baptist Church on Prairie Road, at the conclusion of a series of revival meetings, the Rev. Billy Ulmer, pastor, said.

Russian Born Pastor Will Appear Here

A Russian born minister, who escaped from Soviet dominated Latvia to avoid deportation to Siberia, will speak 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Baptist Church 214 Reagan, West Monroe.

The Rev. Robert Tarzier, former pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Rigia, Latvia, will speak on, "The Heart, Mind, and Soul of Communism."

Rev. Tarzier, who came to America in 1946, is a naturalized citizen. He now resides in Knoxville, Tenn.

PREACHER IN FAMILY

He was born in the Baltic province of imperial Russia, part of which after World War One, became an independent and democratic free state known as Latvia. For three generations there had been a preacher in the family. His father was also a preacher.

Rev. Tarzier was educated in Russian and Latvian schools, and received theological education in London, England. He has studied communism by reading textbooks on it and living under its domination.

He was pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Rigia, capital city of Latvia, which has been internationally known since 1912 for its missionary and soul winning program. Church officials said that "it stood out as a bright and shining star, consequently becoming a target for the reds."

PUT TO DEATH

The pastor's father was sentenced to death in a church which was taken over by the communists, desecrated, and then turned into a revolutionary court. He was buried alive in a mass extermination operation.

For more than 25 years, Rev. Tarzier was missionary, evangelist, and pastor in Soviet - dominated Latvia. He has experienced arrest, imprisonment and ill treatment at the hands of communists.

In order to escape deportation to a forced labor camp in Siberia, he left Latvia at the close of World War Two. He and his family, to avoid arrest, slipped out of the country in a leaky fishing vessel without food or water.

They were picked up by a Swedish ship and taken to Sweden. In 1946 he came to the United States to live. Since then he has devoted full time to informing the people about communism. As a christian minister, said church officials, he speaks without bitterness or hatred, but with a sound knowledge and understanding of communism's goal of world conquest.

In announcing the program, church officials said, "Rev. Tarzier will reveal the heart, mind and soul of communism and will answer the puzzling question, 'What is the dynamic of communism, and why is it winning the world?' And why in 57 years from 17 followers of Lenin it has spread like creeping paralysis until it has become the master of one billion people."

"The menace of communism is the problem of all christianity and not of one particular denomination or branch of christianity," said Rev. Tarzier.

Former Monroe Resident Gets Church Honors

A former Monroyan, Mrs. James W. Bolton of Metaire, her husband and three children, were chosen recently to represent the New Orleans district of the Louisiana Methodist Conference in a search for the 1962 Methodist Family of the Year.

They will compete nationally for the title.

Mrs. Bolton is the former Anne Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burgess. Her father now lives in Metaire, and her mother is deceased. She is a graduate of Neville High School in Monroe.

Seigle Assembly Revival To Open

A revival starting Sunday at Seigle Assembly of God Church, corner of Smith and Washington streets, West Monroe, will feature Rodney Duron of Shreveport as evangelist.

Services will start daily at 7:15 p.m., said the Rev. B. O. Smith, pastor. The revival will run for several days.

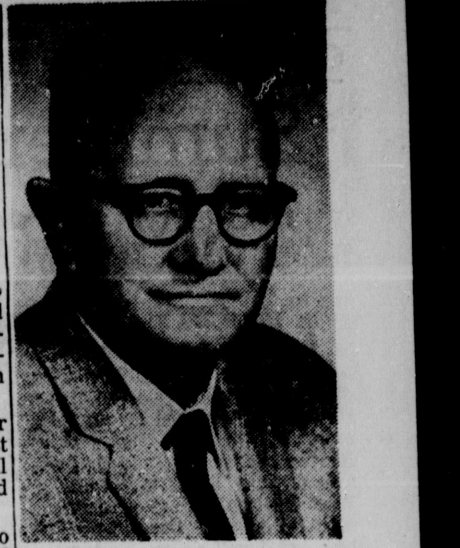
Training Union Convention Set At Jena Church

At least 250 persons are expected to attend a regional Training Union convention Friday at the First Baptist Church of Jena.

Baptist Associations taking part will include Delta, Ouachita, LaSalle, Jackson, Winn, Shady Grove, Big Creek, Central Louisiana and North Rapides. Parishes represented will be Tensas, Concordia, Catahoula, LaSalle, Jackson, Winn, Grant, Rapides and Avoyelles.

The convention will get under way at 2:45 p.m. with registration. A devotional period, leadership conference and intermediate sword drill will follow during the period extending to the supper hour at 6 p.m.

Resuming at 6:43 p.m. with a devotional period, the evening session will include a junior Bible memory drill, leadership conferences and a speakers tournament.



REV. A. T. MITCHELL

Ridge Church Will Observe Anniversary

Ridge Avenue Baptist Church will observe its 22nd anniversary this Sunday with a homecoming and special services.

The meeting will be open to former members of the church and to any visitors wishing to attend. Special services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The pastor, the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, who has served continuously with the church since its founding, will speak at the morning service on "The Church of My Dreams In A Good City."

The Rev. Charles Holstead, who was licensed and ordained by the church in 1944 when he was only 16 years of age, will speak at the 6:30 p.m. services.

Featured also at the evening service will be music directed by Lonnie Fisher, the first music director of the church and special music by members of the First first church choir of 1940.

Special Play Presentation Is Scheduled

"The Case of the Delinquent Deacon," a play, will be presented 10:30 a.m. Sunday at Covenant Presbyterian Church, 1901 Milton. It will take the place of the regular morning sermon.

The play is a take-off on Perry Mason. It is an account of the trial of the deacon, who hasn't performed his job. As the court convenes and explores what has taken place, many people are questioned.

Bill McGhee, play director, announced the following cast of players: Bill Oliver, Graham Humble, C. G. Pearce Jr., James Simmons, Billy Edmondson, Dr. H. H. Davis, Dr. Walter Ernest, Hugh Matthews II, Marion Simmons, Tom Hassion, Carol McDonald, Bill McGhee and Jesse McDonald.

Chief Inspector Is Key Speaker

The chief inspector of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and assistant director in charge of the Domestic Intelligence Division, was featured speaker at a seminar on "The Church and Communism," held in Baton Rouge Friday and Saturday, it was announced by the Rev. W. M. Allen, pastor of the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church.

William C. Sullivan spoke at the meeting, sponsored by the Board of Christian Social Concerns of the Louisiana Annual Conference

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Should a minister wear a robe? I do not think Paul would have. Our minister appeared in a robe last Sunday for the first time in the history of our church. The congregation was shocked.

J.R.

ANSWER: What a minister wears is not nearly so important as what he is and what he preaches. For example, in Great Britain nearly all ministers of all denominations wear a clerical collar, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Pentecostalists, etc. Some of the greatest preachers I have ever known wear robes. There are others who do not. In my crusades, I do not wear a robe; but if I go to a university or a church where it is the custom to wear one, I do not hesitate.

It's not so much what you wear as what you are. It's not the outward attire that God is interested in, but the inner adornment.

Speaking of Paul's not wearing a robe, this is where you are entirely wrong. The wearing of robes was the custom of the day. There is no doubt that Paul did wear a robe when he preached. Our Lord preached in a robe, and his seamless garment was His only possession when He went to the cross. God does not look upon the outward appearance, but the inward attire of the heart. I can receive a blessing from a minister whether he dresses in a business suit, a robe or a clerical collar, if he preaches the gospel.

Summer Routes To Be Reworked

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

This is the time of year when all of the Bookmobile routes are completely reworked for the summer. If you are not geting Bookmobile service and live outside the city limits of Monroe or West Monroe, please drop me a note telling me just where you live and I will do my best to include you on one of the summer routes. Please give your telephone number, so I can call you if there is any question as to where you live. New books continue to arrive for the book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Lady of Mallow" is the title of a new novel by Dorothy Eden. It is a bewitching novel of romance and unfaltering suspense. Written with taste and skill, it is an intricate, lively story that reveals the author as a master craftsman. It is the story of a disputed inheritance and of a plot so dark and sinister that it almost defies the imagination. Those who like the novels of Daphne Du Maurier, Mary Stewart and Victoria Holt will also enjoy this book. Some readers love the books of P. G. Wodehouse and others cannot stand them. I belong to the first group and have been reading them ever since they first appeared in the pages of the Saturday Evening Post. They are delightful English stories dealing with the antics of a small group in High Society. The latest one is called "Service With a Smile" and continues the adventures of the family at Blandings Castle.

Books of non - fiction continue to offer great variety and add much to the content of the book collection of the Library. A fascinating publishing adventure is being carried on by Quandrangle Books, Inc., a firm which is republishing the classics of American literature and history, which have long been out of print. The latest one is "The Campaign of 1781 in the Carolinas.", with remarks historical and critical on "Johnson's Life of Greene." by Henry Lee, Jr. The author was the son of Lighthouse Harry Lee, a dashing figure of the Revolution. The book was published in 1824 and has long been out of print, the publishers deserve our thanks for restoring to circulation the book which has come to be the accepted authority on the Revolutionary War in the South. Katherine M. Jones who is generally recognized as one of the outstanding historians of the confederacy has just written another penetrating account of the struggle, again stressing the part played by the women of the Confederacy. This one is called, "Ladies of Richmond." Miss Jones paints an unforgetable picture of the women who ministered to the sick and dying, worked in government offices, munitions plants and powder mills. They discovered ingenious substitutes for food and often they went hungry. And in their later correspondence, under the burden of defeat, they reveal a wonderful strength in adversity. This is truly an inspiring book and one which every southerner should read.

Bernard A. Weisberger has written an inspiring story of the great revivalists and their impact upon religion in America. It is called "They Gathered at the River." It is well done and makes an interesting contribution to the history of religion in America. A penetrating account of present day world affairs is "Who Killed the Congo" written by Philippa Schuyler. The author was in the Congo in 1960 when warfare broke out and she has written a book of tremendous impact, based on first hand observation.

Thomas B. Costain is engaged in writing a complete and absorbing history of England. The latest volume in this series is called "The Last Plangagenets." It covers the years from 1377 to 1485, a period when written records were very scarce. Mr. Costain has done an enormous amount of research on the period of the Wars of the Roses. Particularly interesting is his defense of Richard III, who has been made the whipping boy of history. Recently I read a book of fiction which presented Richard in a new light and it is interesting to see that Mr. Costain does the same thing. A valuable study in the field of American literature is "The Early Novel of the Southwest" written by Edwin W. Gaston, Jr. This is a critical history of southwestern fiction covering the years 1819 through 1918. Many students of American Literature would find find this book useful.

A book of poetry by the poet laurette of England is always a noteworthy event in the publishing world. The title of John Masefields new collection is "The Bluebells and Other Verse." Mr. Mansfield has a delightful gift of imagery and expression and everyone who loves poetry will want to read this book. A delightful little book for the traveller who plans to visit Italy is "Architecture in Italy" written by Martin Briggs. It contains much pertinent information and is well organized. An interesting new book in the field of biography is "The Sweeping Wind" the autobiography of Paul de Kruif. This is the story of the man who exposed many of the medical hoaxes of our time and who added a great deal to the knowledge of the general reader about the fields of medicine and bacteriology. Last of all there is a very practical book called "Success With Your Money" by the staff of "Changing Times." This book contains much valuable information about the use and investment of money. The library has other books of this type and many people have profited from them.

Bonn Differs With JFK's Berlin Plan

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany admits there is disagreement with Washington on how to work toward a Berlin settlement without recognizing the East German Communist regime.

The main difference appears to center around a U.S. proposal to create an international body to supervise access routes to West Berlin. Sitting in would be East Germans as well as West Germans.

This proposal was singled out by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder in an interview Friday as one creating trouble.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who is winding up an eight-month stay in Berlin as President Kennedy's special envoy, appeared to follow the same general line in a television interview Friday night.

Schroeder insists that despite these differences, there is full agreement between Bonn and Washington on basic policy, and most Western diplomats here agree there is no serious rift. Indeed, some see Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as relaxing his rigid position somewhat.

The U.S. plan prepared for Soviet consideration would setup a control authority of the Big Four powers—the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union — to assure access routes to isolated Berlin. East and West Germany would participate.

Schroeder hinted West Germany is prepared to accept this formula provided there is no implied recognition of the East German regime and provided the East Germans could not interfere with access routes.

Schroeder and Clay say they are convinced the United States has no intention of granting diplomatic recognition to the Soviet satellite.

Regarding proposed East German inclusion in the international authority, Clay said:

"I am not happy, of course, at this thought or this prospect. On the other hand, when I look at the possible alternatives, I would suspect that this is something that we should give very careful consideration to and not just dismiss without careful thought."

Bonn's worry seems to be that Washington is prepared to accept the fact of life that the East German regime exists or to grant so-called de facto recognition.

The West Germans are asking: Can one say the government exists and one must work with it to avoid international tension and at the same time maintain it has no legal basis for existing?

Only a government chosen by free elections would be legal and acceptable, the Adenauer government insists.

Diplomats here believe they see signs of a change in Adenauer's position. He may be willing, they feel, to face facts in order to obtain a long-term arrangement preserving the freedom of Berlin even at the expense of recognizing the existence of the Communist regime.

"It seems as if Adenauer's main concern now is to make absolutely sure the security of West Germany is firmly maintained and that future East-West negotiations never touch upon the status of the West German armed forces," one seasoned diplomat said.

Firestone Firm Head Weds In Rochester, N.Y.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Raymond C. Firestone, president of the Firestone Rubber Co., and Mrs. Jane Allen Messler of suburban Pittsford were married Saturday in the chantry of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George E. Norton, rector emeritus of St. Paul's. Only a few close friends of the families were present.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Frederic F. Allen of Marathon, Fla. Her blue suit was complemented by a blue coronet hat and a blue purse, adorned with white orchids. Her attendant was her daughter, Miss Elenor Allen Messler.

Leonard K. Firestone of Beverly Hills, Calif., brother of the groom, was the best man. He is president of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of California.

Mrs. Messler's first marriage ended several years ago in divorce. She is the daughter of the late Freeman C. Allen, an Eastman Kodak Co. executive and Mrs. Allen of Rochester.

Firestone's first wife died two years ago. He is the son of the late Harvey S. Firestone, founder of the rubber company.

The bride and groom, who met a year ago, left on a wedding trip to Hawaii following a reception for the wedding party at the Genesee Valley Club.

The couple will reside at the Firestone home at Lauray Farms in Bath, Ohio.

Dynamite Blast Snuffs Out Fire At Runaway Gas Well

GASSI TOUIL, Algeria (AP)—A dynamite blast Saturday snuffed out the "Devil's Cigarette Lighter," the towering column of flame above a runaway gas well in the Algerian Sahara, clearing the way for efforts to bring the well under control.

Paul "Red" Adair, a flame-haired Texan whose job is mastering difficult oil and gas fires, flashed a big victory smile and flashed a thumbs-up signal after the blaze was extinguished.

Gas continued to hiss out of the damaged well casing and spread in a blanket over the area. But the ear-splitting noise had been diminished by extinction of the flame, which had risen 100 yards into the sky.

The fire had been burning since last Nov. 13. Officials estimated enough gas had been consumed to supply the Paris area for three months.

Adair and his team of specialists had worked for months to prepare for putting out the fire. Water wells had to be dug and a reservoir built so that jets of cooling water could be sprayed over the area around the well.

Saturday, long before dawn, Adair made a final inspection. The direction of the water jets was carefully adjusted to best protect the bulldozer that was to carry Adair with the dynamite charge. Doctors and first aid teams were on the alert. Two helicopters stood by to evacuate wounded in case of accident.

Finally, the charge of 560 pounds of dynamite was loaded into a metal drum placed at the end of a 66-foot extension arm built onto the bulldozer.

By 8:30, everything was ready. Adair stepped up to the controls of the bulldozer. His assistants, Coots Matthews, Boots Hansen and Charlie Tollar, crawled onto the blade of the bulldozer, where a platform protected by a metal shield had been built.

A cloud of sand trailed the bulldozer as it moved toward the fire, then disappeared behind the screen of water spraying the area. After long minutes, the four men re-appeared, running toward a trench that had been dug 150 yards from the well.

Before Adair disappeared in the trench, he lifted his arm in warning. Spectators fell flat to the ground. The explosion, crisp but less thunderous than had been expected, came at 9:05. When the spectators looked up, the flame had disappeared. Only a small cloud of black smoke was visible.

The danger that the gas might again be ignited by static electricity is ever present so traffic has been detoured and smoking forbidden over a wide surrounding area.

Adair said he would wait two days to let the well casing cool before continuing efforts to cap the well and bring the gas under control. This job may take as long as 10 days.

Mark Twain's Estate Growing

REDDING, Conn. (AP)—Mark Twain's estate continues to grow and has reached a value of $878,925 as of last Dec. 31.

And television accounts for some of the royalties that still pour in for, the works of Samuel Clemens.

An accounting of the estate, an annual undertaking in probate court here, showed an increase of $95,467 during 1961. Royalties, part of them from television, accounted for $21,110 of the $91,115 income from all sources.

The beneficiary is Twain's daughter, Mrs. Clara Clemens Samassoud of La Jolla, Calif., now 88 years old. She received $75,556 before taxes for 1961.

Twain died in Redding in 1910.

Police Ambush, Slay Two Robbers

CHICAGO (AP)—The killing of two robbers and the wounding of another in a police ambush prompted a prediction Saturday of a sharp slump in raids on homes.

Lt. Michael Spiotto, head of the police burglary detail, said the ambush may end a wave of such crimes.

This is what happened: Police were filled with cold anger by marauders who robbed and beat families in their own houses.

For two months detectives roved fashionable neighborhoods watching for cars containing suspicious looking characters. A car containing three men of that type was spotted Thursday circling the block near the home of Herbert D. Freed, co-owner of a store fixture business, in the 500 block on North Francisco Ave.

Lt. Spiotto contacted Freed and a neighbor and squads of four detectives were hidden in each home Friday.

A car stopped at the Freed residence Friday night. Two men—Andrew Chervenak and Pierre Mager — got out. They carried potted plants, like a deliverymen, and wore stocking masks.

"Police officers!" one of the policemen shouted. "You're under arrest."

Chervanek fired his revolver. That started the shooting. When it was ended, Chervanek and Kenneth Daniels, who had waited in the car, were dead and Mager had a wound in his left arm.

Freed and his wife, June, and their maid waited out the vigil in the basement.

"It seemed like ages," Freed said, "but it was over in seconds."

Chicago and suburban families who lost cash, furs, jewelry and coin collections in robberies and burglaries were invited to view the bodies of Chervanek and Daniels to see if they could identify them.

Police said Mager's record included an arrest in 1947 in Hartford, Conn., for tampering with an auto and a 15-month sentence to the Chillicothe, Ohio, Federal Pentitentiary in 1952 for auto theft.

Daniels' record showed he had been picked up a number of times in Florida between 1951 and 1959, when he was sentenced to six months in the Raiford, Fla., prison for passing a bad check.

Youth Admits Poisoning Milk Fatal To Pair

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Asst. State Atty. Phil O'Connell said Saturday an unidentified youth was arrested after admitting he spiked a bottle of milk with sodium arsenite that killed two children last week.

O'Connell said the youth was turned over to juvenile authorities and his name was withheld. No motive was disclosed.

He said the youth told him he poured the poison into the milk and replaced the bottle in the family refrigerator in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Drummond of Boca Raton.

Deborah Ann Drummond, 9, and James Randall Drummond, 3, drank the solution, thinking it was milk and died a few hours later.

The family maid, Romaine Baucom, 36, was stricken after drinking tea diluted with the solution.

Two other children, Roberta Lynn Drummond, 8, and a neighbor, Julie Curtis, 7, became ill after eating cake made with the solution.

SENTENCED TO PRISON

PARIS (AP)—Miss Noelle Lucchetti, 49, a former secretary of ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, was convicted Saturday of serving the Secret Army Organization in Algeria and was sentenced to a year in prison.

ELVIS PRESLEY sings five new songs in his latest film, "Follow That Dream", which opens this Sunday at the Paramount Theatre. The production is in Panovision and Color by De Luxe.

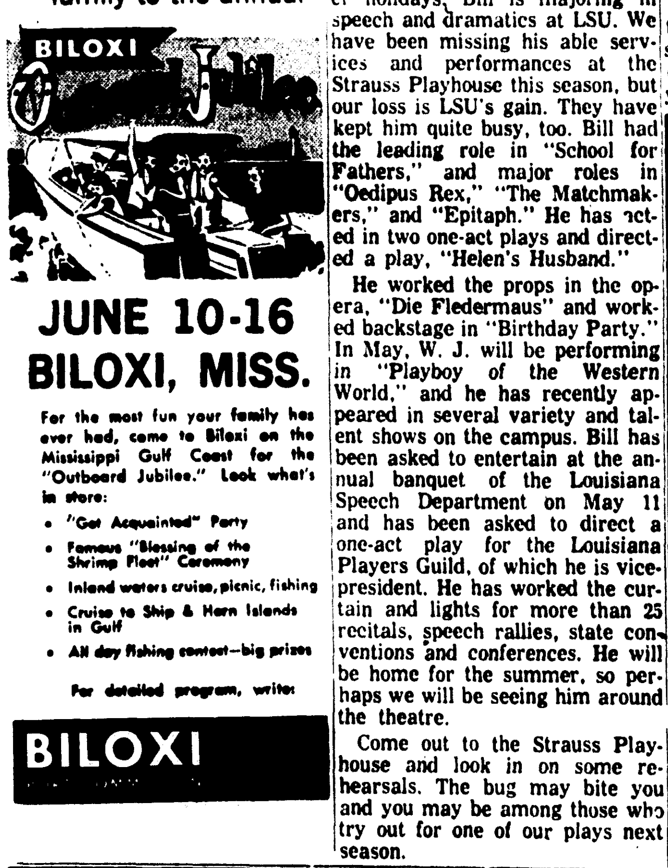
Elvis Presley Stars In Film At Paramount

Elvis Presley's latest fun-filled film is "Follow That Dream," opening this Sunday at the Paramount Theatre, through United Artists release. In the Panavision and Color film, Elvis stars as a naive, girl - shy singing yokel, departing from his recent dramatic roles to reveal a natural sense of comedy pacing. A delightful blend of mirth, melody (Elvis sings five new songs) and romance, "Follow That Dream" co - stars Arthur O'Connell, Anne Helm, Joanna Moore and Jack Kruschen.

BASIS

Based on the novel "Pioneer, Go Home!" by Richard Powell, the screenplay by Charles Lederer tells the story of a wandering southern family who try to homestead a piece of unclaimed land alongside a busy highway against the determined opposition of government officials, welfare workers and gangsters. It is an offering of The Mirisch Company, which previously presented "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment'" — the most successful screen comedies of the past decade.

"Follow That Dream" was filmed in Florida and Hollywood. David Weisbart produced and Gordon Douglas directed the frolic.



Curtain Call

By BB STRON

Richard Clark, executive director of the Little Theatre of Monroe, announces the cast of the forthcoming play, "Come Blow Your Horn," as follows:

Allen Baker - Claude Fuller, Buddy Baker - Arthur Griffith, Mrs. Baker - Roz Haas, Baker-Robert H. Evans, Peggy Evans-Bettie Gibbs, and Connie Dayton-Gail Sawyer. Clark urges anyone who is interested in working backstage, to come out to the Strauss Playhouse, where the cast is in rehearsal nightly except on Saturdays and Sundays.

THANK YOU

We would like to voice a great big "Thank You" to all of you who came to tryouts for "Come Blow Your Horn." Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

"A Night at the Opera," starring the Marx brothers was enjoyed on Tuesday night by all the Cinema 62 group. There are three remaining movies, the next of which will be a French movie, "Casque D'or," which will be presented on May 8.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Carter had as their guest last weekend, Mrs. Carter's brother, H. R. Busby, of San Francisco, California, who enjoyed a trip to Erling Lake at Taylor, Arkansas, Easter weekend. Myrtle took some time off from her busy schedule which includes her duties as a member of the Board of Directors of the Monroe Little Theatre.

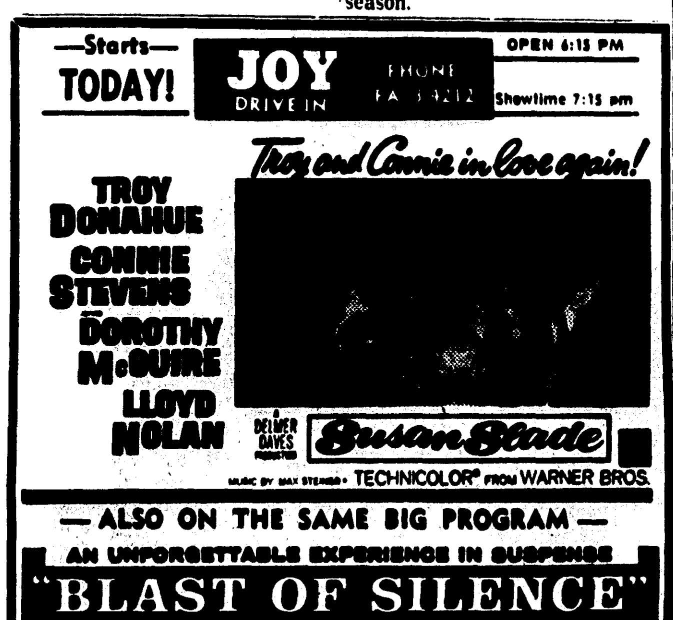
Another board member, (as well as Hospitality Chairman) Ethel Boardman and husband, Clark, enjoyed a short vacation Easter weekend in Fort Worth, Texas.

ON VISIT

One of our own, W. J. "Bill" Haddad, was home from Louisiana State University for the Easter holidays. Bill is majoring in speech and dramatics at LSU. We have been missing his able services and performances at the Strauss Playhouse this season, but our loss is LSU's gain. They have kept him quite busy, too. Bill had the leading role in "School for Fathers," and major roles in "Oedipus Rex," "The Matchmakers," and "Epitaph." He has acted in two one-act plays and directed a play, "Helen's Husband."

He worked the props in the opera, "Die Fledermaus" and worked backstage in "Birthday Party." In May, W. J. will be performing in "Playboy of the Western World," and he has recently appeared in several variety and talent shows on the campus. Bill has been asked to entertain at the annual banquet of the Louisiana Speech Department on May 11 and has been asked to direct a one-act play for the Louisiana Players Guild, of which he is vice-president. He has worked the curtain and lights for more than 25 recitals, speech rallies, state conventions and conferences. He will be home for the summer, so perhaps we will be seeing him around the theatre.

Come out to the Strauss Playhouse and look in on some rehearsals. The bug may bite you and you may be among those who try out for one of our plays next season.



Stamp News

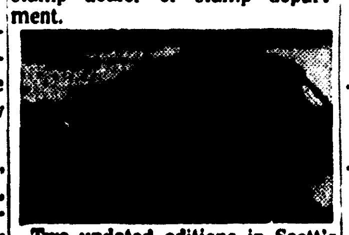
ONE HUNDRED YEARS after the Homestead Act was signed by President Abraham Lincoln, the United States will issue a 4-cent commemorative stamp honoring this event. It will be placed on first day sale May 20 at Beatrice, Neb.

The new stamp will feature a sod hut typical of the early homestead dwellings, with a brightly lighted doorway against a wintry sky. A settler and his wife stand in the doorway. The dates 1862-1962 appear below the main design.

The Homestead Act, which became effective Jan. 1, 1863, provided that any citizen could enter a claim for 160 acres of public land if he would cultivate the soil. More than one million persons acquired claims in a period of 60 years. Beatrice, Neb., was chosen for the first - day sale because it is the site of the Homestead National Monument, authorized by Congress in 1936.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4 - cent Homestead Act Commemorative Stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Beatrice, Neb. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Homestead Act Stamp." Cover requests must be postmarked did not later than May 15.

Israel has issued three additional stamps in its Zodiac series, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The reason for the issuance of these three new stamps is that there has been a change in postal rate for overseas mail, which went into effect Feb. 1. The new stamps are now available from your local stamp dealer or stamp department.



Two updated editions in Scott's Specialty Series — British America and Great Britain, British Europe and Oceania — are now on the markets.

Togo, which previously issued stamps showing photographs of Astrounats Shepard and Grissom of the U. S. A. and Gagarin and Titov of the U. S. S. R., has over - printed a stamp honoring Col. John H. Glenn. Glenn passed over northern Togo on his orbital flight.

The U. S. Post Office Department has authorized an additional printing of 4 - cent Nursing Commemorative Stamps to meet the demand at the Philatelic Sales Agency and Post Offices throughout the country.

The British Crown Agents' representative in Washington reports that a special issue of three postage stamps — four - cent, 12-cent and $1.20 — 8 has been released to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of the Barbados Boy Scouts Association.

The design common to all values includes the Annigoni portrait of Queen Elizabeth with the St. Edwards Crown and depicts the Boy Scout emblem on a map of Barbados.

KAYE'S WIFE WORKING

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye's wife Sylvia Fine is at work on a musical version (score and lyrics) of "The Scarlet Pimpernel."

'Moon Pilot' Scheduled At Jim Theatre

In what must be the most topical of all subjects — space flight — plus a great cast and his well-established flair for top comedy, it seems hardly possible that Walt Disney can miss with his latest and perhaps greatest laugh-getter, a Technicolor feature motion picture succinctly named "Moon Pilot," which started Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

Tom Tryon, one of Hollywood's most popular and versatile of all actors, plays the reluctant astronaut, with Brian Keith as the rip-roaring General Vanneman, "America's foremost spaceman," and Edmond O'Brien as the frustrated, shouting, apoplectic Federal Security agent who neither understands the general, the astronaut, a will-o'-the-wisp girl from outer space, nor the implications of his own earthly mission.

Dany Saval, a beautiful young comedienne from Paris who might just as well be from outer space for all she is known in this country, plays Lyrae, a girl from a planet of the same name out yonder somewhere near Andromeda. Lyrae falls in love with the astronaut she has been sent here to save and the complications are marvelous.

The story is fun all the way, from the successful flight around the moon by Charlie the Chimp, who goes nuts from too much exposure to proton rays, to the great astronaut hunt in storied San Francisco.

Although unknown elsewhere, Miss Saval is famous in France as a beauteous comic. She has eight movies to her credit over there, and nearly as many stage roles. Tall, honey - haired and honey - eyed, and only 19, she looks like another great Disney discovery. Film fans are certain to find her as charming as she is lovely.

Always versatile, Tom Tryon tries on the role of comedian this time with enormous success, whimsically underplaying the part of a truly reluctant astronaut who has no stomach for flying of any kind.

OUTSTANDING

Keith, now a veteran at Disney's, and O'Brien, doing his first stint for Walt, nearly steal the show in this romantic comedy with their hilariously loud differences of opinion in every scene of the screenplay.

Tommy Kirk appears briefly in a guest spot as Tom Tryon's smart - talking young brother and turns in his usually highly competent performance.

Maurice Tombragel did a brilliant job in adapting the Saturday Evening Post serial by Robert Buckner, while James Neilson, with more than two hundred television shows to his credit, launches in motion pictures with a vengeance. His direction is superb.

"Moon Pilot" is released by Buena Vista.

'Cinderella' Set Thursday At Paramount

The motion picture production of the Bolshoi ballet of "Cinderella," will be presented Thursday at the Paramount Theatre, Ted Hatfield, manager, announced. The single performance will begin at 8 p.m.

Hatfield said the full ballet and company of the famed Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow is in the full length ballet, which has been acclaimed the world's finest story. The Sergei Prokofiev ballet features Raisa Struchkova as Cinderella and Gennady Ledyakh as the prince.

The presentation is another in the program of the Paramount Theatre of bringing to Monroe the best in entertainment.

Stamp News

ONE HUNDRED YEARS after the Homestead Act was signed by President Abraham Lincoln, the United States will issue a 4-cent commemorative stamp honoring this event. It will be placed on first day sale May 20 at Beatrice, Neb.

The new stamp will feature a sod hut typical of the early homestead dwellings, with a brightly lighted doorway against a wintry sky. A settler and his wife stand in the doorway. The dates 1862-1962 appear below the main design.

The Homestead Act, which became effective Jan. 1, 1863, provided that any citizen could enter a claim for 160 acres of public land if he would cultivate the soil. More than one million persons acquired claims in a period of 60 years. Beatrice, Neb., was chosen for the first - day sale because it is the site of the Homestead National Monument, authorized by Congress in 1936.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4 - cent Homestead Act Commemorative Stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Beatrice, Neb. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Homestead Act Stamp." Cover requests must be postmarked did not later than May 15.

Israel has issued three additional stamps in its Zodiac series, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The reason for the issuance of these three new stamps is that there has been a change in postal rate for overseas mail, which went into effect Feb. 1. The new stamps are now available from your local stamp dealer or stamp department.

Two updated editions in Scott's Specialty Series — British America and Great Britain, British Europe and Oceania — are now on the markets.

Togo, which previously issued stamps showing photographs of Astrounats Shepard and Grissom of the U. S. A. and Gagarin and Titov of the U. S. S. R., has over - printed a stamp honoring Col. John H. Glenn. Glenn passed over northern Togo on his orbital flight.

The U. S. Post Office Department has authorized an additional printing of 4 - cent Nursing Commemorative Stamps to meet the demand at the Philatelic Sales Agency and Post Offices throughout the country.

The British Crown Agents' representative in Washington reports that a special issue of three postage stamps — four - cent, 12-cent and $1.20 — 8 has been released to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of the Barbados Boy Scouts Association.

The design common to all values includes the Annigoni portrait of Queen Elizabeth with the St. Edwards Crown and depicts the Boy Scout emblem on a map of Barbados.

KAYE'S WIFE WORKING

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye's wife Sylvia Fine is at work on a musical version (score and lyrics) of "The Scarlet Pimpernel."

When space-GIRL meets earth-GUY—it's HI-HI-LARIOUS!
Walt Disney's MOON PiLOT TECHNICOLOR

'Moon Pilot' Scheduled At Jim Theatre

In what must be the most topical of all subjects — space flight — plus a great cast and his well-established flair for top comedy, it seems hardly possible that Walt Disney can miss with his latest and perhaps greatest laugh-getter, a Technicolor feature motion picture succinctly named "Moon Pilot," which started Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

Tom Tryon, one of Hollywood's most popular and versatile of all actors, plays the reluctant astronaut, with Brian Keith as the rip-roaring General Vanneman, "America's foremost spaceman," and Edmond O'Brien as the frustrated, shouting, apoplectic Federal Security agent who neither understands the general, the astronaut, a will-o'-the-wisp girl from outer space, nor the implications of his own earthly mission.

Dany Saval, a beautiful young comedienne from Paris who might just as well be from outer space for all she is known in this country, plays Lyrae, a girl from a planet of the same name out yonder somewhere near Andromeda. Lyrae falls in love with the astronaut she has been sent here to save and the complications are marvelous.

The story is fun all the way, from the successful flight around the moon by Charlie the Chimp, who goes nuts from too much exposure to proton rays, to the great astronaut hunt in storied San Francisco.

Although unknown elsewhere, Miss Saval is famous in France as a beauteous comic. She has eight movies to her credit over there, and nearly as many stage roles. Tall, honey - haired and honey - eyed, and only 19, she looks like another great Disney discovery. Film fans are certain to find her as charming as she is lovely.

Always versatile, Tom Tryon tries on the role of comedian this time with enormous success, whimsically underplaying the part of a truly reluctant astronaut who has no stomach for flying of any kind.

OUTSTANDING

Keith, now a veteran at Disney's, and O'Brien, doing his first stint for Walt, nearly steal the show in this romantic comedy with their hilariously loud differences of opinion in every scene of the screenplay.

Tommy Kirk appears briefly in a guest spot as Tom Tryon's smart - talking young brother and turns in his usually highly competent performance.

Maurice Tombragel did a brilliant job in adapting the Saturday Evening Post serial by Robert Buckner, while James Neilson, with more than two hundred television shows to his credit, launches in motion pictures with a vengeance. His direction is superb.

"Moon Pilot" is released by Buena Vista.

'Cinderella' Set Thursday At Paramount

The motion picture production of the Bolshoi ballet of "Cinderella," will be presented Thursday at the Paramount Theatre, Ted Hatfield, manager, announced. The single performance will begin at 8 p.m.

Hatfield said the full ballet and company of the famed Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow is in the full length ballet, which has been acclaimed the world's finest story. The Sergei Prokofiev ballet features Raisa Struchkova as Cinderella and Gennady Ledyakh as the prince.

The presentation is another in the program of the Paramount Theatre of bringing to Monroe the best in entertainment.

Burgess Says Highway Files Open To Fulco

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Highway Direcor Ray Burgess said Saturday night as far as he knew the chairman of the House Committee on Transportation and Highways never asked him to see any of his department records.

In a televised interview, the highway director said "I would be more than happy to hand them over to" Rep. Frank Fulco of Caddo Parish.

Burgess said he believed only a few people were involved in the so-called irregularities which led to the discharge of four Shreveport district engineers and the enforced vacation of a fifth.

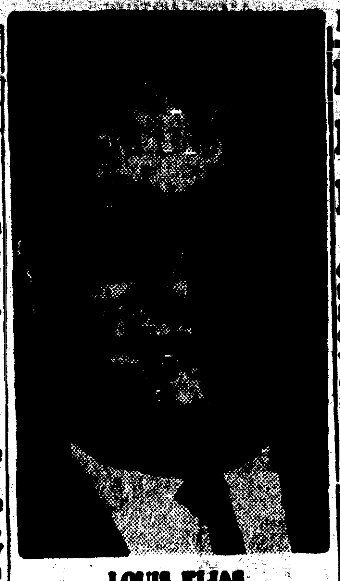
"As far as I know definitely," Burgess said, "only the four in my department are involved."

The highway director repeated an earlier statement that there was "no such animal" as a mounting scandal in the department.

Burgess said the irregularities were "confined to a very small area" which he identified as the Shreveport district.

As far as outsiders being involved, he said, in answer to a question, "I made no accusations other than the four people in the Highway Department."

Burgess said he didn't know how extensive an investigation by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads was going to be. He said the federal investigators were still working in Baton Rouge, but he expected them to go to Shreveport next week. He said he didn't expect the investigators to go into any district other than the fourth although they could if they wanted to.



LOUIS ELIAS

Elias To Head ALSAC Drive Underway

Louis Elias, Monroe businessman and building contractor, has been named local chairman of this year's drive to raise funds for ALSAC, a charity dedicated to finding cures and treatment of youthful victims of leukemia and related blood diseases. The campaign is now underway and will run for one month.

Nationally, the charity drive is known as the American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, which supports the new St. Jude Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The hospital was officially dedicated on Feb. 4 of this year, and attracted Nation-wide attention.

Danny Thomas, famed television actor and comic, began the drive back in 1937, when he began to find his "place in the world and felt a need to help others," according to Sam E. Salem, ALSAC director.

He always earmarked part of his earnings for the St. Jude Shrine, named for St. Jude Thaddeus, Patron Saint of the Hopeless.

Shortly after his one man move to get other people interested in the project, luck began moving in his direction. A very good friend of Danny Thomas', the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch, advised him to aim the shrine to take the form of a hospital dedicated at discovering cures for hopeless diseases of children.

"After superhuman efforts to raise money for the hospital, the idea began to take shape," said the director. And it was decided at that time the hospital would be for children of all races and religions and would be located in the heart of the Mid-South, at Memphis.

This is the only hospital in the world devoted exclusively to research on catastrophic disease of children, the only one which concentrates 100 per cent of its basic and clinical efforts on one disease at a time — a crash program—and the only one which is currently centering all its attention on the dread disease of children, leukemia and other related diseases.

There is no charge for entering this hospital or costs when a person is there.

ALSAC is almost of a completely voluntary nature, with very few of its workers taking any pay.

The city of Memphis donated the land, which is a 16-acre site in the heart of the city.

Dynamite Blast Damages Home, No One Injured

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A dynamite blast ripped apart a two-story home near here early Saturday without injuring the eight sleeping occupants. Police who went to question a suspect a few hours later found he had fatally shot himself.

Police theorized that Larry Williford, 34, a contractor, brooding over a former friendship between his estranged wife and Grover Leo Draughon, 34, either set or tossed the dynamite under Draughon's home, then went to the home of his grandmother where he committed suicide.

Asleep in the two-story house at Falcon were Draughon, his wife, and their six children, ranging in age from 2 to 15.

Mrs. Draughon received minor cuts.

"I'd say the house was a complete loss," said Cumberland County sheriff W. G. Clark.

Falcon is about 20 miles east of here. Sheriff Clark said after officers questioned Draughon, who operates an abattoir, they went to Beard, seven miles from Falcon, to question Williford at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Lola Beard.

WANT-AD WONDERS

Wall Street's Only Resident Started Through Want Ad

Hugh Harley, actually is the only person residing in this famous financial district. He lives in a narrow, 5-story home, built in 1780 at 108 Wall Street. He runs an export-import business among piles of books, plane and ship models he's made for his grandchildren. When the day is over and everyone has gone home, Harley is the only person astir in the financial area outside of police. He started his career as a newspaper copy boy in answer to an ad. Grew a mustache to make him look older and has retained it ever since. His is the only residential home in the entire Wall street area.

Strike Protests Suspension Of Eight Teachers

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP)—Most of the 361 students of Anchor Bay High School struck Friday to protest the suspension of eight teachers and the firing of the principal.

The teachers were suspended without pay for one week, and principal Rudy Kamischke was fired because they wore black mourning arm bands after the election defeat of a teacher tenure proposal.

Classes continued on a reduced basis with 70 students in attendance and substitute teachers filling in for suspended members of the staff of 18.

Kamischke said they hoped to get a hearing before the Anchor Bay School Board through the Michigan State Labor Mediation Board.

Teachers of the Anchor Bay School District never have had the protection of tenure.

Voters of the district bordering on Lake St. Clair's Anchor Bay rejected a tenure proposal in a special election Wednesday by a vote of 835 to 310. Its approval would have made renewal of teacher contracts automatic after service of a two-year probationary period.

Why Come To The Auto Show To See This Car?

When, actually, you can see the same exact car in our showroom at any time. (We've had the new '62 model on display for some time now.) So, what's the advantage in going to the auto show to see it? There are several:

1. The show's a perfect place to compare it with other cars. (You can see over 100 different makes and models—all under one roof.)

2. It has a relaxed, let's-look-at-cars atmosphere. (You don't have to know a torsion bar from a transmission to have fun.)

3. It's a nice place to take the family. (They can climb all over the car—try it out for size.)

4. You can check over the important improvements that have been made on the car. (In 15 years, it has undergone some 3,000 changes: everything from a quieter, more powerful engine to better heating.)

5. You can see how this car's functional design has been incorporated in our other models. To mention a few, there's a station wagon that's bigger inside and smaller outside; a convertible that's as watertight as a sedan; a low-slung, racy-looking car called the Karmann Ghia. (When you come to the auto show you'll see them all. And find them all on display under a sign that reads: Volkswagen.)

DeLuxe Sedan P.O.E. price is $1595

Experience Unnecessary
DUE TO THE rapid growth and expansion of our organization we must hire another salesman!
THE MAN we are looking for must have a pleasing personality, he must be neat, he must be at least 24 years of age, he should have a good education, (Of course, we realize that education isn't everything but of our present sales force of 7 men, 3 are college graduates, 2 have 3 years of college, 1 man has 2 years of college and the other has 1 year of college, so you can see why we feel that we have an above average sales force.), but most of all, he must be ambitious—he wants to get started right now on a bigger job and a bigger paycheck.
EVEN if he's had no experience at all in the automotive sales field, we will be glad to train him and he will make good money while he's in training!
WE FEEL that our offer is as good if not better than any other type of sales work! Our compensation plan is one of the best to be found anywhere and working conditions are excellent.
IF YOU think that you can qualify for this job, stop in today and ask for Mr. Tucker at Northeast Motors Number 2 Lot, 1708 Louisville Ave.

NOTICE!

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Wall Street's Only Resident Started Through Want Ad

Hugh Harley, actually is the only person residing in this famous financial district. He lives in a narrow, 5-story home, built in 1780 at 108 Wall Street. He runs an export-import business among piles of books, plane and ship models he's made for his grandchildren. When the day is over and everyone has gone home, Harley is the only person astir in the financial area outside of police. He started his career as a newspaper copy boy in answer to an ad. Grew a mustache to make him look older and has retained it ever since. His is the only residential home in the entire Wall street area.

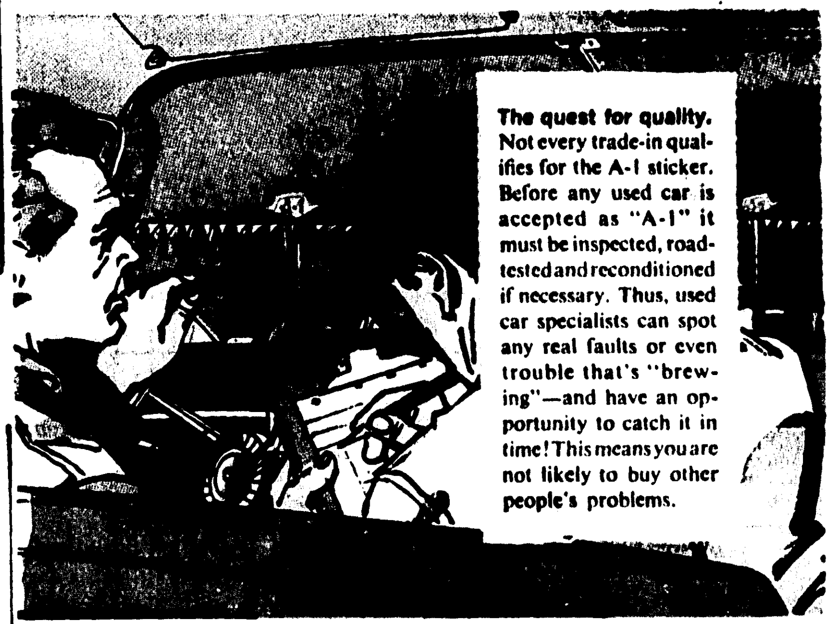
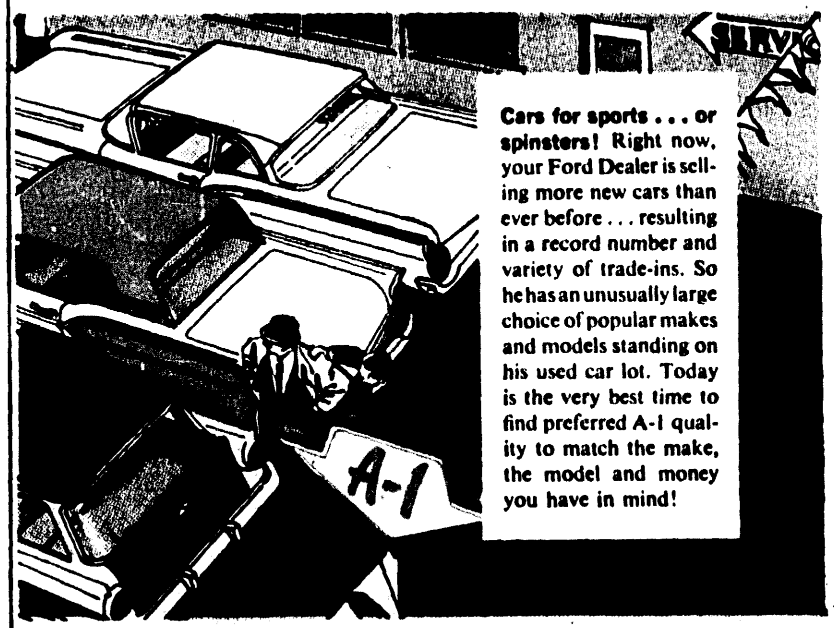
Why do A-1 used cars get extra attention from your Ford Dealer?

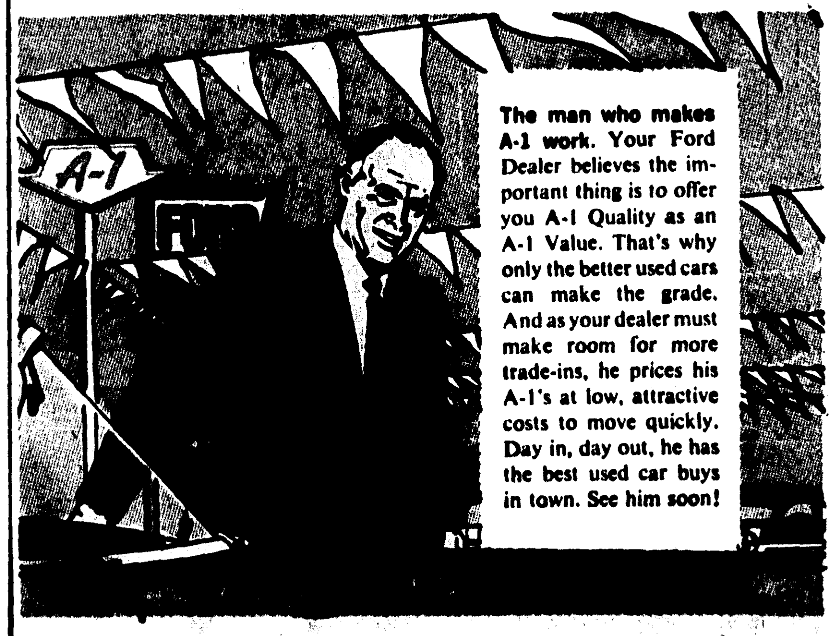
Because he believes in treating his customers in a way which will keep them as customers. Your Ford A-1 Used Car Dealer is in business to stay. Someday he is going to want to sell you a new car, and that means the used car he sells you today must be satisfactory. That's why only trade-ins of superior quality receive the special processing that makes them A-1 used cars.



The quest for quality. Not every trade-in qualifies for the A-1 sticker. Before any used car is accepted as "A-1" it must be inspected, road-tested and reconditioned if necessary. Thus, used car specialists can spot any real faults or even trouble that's "brewing"—and have an opportunity to catch it in time! This means you are not likely to buy other people's problems.



Cars for sports . . . or spinsters! Right now, your Ford Dealer is selling more new cars than ever before . . . resulting in a record number and variety of trade-ins. So he has an unusually large choice of popular makes and models standing on his used car lot. Today is the very best time to find preferred A-1 quality to match the make, the model and money you have in mind!



The man who makes A-1 work. Your Ford Dealer believes the important thing is to offer you A-1 Quality as an A-1 Value. That's why only the better used cars can make the grade. And as your dealer must make room for more trade-ins, he prices his A-1's at low, attractive costs to move quickly. Day in, day out, he has the best used car buys in town. See him soon!

The used cars with more future...from your Ford Dealer

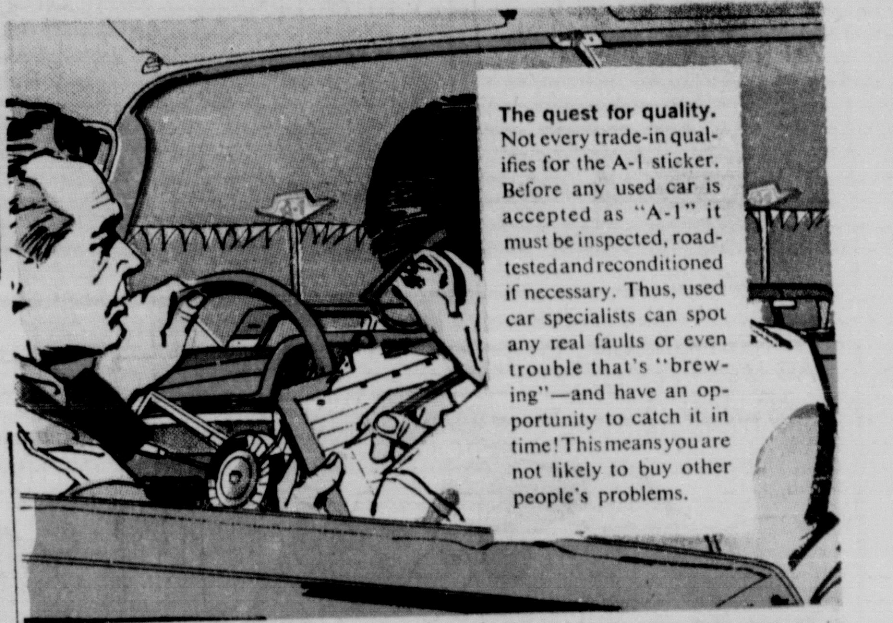
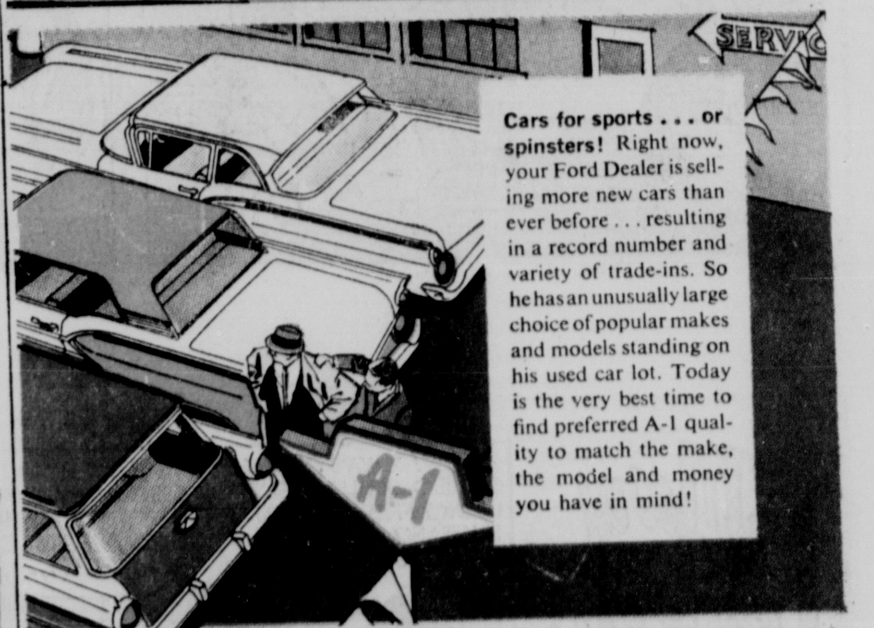
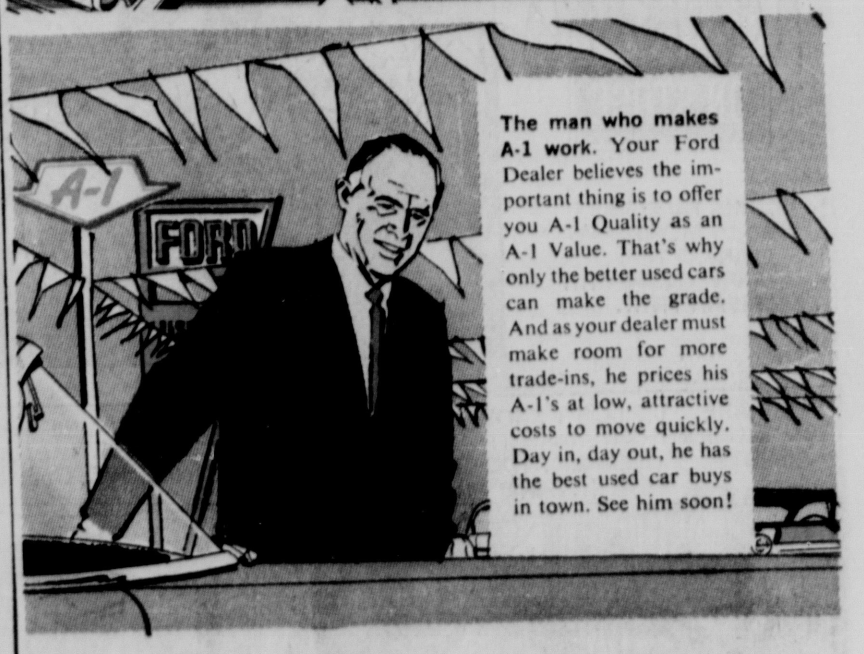
Why do A-1 used cars get extra attention from your Ford Dealer?

Because he believes in treating his customers in a way which will keep them as customers. Your Ford A-1 Used Car Dealer is in business to stay. Someday he is going to want to sell you a new car, and that means the used car he sells you today must be satisfactory. That's why only trade-ins of superior quality receive the special processing that makes them A-1 used cars.







The used cars with more future...from your Ford Dealer
